His Concession.

Miss Sallie Miller, the acknowledged belle of the town, had fewer beaus than were her due. This was owing to her father's peculiar aversion to all young men who called on his daughter. He had a disconcerting way of taking possession of the porch and snubbing her callers while they were waiting for her to come down.

One evening Newton Brown, a bashful young swain, came a trifle too early for Miss Sallie. Mr. Miller and Newton's father were close friends, but the boy had grown so rapidly that the old gentleman did not recognize little Newt Brown in this tall, gawky youth. "It looks as if it might rain," the young fellow ventured timidly.

"'Tain't a-goin' to rain," was the gruff response.

For about a quarter of an hour they sat in silence. Finally the old man's curiosity got the better of him.

"Who are you, anyway?" he growled.

"Newton Brown, sir."

"What! Not old Jake Brown's son?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, well," said Mr. Miller more kindly; "it may rain; it may rain."—Everybody's Magazine.

A BILL IN CONGRESS.

The Method by Which a Measure Is Transformed into Law.

On a day set for the consideration of the bill the house goes into committee of the whole. A chairman appointed by the speaker presides. The bill is read by sections and clauses after general debate has closed, and any member may offer amendments. All voting in committee is by riding. The yeas and nays are not taken.

When the bill has been gone through and all amendments have been voted upon, the committee rises and the chairman reports the bill back to the house, with the amendments. The house then votes upon them either singly or in gross and by yeas and nays if they are ordered to be taken.

The bill is then ordered to be engrossed—that is, written out in a fair hand and just as it is after being amended—and to be read a third time. As it is usually already engrossed it is at once read the third time—by title, as before—and passed.

The clerk takes the bill to the senate, by which body it is referred to the finance committee. In due time the committee, if it sees fit, and not otherwise, reports the bill back to the senate, with propositions to amend. In the senate the bill is considered "as in committee of the whole," the amendments of the finance committee and other volunteer amendments are accepted or rejected, they are again voted upon when the bill is reported to the senate from the committee of the whole, and the bill is passed.

As the two houses are not agreed upon the bill, a committee of conference, usually consisting of three members of each branch of congress, is appointed. The committee, when it has come to an agreement, reports to each house, and the acceptance of the report is the final stage of the bill in its passage.

The measure is now "enrolled"—that is, it is printed in large, open type upon a parchment—and is taken first to the house, where it is signed by the speaker; then to the senate, where the vice president signs it, and finally to the president, and makes the bill a law.

Congress is notified that the bill has been approved, and the original copy of the act is deposited in the department of state.—Edwin Tarrisse in Harper's Weekly.

Full of Reminiscence.

At the different army stations in the west it is the practice for the officers on leaving their post for some distant station to sell off everything they do not care to keep. In connection with this custom in "Reminiscences of a Soldier's Wife" Mrs. Ellen Biddle tells an amusing story.

There was a very estimable woman living at the garrison, a veritable Mrs. Malaprop. She told us of some jewelry she had lost, and among the things was a topaz chain with a beautiful "pendulum."

The lady held an auction before she left, after her husband's death, and when some silver plated knives were put up for sale she rose and in a sobbing voice said: "Oh, dear, no! I cannot sell them! They have been in dear John's mouth too often!"

Lasting.

"Your suggestion," said a depositor to the bank receiver, "offers very cold comfort. It is a bachelor's comfort—that is to say, no comfort at all.

"'What,' said a bachelor to a Benedict, 'only married a year and already so blue?'

"'Ah, but,' groaned the Benedict, 'I never imagined that a wife would prove so expensive.'

"The bachelor patted the blue married man on the back in a consolatory way.

"'Yes,' he said, 'a wife is an expensive article, that is true. But then you must remember that she lasts a very long time.'"

Aristocracy.

What subsists today by violence continues tomorrow by acquiescence and is perpetuated by tradition till at last the hoary abuse shakes the gray hairs of antiquity at us and gives itself out as the wisdom of ages. Thus the clearest dictates of reason are made to yield to a long succession of foilies. And this is the foundation of the aristocratic system at the present day. Its stronghold, with all those not immediately interested in it, is the reverence of antiquity.—Edward Everett.

Satan Terrified.

There is as great genius displayed in advertising as in the higher branches of literature. No problem daunts the modern advertising man.

In the window of a little book store in Eighth avenue, New York, was recently heaped a great pile of Bibles marked very low. Never before were Bibles offered at such a bargain, and above them all in big letters was the inscription:

Satan trembles when he sees
Bibles sold as low as these.

Well Grounded.

"Is my son getting well grounded in the classics?" asked the anxious millionaire.

"I would put it even stronger than that," replied the private tutor. "I may say that he is actually stranded on them."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Certainly Would.

An Orkney Prayer.

The brevity of the Orkney summer precluding the raising of hardly anything except oats ("aits") and barley, the elders had requested the minister to pray for good harvest weather. He complied as follows: "Lord, gie us braw weather and a wee bit saugh of a breeze that will dree the straw and will nae harm the heads, but if ye blaw us sic a bletherin', rivin', tearin' blast as we has been ha'in' ye'll play the vera mischief wi' the aits and fairly spoil a'l."

Don't Bear Malice.

A man who harbors malace is liable to commit murder. A man who hates another a long time is sure to get into a fight with him sooner or later, and when the fight finally comes there is likely to be mischief done. Men wait for years for the first blow, and the first blow is liable to be with a deadly instrument. Don't waste your energy in hating people. Such a course would make you a wretched and finally get you into trouble.—Atchison Globe.

THE PYGMY EARTH.

A dime held at arm's length from the eye will much more than cover the entire disk of the sun. If it were placed at the exact point of coincidence and its diameter and distance from the eye accurately measured, it might be used as a means of determining the sun's diameter, the distance being known. The foremost philosophers of long ago would have been appalled at the true statement of both the sun's distance and its size.

The sun's diameter is about 866,000 miles. It is bewildering to be assured that it would take 1,300,000 earths to equal the sun in volume. If the interior of that truly gigantic globe were hollow and the earth were placed at its center, with the moon revolving about it at its usual mean distance of nearly 240,000 miles, there would still exist a vacuity between the moon and the inclosing shell of the sun of nearly 200,000 miles. This is perhaps the most graphic and impressive illustration possible of the sun's colossal bulk. We must note, however, that the density of the sun is only about one-quarter that of the earth, so that it would weigh only as much as 330,000 earths. In very round numbers the sun's weight may be stated at two octillion tons, which if expressed in figures would require almost as many ciphers as a newspaper line can accommodate.

A very comprehensive illustration of the pygmean dimensions of the earth as compared with the sun is to represent the latter by a globe two feet in diameter and the earth by a dainty pea. And yet the little pea weighs more than six quintillion tons. As to the solar surface, it is some 12,000 times that of our planet. Yet the sun, when compared with its true peers, the stars, is not only of extraordinary size, but in all probability is only to be ranked among the medium self luminous bodies which sparkle in "heaven's ebon vault." And because of its spottedness it has a place, although a humble one, among the "variable" stars.

FATE AND A NAME.

John, When Borne by Royalty, Seems Linked With Misfortune.

It is interesting and somewhat curious to note the persistence with which misfortune has dogged the name of "John" when borne by royal persons, although no ill omen seems to attach to it in the case of ordinary citizens.

For instance, King John of England has always been regarded, whether altogether justly or not, as a most infamous prince. John of France was taken captive by the Black Prince, and John Baliol of Scotland was most thoroughly despised by his countrymen on account of his fawning attitude toward the English. Robert III. of Scotland changed his name from John, but this did not save him from his destiny. He himself was a cripple and died of a broken heart, the most tragic fates having overtaken all most dear to him.

John I. of Bohemia was blind. The Pope John I. was imprisoned by the king of the Goths, and Pope John X. was driven from Rome by the Duke of Tuscany. Pope John XI. was imprisoned by his brother and is supposed to have been poisoned, a fate similar to that of Pope John XIV. Pope John XV. was forced to flee from Rome and died of fever in Tuscany. John XVI., dubbed the "antipope," after a troubled career, was brutally tortured and consigned to a dungeon for the brief remainder of his life.

John I. of Constantinople was poisoned; John II. was killed while hunting wild boar, and John III. was dethroned, his eyes put out and left to die in prison. John I. of Castile was killed by a fall from his horse.

This is not by any means a complete list of the unlucky Johns, but it serves to show the fatality which seems to cling about the name in so far as royalty is concerned.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Three of my brothers have died of heart trouble, and I thought I was going the same way, but about two and a half years ago, I got a pamphlet about Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and thought I would try it. BANKER IS ROBBED.

Was Carrying Money to Pay Off His Miners,

THREE MEN ATTACK HIM.

Got Away With Satchels Containing $5,000—Officers Pursue Gang and Round Them Up in Field—Two Caught—Other Escapes With Swag.

Lincoln, Ill., March 26.—Frank Frorer, president of the First National bank of Lincoln and of the Lincoln Mining company, was slugged by three highwaymen, in the afternoon, two blocks from the public square of Lincoln, while driving to a mine to pay off employes, and robbed of $5,000. Two of the robbers were caught, but the third escaped with the money.

Frorer was on the way to the mine in a light wagon, carrying two satchels containing the money, already counted, for the miners. He met the three men in a buggy, and two of these, jumping into Frorer's rig, quickly bore the banker to the ground and grabbed the satchels. The robbers then threw Frorer into his buggy, jumped into their rig and started out of the city, at a fast clip.

Frorer, who was not seriously injured, returned to his office and informed the sheriff, who, with the night captain of police, started in pursuit of the robbers. Two miles out of town the robbers left the buggy and took to a field, where they were discovered. Five shots were fired by the officers, and two of the thugs surrendered, but neither was injured. The third man made away with the money.

FILE BRIEF.

Standard Oil Company of Indiana Protests Against Big Fine.

Chicago, March 26.—The Standard Oil company of Indiana, through its attorney, John S. Miller, has filed in the United States circuit court of appeals the brief of the company in its appeal from the fine of $29,240,000, imposed by Judge K. M. Landis. The brief is a voluminous document, but presents nothing new in the legal proceedings resulting from the government's charges that the oil company accepted rebates on shipments of oil from Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ill.

The contention that the Elkins law was repealed by the Hepburn act is omitted from the brief; but, with this exception, every allegation made by the defense, both during the trial of the case and in the later endeavor for a new trial, is repeated. Among the contentions in the bill are:

That the fine of $29,240,000 is excessive,

That the acts of the defendant should have been merged as a continuous offense instead of being resolved into 1,462 offenses and that thus a fine of $20,000 only should have been levied.

That Judge Landis erred in summoning John D. Rockefeller and other officers of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, in an effort to learn the financial standing of the Indiana corporation and its relations to the eastern company.

Train a School For Farmers.

Lansing, Mich., March 26.—The state board of agriculture has obtained the co-operation of the Pere Marquette railroad for a series of farmers' institutes, to be held in a special train furnished by the railroad company. The train will consist of two passenger coaches in which the meetings will be held and two baggage cars for the exhibits. Lectures will be given on dairying, corn growing, fertilizers, fruit culture, poultry raising, etc., and the exhibits will include a milk tester, seed corn tester, samples of forake crops, coops of several breeds of poultry, incubators, spray pumps, samples of pruning, budding, grafting and of various insects and diseases of fruits.

Vanderbilts Separate.

New York, March 26.—Alfred G. Vanderbilt and his wife have parted. On Saturday the noted millionaire will sail for England. Mrs. Vanderbilt already has dismantled their Newport home, Oakland Farm, to take up her permanent residence in the Tuxedo cottage of her brother. These and many other collateral circumstances have convinced New York society that the separation is permanent. Domestic differences of long standing have for months kept alive an estrangement between Vanderbilt and his wife, and, while no action has been taken looking toward a divorce, the fact that Vanderbilt has leased a house in London for ten years indicates that any [illegible] of martial conditions is [illegible].

DOES NOT WANT HIM.

Germany Declines to Receive Hill as Ambassador.

OBJECTION PURELY PERSONAL

Reason Is Connected With Visit Paid This Country by Prince Henry—Hill Learns the News in Paris—Does Not Understand.

Washington, March 26.—The German government has declined to receive Dr. David Jayne Hill in the capacity of American ambassador to succeed Charlemagne Tower, whose resignation has been accepted, to take effect upon the qualification of his successor.

Dr. Hill is at present American minister to The Hague and formerly was first assistant secretary of state under the administration of Secretary Hay. He was minister to Switzerland and has made himself famous in the diplomatic world.

The objection to Dr. Hill is purely personal to Emperor William. He has let it be known that the American diplomatist is persona non grata to him. The reason is connected with the visit to America, several years ago, of the kaiser's brother, Prince Henry, ranking admiral of the German navy. Dr. Hill at that time was first assistant secretary of state and necessarily was brought into official contact with the distinguished foreign visitor. Just what he did or did not do to give offense is not known here.

After a conference between Ambassador Sternburg and Secretary Root, it was ascertained that a letter is enroute from the German capital which contains a full explanation of the reasons for the change of attitude on the part of that government toward Dr. Hill. In the absence of the details of the objection, no comment could be elicitated as to the probable action of the American government in respect to the matter. In any event, it is regarded as certain that an expressed objection to Mr. Hill made by Germany will be decisive so far as his appointment is concerned.

Paris, March 26.—David Jayne Hill, who has arrived from The Hague, expressed the greatest surprise when informed that the German government had declined to receive him in the capacity of American ambassador, to succeed Charlemagne Tower. He said that this was the first intimation he had of the German government's action, and he was at a loss to understand the announcement, especially because he personally saw an official communication from Germany to the government at Washington, expressing Germany's satisfaction over the ratification of his selection for that post by President Roosevelt.

Moreover, he said, on a recent visit to Berlin he did not hear anything that would lead him to believe that he was persona non grata to the German government.

Tower Will Be 683 Feet Above Street.

New York, March 26.—A revision of the plans for the uncompleted tower of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company's building, on Madison square, shows that the steel supports can bear more weight, and the architects practically have decided to add twenty-five feet to the tower, previously planned to reach 658 feet above the sidewalk. There will be a lookout about 675 feet above the curbing, according to the revised plans. At 683 feet, the Metropolitan tower will be about seventy feet higher than the Singer building tower. When completed, there will be but one structure in the world of a greater height than the Metropolitan tower—the Eiffel tower in Paris.

Smallpox in Port Huron.

Port Huron, Mich., March 26.—Totally ignorant of the fact that their son, Russell, was suffering from smallpox, Mrs. Fred O. Nelson of Forest avenue sent him to the Pierce school. As a result the school was closed for an indefinite period. Owing to smallpox in the home of John Hickey, on Tenth avenue, whose children were attending the St. Stephen and Tyler schools, those institutions were also closed.

Found His Body in River.

Clinton, Mich., March 26.—The body of William Henzie, sixty years old, a farmer of Manchester township, has been found in the River Raisin. There is a deep gash in the forehead. Relatives are investigating. Henzie drove a young, frisky horse to Clinton and some are of the opinion that the horse became unruly and threw Henzie out of the buggy into the river.

NOT A CANDIDATE.

No Republican Cared to Be Mayor of Owosso.

ONE FINALLY DRUMMED UP.

Citizens Have Strong Ticket in Field. Contest For Judgeship of Judicial Circuit of Lenawee County Promises to Be Lively.

Owosso, Mich., March 26.—For the first time in its history, the Republican party of this city had to go begging for a candidate for mayor. The Republicans nominate here by the primary method, and the time for closing nominations was 12 o'clock Wednesday. Not a man had signified his intention of running for mayor.

A committee composed of Editor E. O. Dewey and Otto L. Sprague, rather than let the head of the ticket go by default, immediately started out to drum up a candidate. A number of men were interviewed, but politely refused to consider it. Finally, a former alderman and a prominent merchant, George Detwiler, who is president of the chamber of commerce, agreed to go on the ticket. Consequently, after hours of hard work, the committee was able to report a complete ticket in the field. The Republican primaries are being held today.

The reason for this apparent reluctance to run is said to be the certainty that the Citizen ticket, which has won three out of four campaigns, will again put a strong ticket in the field.

Adrian, Mich., March 26.—At the primaries, Theodore M. Joslin has been nominated by the Republicans for judge of the new judicial circuit of Lenawee county, while the Democrats nominated John L. O'Mealy.

The act dividing the Lenawee-Hillsdale circuit was passed by the legislature a year ago. Judge Chester retains the new Hillsdale circuit.

The Republican nominee is the younger of the two candidates. He was born in Lenawee county and was graduated at the Ypsilanti Normal school.

Mr. O'Mealy stands well, both as a citizen and a lawyer. He has long been a factor in Democratic county affairs, is somewhat independent in his political opinions, admires President Roosevelt and has a fine legal mind. Adrian is his home.

Normally Lenawee county is strongly Republican. In 1906, the vote on lieutenant governor, a fair gauge, was: Republican, 5,111; Democratic, 3,291.

The contest for judge of the new circuit promises to be lively with these two prominent men as candidates.

Ward to Be Tried Next Week.

Detroit, Mich., March 26.—The trial of Representative Charles E. Ward for criminal complicity in the circumstances which marked the death of Edith Presley, in a Detroit hospital, will begin in Judge Connolly's division of the recorder's court, Tuesday morning of next week. Judge Connolly's present order setting the case for trial is peremptory and accompanied by a warning that no further delay will be granted.

Prince Helio in New York.

New York, March 26.—Prince Helio de Sagan, who has arrived in New York, when seen said that he would meet Madame Gould at luncheon, with Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Morse, today. Asked whether an engagement of marriage had been contracted between Madame Gould and himself, the prince replied that that was a question for the lady herself to answer. He admitted that the presence in this country of Madame Gould explained his visit.

Hughes Won't Stop Execution.

Albany, N. Y., March 26.—Chester Gillette of Cortlandt must die in the electric chair, at Auburn prison next week, for the murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown of South Otselic, at Big Moose lake, two years ago. Governor Hughes has definitely announced that he has carefully examined the evidence in the case and had found no ground to justify him in interfering with the judgment of the court.

Died of Arsenical Poisoning.

Hackensack, N. J., March 26.—The coroner's jury in the inquest on the death of Walter Farnsworth Baker, which occurred at Bogota, N. J., on Oct. 27, 1907, returned a verdict that Baker died from arsenical poisoning, administered by some person or persons unknown to the jury. Baker's whereabouts and associates during the evening preceding his death are unknown.

ANOTHER MESSAGE.

President Again Urges Congress to Pass Certain Laws.

Washington, March 26.—President Roosevelt has again spoken to congress. A message from him, read in both houses Wednesday, was his deliberate, thoughtful, specific expression of the keenest needs of the country.

The things he asked for are not all he desires congress to do, but in the domestic affairs of the United States he regards decisive legislation on child labor, employers' liability, injunctions, the anti trust law, the receivership question, financial question and the postal savings bank, the tariff, the waterways improvement and protection of water power rights as all imperatively necessary to the progress of the county.

Some of these questions he regards as more urgent than the others, but he believes all of them pressing for solution.

The president, at the beginning of his message, says:

"I call your attention to certain measures as to which I think there should be action by the congress before the close of the present session. There is ample time for their consideration. As regards most, if not all, of the matters, bills have been introduced into one or the other of the two houses, and it is not too much to hope that action will be taken one way or the other on these bills at the present session. In my message at the opening of the present session, and, indeed, in various messages to previous congresses, I have repeatedly suggested action on most of these measures.

"Child labor should be prohibited throughout the nation. I renew my recommendation for the immediate reenactment of an employers' liability law, drawn to conform to the recent decision of the supreme court. In addition to a liability law protecting the employes of common carriers, the government should show its good faith by enacting a further law giving compensation to its own employes for injury or death incurred in its service."

HILL NOT OPTIMISTIC.

He Does Not Think Much of Railway Situation.

Washington, March 26.—James J Hill has been on a visit to Washington, but would not discuss the Minnesota railroad decision.

"The courts have said all that there is to say on that subject," he said.

Referring to the statement issued by Franklin K. Lane of the interstate commerce commission to the effect that the railways are prospering despite reports to the contrary, Mr. Hill said:

"Keep that article before you. Then follow the accounts of railway affairs for the next three months, daily, and see how the facts and the optimistic views compare with each other. We railway people are in no position to do too much talking just now. We prefer to let the facts speak for themselves—and they will speak loud enough.

"The Pennsylvania railroad would not lay off any of its men if it could possibly afford to keep them," continued Mr. Hill, "but it can't afford it. It isn't earning enough to do so. It is the same situation everywhere. It is too heavy a draught on optimism to see this condition of affairs in a bright light. The facts will make their own reply. It may take a little time, but the answer will come sure."

STUDENT BOUND OVER.

Must Stand Trial For Rioting on Night Theater Was Attacked.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 26.—The state resting its case, Justice Doty has bound over to the circuit court, Orville Glenn Emerick, freshman engineer of Galveston, Ind., charged with participating in a riot, at the wrecking of the Star theater on March 15. Bail was set in the sum of $1,000, and, on furnishing it, Emerick was excused from further attendance, while the court proceeded to take up the case against another student, Charles R. Rook, of Bowen, Ill., accused of a like crime.

Attorney Cavanaugh, for Emerick, presented a strong plea for the dismissal of the charge against his client, but to no avail. The best he could do was to secure a statement from Prosecutor Sawyer that the defendant ought to be bound over to a higher court. For a time it looked as though each of the fifteen defendants would have to sit through the examination of all, before learning whether or not he had to stand trial.

The case against Emerick is looked on as the strongest the prosecution has against any of the students. Rook's is said to be the next strongest. The people are holding back some evidence against Emerick, it is believed, because only eight witnesses were sworn, whereas Prosecutor Sawyer says he has thirty in each case.

The Star theater, newly furnished, repaired and repainted, at a cost of $1,500, has reopened.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until recently was supposed to be incurable. For many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

There are countless roads on all sides to the grave.

This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State Warden of Georgia, says of Kodol for dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sirs—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach. I lost 25 lbs.; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and I was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle constantly and write this hoping that humanity will be benefitted. Yours very truly, Jake C. Moore, Atlanta, Aug. 10, 1904." Sold by all druggists.

I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle was entirely cured." Why not let it help you? Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

The Nerve of Foley

Copyright, 1909, by Frank H. Spearman

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

He reached for the whistle and gave the long warning screams. I set the bell ringer and stooped to open the furnace door to cool the fire, when—chug! I flew up against the water gauges like a coupling pin. The monster engine reared right up on her head. Scrambling to my feet, I saw the new man clutching the air lever with both hands, and every wheel on the train was screeching. I jumped to his side and looked over his shoulder. On the crossing just ahead a big white horse, dragging a buggy, plunged and reared frantically. Standing on the buggy seat a baby boy clung, bewildered, to the lazyback—not another soul in sight. All at once the horse swerved sharply back. The buggy lurched half over. The lines seemed to be caught around one wheel. The little fellow clung on, but the crazy horse, instead of running, began a hornpipe right between the deadly rails.

I looked at Foley in despair. From the monstrous quivering leaps of the great engine I knew the drivers were in the clutch of the mighty air brake, but the resistless momentum of the train was none the less sweeping us down at deadly speed on the baby. Between the two tremendous forces the locomotive shivered like a gigantic beast. I shrank back in horror, but the little man at the throttle, throwing the last ounce of air on the burning wheels, leaped from his box with a face transfigured.

"Take her!" he cried, and, never shifting his eyes from the cut, he shot through his open window and darted like a cat along the running board to the front.

Not a hundred feet separated us from the crossing. I could see the baby's curls blowing in the wind. The horse suddenly leaped from across the track to the side of it. That left the buggy quartering with the rails, but not twelve inches clear. The way the wheels were cramped a single step ahead would throw the hind wheels into the train; a step backward would shove the front wheels into it. It was appalling.

Foley, clinging with one hand to a headlight bracket, dropped down on the steam chest and swung far out. As the cowcatcher shot past Foley's long arm dipped into the buggy like the sweep of a connecting rod and caught the boy by the breeches. The impetus of our speed threw the child high in the air, but Foley's grip was on the little overalls, and as the youngster bounded back he caught it close. I saw the horse give a leap. It sent the hind wheels into the corner of the baggage car. There was a crash like the report of a hundred rifles, and the buggy flew in the air. The big horse was thrown fifty feet, but Foley, with a great light in his eyes and the baby boy in his arm, crawled, laughing, into the cab.

Thinking he would take the engine again, I tried to take the baby. Take it? Well, I think not!

"Hi, there, buster," shouted the little engineer wildly, "that's a corking pair of breeches on you, son! I caught the kid right by the seat of the pants," he called over to me, laughing hysterically. "Heavens, little man, I wouldn't 've struck you for all the gold in Alaska. I've got a chunk of a boy in Reading as much like him as a twin brother. What were you doing all alone in that buggy? Whose kid do you suppose it is? What's your name, son?"

At his question I looked at the child again, and I started. I had certainly seen him before, and, had I not, his father's features were too well stamped on the childish face for me to be mistaken.

"Foley," I cried, all amaze, "that's Cameron's boy—little Andy!"

He tossed the baby the higher; he looked the happier; he shouted the louder.

"The deuce it is! Well, son, I'm mighty glad of it." And I certainly was glad—mighty glad, as Foley expressed it—when we pulled up at the depot, and I saw Andy Cameron, with a wicked look, pushing to the front through the threatening crowd. With an ugly growl, he made for Foley.

"I've got business with you—you"—

"I've got a little with you, son," retorted Foley, stepping leisurely down from the cab. "I struck a buggy back here at the first cut, and I hear it was yours." Cameron's eyes began to bulge. "I guess the outfit's damaged some, all but the boy. Here, kid," he added, turning for me to hand him the child, "here's your dad."

The instant the youngster caught sight of his parent he set up a yell. Foley, laughing, passed him into his astonished father's arms before the latter could say a word. Just then a boy, running and squeezing through the crowd, cried to Cameron that his horse had run away from the house with the baby in the buggy and that Mrs. Cameron was having a fit.

Cameron stood like one daft, and the boy, catching sight of the baby that instant, panted and stared in an idiotic state.

"Andy," said I, getting down and laying a hand on his shoulder, "if these fellows want to kill this man let them do it alone—you'd better keep out. Only this minute he has saved your boy's life."

The sweat stood out on the big engineer's forehead like dew. I told the story. Cameron tried to speak, but he tried again and again before he could find his voice.

"Mate," he stammered, "you've been through a strike yourself—you know what it means, don't you? But if you've got a baby—" he gripped the boy tighter to his shoulder.

"I have, partner; three of 'em."

"Then you know what this means," said Andy, huskily putting out his hand to Foley. He gripped the little man's fist hard, and, turning, walked away through the crowd.

Somehow it put a damper on the boys. Bat Nicholson was about the only man left who looked as if he wanted to eat somebody, and Foley, slinging his blouse over his shoulder, walked up to Bat and tapped him on the shoulder.

"Stranger," said he gently, "could you oblige me with a chew of tobacco?"

Flushing a bit, Bat stuck his hand into his pocket, took it out, felt hurriedly in the other pocket, and, with some confusion, acknowledged he was short. Felix Kennedy intervened with a slab, and the three men fell at once to talking about the accident.

A long time afterward some of the striking engineers were taken back, but none of those who had been guilty of actual violence. This barred Andy Cameron, who, though not worse than many others, had been less prudent and, while we all felt sorry for him after the other boys had gone to work, Lancaster repeatedly and positively refused to reinstate him.

Several times, though, I saw Foley and Cameron in confab, and one day up came Foley to the superintendent's office, leading little Andy, in his overalls, by the hand. They went into Lancaster's office together, and the door was shut for a long time.

When they came out little Andy had a piece of paper in his hand.

"Hang on to it, son," cautioned Foley, "but you can show it to Mr. Reed if you want to."

The youngster handed me the paper. It was an order directing Andrew Cameron to report to the master mechanic for service in the morning.

I happened over at the roundhouse one day nearly a year later, when Foley was showing Cameron a new engine just in from the east. The two men were become great cronies; that day they fell to talking over the strike.

"There was never but one thing I really laid up against this man," said Cameron to me.

"What's that?" asked Foley.

"Why the way you shoved that pistol into my face the first night you took out No. 1."

"I never shoved any pistol into your face." So saying, he stuck his hand into his pocket with the identical motion he used the night of the strike, and leveled at Andy, just as he had done then—a plug of tobacco. "That's all I ever pulled on you, son. I never carried a pistol in my life."

Cameron looked at him, then he turned to me, with a tired expression.

"I've seen a good many men, with a good many kinds of nerve, but I'll be splintered if ever I saw any one man with all kinds of nerve till I struck Foley."

How and When to Eat.

There are a few plain facts about how and when to eat which it would be worth a man's while to keep in mind even when well. If you are in a hurry, eat lightly. There is no virtue in gulping down a large meal just because it is mealtime. While the mind is actively engaged in the details and responsibilities of business the digestive apparatus is in no condition to undertake heavy work. The blood supply is drained off elsewhere, giving all the contribution it can to the brain, and if a quantity of food be taken in it simply remains undigested in the stomach. Worry, unsettled mind, low spirits, all tend to delay or to stop the activities of the alimentary canal. Students who go at hard head work immediately after meals often suffer from indigestion. So do letter carriers and other people whose meals are followed by prolonged physical exertion. Indeed, any kind of effort which forces the blood flow away from the alimentary region is injurious after hearty eating.—Dr. Gulick in World's Work.

Indian Medicine Bags.

The medicine bags of Navajoes, Zunis and Apaches, all kindred tribes, contain a curious powder known as corn pollen or hoddentin. This powder, which is the pollen of a rush and also of maize, appears to be used as a medicine, being eaten by the sick and put on the head or other parts to ease pain, but principally as a sacred offering to the sun and moon and as a sanctifier of everything. A pinch of it is thrown toward the sun and then toward the four winds for help in war or the chase, is put on the trail of a snake to prevent harm from it, placed on the tongue of the tired hunter as a restorative, hung in bags round the necks of infants as a preservative and sprinkled on the dead. In fact, every action of these Indians is sanctified by this powder, so that, as Captain Bourke writes in the ninth volume of "The Report of the Bureau of Ethnology" (Smithsonian), "plenty of hoddentin has come to mean that a particular performance or place is sacred."

Mermaids and Mermen.

Nearly all nations have folklore and fairy tale accounts of mermaids and sometimes of mermen. Even the American Indians had their "woman fish" and "man fish." The Chinese tell stories about their sea women of the southern seas. Sometimes mermaids and mermen are represented as leaving the water and living with human beings, but more frequently they are pictured as being so attractive that they sometimes will lure human beings to destruction in the depths of the sea. These myths have been utilized by many poets and have even been used for stories "with a moral."—St. Nicholas.

ROPE SUPERSTITIONS.

Odd Beliefs About the Cure of Cancer and Mumps.

"Yes, I am heartily glad that execution by hanging is passing out of existence," said the jailer of twenty-five years' service. "Not only was hanging by the neck a grewsome, horrible affair to me, but it was always followed by a host of requests for a bit of the rope with which the hanging was done. Of course, these requests came mostly from ignorant people, but they were no less of a nuisance on that account. Oh, no, they didn't want bits of the rope for morbid reasons, but because they firmly believed in the old superstition that a bit of rope used in a hanging would cure cancer if rubbed on the affected part. None of them ever came back to report whether a cure was effected, but I reckon if there had been any cures I would have heard of them.

"That isn't the only rope superstition, by the way. In Maine, where I came from, some folk always use hempen rope for the mumps. A piece of it is tied around the waist of the sick person, so that the disease will not creep to any vital part, but remain in the face. The superstition is observed by a few people of this day, and if you go into small remote country towns in Maine you will see hempen ropes hanging in the corner grocery store, bearing a label, 'Ropes For Mumps.'"—New York Tribune.

LAST WORDS.

Thoughts That Marked the Passing of Some Noted Men.

There is a collection of "last words" of celebrated men which contains many beautiful and startling phrases. Whether they were really uttered by the men to whom they have been credited, says the Berliner Post, is another matter. "Thus the words of Augustus, 'The comedy is at an end—did I play my part well?' are known to nearly every reader. The collection of last words of great physicians published by 'The British Medical Journal' gives Haller credit for saying, 'The artery beats—it beats no more,' and says of Nothnagel that he wrote: 'The night of July 6, after a violent attack of angina pectoris, * * * I will die of arterial calcination.' Cooper, Bright and Brodie died with blessings upon their lips, and Darwin, looking death calmly in the face, said, 'I really do not fear death.' Locock's last words were flippant: 'Au revoir, gentlemen. At the autopsy we will meet again.' None of these classic sentences, however, impress one so much as did the words of one of the few mortals who to our knowledge went into the unknown with minds undimmed. He was an old man who had lived a good and full life. With his last breath he said: 'It is not yet time. I want to stay'—that was the voice of nature."

The Next Duty.

"What is my next duty? What is the thing that lies nearest to me?"

"That belongs to your everyday history. No one can answer that question but yourself. Your next duty is just to determine what your next duty is. Is there nothing you neglect? Is there nothing you know you ought not to do? You would know your duty if you thought in earnest about it and were not ambitious of great things."

"Ah, then," responded she, "I suppose it is something very commonplace, which will make life more dreary than ever. That cannot help me."

"It will if it be as dreary as reading the newspapers to an old deaf aunt. It will soon lead you to something more. Your duty will begin to comfort you at once, but will at length open the unknown fountain of life in your heart."—George Macdonald.

He Drew.

A very pretty girl had a bashful artist for a sweetheart, but he would never come to the point. One night after he had made a desperate attempt to test her feelings she looked at him in a very significant way.

"What do you mean by that?" he asked, with a startled look.

"Do you profess to be an artist?" she replied evasively.

"Yes."

"Do you think you are a good one?"

"I flatter myself that I am."

"Well, I don't think so."

"Why not?"

"Because you cannot even draw an inference."

He did, though, and now they draw conclusions.

Victims of Heredity.

It has been shown that criminal tendencies depend on heredity and social and physiological circumstances. The most important of these is heredity. Just as no amount of ambition will enable a man to write a Shakespearean drama if he have not the talent, so it is preposterous to expect in a child of vicious parents, brought up among vicious surroundings, that moral tone which would characterize the finest type of humankind.—Strand Magazine.

The Roman Forum.

The Forum Romanum, the first that was erected in Rome, served equally for the purposes of trade and all public meetings as well as for the administration of justice by the consuls and other Roman magistrates. Later on, when the fora numbered some eighteen or twenty, they were divided into two classes, some for public meetings and the proceedings of the law courts and others for the various requirements of trade. The Roman forum corresponded to the agora, or market place, of the Greeks, and no Roman city was without this important center of judicial, political and commercial life.—New York American.

His Gratitude.

The Medical Record tells of a man who was cured of blindness by a surgeon remarkable for his unprepossessing appearance. When vision was fully restored, the patient looked at his benefactor and said:

"Lucky for you, young man, I did not see you before you operated or I would never have given my consent."

Go to Cuba, Old Man!

When the advice was given to young men 30 years ago to "Go West," it was excellent advice for YOUNG MEN. But not for old men. The West was sure, but too slow for the old men, and the trials were too great. Cuba is different. Cuba will do in 5 years what the West did in 30. The West WAS O. K., but TODAY look to Cuba.

Cuba will come quick enough for the OLD man, and the climate is so soft and agreeable that it will add 10 or 20 years to your life.

The Scent of Flowers.

As a rule the scent of flowers does not exist in them as in a store or gland, but rather as a breath, an exhalation. While the flower lives it breathes out its sweetness, but when it dies the fragrance usually ceases to exist. The method of stealing from the flower its fragrance while it is still living is no new thing, and it is not known when it was discovered that butter, animal fat or oil would absorb the odor given off by living flowers placed near them and would themselves become fragrant.

PRINTED BY REQUEST.

Recipe is easily prepared at small cost and many swear by it.

Fluid extract dandelion, ½ ounce; compound kargon, 1 ounce; compound syrup sarsaparilla, 3 ounces. A local druggist is the authority that these simple harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from our home druggists.

The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged, inactive kidneys overcoming backache, bladder weakness and all urinary trouble if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial.

The Scranton (Pa.) Times was first to print this remarkable prescription in Oct. of 1906, since when all the leading newspapers of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburg and other cities have made announcements of it to their readers.

Girlhood and Scott's Emulsion are linked together.

The girl who takes Scott's Emulsion has plenty of rich, red blood; she is plump, active and energetic.

The reason is that at a period when a girl's digestion is weak, Scott's Emulsion provides her with powerful nourishment in easily digested form.

It is a food that builds and keeps up a girl's strength.

BANQUET.

Last evening the Lady Maccabees of the red button tendered the winners in the contest, or the ladies of the white button, a delightful two course banquet in Maccabee hall at 6 o'clock. The hall was artistically decorated with the colors of the order and red, white and blue, cut flowers and potted plants being lavishly used on the tables. When the hour arrived over 150 lady Maccabees were received in Woodman hall by the ladies of the committee and marched into the banquet hall with Mrs. Vivian Matthews at the piano. The red lights in the banquet hall were turned on until all were stationed at their places.

Mrs. Bert Lawrence, as captain of the red buttons, in a few well chosen words gave the guests a hearty welcome. They were served to the sumptuous repast by 40 of the red button ladies. The menu consisted of veal loaf, creamed potatoes, fruit salad, cranberry jell, rolls, coffee, ice cream and cake. The favors were tiny hand painted cards, bearing the date and a red beet and were considered very appropriate.

At the close of the banquet several of the ladies responded to toasts, Mrs. Guy Belding responding for the white buttons, Mrs. Geo. Church, Mrs. Jas. Henderson and Mrs. J. M. Hiens for the Order and Mrs. P. H. Arnold for the new members. Mrs. Geo. Church then led the white button ladies in three rousing cheers for the ladies of the red button.

The evening was a delightful one for this time of the year and everyone seemed to do their utmost to make the occasion a happy and long to be remembered event. The committee having the arrangements in charge are deserving of a great deal of credit, especially Captain Lawrence, whose energy and direction of affairs contributed greatly to the success of the evening.

On Wednesday the Adrian Times copied a school exhibition program which was printed in the HERALD Tuesday. If they had printed the entire heading of the program and given the HERALD proper credit their article would have read all right. In attempting to rewrite the heading they left off the date. SCHOOL BOARD

Reply to Article Printed in Herald in regard to Fire Escapes in which the School Board was Seriously

CRITICISED AS BEING TO BLAME

They Realize the Condition but must have two thirds vote of Tax Payers before able to Use Money for this Purpose.

In a recent number of the HERALD an unsigned article appeared calling attention to the great need of fire escapes for the Central and East Branch school buildings, in which article the school board were seriously criticised as being to blame for this condition of affairs, in the lack of fire escapes.

Since the recent great fires in school buildings and the terrible loss of scores of lives of innocent school children, it is not strange that the people of the entire country have been aroused and the need of suitable fire escapes have been discussed rightly throughout the length and breadth of our land.

The members of the school board of Tecumseh, fully realize the condition but the attack is unfair to them and at the last meeting of the board the secretary was authorized to make a plain statement of facts to convince the people of this vicinity that the board is fully aware that suitable fire escapes should be erected as soon as possible and that the board is not careless or thoughtless in the matter. But when the expenditure of public money is concerned it is well to think twice before money is unlawfully used and expended.

The law of the state of Michigan says the treasurer of each school district must keep separate accounts with each of the following funds, that is, the money must be accounted for under the following heads:

Teachers wages and incidentals are voted by the board.

The sources from which these funds are derived and the uses to be made of the money are clearly stated in the statute.

The school board is authorized to vote for teachers wages, fuel and incidental expenses only and the law also states that primary money can be used for teachers wages only and must not be used for any other purpose.

The law also clearly states that any surplus remaining at the end of the school year in any funds, excepting primary money or mill tax, can be transferred to other funds by a two-thirds vote of the tax payers, but neither any individual officer nor the school board can transfer funds from one account to another.

By carefully looking up the laws the board find that as funds for fire escapes have not been voted by the people and under the law, have absolutely no right to use a dollar of school money for this purpose. As the school treasurer is under heavy bonds, it seems unwise for him to pay out money for any purpose excepting as the law directs.

Certainly the members of the Tecumseh school board are of the same opinion as all good citizens, that fire escapes are necessary and we are certainly as anxious for the safety of the hundreds of children who attend our public schools.

There are no two sides to this question; we need fire escapes, but we ask that unjust criticism be withheld and the matter thoroughly investigated before we are tried and sentenced. Any suggestions from our citizens will be most carefully considered at any time by the board and possibly some plan may be devised, but it seems to us the better way is to vote the money for this purpose at the next annual meeting of the district.

Although as the writer of the article stated, the matter was called to the attention of the board several years ago, but at no one of the annual district meetings since that time did one of the petitioners present the case.

AS OTHERS THINK

While everyone has a right to his own opinion, yet it is wise to always consider what others think and profit by their experience.

Nothing makes life so miserable, or interferes so widely with the usefulness of the average American, as indigestion and it is well for us to give fair consideration to what others think about this remarkable affliction.

C. A. Wright & Son are positive that in Mi-o-na stomach tablets they have an absolute cure for indigestion and the many disagreeable symptoms that follow this disease, such as distress after eating, coated tongue, bad taste in the month, dizziness, flatulence, nervousness and debility.

Their action in selling Mi-o-na on a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures, shows plainly their belief in the value of this remedy They take all the risk, and there will be no charge whatever for Mi-o-na unless you are satisfied that it has relieved you of indigestion.

Mi-o-na wakens up the stomach muscles and strengthens them so that they take care of all the food you eat in a natural, healthy way, without pain or distress after meals.

It costs but 50 cents a box, and does more real good than a dozen boxes of the ordinary digestive tablets. The absolute, unqualified guarantee of C. A. Wright and Son shows their faith in the value of Mi-o-na.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Tecumseh people have found that this is true.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench
A little cause may hurt the kidneys.
Spells of backache often follow,
Or some irregularity of the urine.
A certain remedy for such attacks,
A medicine that answers every call,
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific
Many Tecumseh people rely on it.
Here is proof

E. H. Hyde, living on west Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for about 2 years caused by a cold which settled in my kidneys. The pain in my back was often so severe that I could not stoop or lift. I used a number of highly recommended remedies but failed to receive more than temporary relief and finally began taking Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Wright & Son's drug store. On using the contents of the first box I received much benefit, continued and was cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

Stearns' Firm Took Rebates.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 26.—The Stearns Salt & Lumber company of Ludington has entered a plea of guilty in the United States district court to twenty counts charging he acceptance of rebates on the shipments of lumber and salt, contrary to the interstate commerce acts. Judge Knappen received the plea and announced that sentence would be deferred to a later date. The statutes provide a fine of from $1,000 to $20,000 on each count. The offense consisted in accepting rebates from the Pere Marquette railroad on shipments to Toledo. Justus S. Stearns, former secretary of state, is president of the Stearns company.

Big Fire at Middleville.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 26.—Half the business section of Middleville, twenty miles southeast of here, was wiped out by fire, early in the day. The blaze started in the bakery of A. A. Brayman. The buildings in the vicinity were of wooden construction, and before the fire could be checked thirteen business places, four barns and two houses had been destroyed. The brick dry goods store of W. A. Quinlan stood in the way of the flames and helped to stop them. Families living above several stores were driven out in their night clothes. A fire company from Grand Rapids was sent by special train. The loss is estimated at about $75,000.

Wreck Victim Dies.

Detroit, Mich., March 26.—The first fatality caused by the wreck of the Ann Arbor car comes in the death of Michael Rochowiak, who passed away at West Side hospital, after a desperate attempt had been made to save his life by an operation. Rochowiak was twenty-two years old, married, and lived at 125 Lockwood avenue. His abdomen was practically cut to pieces in the crush. The others who were hurt are rapidly recovering.

ENGLISH RED TAPE.

War Office Methods and the Test of a Mountain Gun.

The story that a gun of marvelous possibilities invented in England may be sold abroad owing to the apathy of the powers that be is not altogether surprising.

Whitworth refused Napoleon III.'s offer of $50,000 a year for life to go to Paris and manufacture his cannon for the French army, but perhaps our war office was not so faddy then as now.

Some little time ago a new gun for hill fighting was offered and was sent out to India to be tried. It was dragged up steep hills, rushed down rocky defiles, left for a week at a time in mountain torrents—in fact, submitted to all the tests which a veteran officer accustomed to war with the hill tribes could suggest.

The report was satisfactory in every respect, but a war office genius blandly asked if the gun had been dropped down a precipice. It had not.

The war office was horrified and amazed at the neglect of so elementary a test. The gun was now dropped down a precipice with the inevitable result—its internals were irremediably damaged.

How was it possible, the war office asked, to accept such a weapon? And the army of India was left to potter along with obsolete weapons because this new arm would not stand impossible tests.—London Sketch.

AWAY BELOW ZERO.

The Awful Cold That Comes With Eighty Degrees of Frost.

It is difficult to form any conception of the degree of cold represented by 80 degrees of frost that at times prevails in certain parts of Russia. Sir Leopold McClintock tells us how in one of his arctic expeditions a sailor was foolish enough to do some outdoor work at precisely this temperature. His hands froze, and when he rushed into the cabin and plunged one of them into a basin of water so cold was the hand that the water was instantly converted into a block of ice.

At 25 degrees, Dr. Kane says, "the mustache and underlip form pendulous beads of dangling ice. Put out your tongue, and it instantly freezes to this icy crusting. Your chin has a trick of freezing to your upper jaw by the happy aid of your beard. My eyes have often been so glued as to show that even a wink was unsafe."

During a theatrical performance given by the crew of his ship at an inside temperature of 30 degrees "the condensation was so excessive that we could barely see the performers. Their hands steamed. When an excited Thespian took off his coat it smoked like a dish of potatoes. Any extra vehemence of delivery was accompanied by volumes of smoke."—Pearson's Weekly.

A Wrong Diagnosis.

The small boy with the big bundle of papers was observed to be moistening some of his stock in the street fountain.

"Ah, my lad," said a benevolent old gentleman, "it does me good to see such an illustration of cleanliness."

"What do yer mean, boss?" asked the boy as he stared up in wonder.

"Why, aren't you trying to wash the mud spots off the edge of your papers?"

"No, boss; you are way off. You see, some of dese papers is two weeks old, an' if I dampen 'em up a bit people will think they are just from de press an' never think of lookin' at de date. Good graft, old sport! Say, some day when I am a captain of industry I'll give you a job."

DREAM FOOD.

Hasheesh, the Strange Drug That Is Used in the Orient.

Hasheesh, that strange drug which has given our language its word "assassin"—a man so frenzied by the drug that he accomplishes murder—is used by the Persians, Turks and Egyptians in a manner akin to the use of opium by the Chinese. It is the product of a plant grown in large quantities in the Peloponnesus (southern Greece) in the district about Tripolitza. The plant grows to a height of about four feet, and its branches are thickly covered with small leaves and studded with tiny seeds.

The entire plant, stalk and branches, is cut within a few inches of the root and laid out in the sun to dry. The branches are then rubbed to separate the seeds, and these in turn are ground into a fine powder, which constitutes the drug. The drug has the power of inducing sleep and producing pleasant and fantastic dreams. Continued use of hasheesh renders its devotees wild and reckless and results in a complete wreck of their mental and physical constitution.

For this reason the Egyptian government prohibited the importation of the drug and entered into a convention with Greece to prevent its exportation from there to Egypt, where the consumers of hasheesh are very numerous. The drug is practically never used in Greece, but is now exported to the various ports in England, Austria, France and Italy, and from there much, no doubt, ultimately finds its way to Egypt.

BRIGHT SAYINGS.

A Little Batch of Stories Related by an Englishman.

The sultan of Turkey had sent the queen of Spain a diamond bracelet. She had the stones reset in earrings and called the fact to the attention of Fuad Pasha, the Turkish envoy.

"His majesty," replied Fuad, "will be delighted that your majesty gives an ear to what comes from Constantinople."

To the same Fuad an Englishwoman impolitely said, "How many wives have you?"

"The same number as your husband, madam," said the wily Turk. "The only difference is that he conceals one of his and I do not."

When Robert Lowe married and said, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow," he grumbled to his wife afterward, "And at the time I hadn't a brass farthing."

"Oh, but, my dear, you forget there is your genius."

Lowe replied, "Well, you cannot say I endowed you with that."

In a much older story Frederick the Great is represented as saying angrily to the English ambassador of the day, "England is now without an ally upon the continent except God."

Sir Hugh Elliott instantly replied, "Yes, sire, but God is an ally that demands no subsidy."—From "Rambling Reminiscences," by Sir Henry Drummond Wolff.

LAW AND LITERATURE.

Writers Who Might Have Won Reputation at the Bar.

The old connection between law and literature was strengthened by the late Sir Lewis Morris, who practiced as a conveyancer in Lincoln's Inn while he was establishing his reputation as a poet. There have been several poets who have abandoned the steep places of the bar for the slopes of Parnassus, but the late Sir Lewis Morris is the only poet of repute who has found the tasks of conveyancer not incompatible with the cultivation of the muse. R. D. Blackmore, the author of "Lorna Doone," practiced as a conveyancer for several years. Sir Walter Scott, speaking of himself and law, said, "There was no great love between us, and it pleased heaven to decrease it on further acquaintance." Most of the poets who have sprung from the legal profession appear to have entertained the same unfavorable view. Cowper, who was a fellow pupil of Lord Thurlow in an attorney's office, was called to the bar at the Middle Temple, but he quickly yielded himself to the charms of literature. Denham was a member of Lincoln's Inn, and Thomas Gray, the author of the famous "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard," studied for the bar, but neither of these got beyond the apprenticeship stage. Barry Cornwall was a solicitor.—Law Journal.

A HOMESICK PIONEER.

Poetic Plaint of One of the Early Settlers in Missouri.

In wonder the people of today read of the persistent cheerfulness with which the pioneers went about the business of settling the great west. Nevertheless it somehow gratifies the weakness of human nature to know that there was now and then a wearer of the deerskin leggings and coonskin cap who grumbled.

One early settler who went from a snug New England village to the fever haunted prairies along the Missouri was moved to put his complaints into rhymes, one of which has survived and is now carefully preserved by the descendants of the early settler, who live surrounded by the peaceful prosperity and comfort of a Missouri farm right in the heart of the anathematized prairie:

Oh, lonesome, windy, grassy place,
Where buffalo and snake prevail—
The first with dreadful looking face,
The last with dreadful sounding tail—
I'd rather live on camel hump
And be a Yankee Doodle beggar
Than where I never see a stump
And shake to death with fever'n ager.

Judging from the last line, one might conclude that an acute attack of "ager" had suddenly prevented him from continuing.

Pie in England.

Pie came to the fore in England many centuries ago. It originated in the form of mince pie and was used in the celebration of Christmas. In its primitive stage it was baked in a deep sided dish, lined and covered with rolled out dough. The filling was of forcemeats, richly sweetened and spiced. This spicing and flavoring stood for the presents which the wise men bore to the Christ in the manger. For years and years this custom of having the Christmas mince pie prevailed, but finally it was denounced far and wide by the Puritans as a form of idolatry, and the government after parliament had suppressed the celebration of the birth of Christ took steps to stop the baking and eating of the mince pie. Eventually saner reasoning led to the taking off of the ban, and the pie eating custom was renewed.—London Standard.

Firm Resolution.

Dave Saddler was a brave Confederate soldier who was in the hospital at Richmond and who, in spite of his sufferings, always took a cheerful view of the situation. One day when he was recovering a visiting minister approached his cot and tendered him a pair of homemade socks.

"Accept these," said he. "I only wish the dear woman who knit them could present them to you in person."

"Thank you very much," said David gravely. "But I have decided that I never shall wear another pair of socks while I live."

The preacher protested, but to no purpose, and finally he sought out the boy's sister to tell her how foolishly the invalid had behaved.

"Why," exclaimed she, "both his feet have been shot off!"

Ball, Striking Girl, Caused Death.

Detroit, Mich., March 26.—While little Bessie, Baumann, aged thirteen years, daughter of Christopher Baumann, 352 Concord avenue, was passing some boys in the street, who were playing ball, one of the lads, Willie Neville, miscalculated his throw with the ball, and it struck Bessie on the temple. The child was removed to her home and died a few hours later.

President Sends Boy Hero a Bust.

Bay City, Mich., March 26.—President Roosevelt has sent a bust of himself to eight-year-old Dewey Nelson, who recently rescued his brother and sister from a fire that burned the Nelson home to the ground. On the bust was the following inscription: "To Dewey Nedson, with all good wishes, Theodore Roosevelt."

Fishermen living on the Raisin river have been using dip nets, in the belief that a special act was passed by the last legislature allowing them to do so. Investigation shows the act was defeated, and many prosecutions may follow.

Mrs. Sarah Monteny, the oldest resident of Ogemaw county, is dead, aged 102 years. She leaves eleven children, the oldest of whom is eighty-four; sixty grandchildren, and she has great grandchildren to the fifth generation. For many years her home was in Clio.

That his brother-in-law was a too frequent caller at his home and thereby caused much dissension in domestic circles is the assertion of William Volkers, living near Port Huron. He has started suit in the circuit court to have Herman Goldstein restrained from calling there.

For the past ten years a Roman Catholic chaplain at the Brooklyn navy yard, Rev. W. H. I. Rainey, who came from Detroit, has been transferred to the battleship Mississippi, now at the League Island navy yard. Father Rainey served as chaplain on Admiral Dewey's flagship, Olympia, at Manila.

Lewis C. Nichols, aged sixty, of Coldwater, has been sentenced by Judge Yaple to Jackson prison for a term of not less than two years nor more than five, with a recommendation of four years. Nichols' offense consisted of stealing a pair of stockings from the store of T. A. Hilton. The stockings were valued at twenty-five cents.

Mrs. Latitia Shelp, aged eighty-one, and Mrs. Margaret Winton, aged seventy-six, two of the oldest patients in the Eastern Michigan asylum, are dead. The former had been a patient at the institution for the last eighteen years, and the latter has been a patient since its erection, nearly thirty years ago. The remains were shipped to Fowlerville, where both have relatives.

Bankruptcy For Pati.

New York, March 26.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Pasquale and Salvatore Pati, the Elizabeth street bankers who closed their bank, giving as a reason that they were being hounded by the "Black Hand." The petition was filed by Hoadly, Lauterbach and Johnson, acting for three depositors whose claims amount to $5,000. The petitioners allege that the Patis concealed and removed funds from the bank with the intention of defrauding the depositors.

Senator Whyte's Successor.

Annapolis, Md., March 26.—The election of former Governor John Walter Smith to fill the unexpired portion of the late United States Senator Whyte's term has been formally ratified at a joint session of the two branches of the legislature. The election probably will be attacked in the senate as irregular, as under the law the election should not have been held until next Tuesday.

THE KAISER RELENTS.

Recalls Expressions of Disapproval Against Hill.

WILLING TO ACCEPT HIM.

Sudden Change of Attitude Taken by Germany in Reference to New Ambassador—Believed Emperor Disliked Idea of Losing Tower.

Berlin, March 30.—Emperor William, having been fully advised as to the attitude of President Roosevelt and the feeling of the American public in regard to the alleged refusal of his majesty to receive Dr. David J. Hill as American ambassador to German, in succession to Charjemagne Tower, has recalled all the expressions of disapproval he recently sent to President Roosevelt and would be pleased to receive Dr. Hill as ambassador.

The emperor has caused this view to be communicated to President Roosevelt. The German foreign office has sent to the Associated Press the following official declaration on the subject:

"The notices which have appeared hitherto in the foreign press in regard to the Hill affair have originated in the erroneous impression that it was intended in Berlin to recall the approval given here last summer to Dr. Hill's appointment. This has never been thought of. It is true that doubts subsequently arose as to whether Mr. Hill would feel himself comfortable in the post of American ambassador to Berlin, but these doubts have been removed, so that nothing stands in the way of Dr. Hill's nomination to the Berlin embassy, and he will be welcome in Berlin now, as he would have been before, or as any other unobjectionable representative would be who should be named by President Roosevelt.

Tower Is Loyal.

"It is to be stated emphatically that throughout the whole incident the ambassador, Mr. Tower, has not swerved for one instant from the straight line of absolutely loyal and honorable conduct, both toward his own government and the imperial German government."

Baron Von Sternburg, the German ambassador at Washington, has, during the last forty-eight hours, been in the closest touch with the foreign office and has cabled fully concerning the matter. He described the need of a speedy arrangement of the affair and President Roosevelt's difficulties in meeting the emperor's inclination, and, furthermore, the unpleasant effect the whole controversy was having upon American public opinion.

The foreign office has communicated with the emperor, at Venice, with the result that if Dr. Hill comes to Berlin as the American ambassador he will be most cordially welcomed and given every attention by the emperor and the German government. It is thought in Berlin that the emperor's original purpose was merely to show friendly solicitude concerning the American representation.

Washington, March 30.—There has never been the slightest doubt in diplomatic circles here of the accuracy of the first announcement that Dr. Hill was not fully acceptable to Emperor William. For at least a fortnight preceding the actual declaration there had been more or less quiet gossip about the situation at the German court. The conclusion was reached that this was a case that fully bore out the wisdom of the old adage that it is unsafe to mix business and friendship.

Became Attached to Tower.

Emperor William was known to be of a warm, impulsive and sympathetic temperament, and it was readily understood how he could have permitted his feeling of personal friendship for Ambassador and his wife to sway him to the point where he was ready to look with disfavor upon their displacement. The ambassadorial office is one of a strongly personal character.

It is believed that Emperor William was animated, not by an aversion to Dr. Hill or his wife, but rather by a wish to keep near him the Towers, for whom he has conceived a warm friendship. Of course, the thing could not be done; our government would be perfectly willing to admit the right of objection, but to go further would be to admit a right of nomination.

Probably the immediate effect of the change of front at Berlin will be to bring about a change in the American representation at the embassy at a much earlier date than was contemplated. As already announced, Mr. Tower had signified a desire to relinquish his post next August, and it would not be surprising if, in view of these later developments, the change should occur much sooner.

FIELD DAY AT KAZOO.

Local Option Has Its Innings With Many Meetings.

CLIMAX OF A CAMPAIGN.

Pulpits of Every Church Filled by Workers Sunday Morning—Mass Meetings For Both Men and Women. All Well Attended.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 30.—Sunday was field day for the local option forces. Thirty-six meetings were conducted under the auspices of the Anti Saloon league. Some of the speakers were of state-wide prominence. One of the speakers of the day was D. W. Young of Ohio, national superintendent of the Anti Saloon league.

Sunday morning the pulpits of fourteen Kalamazoo churches were occupied, among the speakers being: P. W. Marsh, an attorney of Detroit; Superintendent Young of Louisville, Ky.; State Superintendent George W. Morrow of Detroit, Assistant Superintendent R. N. Holsapple of Grand Rapids, Professor F. S. Frederick of Albion college, Hon. Grant M. Hudson, representative of the Second Kalamazoo district, leader of the anti saloon forces and author of the present local option law.

Sunday afternoon, at the First Presbyterian church, a rally for men was conducted by Superintendent Morrow and the Rev. W. L. Alexander of Grand Rapids. At the same hour, in the First Baptist church, another mass meeting for women was conducted by Superintendent Young and Mr. Marsh.

Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock two mass meetings were held, one by Dr. Young, in the Majestic theater, for men, and the other by Superintendent Morrow. In the First Congregational church a meeting for women was held.

All of the meetings were largely attended and furnished the climax in the campaign to drive the saloons out of Kalamazoo county.

"Black Hand" Letter Writer Caught.

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—Caught in the very act of gathering in the spoils of a "Black Hand" letter he had written to Madame Lulu Butler, beauty doctor at 49 Broadway, Roland Lewis, late of Washington, D. C., now in Detroit, is held at Central police station, following a complete confession. Lewis admits writing threatening letters, not only to Madame Butler, but also to G. W. Zanger, the furrier, and D. Beaudre, the retired dry goods merchant. Madame Butler is responsible for Lewis's arrest. The letter Lewis wrote her demanded that she conceal, on pain of death, $20 at a certain spot on Broadway avenue. The woman carried out his instructions, but detectives were on the spot at the appointed time and seized Lewis as he was about to pick up the package supposed to contain the money.

Nomination For Mayor In Doubt.

Marshall, Mich., March 30.—The Democratic and Republican city conventions will be held Tuesday evening, and, so far, no one has an idea who will be the nominees for mayor. Eugene L. Bigelow, bookkeeper at Page Bros.' Buggy company and member of the board of control of the businessmen's association, appears to be in the lead for the Republican faction, while A. F. Flynn, bookkeeper in the Michigan Central freight office and alderman from the Fourth ward, will probably receive the Democratic nomination.

Fake Telegram Man Sent Up.

Marshall, Mich., March 30.—C. W. Kelly, who defrauded Manager Clark of the Post Tavern, at Battle Creek, out of $60 and other business firms of that city out of smaller sums by means of a fake telegram, pleaded guilty to obtaining money fraudulently in the circuit court and was sentenced by Judge North to not less than six months nor more than ten years at Jackson. The court recommended one year as a proper sentence.

Cured of Insanity.

Jackson, Mich., March 30.—W. F. Warren, who was transferred from Jackson prison to the asylum for the criminal insane, at Ionia, has been cured of insanity in a peculiar manner. Shoveling coal at Ionia has effected the cure. Warren has evidently been shamming. He was sentenced to Jackson from Battle Creek for embezzlement.

Greenville Has $5,000 Fire.

Greenville, Mich., March 30.—Fire, which, it is believed, originated in the basement of P. D. Edsall's bazaar and book store from a gas jet, damaged the building and contents to the extent of about $5,000. The damage is fully covered by insurance.

MANY MINERS PERISH

Disastrous Explosions In Mines In Wyoming.

RESCUERS CAUGHT IN TRAP.

First Explosion Caused Loss of Eighteen Lives—When Two Score Rescuers Entered, Second Explosion Followed, and They Were Killed.

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 30.—Between fifty-five and seventy men, it has developed, lost their lives in two explosions in coal mine No. 1 of the Union Pacific Coal company, at Hanna. The explosions were caused by gases and coal dust, and each was followed by fire.

The first explosion occurred at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, killing eighteen miners, including a superintendent and three bosses.

The second explosion occurred at 10:30 o'clock at night and snuffed out the lives of from forty to fifty rescuers, including State Mine Inspector D. M. Elie. The names of the men killed in the first explosion are shown on the company's books, but those of the rescuers are not known, as no record was kept of those who volunteered for this dangerous work.

The wildest excitement prevails in Hanna and at the mine, where hundreds of persons are congregated, including widows, children and other relatives of the victims.

When the second explosion occurred, additional appeals were telegraphed to all surrounding towns for assistance. One train is rushing west from Omaha, carrying officers of the Union Pacific railroad and of the Union Pacific Coal company.

Rescue Difficult.

The regular force of men employed at the mines Nos. 2 and 3 have been pressed into rescue work, which is extremely difficult.

The bodies of four of the eighteen men who lost their lives in the first explosion have been found, but, owing to the increasing volume of gas, which threatens to explode at any moment, no effort has been made to remove them to the surface.

Fire started in the colliery last Sunday. Since that time attempts at regular intervals have been made to extinguish the blaze. Finally it was deemed unsafe to send the miners down into the workings, and they were told not to report for duty. Superintendent Briggs, with the best and most experienced hands in the camp, went into the mine to fight the fire, but the flames were beyond their control.

The fire finally reached the gas, and a terific explosion followed. In a few minutes many men volunteered to enter the mine to rescue any possible survivor. Fumes of fire hindered the rescuers, but they made some progress. After a long struggle, the volunteers got well into the mine. Then the camp was startled by a second explosion that partly shut off the shaft of the mine and most likely killed the volunteers.

The victims are all below the tenth level, and it is improbable that flames have consumed the corpses.

Bark Burns and Thirteen Men Drown.

Mandal, Norway, March 30.—The Norwegian bark Inglewood, recently from New York for Stockholm, which arrived here March 20, caught fire. She was loaded with naphtha and subsequently blew up, sinking in forty feet of water. Thirteen of the crew were drowned.

Train Kills Deaf Mute.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 30.—Mrs. Charles Strout was struck and killed by a southbound Lake Shore & Michigan Southern train, as she was crossing the track at Allcott street, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Strout was a deaf mute, and it is believed she did not see the approaching train.

Fire In Jackson Prison.

Jackson, Mich., March 30.—At 2 o'clock in the morning fire broke out in the binder twine factory of the state prison. It was evidently caused by defective electric wires. The automatic sprinkling system of the factory worked successfully, and the loss will be nominal.

Clearing House Certificates Paid.

New York, March 30.—The National Bank of North America has paid to the clearing house the balance of its indebtedness in clearing house certificates, amounting to $250,000. All the clearing house certificates issued during and since the financial crisis, at one time amounting to $100,000,000, have now been retired.

MAKES FINAL REFUSAL.

Gillette Must Die, Says Governor. Mother Pays Son Last Visit.

Auburn, N. Y., March 30.—Chester Gillette will be executed in the electric chair today, at Auburn prison, for the murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown, in Big Moose lake, in the summer of 1906. News that Governor Hughes has finally declined to interfere and stay the execution has been received here and communicated to Gillette, who heard the words that took away his only hope for life with that same stoicism and indifference that has marked his conduct during and since his memorable trial, at Herkimer, N. Y. Mrs. Gillette, the mother, was prostrated when she heard the news.

The condemned man has been permitted a farewell visit with his father, mother and aunt, Miss Catherine Gillette. He is preparing a statement, which, it is expected, will be given out after the exectrocution.

Mrs. Gillette carried a white rose to the condemned man's cell, and her sister-in-law carried a red flower. Gillette was not allowed to take the flowers, but they were placed where he could see them through the screen in front of his cell. The parting between Gillette and his mother was deeply affecting. Mrs. Gillette's unusual request to have her son's aunt, Miss Catherine Gillette, and Miss Bermie Ferrin, a friend of the family, present at the execution, has been denied by Warden Benham.

MITCHELL RETIRES.

Mine Workers' President Will Endeavor to Regain His Health.

Indianapolis, March 30.—After ten years' leadership of the United Mine Workers of America, John Mitchell on Tuesday will retire from the head of that organization, and he will be succeeded by Thomas L. Lewis of Ohio. After Tuesday Mr. Mitchell will devote his time to regaining his health, which has given away under the strain of office.

While Mr. Mitchell has been offered many positions of importance, he will undertake no work until his health improves. It is reported that President Roosevelt has offered him a mission to Panama and that the National Civic federation wants to place him at the head of a bureau to investigate and promote the use of trade agreements.

The present mining contracts in all of the soft coal fields of the country will expire with the presidency of John Mitchell. Central Pennsylvania tract under which the miners can contract unier which the miners can continue at work April 1. The indications are that in nearly all other fields the mines will close Tuesday night, not to open for several days, and in some fields for several weeks.

There is little liklihood of serious inconvenience to industrial activity, as the demand for coal is slack and considerable coal is on hand.

Mikado's Cousin In Paris.

Paris, March 30.—Prince Nashimoto, a cousin of the emperor of Japan, has come to Paris, where for two or three years he will devote himself to military study. He is accompanied only by an aide-de-camp and has taken a simple apartment on the left bank of the Seine.

Boy Drowns In Cistern.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 30.—Ward Garceau, four years old, fell into a cistern at the home of his parents and was drowned. He had been allowed to go out in the yard to play and broke through a rotten plank covering the cistern's mouth. Mrs. Garceau found him within twenty minutes, but efforts to resuscitate were unavailing.

Name Soutar For Receiver.

Port Huron, Mich., March 30.—One hundred stockholders of the United Home Protectors' Fraternity met here and decided to recommend to the judges the name of W. R. Soutar for receiver. There were several other names presented, but Mr. Soutar had a large majority and was finally unanimously indorsed.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until recently was supposed to be incurable. For many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

There are countless roads on all sides to the grave.

This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State Warden of Georgia, says of Kodol for dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sirs—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach. I lost 25 lbs.; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and I was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle constantly and write this hoping that humanity will be benefitted. Yours very truly, Jake C. Moore, Atlanta, Aug. 10, 1904." Sold by all druggists.

Given up to die.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia street, Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle was entirely cured." Why not let it help you? Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

WE stood one Sunday morning in a group watching for her to speed around the Narrows. Many locomotives as I have seen and ridden, a new one is always a wonder to me—chokes me up, even, it means so much. I hear men rave over horses and marvel at it when I think of the iron horse. I hear them chatter of distance, and my mind turns to the annihilator. I hear them brag of ships, and I think of the ship that plows the mountains and rivers and plains. And when they talk of speed—what can I think of but her?

As the new engine rolled into the yards my heart beat quicker. Her lines were too imposing to call strong. They were massive, yet so simple you could draw them, like the needle snout of a collie, to a very point.

Every bearing looked precise, every joint looked supple, as she swept magnificently up and checked herself, panting, in front of us.

Foley was in the cab. He had been east on a lay-off and so happened to bring in the new monster, wild, from the river shops.

She was built in Pennsylvania, but the fellows on the Missouri end of our line thought nothing could ever safely be put into our hands until they had stopped it en route and looked it over.

"How does she run, Foley?" asked Neighbor, gloating silently over the toy.

"Cool as an icebox," said Foley, swinging down. "She's a regular summer resort. Little stiff on the hills yet."

"We'll take that out of her," mused Neighbor, climbing into the cab to look her over. "Boys, this is up in a balloon," he added, pushing his big head through the cab window and peering down at the ninety inch drivers under him.

"I grew dizzy once or twice looking for the ponies," declared Foley, biting off a piece of tobacco as he hitched at his overalls. "She looms like a skyscraper. Say, Neighbor, I'm to get her myself, ain't I?" asked Foley, with his usual nerve.

"When McNeal gets through with her, yes," returned Neighbor gruffly, giving her a thimble of steam and trying the air.

"What!" cried Foley, affecting surprise. "You going to give her to the kid?"

"I am," returned the master mechanic unfeelingly, and he kept his word.

Georgie McNeal, just reporting for work after the session in his cab with the loose end of a connecting rod, was invited to take out the skyscraper—488, Class H—as she was listed, and Dad Hamilton of course took the scoop to fire her.

"They are good people," retorted Neighbor. He also assigned a helper to the old fireman. It was a new thing with us then, a fellow with a slice bar to tickle the grate, and Dad, of course, kicked. He always kicked. Neighbor wasted no words. He simply sent the helper back to wiping until the old fireman should cry enough.

Very likely you know that a new engine must be regularly broken, as a horse is broken, before it is ready for steady hard work. And as Georgie McNeal was not very strong yet, he was appointed to do the breaking.

For two months it was a picnic—light runs and easy lay overs. After the smash at the Narrows Hamilton had sort of taken the kid engineer under his wing, and it was pretty generally understood that any one who elbowed Georgie McNeal must reckon with his doughty old fireman. So the two used to march up and down street together, as much like chums as a very young engineer and a very old fireman possibly could be. They talked together, walked together and ate together. Foley was as jealous as a cat of Hamilton, because he had brought Georgie out west and felt a sort of guardian interest in that quarter himself. Really anybody would love Georgie McNeal; old Dad Hamilton was proof enough of that.

One evening, just after pay day, I saw the pair in the postoffice lobby getting their checks cashed. Presently the two stepped over to the money order window. A moment later each came away with a money order.

"Is that where you leave your wealth, Georgie?" I asked as he came up to speak to me.

"Part of it goes there every month, Mr. Reed," he smiled. "Checks are running light, too, now—eh, Dad?"

"A young fellow like you ought to be putting money away in the bank," said I.

"Well, you see I have a bank back in Pennsylvania, a bank that is now sixty years old and getting gray headed. I haven't sent her much since I've been on the relief, so I'm trying to make up a little now for my old mammy."

"Where does yours go, Dad?" I asked.

"Me," answered the old man evasively. "I've got a boy back east; getting to be a big one too. He's in school. When are you going to give us a passenger run with the skyscraper, Neighbor?" asked Hamilton, turning to the master mechanic.

"Soon as we get this wheat, up on the high line, out of the way," replied Neighbor. "We haven't half engines enough to move it, and I get a wire about every six hours to move it faster. Every siding's blocked, clear to Belgrade. How many of those 60,000 pound cars can you take over Beverly hill with your skyscraper?"

He was asking both men. The engineer looked at his chum.

"I reckon maybe thirty-five or forty," said McNeal. "Eh, Dad?"

"Maybe, son," growled Hamilton, "and break my back doing it?"

"I gave you a helper once, and you kicked him off the tender," retorted Neighbor.

But the upshot of it was that we put the skyscraper at hauling wheat, and within a week she was doing the work of a double header.

It was May, and a thousand miles east of us, in Chicago, there was trouble in the wheat pit on the board of trade. You would hardly suspect what queer things that wheat scramble gave rise to, affecting Georgie McNeal and old man Hamilton and a lot of other fellows away out on a railroad division on the western plain, but this was the way of it:

A man sitting in a little office on Lasalle street wrote a few words on a very ordinary looking sheet of paper and touched a button. That brought a colored boy, and he took the paper out to a young man who sat at the eastern end of a private wire.

The next thing we knew orders began to come in hot from the president's office—the president of the road. If you please—to get that wheat on the high line into Chicago, and to get it there quickly.

Trainmen, elevator men, superintendents of motive power, were spurred with special orders and special bulletins. Farmers, startled by the great prices offering, hauled night and day. Every old tub we had in the shops and on the scrap was overhauled and hustled into the service. The division danced with excitement. Every bushel of wheat on it must be in Chicago by the morning of May 31.

For two weeks we worked everything to the limit. The skyscraper led any two engines on the line. Even Dad Hamilton was glad to cry enough and take a helper. We doubled them every day, and the way the wheat flew over the line toward the lower end of Lake Michigan was appalling to speculators. It was a battle between two commercial giants, and a battle to the death. It shook not alone the country; it shook the world. But that was nothing to us; our orders were simply to move the wheat. And the wheat moved.

The last week found us pretty well cleaned up, but the high price brought grain out of cellars and wells, the buyers said—at least, it brought all the hoarded wheat and much of the seed wheat, and the 28th day of the month found fifty cars of wheat still in the Zanesville yards. I was at Harvard working on a time card when the word came, and behind it a special from the general manager stating there was $1,000 premium in it for the company, besides tariff, if we got that wheat into Chicago by Saturday morning.

The train end of it didn't bother me any. It was the motive power that kept us studying. However, we figured that by running McNeal with the skyscraper back wild we could put all the wheat behind her in one train. As it happened, Neighbor was at Harvard too.

"Can they ever get over Beverly with 50, Neighbor?" I asked doubtfully.

"We'll never know till we try it," growled Neighbor. "There's a thousand for the company if they do; that's all. How'll you run them? Give them plenty of sea room. They'll have to gallop to make it."

Cool and reckless planning, taking the daring chances, straining the flesh and blood, driving the steel loaded to the snapping point—that was what it meant. But the company wanted results, wanted the prestige and the premium too. To gain them we were expected to stretch our little resources to the uttermost.

I studied a minute, then turned to the dispatcher.

"Tell Norman to send them out as second 4. That gives the right of way over every wheel against them. If they can't make it on that kind of schedule, it isn't in the track."

It was extraordinary business, rather, sending a train of wheat through on a passenger schedule, practically as the second section of our eastbound flier, but we took hair lifting chances on the plains.

It was noon when the orders were flashed. At 3 o'clock No. 4 was due to leave Zanesville. For three hours I kept the wires busy warning all operators and trainmen, even switch engines and yardmasters, of the wheat special, second 4.

The flier, the first section and regular passenger train, was checked out of Zanesville on time. Second 4, which meant Georgie McNeal, Dad, the skyscraper and fifty loads of wheat, reported out at 3:10. While we worked on our time card Neighbor in the dispatcher's office across the hall figured out that the wheat train would enrich the company just $11,000, tolls and premium, "if it doesn't break in two on Beverly hill," growled Neighbor, with a qualm.

On the dispatcher's sheet, which is a sort of panorama, I watched the big train whirl past station after station, drawing steadily nearer to us, and doing it, the marvel, on full passenger time. It was a great feat, and Georgie McNeal, whose nerve and brain were guiding the tremendous load, was breaking records with every milestone.

They were due in Harvard at 9 o'clock. The first 4, our flier, pulled in and out on time, meeting 55, the westbound overland freight, at the second station east of Harvard—Redbud.

Neighbor and I sat with the dispatchers up in their office, smoking. The wheat train was now due from the west, and, looking at my watch, I stepped to the western window. Almost immediately I heard the long, peculiarly hollow blast of the skyscraper whistling for the upper yard.

"She's coming," I exclaimed.

The boys crowded to the window, but Neighbor happened to glance to the east.

"What's that coming in from the Junction, Bailey?" he exclaimed, turning to the local dispatcher. We looked and saw a headlight in the east.

"That's 55."

"Where do they meet?"

"Fifty-five takes the long siding in from the Junction"—which was two miles east—"and she ought to be on it right now," added the dispatcher anxiously, looking over the master mechanic's shoulder. Neighbor jumped as if a bullet had struck him. "She'll never take a siding tonight. She's coming down the main track. What's her orders?" he demanded furiously.

"Meeting orders for first 4 at Redbud, second 4 here, 78 at Glencoe. Great Jupiter," cried the dispatcher, and his face went sick and scared. "they've forgotten second 4!"

"They'll think of her a long time dead," roared the master mechanic savagely, jumping to the west window. "Throw your red lights! There's the skyscraper now!"

Her head shot that instant around the coal chutes less than a mile away, and 55 going dead against her. I stood like one paised, my eyes glued on the burning eye of the big engine. As she whipped past a street arc light I caught a glimpse of Georgie McNeal's head out of the cab window. He always rode bareheaded if the night was warm, and I knew it was he; but suddenly, like a flash, his head went in. I knew why as well as if my eyes were his eyes and my thoughts his thoughts. He had seen red signals where he had every right to look for white.

But red signals now—to stop her—to pull her flat on her haunches like a broncho? Shake a weather flag at a cyclone!

I saw the fire stream from her drivers. I knew they were churning in the sand. I knew he had twenty air cars behind him sliding. What of it?

Two thousand tons were sweeping forward like an avalanche. What did brains or pluck count for now with 55 dancing along like a schoolgirl right into the teeth of it?

I don't know how the other men felt. As for me, my breath choked in my throat, my knees shook, and a deadly nausea seized me. Unable to avert the horrible blunder, I saw its hideous results.

The Aurora Borealis.

The aurora borealis, or northern dawn, is an electrical phenomenon which in high northern latitudes, especially in winter, illuminates the skies with streamers of light. As the streams of light have a tremendous motion, they are called in many places the "merry dances." They assume many shapes and a variety of colors, from a pale red or yellow to a deep red or blood color, and in the northern latitudes they serve to illuminate the earth and cheer the gloom of the long winter nights. The connection of the aurora displays with the disturbance of the magnetic needle is now regarded as an ascertained fact.

Not For Fishes.

"What are you children talking about?" demanded the old catfish.

"Nothing much, ma," replied the little kitten fish. "We heard somebody say that iron was good for the blood, and we were wondering if it really was."

Rural Gaslight for Country Homes.

This means that while it has in it all the colors of the rain-bow they are so perfectly balanced that no one color over-powers the others, or discolors objects which it falls on.

That's why Acetylene Light seems white—as Sunlight does.

That's why you can see pale blue, pale pink, or pale yellow, as clearly by Acetylene Light at night as by Sunlight during the day.

And, that's why Plants grow as fast, and as naturally under Acetylene Gaslight at night as they do by true Sunlight by day.

Moreover, that's why Acetylene Light has the same cheering, antiseptic, tonic, influence on Human Beings as Sunlight,—the same wholesome effect upon Eyesight.

It is the cleanest, purest, coolest, safest, most brilliant and diffusive of all Home Lights.

When once installed it will give you the same candle-power as you now secure from ordinary Kerosene Lamps for a third less cost.

It can be completely installed, in about two days time, without the slightest damage to walls, ceilings, or floors.

No more dirty lamp-cleaning, filling, wick-snuffing, nor chimney-wiping. No more disagreeable smell of stale Kerosene, no more soot, on lace curtains, draperies, or walls, no more danger from the carrying around of lighted hand lamps.

You merely turn a tap on a wall bracket or hanging chandelier, and thus light-up brilliantly or softly, according to how much you turn it.

Once a month you fill the Generator with Carbide.

That takes about 15 to 30 minutes time, per month to do.

Then you have true Sunlight-at-Night, cool, soft, odorless, eye-saving, wide-spreading, and brilliant as burning diamonds.

Let me tell you how little it need cost to equip a home, hotel, or store, with that glorifying Acetylene Gaslight.

HAND CUT OFF

While running a machine at Lamb Fence Factory in Adrian

HOWARD MATTHES

After working for one week at the Lamb fence factory in Adrian, running a straightener, Howard Matthes aged 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Matthes, who reside about 4 miles west of town, caught his hand on a wire Saturday morning and before the machinery could be stopped his hand was dragged into the clutch of the machine, where his left hand was severed above the wrist.

He was taken in Mott's ambulance to the Eva M. Smith hospital, where Drs. Stephenson, Claflin and Seager rendered the necessary surgical assistance. Mr. Matthes went to Adrian about a week ago to learn the machinist trade. He was fortunately insured in the General Accident Insurance Corp. represented by M. J. Ferguson in Adrian.

The casket was covered with beautiful flowers, tokens of the sincere regard in which she was held by her friends.

Mrs. Keeney was one of the most highly esteemed women in this locality. She held a warm place in the hearts of her friends, not only for her high qualities of character but for her nobility of soul. Faithful, untiring and true she went about doing good and the vacancy made by her passing cannot be filled.

Among those from away who came to attend the funeral were, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Perry of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosacrans of Toledo, Miss Emma Keeney of Saginaw, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mrs. Eva M. Smith has purchased the home of Prof. Palmer No. 29 Park street in Adrian and expects to move there the first week in April. The place will be well equipped so as to make an up-to-date hospital. Mrs. Smith expects to have the assistance of the best skilled nurses in her work. Ten beds will be arranged and as necessities may require more room will be secured. Mrs. Smith's many friends wish her success.

FRANKLIN BOY.

W. E. Daniels of Chicago, invents an out door lighting system.

Wallace E. Daniels, a former Tipton boy, now of Chicago, has been successful with his invention of artistic outdoor lighting, known as the Daniels' system. Mr. Daniels is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Daniels of this place and was born and raised in Franklin. The Electrical World contains a lengthy article in regard to his invention. We clip the following:

The need of artistic street lighting was early appreciated by W. E. Daniels of the South Park Commissioners, Chicago, whose position gave him an excellent opportunity to study all phases of out door illumination, the result of which study was the invention and patenting of the Daniels' system of boulevard lighting. The manufacture and exploitation of this system has been undertaken by the Jandus Electric Co. of Cleveland, O.

J. Wesley Ayers.

J. Wesley Ayers was born in Livingston county, town of Conenes, N. Y., July 25, 1824 and died March 1, 1908 at his home near Shepardsville, Mich. He came with his parents to Michigan in 1837, living in the southern part of the state until 1889 when he and his wife and daughter moved on their farm near Shepardsville. He married Catherine Coller July 29, 1852 and for 56 years the ideal married life was his to enjoy. The summons came suddenly but he was ready to answer with joy.

The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Geo Brellen of Carson City, a former pastor and intimate friend of the deceased, assisted by Rev. J. O. Vietrich of the M. E. church, Shepardsville. Text "Now I see through a glass darkly but then face to face." The deceased leaves an aged wife, one daughter, one grandson and four sisters to mourn the loss of a true husband, loving father and brother, two brothers having preceded him to the heavenly home inside a year.

Friends from away who attended the funeral were Mrs. H. L. Cramer and daughter, Mrs. Nellie McDovell, of Savona, N. Y., and Dr. E. H. Coller of Battle Creek.

Time to Exclude Suburban Car from Highways.

The derailment of a Jackson car yesterday calls attention to the danger of allowing immense interurban cars to rush through the city streets at the rate of 20 miles or more an hour. This isn't by any means the first accident of the kind but when it brings with it the wounding of two score of persons and the destruction of private property it should stir the people and railroad managers to serious thought.

When interurban travel was in its infancy we encouraged it to the extent of our power. It is now a giant industry and growing rapidly. It should no longer be allowed to use the public highway and city streets. There is danger enough from those great cars running 20 or 30 miles an hour on country highways but there is infinitely more on the city streets with their constant streams of traffic and their crowded sidewalks. To accomodate vehicles the rails have to be laid level with the roadway, a stone is liable to become jammed in the groove of the rail or the rail itself to become worn and the car to be thrown from the track to dash itself against the buildings like a projectile from a giant catapult.

Electric railway managers should take up at once the necessity of acquiting private rights of way. For their own protection the cars should be taken off the public highways and streets. In the city there is no room for these cars. It is intolerable, too, that the suburban roads are allowed to monopolize the streets, Griswold and Congress, for instance, for a freight depot. The suburban trolley cars should enter the city on a private right of way and have their own stations at the different termni.

If the company cannot do this, the cars should be stopped at the city limits. The citizens have long been crying out against the dust and noise caused by these big engines, not to speak of the actual damage from vibration, damage to the city's pavement and to the residences along the street; and when now to this nuisance is added a very serious danger to life, it is surely time to take steps at once to avert it.—Detroit News.

ROUND ABOUT US.

George H. Foster has struck a flowing well on the farm of Fred Kern about six miles southeast of Chelsea. Seven years ago Mr. Foster said that he would guarantee a flowing well at that place, and when Mr. Kern purchased the farm about a year ago he heard of Mr. Foster's offer and soon commenced negotiations with him, with the result that he now has a valuable adjunct to his farm. The well is only fifty feet in depth and the flow is strong enough to throw a two inch stream about six feet in the air.—Saline Observer.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

REPLY TO A COMMUNICATION FROM THE SCHOOL BOARD IN HERALD

In regard to Fire Escapes for the School House.

EDITOR HERALD:—In the article written for your columns by the school board in answer to a suggestion which the club women had made that the matter of fire escapes on the school buildings secure attention from the board, the writer refers to "an unsigned article" almost implying that the club folks wish to appear to have written anonymously.

If the gentlemen of the school board wish to know the source of the article all they would need to do would be to refer to the petition which for three or four years has "lain upon the table" where they decided to place it. It does not really matter who held the pen that put their sentiment into words. The article was the voice of all the women signing the request and not one of them would hesitate to have their names appear and it was only for economy of space that the signatures were omitted.

The board in their article say "the attack is unfair." We were not considering it in the light of an "attack." We have waited three years for an answer and thought to probe a silence which might be eternal by inquiring meekly if any thing could be done and offering assistance. We certainly are not wishing to incite the treasurer to forget his bond by doing anything illegal.

We have no record that the board ever told us that it would take a two thirds vote of the tax payers to appropriate funds to make these improvements or we might have worked in some other way. It seems that this was an oversight on their part. We have no especial reason to keep ourselves informed about the law as we have no occasion to use our knowledge of those questions on election day.

We are still abiding by the decision of Paul—if a woman wants to know anything let her ask her husband at home. We are getting our knowledge of these matters by proxy, though most of us realize that at the time Paul made this command there wasn't a woman's club in Damascus. The club women are certainly not wishing to "try and sentence" the school board as they seem to fear, but after all the discussion the fact remains that the pupils are still in danger and it is still a woman's perogative to have the last word.

GOES AFTER GERMS.

How Hyomei does its work in curing catarrh.

Nature's remedy for catarrhal troubles is the oils and balsams found in Hyomei. It is a specific, not a cure all. It has but one mission, the cure of catarrh.

The natural way of curing a disease is always the scientific way and the scientific way of curing catarrh is the simple way, with Hyomei.

Catarrh is a germ disease and can be cured only by using Hyomei, the treatment that reaches and destroys all catarrhal germs.

Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, Hyomei's medication reaches the most remote air cells of the nose, throat and lungs, going after the disease germs wherever present, destroying them and preventing their growth, thus making catarrhal troubles impossible.

There is no dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. It is solely an inhalation treatment, prepared specially to kill the catarrhal germs and is so successful that C. A. Wright & Son. sell it under an actual guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

Begin the use of Hyomei at once and see how quickly it gives relief and lasting cure; complete outfit is only $1.00.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Tecumseh people have found that this is true.

A little cause may hurt the kidneys.
Spells of backache often follow,
Or some irregularity of the urine.
A certain remedy for such attacks,
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific
Many Tecumseh people rely on it.
Here is proof

E. H. Hyde, living on west Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for about 2 years caused by a cold which settled in my kidneys. The pain in my back was often so severe that I could not stoop or lift. I used a number of highly recommended remedies but failed to receive more than temporary relief and finally began taking Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Wright & Son's drug store. On using the contents of the first box I received much benefit, continued and was cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

England's Coast Lights.

"The coastwise lights of England," of which Kipling sings, have been increasing in brilliancy as well as in number ever since the dawn of the nineteenth century. In that dark age weary mariners crawled into port by the flickering glare of twenty-five beacons and six floating lights. Now they may glide safely into haven under the powerful beams of 880. Lighthouses are as ancient as civilization. The Pharos of Alexander flung its light on the decks of oriental barges 2,237 years ago. The Romans, who loved the light, have left the ruins of one of their lighthouses on a cliff at Boulogne, while at Dover may still be seen all that remains of another. Petroleum and the electric light have made the early nineteenth century beacons ridiculous. On the summit of the tower an open grate was fed with billets of wood and later with coal. Scotland abandoned coal altogether for more up to date methods in 1816 and England six years afterward.

What Might Have Been.

Lord Rosebery in an address at Glasgow university some years ago gave utterance to the following interesting speculation:

"Had the elder Pitt when he became prime minister not left the house of commons he could doubtless have induced George III. to listen to reason, introduced American representation into parliament and preserved the thirteen colonies to England. The new blood of America would have burst the old vessels of the constitution and provided a self adjusting system of representation. There would have been no war of separation, no war of 1812, and finally, when the Americans became a majority, the empire would perhaps have moved solemnly across the Atlantic and Britain become a historic shrine, the European outpost of the empire."

CHINESE WRITING.

Every Scrap of Every Kind Is Held to Be Sacred.

The Chinese hold every scrap of writing sacred, no matter what the characters express—the merest commercial message, advertisement, etc. Since Confucius used these characters to teach his wisdom they are holy.

In the average Chinese community all letters and waste papers are laid away in a clean receptacle to await the collector, who appears at regular intervals to transfer the waste papers to the sacred furnace. If the papers were burned by the Chinese in their own homes, the ashes of the sacred writings would mingle with the ashes of wood and other fuel, and the ashes of Chinese writing are as sacred as the writing itself.

The ashes from the sacred furnace are placed in sacks, the sacks are conveyed by wagons to the sea and there, in a Mon War boat, are carried out where the tide runs swift and consigned to the waves.

The Mon War boat belongs to the Mon War Sher, which is a lodge with branches everywhere, organized and maintained for the purpose of paying reverence to the spirit of Confucius.

The furnace in the Chinatown which nearly every large city in the United States harbors is generally a brick, orenlike structure about five feet high. Opposite it on the wall there will usually be an inscription of the character of the following: "The spirits of our ancestors are pleased that we keep sacred the writing of our country."

The society of Mon War Sher (Club of the Beautiful Writing) is made up in each case of the prominent denizens of Chinatown, who support it by voluntary contributions, which pay the salaries of the keeper and his assistant.—New York Tribune.

A MERCHANT.

He Used to Be One Engaged Exclusively in Foreign Commerce.

Originally the term merchant was applied only to one who traded with foreign countries and who owned or chartered ships, for that purpose—Chaucer's "Marchaunt:"

He wolde the see were kepud for enything
Betwixe Midduburgh and Orewelle.

The merchant of Venice had "on the ocean" his "argosies with portly sail," and so had all the other merchants about whom poets or historians have written. So also in the Bible there is no confusion about the meaning of the word. One passage alone will serve as an illustration. "She is like the merchants' ships—she bringeth her food from afar" (Proverbs xxxi, 14). De Quincey, writing in the early part of the nineteenth century ("Autobiographic Sketches"), says:

"My father was a merchant, not in the sense of Scotland, where it means a retail dealer—one, for instance, who sells groceries in the cellar—but in the English sense, a sense rigorously exclusive—that is, he was a man engaged in foreign commerce and no other, therefore in wholesale commerce and no other."

But now it is no longer necessary to "plow the Spanish main" to give one this time honored title, for any one who sells eggs by the dozen or flannel by the piece is at once put down as a merchant.—London Notes and Queries.

Webster's Home Squadron.

A few days before his death Daniel Webster wished to leave his sickroom once more to look upon the little paradise which his taste had adorned about his mansion. Dressing himself with the utmost care, he went through the house on the arm of a servant and finally reached the library. The night before there was a terrific storm, and the great statesman expressed solicitude for the safety of the fishermen off the coast. As he looked from the window his eye fell upon a number of pleasure boats which had been moored to a little mound in the artificial pond in the rear of the house. "Well," said he, "the home squadron is safe. I think I will go back." It was his last playful remark. He never left his room again.

Sensitive Plants.

There are plants so sensitive that if when standing by them you should suddenly put up your umbrella or sunshade it would be quite sufficient to cause them instantly to close together their leaflets and turn down their leaf stalks, just as if they were startled and alarmed by the movement. Indeed, on a sunny day when the temperature is sufficiently high you need not make even so decided a movement; merely your shadow coming in contact with their leaves will often cause them to fall slightly.—Strand Magazine.

Dignity.

I ought not to allow any man because he has broad lands to feel that he is rich in my presence. I ought to make him feel that I can do without his riches, that I cannot be bought—neither by comfort, neither by pride—and, although I be utterly penniless and receiving bread from him, that he is the poor man beside me.—Emerson.

Seeing the Alps.

"Did you see the Alps?"

"Oh, yes. Our car broke down right opposite them, and, do you know, I'm almost glad it did. I found them so charming and interesting."—Exchange.

Clear, but Confusing.

She—Oh, don't go there on Saturday. It's so frightfully crowded. Nobody goes there then.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Some people think that they are fond of literature just because they like to read novels.—Boston Globe.

Extravagance.

There is a clerk in the employ of a Philadelphia business man who, while a fair worker, is yet an individual of pronounced eccentricity. One day a wire basket fell off the top of the clerk's desk and scratched his cheek. Not having any court plaster at hand, he slapped on three two-cent stamps and continued his work. A few minutes later he had occasion to take some paper to his employer's private office. When he entered, the "old man," observing the postage stamps on his cheek, fixed him with an astonished stare. "Look here, Jenkins," he exclaimed, "you are carrying too much postage for second class matter!"

He Was Right.

"Johnny," said the big brother of an uptown small boy, "go to the shoemaker's and see if my shoes are mended, will you?"

"Naw," said the urchin.

"Why not?"

"'Cause they ain't done yet."

"How do you know?"

"'Cause I ain't taken 'em yet, that's how."

The Ayes Had It.

There is a certain representative in congress whose secretary is a young lady. She is pretty, and she is as bright as she is good looking, being also the possessor of a pair of beautiful eyes. The other day she called on a cabinet official to ask a favor for a constituent. The grave and dignified head of the department looked at her and said:

"My dear young lady, I am afraid I cannot do what you ask, although your big brown eyes"—

"Then the ayes have it," quick as a flash the young lady said. And she got what she requested.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

A "bomb" which was found in the coal bin of James Van Kleeck, at Bay City, consisting of a "piece of lead pipe, an inch in diameter and a foot long, filled with black powder," was inspected by the police. The powder, "sufficient to blow up the house," was coal dust and rust.

Receiver Lounsbury has filed his annual statement of the business of the P., O. & M. railway. The total receipts for the year ending Feb. 29 were $360,427.15 and the disbursements $364,490.83; cash on hand, $63,670.97. Big sums were spent during the year for permanent improvements, new rolling stock, rail, ties and ballast.

Miss Carrie Allen, sixteen years of age, and her aunt, Mrs. Peter North, thirty years old, were killed by lightning, at Brighton, while they were tacking down a carpet. The fluid entered the room over telephone wires, which were exposed, the telephone having been removed. A little brother of Miss Allen, who was in the same room, escaped injury.

The Detroit & Mackinac Railroad company, which has done much practical work in reforestration, has taken another step in this line, of great importance to northeastern Michigan. The company has a large amount of young white pine, Scotch pine, western yellow pine, spruce and white cedar on its Tawas Beach forest reserve, established several years ago, which have reached the proper growth for replanting. These trees, numbering several hundred thousand, will be given away, without charge, by the company to any persons who will agree to plant and care for them.

Lumbermen Must Go to Jail.

Toledo, March 30.—The circuit court has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the cases of the twenty prominent lumbermen of Toledo, who last July were sentenced to the workhouse for six months under the Valentine anti trust law. The supreme court having decided in the ice trust cases that imprisonment must be in the county jail instead of the workhouse, the lumbermen were sent to the lower court for resentence. The lumbermen are wealthy and leading citizens of Toledo.

BOMB WAS FOR POLICE.

Prematurely Explodes, Killing Socialist and Wounding Thrower.

New York, March 30.—An attempt at speech making, in Union square, by Socialists, ended disastrously. The meeting was advertised extensively, and a large crowd was on hand. The police were determined no speeches should be made and dispersed the gathering.

Just as one squad of twenty men were about to march back to the station, one Socialist, named Silverstein, ignited a bomb, intent on throwing it at the police. It exploded prematurely, and Silverstein was seriously hurt and a companion killed.

Robert Hunter, the noted sociologist, has declared that he was not only present at the demonstration that ended in the bomb explosion, but that had opportunity offered, he would have addressed the crowd in defiance of police prohibition and so brought about a test in the court of the right of free speech.

Mr. Hunter's position in the whole matter was set forth in a statement over his signature given to the press. The writer deplores the "outrage" of the bomb and refers to its author as a fanatic, who has injured the cause of the unemployed.

THE WORLD DRYING UP.

Possibility That the Human Race Will Die of Thirst.

We are to die of thirst. Comparatively few persons know the suffering involved in a thirst for which there is no help at hand. The consuming thirst more than the pain of any wound makes the battlefield a hell. Yet death by thirst is the doom forecast for the race by grim scientists. Geologists find that the fresh water supply of the globe is failing. They have data which point to the gradual withdrawal of the streams and other bodies of water from the surface. Both in Africa and central Asia and, indeed, in all the great levels the water beds are drying up. A great number of lakes well known in the historical age have entirely disappeared. For example, Lake Chirona, in Africa, has vanished within recent years, as has also Lake Ngami, discovered by Livingstone. Lake Tchad is more than half dried up. For centuries bodies of water in central Asia have been evaporating and the deserts extending. Where 2,000 years ago great cities stood in east Turkestan there are found only vast and depressing stretches of sand. The river Tarim, once a principal Asiatic route, is almost gone, and Lob-Nor, formerly four times the area of Lake Geneva, is now but a shallow marsh. The same sad conditions are noted in European Russia. Novgorod, the most pushing city in the czar's distracted realm, was surrounded by water in the middle ages. While we may be sure that the fate which the geologists suggest for humanity is very far away, the facts recited to show the drying up process are convincing proofs of the need of preserving our forests with more care.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

A Test Case.

"I'm a 'beauty doctor,'" announced the stranger with the hand satchel full of cosmetics and massage machines. "Do you think I could get any practice around here?"

"Yeou make ugly things pretty, don't yeou?" drawled the old farmer in the speckled shirt.

"That's my business, sir."

"Waal, if yeou'll go down back of my barn yeou'll find an old slate covered cow with one eye and one horn and wrinkles like canals all over her face. She's the ugliest cow in seven states, and if yeou can make her pretty I'll agree that yeou be a 'beauty doctor' an' give yeou a dollar."—Chicago News.

THIEVES BROKE WINDOW.

Rob Detroit Jewelry Firm of Many Valuables.

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—By kicking a hole in the heavy plate glass window, a daring thief secured access to the store of Traub Bros., 118 Woodward avenue, early in the morning and rifled the window shelf of several hundred dollars in jewelry.

The haul was particularly rich, says Christian M. Traub, because the window dresser, Robert Gerner, executed a more than ordinary display. Until Mr. Gerner returns from a visit to Ann Arbor, the exact amount of the loss cannot be estimated. The plunder consists of lockets, opera glasses, pearl rings, belt pins, souvenir spoons, hatpins, ladies' silver bags, jeweled backcombs, scarfpins, brooches and bracelets.

The theft was committed, the police think, about 4 a. m., the hour when the members of the night force leave their beats and are succeeded by the "relief."

Poorhouse Patient Kills Self.

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—After bidding an affectionate farewell to Sigmund Fayes, his countryman and the man he had made his confident during the ten years he spent in the county house, at Eloise, Charles Yaeger walked from that institution and threw himself in front of the Michigan Central passenger train that passed through the town at 2:20 o'clock. Despondency over his lowly station in life, and the fact that he had long been a sufferer from asthma, led to the suicide.

Duck Hunter Drowns.

Jackson, Mich., March 30.—George Miller, thirty-five years old, was drowned, in the afternoon, while duck hunting at Michigan Center. In company with a man named Johnson, he was crossing School District lake in a steel duck boat. The boat sprung a leak, letting the water flow in rapidly. The boat soon sank, and Miller went down before help arrived. Johnson was rescued.

ABSOLUTE DIVORCE.

Believed Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt Has Started Suit.

HE SAILS FOR EUROPE.

Wife Files Papers Half an Hour After His Departure—Woman Has Taken Up Her Residence With Brother. Couple Have One Child.

New York, April 2.—Within an hour after he had sailed for Europe, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt was made the defendant in a suit filed with the supreme court by his wife, Ellen French Vanderbilt. The nature of the action has not been disclosed, and counsel for the plaintiff refused to say whether Mrs. Vanderbilt seeks a divorce or legal separation from her husband.

It is learned, however, from an official in the county court house, who declares he saw the papers in the case, that Mrs. Vanderbilt's action is one for absolute divorce.

Justice O'Gorman, before whom the proceedings were instituted, appointed David McClure, a local attorney, as referee to hear testimony and to report findings and recommendations to the court.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was Ellen French, daughter of the late Francis Ormond French, president of the Manhattan Trust company and director of many railroads. Her mother has been abroad for several years, but is returning for the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Pauline Leroy French, and Samuel Wagstaff, to take place at Newport, on May 5. Ellen or as she was more generally known Elsie, French was married to Alfred Vanderbilt on Jan. 11, 1901. A year later, their only child, William Henry, was born.

Mr. Vanderbilt as the second son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, inherited something like $60,000,000. He has been regarded as the head of the family since the estrangement which followed the marriage of Cornelius, the eldest son, to Miss Grace Wilson. During the past year or so, Mr. Vanderbilt has spent much of his time abroad. But recently he returned from London, where he plans to drive the coach Venture as a public coach this spring between London and Brighton. Mr. Vanderbilt sailed on the Cunard liner Mauretania, upon which his cousin, the Duchess of Marlborough, was also a passenger. Just before the Mauretania left her pier, Mr. Vanderbilt declined to discuss the report that a separation from his wife was imminent.

The domestic affairs of Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt have engaged public attention since March 24, when Mrs. Vanderbilt, accompanied by her son and maids, left Oakland farm, near Newport, R. I. and went to the home of her brother, Amos Tuck French, at Tuxedo Park. Much of the furnishings at the Newport home have been shipped to Tuxedo. Mr. Vanderbilt, while here, has had apartments at the Plaza hotel.

Streams on Rampage.

Elkhorn, W. Va., April 2.—The greatest flood ever recorded in the history of the Tug river and Elkhorn valleys, with the exception of that caused by the cloudburst of seven years ago, when a hundred lives were lost, now prevails.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

The supreme court holds that the giving of a glass of beer by an office-seeker to an elector is a bribe. This opinion is given by Justice Ostrander, in a decision affecting the village of Springwells paving act, which is declared to be unconstitutional.

A big farewell reception was given to Father Cahalan, at Hillsdale, who leaves that parish to take charge of St. Mary's parish at Marshall. Six priests of the diocese, the clergy of the city and others were in attendance.

Burglars broke into the meat market of F. W. Tringaits, at Mt. Clemens, but got but very little money out of the cash register. They left the following note in the till: "We didn't do this because we needed the money, but just as an April fool joke."

Thinking she was taking iron solution, Mrs. Frank Nesson of Traverse City swallowed a large quantity of iodine. Realizing her mistake before fainting away, she got to a telephone and summoned a doctor. The physician responded in a hurry, and her life was saved.

Continued ill health, resulting from the hardships of nine months in Libby prison during the civil war, caused Levi F. Smedley of Detroit to commit suicide at Lansford, N. D. The remains have been buried there. Recently he and his wife have been visiting their children in North Dakota.

HE MAKES DENIAL.

Pinchot Defends Self Against Legislators' Attacks.

MAGAZINES WERE NOT PAID.

For Using Material Concerning Forestry Work—Defends His Policy of Sending Men to Meeting of Forestry Organizations.

Washington, April 2.—In view of the allegation against him on the floor of the house by Messrs. Mondell (Wyo.), Smith (Cal.) and others, Mr. Gifford Pinchot, chief of the forestry bureau, has addressed a letter to Mr. Pollard (Neb.), a member of the committee on agriculture, in defense of himself.

Mr. Pinchot denies that either the forest service or himself ever paid a cent to any newspaper or magazine to advertise the bureau's work; denies that either his bureau or himself ever instigated or procured attacks on public men, and he denies the misuse of public funds.

"It is obvious," he says, "to anyone who will consider the matter for a moment, that the character, intelligence and news sense of Washington and other correspondents and of every editor and writer who has ever made use of our material is the most effective barrier to any such scheme of work as the forest service has been charged with."

Continuing, he says: "The surest way to prevent any fair consideration of the bureau's work by the press would be to attempt just such a campaign of puffing or exaggeration as has been charged. No newspaper man," he says further, "ever received material from the forest service who did not know it came from the forest service."

Mr. Pinchot closes his letter by defending his policy of sending forest officials to meetings of forestry bodies, in order to hear complaints, if any, against the service, or to give suggestions.

Much Gold Found on Him.

Cherbourg, France, April 2.—Detectives have arrested Allexandro Gionetto, an Italian railway official, while he was in the act of boarding the White Star line steamer Teutonic, which has sailed for New York. Gionetto is charged with the robbery of $98,200 by breaking in a glass window in the railroad station at Chiasso, a town of Switzerland, on the Italian frontier. Gold to the amount of about $30,800 was found in the man's valises, and $14,800 in bank notes was discovered wrapped about his body. He was accompanied by a young Italian woman, with whom, it is alleged, he was eloping to the United States, having abandoned his family, in poverty, in Switzerland.

Topeka Man Sues For $1,000,000.

New York, April 2.—Frank P. Smith of Topeka, Kas., who claims he is a half-brother of the late Mrs. Charles L. Fair, has brought suit to recover from Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mrs. Herman Oelrich a share of Mrs. Fairs' estate. Application has been made in the supreme court for the appointment of a commission to take the testimony of witnesses in France. Smith claims a seventh of the estate, or about $1,000,000.

American Car Starts For Alaska.

Seattle, Wash., April 2.—The American automobile in the New York to Paris race was hoisted aboard the steamship Santa Clara Wednesday and sailed for Valdez, Alaska. The Italian car passed Santa Barbara, Cal., Wednesday afternoon for San Francisco by the coast road. The French car passed Rhyolite, Nev., Wednesday and headed for Death valley. The German car is in Evanston, Wyo.

Says He Is 137 Years Old.

New York, April 2.—Claiming to be 137 years old, Brooks Mason, a negro preacher, is leading revival meetings in Plainfield, N. J. He said his grandfather lived to be 150 years old, his parents passed the 125th milestone in life and a sister died when she was 109. Mason has been married twice, and his present wife is only twenty-six years old. She accompanies him on his evangelistic tours.

Secures Heavy Damages.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., April 2.—After deliberating for about five hours, the jury in the suit of Mabel Wellington against the House of Good Shepherd of Detroit, brought in a verdict of $4,000 damages in her favor. Miss Wellington, who is a Detroiter, charged that she was confined in the institution against her will and compelled to do menial work, which ruined her health. The case was heard in the Macomb circuit court on change of venue.

NOT AT LUDINGTON

Indications Are Big Camp Will Be At Indianapolis.

DECISION NOT GIVEN OUT.

Those Having Interests of Indiana at Heart Confident—Reported Final Statement Is Withheld That Appropriation May Not Be Cut Out.

Washington, April 2.—That Ludington has been rejected as a site for the joint military maneuvers is the belief of persons here who have the interests of Indiana at heart. They say that the war department has received the report of the inspector who went over the grounds at Ludington and that the decision is adverse to Michigan. Accordingly, they claim that Indianapolis will get the joint maneuvers.

This statement is only partially confirmed at the war department. It is admitted that the inspector's report has reached Washington, and that plans are being made for maneuvers, on the assumption that they will be held at Indianapolis; but no final decision as to the site will be reached, it is declared, until an appropriation for the maneuvers has been made.

It is altogether impossible that the decision, adverse to Ludington, has been practically reached, as Indiana people claim, and that the war department is withholding the final statement, lest thereby it should stir up opposition to a million dollar appropriation for the maneuvers. The appropriation was left out by the house, but a strong probability is that the senate will put it in.

SCHOOLMASTERS' CLUB.

Forty-Third Meeting Convenes at Ann Arbor; Many Prominent Speakers.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 2.—The forty-third meeting of the Michigan Schoolmasters' club opened here Wednesday morning with the classical conference, with Professor M. L. D'Ooge as presiding officer. Wednesday afternoon an important meeting was held with President Angell presiding, the meeting being a joint session of the classical conference and the interdenominational conference of church and guild workers in state universities.

A symposium was given on the value of humanistic, and particularly classical studies, as a preparation for the study of the profession, theology being the special profession considered. The speakers were: Professor Kelsey of the University of Michigan, Rev. William W. MacKenzie, president of Hartford Theological seminary; Rev. Hugh Black of Union Theological seminary, the Rev. William Notter of Chicago and the Rev. A. K. Nock of St. Joseph's church, Detroit.

This symposium was one of a series which is being discussed each year, being devoted to some special profession. Wednesday evening the speaker was Professor Charles Knapp, professor of Latin of Columbia university.

Posse Captures Three Men.

Lansing, Mich., April 2.—Bold cracksmen, early in the morning, raided the general store of Young & Miller in Dansville, a small village about fifteen miles from here, and blew the safe open. They got little booty, but the noise of the explosion aroused some of the villagers. As they ran down the village street, the men were fired upon by Charles Sheald, and they returned his shots. No one was hit. A posse, composed of officers and citizens, was organized and, heavily armed, started after the robbers. Two hours later they traced three men to the barn of J. H. Davis, a farmer. The men were found concealed in the hay. They are held on suspicion.

Queen Chats With Morgan.

Rome, April 2.—Queen Helena, who rarely grants a private audience to foreign visitors, departed from her custom and received J. P. Morgan and his daughter, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee of New York. She manifested much interest in the maternity hospital which Mr. Morgan has endowed in New York, expressing the hope that a similar institution might be established in Rome.

Makes Guns Noiseless.

Worcester, Mass., April 2.—Oliver A. Smith has invented an apparatus for making noiseless the discharge of all kinds of firearms. It is wholly different from that invented recently by Hiram Percy Maxim. Smith's invention can be carried about in a vest pocket and attached at a moment's notice. Smith does not allow close scrutiny of his attachment.

UNREST STILL PREVAILS.

French Minister in Haiti Exceedingly Alarmed Over the Situation.

Port au Prince, Haiti, April 2.—The spirit of uncertainty and of unrest still prevails in Port au Prince. The recent abortive attempt at a second uprising here, in which General Larraque, chief of the cavalry, and several other army officers are alleged to have been implicated, has given the government a cause for searching all quarters of the city, in the hope of finding others it suspects of being involved in the plot.

The French minister to Haiti, M. Carteron, has recently shown considerable alarm concerning the action the Haitian government may take against the refugees now asylumed in the French legation. Some of the refugees themselves say that the minister has advised them to procure pistols and as much ammunition as possible, so that they may be prepared to defend their lives. According to the refugees, M. Carteron told them that he was unable to guarantee protection in the event of an attack upon the legation by government troops.

The French minister, when asked with regard to this statement, declined to deny or affirm it, but he did say that he had made a representation of the case to M. Borno, the minister of state, pointing out to him the French contention that giving sanctuary to the refugees was an absolutely legitimate proceedings.

It is generally believed here that the alarm of the French minister is unfounded. Up to the present, the government's attitude has been a conciliatory one, and it seems to be its intention not to offer the slightest excuse for foreign intervention.

There are rumors here that summary executions continue in the country districts. This the government vehemently denies. The United States cruiser Des Moines and the gunboat Marietta are still here, the gunboat Eagle having left two days ago, and the gunboat Paducah having just sailed for Guantanamo.

EVANS ASHORE.

Goes to San Luis Abispo—Is In the Best of Spirits.

San Diego, Cal., April 2.—Rear Admiral Evans has arrived from Magdalena bay on the battle ship Connecticut and left for San Luis Obispo by way of Los Angeles. The admiral is in the best of spirits and is determined to take part in some of the festivities that have been arranged for the fleet on the Pacific coast.

Admiral Evans received a long letter of congratulation and commendation from President Roosevelt. In the warmest terms, the president spoke of the achievements of the fleet on its cruise from Hampton Roads to Magdalena bay and gave to Admiral Evans his full share of credit. The president also expressed his sincere regret over the admiral's illness and hoped that the admiral would soon be well again. Admiral Evans sent a telegram, thanking the president for his letter and the confidence reposed in him.

Captain Royal R. Ingersoll, chief of staff to Admiral Evans, also was a passenger on the Connecticut. He left for the east. Captain Ingersoll was to have been detached from the fleet at San Francisco, but illness of his son caused him to seek relief at this time.

President Lewis Seks Conference.

Indianapolis, April 2.—The first official act of President T. L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, in assuming office, was to send telegraphic invitations to the principal operators of the central competitive field, consisting of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, to attend a meeting, in Indianapolis on April 6, with representatives of the miners, to make an effort to agree upon a call for an interstate wage convention and, if necessary, to decide on a general resumption of mining operations in the field. The telegrams were in the form of a question, asking the operators whether they would be willing to attend such a meeting. President Lewis declares that he has received a number of replies, the most of which were favorable to the move, but he had not yet received enough to determine the result.

Hearing at Cleveland Closes.

Cleveland, O., April 2.—The taking of deposition in the government's ouster suit against the Standard Oil company, which has been in progress here before Special Commissioner Franklin Ferris for several weeks, has come to a close. The next session will be held in Chicago, beginning May 25. Attorney Rosenthal, representing the Standard Oil company, requested that the hearing be continued until September. Special Prosecutor Morrison, for the government, asked that there be no delays.

Mitchell to Edit Paper.

Indianapolis, April 2.—John Mitchell, retired president of the United Mine Workers of America, has announced that in future he will devote his attention to a labor paper, which he will establish in Indianapolis.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

There are countless roads on all sides to the grave.

Kodol for dyspepsia has helped thousands of people who have had stomach trouble. This is what one man says of it: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill. —Gentlemen—In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. I could not digest anything I ate and in the spring of 1902 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., Aug. 28, 1906."

An Insidious danger

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure at the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. Sold by all druggists.

The early riser is healthy, cheerful and industrious.

Kennedy's laxative cough syrup—the cough syrup that tastes nearly as good as maple sugar and which children like so well to take. Unlike nearly all other cough remedies, it does not constipate, but on the other hand it acts promptly yet gently on the bowels, through which the cold is forced out of the system and at the same time it allays inflammation. Always use Kennedy's laxative cough syrup. Sold by all druggists.

The best swimmer is the first to drown himself.

He got what he needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come" says C. Farthing of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at C. A. Wright and Son's drug store.

Is it not sheer madness to live poor to die rich.

A card.

Darkness hid the worst of the sight; it was the sound that appalled. Children asleep in sod shanties miles from where the two engines reared in awful shock jumped in their cribs at that crash. Fifty five's little engine barely checked the skyscraper. She split it like a banana. She bucked like a frantic horse and leaped fearfully ahead. There was a blinding explosion, a sudden awful burst of steam. The windows crashed about our ears, and we were dashed to the wall and floor like lead pencils. A baggage truck, whipped up from the platform below, came through the heavy sash and down on the dispatcher's table like a brickbat, and as we scrambled to our feet a shower of wheat suffocated us. The floor heaved. Freight cars slid into the depot like battering rams. In the height of the confusion an oil tank in the yard took fire and threw a yellow glare on the ghastly scene.

I saw men get up and fall again to their knees. I was shivering and wet with sweat. The stairway was crushed into kindling wood. I climbed out a back window, down on the roof of the freight platform and so to the ground. There was a running to and fro, useless and aimless; men were beside themselves. They plunged through wheat up to their knees at every step. All at once, above the frantic hissing of the buried skyscraper and the wild calling of the car tinks, I heard the stentorian tones of Neighbor, mounted on a twisted truck, organizing the men at hand into a wrecking gang. Soon people began running up the yard to where the skyscraper lay, like another Samson, prostrate in the midst of the destruction it had wrought. Foremost among the excited men, covered with dirt and blood, staggered Dad Hamilton.

"Where's McNeal?" cried Neighbor.

Hamilton pointed to the wreck.

"Why didn't he jump?" yelled Neighbor.

Hamilton pointed at the twisted signal tower; the red light still burned in it.

"You changed the signals on him," he cried savagely. "What does it mean? We had right against everything. What does it mean?" he raved, in a frenzy.

"Find him first! Find him!" he repeated, with a strain in his voice I never heard till then, and the two giants hurried away together. When I reached the skyscraper, buried in the thick of the smash, roaring like a volcano, the pair were already into the jam like a brace of ferrets, hunting for the engine crews. It seemed an hour, though it was much less, before they found any one; then they brought out 55's fireman. Neighbor found him. But his back was broken. Back again they wormed through twisted trucks, under splintered beams—in and around and over—choked with heat, blinded by steam, shouting as they groped, listening for word or cry or gasp.

Soon we heard Dad's voice in a different cry, one that meant everything, and the wreckers, turning like beavers through a dozen blind trails, gathered all close to the big fireman. He was under a great piece of the cab where none could follow, and he was crying for a bar. They passed him a bar; other men, careless of life and limb, tried to crawl under and in to him, but he warned them back. Who but a man baked twenty years in an engine cab could stand the steam that poured on him where he lay?

Neighbor, just outside, flashing a light, heard the labored strain of his breathing, saw him getting half up, bend to the bar, and saw the iron give like lead in his hands as he pried mightily.

Neighbor heard and told me long afterward how the old man flung the bar away with an imprecation and cried for one to help him, for a minute meant a life now. The boy lying pinned under the shattered cab was roasting in a jet of live steam. The master mechanic crept in.

By signs Dad told him what to do and then, getting on his knees, crawled straight into the dash of the white jet—crawled into it and got the cab on his shoulders.

Crouching an instant, the giant muscles of his back set in a tremendous effort. The wreckage snapped and groaned, the knotted legs slowly and painfully straightened, the cab for a passing instant rose in the air, and in that instant Neighbor dragged Georgie McNeal from out the vise of death and passed him, like a pinch bar, to the men waiting next behind. Then Neighbor pulled Dad back, blind now and senseless. When they got the old fireman out he made a pitiful struggle to pull himself together. He tried to stand up, but the sweat broke over him, and he sank in a heap at Neighbor's feet.

That was the saving of Georgie McNeal, and out there they still tell you about that lift of Dad Hamilton's.

We put him on the cot at the hospital next to his engineer. Georgie, dreadfully bruised and scalded, came on fast in spite of his hurts, but the doctor said Dad had wrenched a tendon in that frightful effort, and he lay there a very sick and very old man long after the young engineer was up and around telling of his experience.

"When we cleared the chutes I saw white signals, I thought," he said to me at Dad's bedside. "I knew we had the right of way over everything. It was a hustle anyway on that schedule, Mr. Reed, you know that—an awful hustle with our load. I never choked her a notch to run the yards. Didn't mean to do it with the Junction grade to climb just ahead of us. But I looked out again, and, by hokey, I thought I'd gone crazy, got color blind—red signals! Of course I thought I must have been wrong the first time I looked. I choked her. I threw the air. I dumped the gravel. Heavens! She never felt it! I couldn't figure how we were wrong, but there was the red light. I yelled, 'Jump, Dad!' and he yelled, 'Jump, son!' Didn't you, Dad?

"He jumped, but I wasn't ever going to jump, and my engine going full against a red lamp. Not much.

"I kind of dodged down behind the head; when she struck it was biff, and she jumped about twenty feet up straight. She didn't? Well, it seemed like it. Then it was biff, biff, biff, one after another. With that train behind her she'd have gone through Beverly hill. Did you ever buck snow with a rotary, Mr. Reed? Well, that was about it, even to the rolling and heaving. Dad, want to lie down? Let me get another pillow behind you. Isn't that better? Poor Musgrave!" he added, speaking of the engineer of 55, who was instantly killed. "He and the fireman both. Hard lines, but I'd rather have it that way, I guess, if I was wrong. Eh, Dad?"

Even after Georgie went to work Dad lay in the hospital. We knew he would never shovel coal again. It cost him his good back to lift Georgie loose, so the surgeon told us, and I could believe it, for when they got the jacks under the cab next morning, and Neighbor told the wrecking gang that Hamilton alone had lifted it six inches the night before on his back the wrecking boss fairly snorted at the statement, but Hamilton did just the same.

"Son," muttered Dad one night to Georgie, sitting with him, "I want you to write a letter for me."

"Sure."

"I've been sending money to my boy back east," explained Dad feebly. "I told you he's in school."

"I know, Dad."

"I haven't been able to send any since I've been by, but I'm going to send some when I get my relief. Not so much as I used to send. I want you to kind of explain why."

"What's his first name, Dad, and where does he live?"

"It's a lawyer that looks after him—a man that tends to my business back there."

"Well, what's his name?"

"Scaylor—Ephraim Scaylor."

"Scaylor?" echoed Georgie in amazement.

"Yes. Why, do you know him?"

"Why, that's the man mother and I had so much trouble with. I wouldn't write to that man. He's a rascal, Dad."

"What did he ever do to you and your mother?"

"I'll tell you, Dad, though it's a matter I don't talk about much. My father had trouble back there fifteen or sixteen years ago. He was running an engine and had a wreck. There were some passengers killed. The dispatcher managed to throw the blame on father, and they indicted him for manslaughter. He pretty near went crazy, and all of a sudden he disappeared, and we never heard of him from that day to this. But this man Scaylor, mother stuck to it, knew something about where father was, only he always denied it."

"Son," he gasped to the astonished boy, "don't you know me?"

Trembling like a leaf, Dad raised up on his elbow. "What's your mother's name, son? What's your name?"

Georgie looked confused. "I'll tell you, Dad. There's nothing to be ashamed of. I was foolish enough, I told you once, to go out on a strike with the engineers down there. I was only a kid, and we were all blacklisted. So I used my middle name, McNeal. My full name is George McNeal Sinclair."

The old fireman made a painful effort to sit up, to speak, but he choked. His face contracted, and Georgie rose frightened. With a herculean effort the old man raised himself up and grasped Georgie's hands.

"Son," he gasped to the astonished boy, "don't you know me?"

"Of course I know you, Dad. What's the matter with you? Lie down."

"Boy, I'm your own father. My name is David Hamilton Sinclair. I had the trouble, Georgie." He choked up like a child, and Georgie McNeal went white and scared; then he grasped the gray haired man in his arms.

When I dropped in an hour later they were talking hysterically. Dad was explaining how he had been sending money to Scaylor every month, and Georgie was contending that neither he nor his mother had ever seen a cent of it. But one great fact overshadowed all the villainy that night—father and son were united and happy and a message had already gone back to the old home from Georgie to his mother, telling her the good news.

"And that indictment was wiped out long ago against father," said Georgie to me, "but that rascal Scaylor kept writing him for money to fight it with and to pay for my schooling—and this was the kind of schooling I was getting all the time. Wouldn't that kill you?"

I couldn't sleep till I had hunted up Neighbor and told him about it, and next morning we wired transportation back for Mrs. Sinclair to come out on.

Less than a week afterward a gentle little old woman stepped off the flier at Zanesville and into the arms of Georgie Sinclair. A smart rig was in waiting, to which her son hurried her, and they were driven rapidly to the hospital. When they entered the old fireman's room together the nurse softly closed the door behind them.

But when they sent for Neighbor and me, I suppose we were the two biggest fools in the hospital, trying to look unconscious of all we saw in the faces of the group at Dad's bed.

He never got his old strength back, yet Neighbor fixed him out, for all that. The skyscraper, once our pride, was so badly stove that we gave up hope of restoring her for a passenger run. So Neighbor built her over into a sort of dub engine for short runs, stubs, and so on; and though Dad had vowed long ago when unjustly condemned, that he would never more touch a throttle, we got him to take the skyscraper and the Acton run.

And when Georgie, who takes the flier every other day, is off duty he climbs into Dad's cab, shoves the old gentleman aside and shoots around the yard in the rejuvenated skyscraper at a hair raising rate of speed.

After awhile the old engine got so full of alkali that Georgie gave her a new name—Soda Water Sal—and it hangs to her yet. We thought the best of her had gone in the Harvard wreck, but there came a time when Dad and Soda Water Sal showed us we were very much mistaken.

Two Doctors.

Almost every one has made his jest about the proneness of doctors to disagree, the one prescribing exactly an opposite course from that ordered by another, but not every one has had an opportunity to conduct such an experiment as was made by the late Baron Lutz, formerly prime minister of Bavaria. The baron was once severely wounded in battle in both legs. The wound in one leg was much like that in the other. It struck him that there was a chance to study the ways of the surgical profession and beguile the long hours of his convalescence. He accordingly called in one doctor and gave him charge of his right leg, but told him nothing about the wound in the other, and then called in another doctor for his left leg, keeping him similarly in ignorance about the wounded right leg. The doctors adopted a very different method of treatment, but both wounds healed at about the same time. When the baron's legs were quite well he derived a great deal of amusement from getting the doctors together and mystifying them with questions about the way each had treated "his leg."

Some Thought For Food.

If people were as particular to have their food fit their insides as they are to have their clothes fit their outsides, they would be better satisfied with the world and themselves.

When good digestion waits on appetite a man may either dare to love or fight.

The food that fits the stomach is the food that rules the world.

If you forgot what you have to eat, then you may bet you won't forget what you have eaten and will continue to eat it unless your judgment is as weak as your digestion.

Indigestion is the devil's workshop.

Dyspepsia uncovers a multitude of sins.

No food is sometimes good food.

Food that won't set on the stomach shouldn't have a chance to.

Cipher Writing.

The art of secret writing, or writing in cipher, was, according to Polybius, invented by Æneas, author of a treatise on tactics and other works. He produced twenty methods of writing in cipher, which no person could unfold, but we doubt much whether they would preserve this quality at the present day. It is no less strange than true that this art, so important in diplomacy, as long as couriers are liable to be intercepted, was held in abhorrence by the elector Frederic II., who considered it as a diabolical invention. Trithemius, abbot of Spanheim, had composed several works to revive this branch of knowledge, and Boville, an ignorant mathematician, being unable to comprehend the extraordinary terms he made use of to explain his method, published that the work was full of diabolical mysteries. Poissevin repeated the assertion, and Frederic, in a holy zeal, ordered the original work of Trithemius, which he had in his library, to be burned as the invention of the devil.

Graceless Children.

Michael Minot, a French preacher, who died in Paris in 1518, was noted for his eccentricities in the pulpit and the rapidity with which he changed from humor to pathos, from the commonplace to the beautiful. "There were once pillories for swearers," he said on a certain occasion, "but if the law were enforced now two-thirds of the empire would be in the stocks and there would be the child of five years and the dotard of eighty who has only two teeth remaining to fling out an oath." Changing suddenly to denounce those who neglected the aged parents who had cherished them in prosperity, he said: "See the trees flourish and recover their leaves! It is their root that has produced all, but when the branches are loaded with flowers and fruits they yield nothing to the root. This is an image of those children who prefer their own amusement and to game away their own fortunes to giving their old parents the care which they want."

Tomato Toast.

Cook down till thick half a can of tomatoes, with a pinch of cloves, half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, half an onion, minced fine, and a teaspoonful of minced parsley; have ready buttered toast without crust and pour this over without straining.—Harper's Bazar.

In the Laundries.

Troy is the greatest of collar, cuff and shirt towns. Therefore it is well equipped with laundries. In these institutions the Methodists provide the fire, the Baptists the water, the Presbyterians the bluing and the Episcopalians the starch.—New York Press.

The man who believes his friends will support him in his adversity can keep from having his faith shattered by not becoming the possessor of an adversity.—Chicago Record-Herald.

To have perfect health we must have perfect digestion, and it is very important not to permit of any delay the moment the stomach feels out of order. Take something at once that you know will promptly and unfailingly assist digestion. There is nothing better than Kodol for dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach belching of gas and nervous headache. Kodol is a natural digestant, and will digest what you eat. Sold by all druggists.

Similar Result.

There are certain delicate shades of expression of which a Frenchman is, as a rule, past master. One member of that fluent nation, stranded in New York, was setting forth his troubles to a lawyer.

"I understand from what you say that you are convinced your friend Lecomte has stolen your purse," said the lawyer.

"No, no, monsieur! Not so fast!" cried his client. "I only say that if Lecomte had not assisted me to hunt for it I should have found it again."

Mrs. Eliza Kniffen.

Eliza T. Fowle was born in New York State, Ontacia County, town of Seneca, Sept. 14, 1820 and died in Ridgeway at home of her daughter, Mrs. S. P. Smith, Mar. 6, 1908, being 87 years, 6 months and 23 days of age. Her father, Daniel Fowle, was born in England and when a young man came to America where he was united in marriage to Miss Amy Chase of Seneca, N. Y. To them were born eleven children, all of whom have passed away except one brother now living in Buffalo.

The deceased was married to Isaac L. Kniffen, Aug. 7, 1836. After residing at Seneca Falls, N. Y. for a time, in 1849 they came to Michigan, then a dense forest and settled upon a farm in Ridgeway township, which several years later came into the possession of a now deceased son Chas. A. Kniffen.

From this farm they moved one mile south of what was known as the Mill property which included a heavily timbered tract of land. After operating this a number of years Mr. Kniffin died in 1881. The deceased continued to live upon the farm for some time thereafter and later moved to Britton. In 1850 they united with the First Christian church of Ridgeway, now located in Britton, of this she has always been a consistent member, ever ready and willing to generously contribute to its financial support and spiritual growth.

To them were born 11 children, 7 of whom are now living, Mrs. Hause of Clinton, Lucy Fowle of Farmington, Samuel Kniffen of Coffeyville, Kan., Altha E. Smith of Britton, Albert Kniffen, Della VanNess of Britton, and Wm. Kniffen of Macon, these together with 33 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren are left to mourn her departure besides a large circle of relatives and friends.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY.

Mix this simple, helpful Recipe at home and try it, anyway.

Get from any prescripton pharmacist the following:

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is consider by an eminent authority, who writes in a New York daily paper, as the finest prescription ever written to relieve backache, kidney trouble, weak bladder and all forms of urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the afflictons may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescripton of an eminent authority whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home, when asked, stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it as harmless.

NINETIETH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Susan Williams has reached the 90th Milestone

RECEPTION

Held at her Home this Afternoon.

"Grandma Williams" is today celebrated her ninetieth birthday. Receiving her friends all the afternoon and entertaining them with a cup of tea and many reminiscences of the pioneer days.

Mrs. Williams came to Michigan from Vermont in 1840 and settled at Somereet, near which place she has always resided until a few years ago when she came to live with her daughter, Mrs. Chas Wilson, of this place.

Although at this advanced age she is in full possession of all her faculties and is an interesting talker, telling many stories of the privations and pleasures of the early time. She received this afternoon many callers, bringing little gifts and good wishes for returns of the anniversary. The 90th milestone is not reached by many and when it brings with it no dimunition of intellect and a cheery disposition possessed to the last, it is a remarkable refutation of the Dr. Osler theory.

MAKES LIFE MISERABLE

Troubles that keep half the Tecumseh doctors busy.

For the sake of your personal welfare just think a moment about the process of digesting food.

There are certain secretions called gastric juices that act upon the food after it is swallowed and change all the nutrition in it into life-giving blood.

Anything that interferes with the secretion of these juices causes indigestion and makes a chronic state of stomach weakness inevitable.

From now on build up the strength and health of the stomach with Mi-o-na tablets. You will soon find yourself strong and never know the meaning of indigestion.

Half of the prescriptions the Tecumseh doctors write are for troubles that result directly from a weakened stomach. Strengthen the stomach muscles, increase the secretion of gastric juices, and you will find that common afflictions—indigestion, with its headaches, dizziness, depression of spirits, spots before the eyes, nervousness, sleeplessness and general debility—have been overcome.

If Mi-o-na did not have an unusually curative effect in stomach disorders, it could not be sold on the guarantee given by C. A. Wright & Son to refund the money unless it does all that is claimed for it. They give an absolute, unqualified guarantee with every 50-cent box of Mi-o-na that the money will be refunded unless the medicine cures. They take the whole risk, and you certainly can afford to get Mi-o-na from them on this plan.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. Tecumseh people have found that this is true.

A little cause may hurt the kidneys.
Spells of backache often follow,
Or some irregularity of the urine.
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific
Many Tecumseh people rely on it.
Here is proof

E. H. Hyde, living on west Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for about 2 years caused by a cold which settled in my kidneys. The pain in my back was often so severe that I could not stoop or lift I used a number of highly recommended remedies but failed to receive more than temporary relief and finally began taking Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Wright & Son's drug store. On using the contents of the first box I received much benefit, continued and was cured I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

THE ARTICHOKE CLASS.

Where Clara Barton Spelled on Her First Day In School.

On the morning of her first day in "regular school" Clara Barton was taken on the strong shoulders of her eldest brother, Stephen, a mile through the deep drifts to the schoolhouse. It was the winter term, and the pupils, as was usual at that time, included not only the large boys and girls, but in reality the young men and young women of the neighborhood. Little Clara, then about five, was the baby of the school.

She confesses in her book, "The Story of My Childhood," that she recalls no introduction to the teacher, but was set down among the many pupils in the by no means spacious room, with her spelling book and the traditional slate, from which no one could separate her.

"I was seated on one of the low benches and sat very still," Miss Barton remembers. "At length the majestic schoolmaster seated himself and, taking a primer, called the class of little ones to him.

"He pointed the letters to each. I named them all and was asked to spell some little words, 'dog,' 'cat,' etc., whereupon I hesitatingly informed him that 'I did not spell there.'

"'Where do you spell?' he asked.

"'I spell in "artichoke,"' that being the leading word in the three syllable column in my speller."

The schoolmaster good naturedly conformed to the little girl's suggestion, and she was put into the "artichoke" class to bear her part for the winter and read and "spell for the head."

A REAL MISER.

With Him the Ruling Passion Was Indeed Strong in Death.

The talk turned on misers, and a titled Italian in the party said:

"Let me tell you about Arpagnio, the famous Roman miser, and you will know what a real miser is.

"As Arpagnio lay dying in his cold, dark, bare palace of stone on the Corso his one thought was that, since he was too ill to eat, a full lira a day was being saved on the food bill.

"The doctor was announced. The doctor, after feeling Arpagnio's pulse, looked grave.

"'Well,' said the miser, 'how much longer have I to live?'

"'Only half an hour,' was the reply.

"Arpagnio's eyes flashed fire.

"'You scoundrel!' he cried. 'Why do you let things run on to the last minute like this? Do you want to ruin me? Send for the barber at once.'

"The barber arrived posthaste.

"'You charge,' said Arpagnio, '20 centisimi for shaving?'

"'Yes, signor.'

"'And for shaving a corpse 5 lire?'

"'Yes.'

"Arpagnio glanced at the clock. Seven of the thirty minutes left him still remained.

"'Then shave me quickly,' he gasped.

"As the operation finished Arpagnio died. But with his last breath, smiling happily, he murmured while the barber dried his cold, pale cheeks:

"'How splendid—4 lire and 80 centisimi saved!'"

PASSED THE VENISON.

One Member of the Council Had a Tender Conscience.

This quaint account of an old time Thanksgiving celebration in New England was found in the diary of a Connecticut minister, dated in the year 1714:

"When ye services at ye meeting house were ended, ye council and other dignitaries were entertained at the house of Mr. Epes on ye hill near by, where we had a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner, with bear's meat and venison, the last of which was a fine buck, shot in the woods near by.

"After ye blessing was craved word came that ye buck was shot on ye Lord's day by Pequot, an Indian, who came to Mr. Epes with a lye in his mouth, like Ananias of old. Ye council therefore refused to eat ye venison, but it was afterward decided that Pequot should receive forty stripes save one for lying and profaning on ye Lord's day and restore Mr. Epes ye price of ye deer, and, considering this a just and righteous sentence on ye sinful heathen and that a blessing had been craved on ye meat, ye council all partook of it but Mr. Shepard, whose conscience was tender on ye point of ye venison."

Butterfly Fakes.

The butterfly was a beautiful deep blue, as lustrous as satin; but, looking at it closely, the collector shook his head.

"Another fake," he said. "See here." And with his finger he brushed off the glistening blue dust from the insect's wings, and, lo, it was but a common brown field butterfly, after all.

"As the collecting of butterflies grows more popular," he explained, "more and more butterfly fakirs turn up. These men, with various aniline dye powders, color up a ten cent insect into a good resemblance to a ten dollar one. Their work is hard to detect for the reason that when the dye rubs off and discolors your fingers you suspect nothing, since the genuine dust belonging to every butterfly's wings would do the same thing."—New York Press.

A ROTHSCHILD STORY.

The Reward That Came to a Student With a Heart.

Old Rothschild stories are popular now in Europe. "Some are true," says an English writer, "some are only clever, and many are simply inventions. But all are read with interest." Here is one from the Bystander, London:

"At a luncheon given by Empress Eugenie at the Tuileries the head of the Paris house of Rothschild was seated opposite a great painter. Rothschild was not blessed with good looks and had, moreover, an expression of distress and resignation combined. The painter could not take his eyes off him, and this worried Rothschild not a little. After the meal he asked the painter why he had taken so great an interest in him, and to his great amazement the painter informed him that he had studied him as a model for a beggar in a picture he was then evolving. Rothschild's face brightened, and he said, 'I will sit for you.' And he did. One day when he was posing a pupil of the painter's was so touched by the expression of woe on the face of the model that he slipped a five franc piece into the 'poor man's' hand and vanished before an explanation was possible. The next day the young man received £400 as interest on his well invested 5 francs."

SHOOTING WITH MORTARS.

Hitting the Target is Simply a Matter of Mathematics.

How do we hit with the mortars? An observer near the shore who sees the target communicates the horizontal and vertical angle at which to lay the mortar and the instant of time at which to fire, and the gun does the rest. If you were standing at the center of a large clock dial laid flat on the ground and wanted to hit with a baseball a man walking around on the outside, you would notice how long it took the man to get from I to II and again from II to III. Then you would decide whether if the ball were thrown over a point halfway between IIII and V just as he arrived opposite IIII the man and the ball would reach the same spot at the same time, it being understood, of course, that he maintained uniform speed and direction and that the ball was thrown with proper force. Instruments give us the range and observations, and mechanical devices give us the range differences, increasing or decreasing by certain short intervals of time, too short for a ship of any size to escape by attempting to change direction or speed. Our observer's circle has 36,000 divisions.—Captain Howell in Scientific American.

Same, but More of It.

Sitting in a Broadway restaurant the other evening were two young women who had not met for four years. One of them had grown stout and the other had admitted that she wouldn't have recognized her old friend under ordinary circumstances. They sat silently looking at each other for a moment, when the heavyweight inquired:

"What are you thinking about?"

"I was just trying to see whether your expression is the same as it used to be," said her friend.

"Just the same," the girl with the avoirdupois declared. "Only more of it."—Chicago Tribune.

Storm Caused Three Deaths.

Maysville, Ky., April 2.—A storm has damaged property and merchandise to the extent of $75,000. Mrs. D. Boone and her son and daughter, on Lawrence creek, were drowned when their home was washed away. A freight train on the Chesapeake & Ohio railway ran into a landslide and blocked the road for several hours.

Committed Suicide in Doctor's Office.

Detroit, Mich., April 2.—Anthony Haas, fifty-one years old, and recently employed as an engineer in the city fire department, committed suicide in the office of Dr. David Inglis, 1331 Majestic building, in a tragic manner. Haas was in the inner room of the doctor's suite, consulting Dr. Inglis concerning an operation which had recently been performed on his foot and also to get relief from melancholia. As Dr. Inglis turned to the washstand to wash his hands, Haas gashed his throat with a jackknife, severing both arteries. Dr. Inglis rushed at him, grabbing his feet and drawing him from the couch to the floor. But it was too late. The wound had been made, and Haas expired almost at once.

METAL MAGICIANS.

The Wonders of Labor Saving Devices in Machinery.

When McCormick built his first hundred reapers in 1845, he paid 4½ cents for bolts. That was in the mythical age of hand labor. Today fifty bolts art made for a cent. So with guard fingers. McCormick paid 24 cents each when James K. Polk was in the White House. Now there is a ferocious machine which with the least possible assistance from one man cuts out 1,300 guard fingers in ten hours at a labor cost of a cent for six. Also while exploring one of the Chicago factories I came upon a herd of cud chewing machines that were crunching out chain links at the rate of 50,000,000 a year. Near by were four smaller and more irritable automata which were biting off pieces of wire and chewing them into linchpins at a speed of 400,000 bites a day.

"Take out your watch and time this man," said the superintendent of the McCormick plant. "See how long he is in boring five holes in that great casting."

"Exactly six minutes," I answered.

"Well, that's progress," observed the superintendent. "Before we bought that machine it was a matter of four hours to bore those holes."

SCIENCE AND ART.

A Storm as Pictured by the Weather Bureau and by a Poet.

In commenting on the fact that a person may be thoroughly equipped on the scientific side of music without being sensitive to its beauty as an art Gustav Kobbe in his book "How to Appreciate Music" quotes the witty distinction which Edmund Clarence Stedman draws in his "Nature and Elements of Poetry" between the indications of a storm as described by a poet and by the official prognostications of the weather bureau.

Mr. Stedman gives two stanzas:

When descends on the Atlantic the gigantic
Storm wind of the equinox,
Landward in his wrath he scourges the toiling surges,
Laden with seaweed from the rocks.

And this stanza by a later balladist:

The east wind gathered, all unknown,
A thick sea cloud his course before.
He left by night the frozen zone
And smote the cliffs of Labrador.
He lashed the coasts on either hand,
And betwixt the Cape and Newfoundland,
Into the bays his armies pour.

All this impersonation and fancy are translated by the weather bureau into something like this:

"An area of extreme low pressure is rapidly moving up the Atlantic coast, with wind and rain. Storm center now off Charleston, S. C. Wind N. E.; velocity, 54; barometer, 29.6. The disturbance will reach New York on Wednesday and proceed eastward to the banks and bay of St. Lawrence. Danger signals ordered for all north Atlantic ports."

Her Game Blocked.

The timid looking little woman on the Euclid car noticed that her purse was not in her bag where she had placed it. Instead, it was hanging from her arm on a chain—hanging in full view where it would tempt the nimble fingers of the pickpockets assigned to that beat. With great forethought she picked up the purse and started to put it in the bag. But the purse didn't go in, because it was attached to the arm of the persimmony faced woman standing next to her. Of course the woman with the bag stopped right there and dropped the stranger's purse.

"You'd better let that alone," spoke up the persimmony faced woman. "I've been watching you ever since you got on, and you needn't think I didn't see what you were trying to do."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FREE WITH HIS PISTOL.

Young Man Attempts to Kill Father, Brother and Sister.

Trenton, Mich., April 2.—George Neadow made a determined attempt to kill his father, brother and sister in their home on Fifth street. He fired several shots, but, with the exception of one which struck his father in the neck, they all went wild. The father's wound will probably not prove fatal.

George is twenty-seven years old, and his outbreak is the result of continued quarreling with his sister, Rose, who is but fourteen years old. The girl planned to go to church, and George objected, the father, Fred Neadow, taking her part. The family had just finished supper. George, selecting as his targets Rose, her father and John, commenced firing. The members of the family fled quickly to the street, eluding the bullets that shattered bric-a-brac and splintered furniture. Every chamber of the revolver was emptied.

George stopped to reload the revolver and then stepped out of doors. His father stood in the front yard. The younger man fired deliberately, and his victim fell, apparently dead.

The sheriff was soon on the scene and took George into custody.

Muskegon May Lose $50,000.

Muskegon, Mich., April 2.—Muskegon stands to lose $50,000, according to a decision just handed down by the supreme court. It appears that the city contracted for the building of a three-mile sewer that passed through the property of the Thayer lumber company. After all but half a mile of the sewer had been completed, the lumber company brought the matter into court, charging the city with not making the bids public and being at fault in drawing of plans of laying the sewer. The circuit court decided against the city, and the latter carried the matter to the supreme court. The city election will be held Monday and, as the contracting for the sewer was done under a Democratic administration, many are of the opinion that Republicans are using it as a measure to defeat the Democrats.

G. R. & I. Earnings Decrease.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 2.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the G. R. & I. railroad, just held, the old board of directors was re-elected as follows: Joseph Wood, J. G. Turner, E. B. Taylor, D. T. McCabe and H. Darlington of Pittsburg; W. R. Shelby and J. H. P. Hughart of Grand Rapids. The annual reports showed that the gross earnings for 1907 were the largest in the history of the system. They were $5,063,668.76, an increase of $268,566.73 over 1906. The operating expenses, including taxes, were $4,170,403.92, an increase of $326,270.71. The net earnings were $893,265.84, a decrease of $57,704.99. The decrease is ascribed to the two-cent passenger rate and the financial depression.

Veteran Drowns in Artificial Lake.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 2.—Thomas Pickrell, aged sixty-two years, an inmate of the Soldiers' home, has drowned in an artificial lake in the grounds. He had been to Belle Creek, and was on his way home when the accident occurred. The authorities at the home are of the opinion that death was the result of an accident and not design. The old man had a sister living at Cassopolis. He served in the One Hundred and Thirty-second Ohio regiment during the civil war.

Has Slept Many Days.

Owosso, Mich., April 2.—Mrs. J. H. Hartwell has been sleeping for ten days, and physicians are trying in vain to arouse her. She has partaken of no food during the time and appears to be dead, except for a slight respiration. The doctor's believe that the cause of her condition is cerebro-hemorrhage, following apoplexy. Mrs. Hartwell is about seventy years old and has long resided in this vicinity. It is believed that she cannot recover.

THE PREMIER RESIGNS

Great Britain Witnout Prime Minister or Ministry.

KING ACCEPTS RESIGNATION.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman Was Obliged to Quit Office on Account of Ill Health—Asquith Summoned to Biarritz to Confer With King.

London, April 6.—Great Britain is in a peculiar position, being without either premier or ministry. The long expected resignation of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the prime minister, has been officially announced. According to the court circular, he resigned on the urgent recommendation of his medical advisers.

As the constitution of the country provides no automatic successor, it is resting with the king to choose a new head of the government; and, in accordance with custom and precedent, the whole cabinet resigns with the premier. No step to appoint a ministry can be taken until Herbert H. Asquith, the chancellor of the exchequer, who has been summoned to Biarritz, where King Edward is sojourning, has seen the king.

The position of the country is quite unprecedented, there being no previous example of a change occurring in the premiership while the sovereign was abroad. On this account, the course of proceedure to be followed is in some doubt.

SIR HENRY CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN.

Sir Henry's condition remains unchanged, according to the physicians' bulletin. The king, in telegraphing his acceptance of the premier's resignation, conveyed an expression of his regret and esteem, with best wishes for Sir Henry's recovery.

Chancellor Asquith, who has been acting premier for some time past, will leave for Biarritz at once. At a cabinet meeting, specially called, he announced the premier's resignation, and the situation was fully discussed.

Although so long anticipated, the actual announcement of the premier's resignation had not been looked for for some days yet, and it comes as somewhat of a surprise to the country. Sir Henry's condition had shown some slight improvement recently, and his resignation was not due to any sudden impairment of his physical condition. On the contrary, among his friends, his resignation is regarded rather as a good sign that the doctors are now more hopeful of his recovery.

Khedive Nearly Slain.

Cairo, Egypt, April 6.—The khedive of Egypt, whose great fad is locomotive driving, had a narrow escape while running an engine on the state railway. He suddenly found his way blocked by a wagon loaded with pig iron. The royal engineer showed wonderful presence of mind. He reversed and used his full brake power and stopped just short of the obstruction.

Famous Hotel to Go.

New York, April 6.—After being for nearly half a century one of the most famous hostelries of the United States, the Fifth Avenue hotel has finally closed its register. The work of dismantling the building will begin at once, and before many months its site will be occupied by a modern office building.

Acted Queer on Street.

Detroit, Mich., April 6.—By his strange actions on Woodward avenue, Hector Turnl, twenty-three years old, attracted the attention of Patrolman Seymour and was later sent to St. Mary's hospital in the East End ambulance. It is thought that Turnl's mind became unhinged through worrying over the recent loss of his pet

BITTER FIGHT WAGED

Thousands of Saloons May Be Closed In Illinois.

LOCAL OPTION TO BE VOTED ON

Twelve Hundred Townships Put It Up to People—Chicago and Other Large Cities Not Included—Campaign Has Been Warm One.

Chicago, April 6.—Pastors of the churches throughout Illinois generally united Sunday in advocating the abolition of the saloon, which question will be decided by 1,200 townships in 84 out of the 102 counties of the state next Tuesday.

In many instances ministers abandoned their pulpits to lawyers and other public speakers who favored the cause of temperance. The liquor interests were not idle during the day, and in practically every township in the state they held mass meetings, at which speakers set forth the disadvantages of prohibition.

About 3,000 Saloons Affected.

In the territory which will vote on Tuesday on the question, "Shall this town become anti saloon territory," there are located about 3,000 saloons, and if the anti saloon cause is successful they must close up and go out of business. The election will be held under the township local option law passed by the last legislature.

In Chicago there will be no local option fight, the law having been so framed as to eliminate this city. The fight over the Sunday closing question here also has dwindled, through the decision against the placing of the question on the ballot, into an aldermanic contest in a few wards. But all around the outskirts of the city, the contest has been on with great activity.

In eleven Cook county townships contiguous to Chicago, the citizens will vote on the saloon question. If these townships go "dry," Chicago will be girdled with prohibition suburbs, while many summer gardens and roadhouses on the outskirts will either have to become temperance retorts or close their doors.

There are only eight large cities within the state where the question will not be decided. They are: Chicago, East St. Louis, Peoria, Quincy, Streator, Ottawa, La Salle and Galena. In the remainder of the larger municipalities and townships the battle will end with the decision at the polls on Tuesday. In many localities down the state the fight has taken on a personal tone, and many personal enmities have resulted.

Saloonists Appeal to Farmers.

The liquor interests have appealed to the farmers who send their grain to the distilleries to use their influence with city merchants against the reform movement. The women and children have played a prominent part in the campaign, and in scores of towns they have paraded daily, pleading with the men to vote against the saloons.

At Springfield, the capital of the state, it is said that more time, money and attention have been devoted to the present movement against saloons in Springfield and Sangamon county than any public question has received since the civil war.

Within the county there are 256 licensed saloons.

Decatur, where 13,000,000 bushels of corn are made into grits for breweries every year, has been one of the storm centers of the state. The city has sixty-three saloons, and they pay a license of $500 each year, yielding a revenue of $31,500 to the city.

There have been parades by students, by women and children. Saloon windows have been broken and saloon signs torn down, while the saloonists responded by clubbing several university students.

Governor Guild Improves.

Boston, April 6.—The news from the sick chamber of Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., has been of an encouraging nature, indicating that, while no marked change had taken place, his condition had somewhat improved.

An Irish Tale.

One day an Irishman, having put his hat upon a gate post by which he lay down to sleep, sprang up at midnight and, mistaking the object for an enemy, dealt it a desperate cut with his scythe. Perceiving his mistake, the man gave thanks to heaven that he had taken it off before lying down. "For," said he, "had my head been in that hat, 'tis ten to one I had laid it open with my scythe, and 'tis a dead man I would have been sein' meself at this minute!"—London Captain.

SOPHS OUTWITTED.

Freshmen at Ann Arbor Turn Unique Trick on Them.

ANNUAL BANQUET TO OCCUR.

First Year Men Trickily Avoid Their Traditional Enemies by Camping on Roof of Armory Hours Before Rules Allow 'Em to Enter.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 6.—Through a clever strategem by which they lived up to all rules prescribed by the student council of the University of Michigan for their guidance, and yet eluding their traditional enemies, the freshmen Sunday afternoon affected an entrance into the town armory, where they will hold their annual banquet tonight.

When the sophs found the freshmen had disappeared Saturday night, they were dumbfounded. When their efforts to locate the chaps proved unavailing, they were perplexed; but, when they awoke Sunday morning to find the "green ones" camped in a tent on top of the armory, waiting only until 3 o'clock in the afternoon to enter the hall, the second year men gnashed their teeth in impotent rage.

Soaked to the Skin, but Happy.

Perched high, but not dry, out of the reach of their enemies, the freshmen talked and sang and laughed. They were soaked to the skin, but were supremely happy. From their point of vantage, they taunted the sophs. They had passed the night in St. James hotel, rushed across the way to a livery stable at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, climbed through a loft to the roof, and then easily jumped to the flat top of the armory building, dragging their protective tent after them.

Pulling up the big skylight, their way into the armory was clear. They had only to wait until 3 o'clock, the time set for the beginning of hostilities incident to the banquet. At noon a crowd of the outwitted sophs gathered in front of the armory and decided to scale the wall, to rush the freshmen off the roof. They made a whirlwind attack, but could not gain footing in enough numbers to make their onslaught effective.

Returning to the front of the building and trying to rush its doors, the sophs were startled at finding a guard of militiamen there to protect the property. They were foiled at every turn.

Barber and Porter With 'Em.

There seems to be no question now that the freshmen will pull off their banquet tonight successfully. Their toastmaster, Hugh R. Eastburn, was the first man through the skylight. Their leaders in strategy, Robert Bowman and Val Wilson, were close on the heels of the toastmaster. The boys have a stock of provisions to last them through the day. A barber is with them to shave them for the banquet. A porter is along to brush clothes and shine shoes. They are fitted out complete. Their dress suits will be sent them by express, or will be smuggled in by their fair partners.

All in all, the trick they upset on the sophs was the cleverest ever turned loose. The rules were all against them. They had to notify the sophs at 8 o'clock Sunday morning when the banquet would be held, and then they were not to be allowed to enter the hall until six hours later.

Rochester Bank Fails.

Rochester, Mich., April 6.—Arthur E. Collins's private bank and his dry goods, crockery and grocery store have been closed, following a petition in voluntary bankruptcy being filed in the federal court at Detroit. The liabilities are scheduled at $22,000 and the assets at about $16,000. Among the depositors in the Collins bank were many working people. In several instances these persons had intrusted all their savings to Collins. The total deposits were about $20,000. Collins paid 4 per cent interest, and money placed in his bank was supposed to be in the best of keeping. A. E. Collins has conducted a store here for about twenty years and has always been considered among the leading merchants of the town.

Three Men Hurt in Explosion.

Menominee, Mich., April 6.—In an accident in the digester room of the No. 2 paper mill of the Marinette & Menominee Paper company, three men were badly burned. Cornelius Borse will die, and Frank Reinke and August S. Bohr are in a critical condition. The plate on the valve leading from the digester to the pipe which conveys the stock, blew off, due to a weak clamp. There was a pressure of 110 pounds of steam on, and the stem and stock, hurled with terrific force, struck the three men.

TWO NEGROES LYNCHED.

One Killed Little Boy; Other Assaulted Woman.

Wesson, Miss., April 6.—John Burr, a young negro, has been lynched near here, by about thirty men, for the murder of a twelve-year-old white boy. According to Burr's confession and the story of an eye witness, he was fishing in a mill pond, when Earl Smith, the twelve-year-old son of J. W. Smith, a planter, approached and began a conversation. Burr was an employe of Smith's father, and he said to the boy:

"Look up! Look at the bird!"

As young Smith gazed skyward, the negro shot him in the back of the head with a shotgun. Burr threw the boy's body into the mill pond and fled, but was captured by officers. He was on his way to jail, when, just as the Sabbath dawned, a party of thirty men took the prisoner away from the officers. The negro was quickly hanged from a tree, and several shots were fired to hasten his death.

Mobile, Ala., April 6.—Walter Clayton, a negro who was serving time at the stockade of the Hand Lumber company for manslaughter, criminally assaulted Mrs. Joseph White, aged twenty years, and later was lynched by a mob of seventy-five men, outside the limits of Bay Minette.

Miners and Operators to Meet.

Indianapolis, April 6.—Coal operators and representatives of the United Mine Workers of American in the central competitive field, consisting of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, will meet here this afternoon to consider a proposition made by the miners' organization, through President T. L. Lewis, to issue a call for a joint wage convention to rehabilitate the interstate agreement, and, if necessary, to fix a date for the resumption of the bituminous coal mines pending the settlement of a wage scale. Illinois may not attend, but the conference will meet anyway. The meeting will be the fifth of a similar kind held here since last October to endeavor to fix a wage scale for the districts concerned. It is believed by the new officers of the miners' organization that this effort to agree will be successful and that a call for a wage convention will be issued for some date in the near future. It is also believed that the scale finally agreed on will be a continuation of the present scale.

Korean Insurgents Making Trouble.

Tokio, April 6.—Advices from Seoul say that insurgents are showing increased activity in the neighborhood of Seoul, several minor fights having occurred lately. The insurgent element has been encouraged by the attitude of certain members of the Korean court. Privy Councillor Yun has demanded the suppression of the insurgents by Korean troops instead of by Japanese. He has objected to the employment of foreigners. Viscount Sone has requested him to explain his demand. The insurgents have issued a violent circular, demanding the expulsion of the Japanese from Korean territory. Marquis Ito, Japanese resident general, is expected to arrive in Seoul from Japan next Tuesday.

Tributes to Dead Veteran Editor.

Washington, April 6.—High tributes to Crosby Stuart Noyes, late editor of the Washington Evening Star, who died recently at Pasadena, Cal., have been paid by distinguished speakers here. The occasion was the holding of a memorial service at the National theater. The speakers were: Vice President Fairbanks, Elihu Root, secretary of state; Henry Watterson, editor of Louisville Courier-Journal; Myron M. Parker, former commissioner of the District of Columbia, and Wendell Phillips Stafford, justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

Naval Men Want Aeronautic Corps.

Washington, April 6.—Anxious to see the navy not a whit behind the army, many of the younger naval officers are endeavoring to promote the establishment of an aeronautic corps for the navy, like the baloon squad of the army signal corps. Rear Admiral Chester is a staunch advocate of aeronautics in the navy, claiming that airships will play an important part in future wars. An airship is being built in Toledo which will be tested before a board of naval officers in Washington as soon as completed, probably in May.

Orders Army For Cuba.

Havana, April 6.—Governor Magoon has decreed the organization of an army for Cuba along the general lines set down by the advisory commission, which proposed that the rural guard remain independent, as before Sept. 15, 1906, and that General Alexandre Rodrigues shall be in command. In addition, the advisory committee suggested that Cuban artillery, including mountain rapid fire guns, constitute the basis of the new army.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DIDN'T DREAD DEATH.

Volunteers For the Gallows In Place of Those Condemned.

On more than one occasion volunteers for the scaffold have offered themselves to take the place of the condemned.

Thus on the eve of the execution of Dr. Dodd, famous as the author of "The Beauties of Shakespeare," a man presented himself at Newgate and asked to be permitted to suffer in his stead. His request was deemed so extraordinary that he was taken in charge as a lunatic. But he was able to convince the magistrate, before whom he was brought the next day, of his sanity and so was discharged. All he asked as the price of his self sacrifice was £200, to be settled on his mother.

In another instance, which happened only a few years ago, a man who said he suffered from an incurable disease wrote to the home secretary offering himself as a substitute for a certain eminent scholar who had murdered his wife in a fit of passion. He asked neither fee nor reward, being, as he explained, tired of his life.

Then, too, there was the case of Eliza Fenning, which created so much pity that five persons came forward and volunteered to suffer in her stead. Of course no notice was taken of their requests, the culprit, a pretty young girl, being executed in due course.—London Chronicle.

VENEERING.

It Is Produced by Two Methods, Sawing and Slicing.

"There are two kinds of veneering—sawed and sliced—but it takes an expert to tell the difference," says a manufacturer. "The process of manufacture is simple and interesting. The logs, delivered at the factory in the rough, about thirteen feet in length, are first cooked in hot water vats to make them soft and workable.

"It does not matter how green they are. After being thoroughly cooked they are placed on machines designed for the purpose and either sliced by a powerful knife the length of the log or cut by a circular saw into slabs about one-twentieth of an inch thick.

"These slabs are the full length of the log and when first cut are so pliable that they can be bent double without breaking. The uniform thickness or thinness of the slabs is preserved by the action of the machinery and does not vary so much as a hair's breadth in the entire length of the slab.

"After the slabs are sliced or sawed they are seasoned by steaming. This requires only about twenty-four hours, and then they are ready for the market. Some of the huge oak logs that come to the factory show by the rings in them that the trees were from 250 to 400 years old."—Washington Herald.

A Gorgeous Fish.

One of the most gorgeous fishes in the world is found, strangely enough, not in tropical waters, but off the coasts of England, where the waters are gray and deep and cold. It is the opah, or kingfish. This species reaches a weight of from thirty to a hundred pounds and is shaped a little like the great sunfish of the Atlantic ocean in American waters. The fish has immense eyes, of which the iris is a bright scarlet. The gill covers are green and cold, and the rest of the fish is flashing red and green, over which there play sheens of purple and gold. Again, over this sheen there is another still more transparent film of silver, which plays in large, white spots over the rest of the bright colors. The fins, which are large and sword shaped, are a vivid red.

London and Paris.

There is evidence to show that London was a considerable town before the Roman invasion. Its Celtic name was Lyndin (lake fort). Tacitus, in the first century, calls it Londinium and describes it as a flourishing place. The earliest notice of Paris is in "Caesar's Commentaries." Caesar called it Lutetia and described it as a collection of mud huts. Lutetia began in the fourth century to be known as Parisia, or Paris, and in the sixth century was selected by Clovis as the seat of government. Of the two cities London is undoubtedly the more ancient, though how much older it is impossible to say.

Easy Dancing.

Little Alfred's mother had sent him to the dancing school. He came home in high spirits.

"Well, Alfred," said his father, "how did you like dancing? Did you find it difficult?"

"Oh, no," answered the little fellow; "it's easy enough. All you have to do is to keep turning around and wiping your feet."

The Reform He Advocated.

The editor of a British weekly journal, wishing to know what reforms well known men desired to see effected during the year, once applied to Sir W. S. Gilbert, among others. The author of "The Mikado" answered: "Dear Sir—A reform which I am particularly anxious to see carried into effect is that editors would cease to trouble busy people for gratuitous contributions."

A Breakfast in Siberia.

"I spent two weeks in the hut of a Siberian savage a prisoner to the black frost," said an explorer. "Shall I ever forget those two weeks? No, no! A Siberian breakfast comes to my mind. We took it lying on our stomachs round a kind of pie board, which was our table. The first dish was frozen weeds dipped in seal oil and served with large chunks of fresh blubber. The second dish was raw walrus. The third dish was walrus hide, an inch thick and hairy. You swallowed it whole, for it was too tough to chew. Dinner was breakfast over again plus a hot meat, seal or reindeer, after the hide course. Supper consisted of cold blubber and cold hide served with seal oil. Don't wrinkle your nose and shudder. In that intense cold, the thermometer never above 40 degrees below zero, I liked that greasy food. You should have seen me munching away at great soft yellow balls of fat similar to duck fat."

Billings—A man never learns to really know his wife until after they are married, no matter how long they may have been engaged. Darrow—You're wrong there. Sometimes the girls have little brothers.

Wasteful Country Lighting.

Any regular Kerosene lamp that will give an actual 24 candle-power of light for 10 hours must cost about 6 cents for Kerosene, Chimneys and Wicks.

Besides, the lamp will need cleaning, filling, wick-trimming and chimney-wiping 365 days per year.

Now, Acetylene Gaslight will give an absolutely steady and uniform 24 candle-power light, for 10 hours, on a single pound of Calcium Carbide.

And that pound of Carbide will cost you only 3½ cents, in the majority of States.

Moreover, the care of 40 Acetylene lights needs only half an hour's labor per month at most.

Compare that with the half hour per day (or 15 hours per month) of disagreeable labor needed to clean, fill, wick-trim and chimney-wipe even 8 lamps in a country home.

And when you have weighed these facts, reflect that Acetylene gaslight has no chimney to fog, no wick to char, no mantle to shatter.

It is the whitest, steadiest, coolest, cleanest and safest of all lights for home, hotel or store, as can be proved.

Which would you have, even if Kerosene light was as cheap as Acetylene Gaslight?

Write me to-day how many rooms you've got and I will tell you how little it need cost you to light them brilliantly with that beautiful eye-saving "Sunlight-at-Night" called Acetylene Gaslight.

Address me thus—Acetylene Jones, 8 Adams St. Chicago, Ill.

OFFICE DROWSINESS.

It May Be the Beginning of Serious Mental Trouble.

"Some men are quite martyrs to office drowsiness," said a physician to a patient who was complaining of that feeling. "Any monotonous sound near them, the hum of traffic outside or even the scratching of a clerk's pen is sufficient to induce a feeling of sleepiness which it is almost impossible to resist. The worst of it is that this symptom seldom is regarded as anything serious, though I have known it to be the beginning of critical mental trouble. For more often, however, it is merely the effect of constitutional eccentricity, though in either case a few simple remedies might be tried with advantage.

"For example, I always advise the old indigestion cure—a glass of hot water—when the feeling comes on. To keep the eyes tightly closed for two or three minutes and then bathe them in very warm water often gives relief at once. And another good idea is to lower the head for a few seconds to a level with the knees. Above all, one should never give in to the feeling of drowsiness by taking a short nap in the hope of waking up brighter after it. At the same time the condition of the office might be looked to. The slightest defect in ventilation will often cause one man to be affected by office drowsiness even if other persons in the same room feel nothing of it whatever."—New York Press.

The Dignified Course.

An army examiner once had a candidate before him who apparently was unable to answer the simplest question. At last the examiner lost his temper and, with sarcastic emphasis, quite lost on the youth before him, said:

"Suppose, sir, that you were a captain in command of a company of infantry; that in your rear was an impassable abyss; that on either side of you towered perpendicular rocks of untraversable height; that before you stood the enemy, a hundred men to each one of yours. What, sir, would you do in this emergency?"

"Sir," said the aspirant to military honors, "I should resign."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Deaf and Dumb.

In early times it was an opinion, maintained even by philosophers, that the education of the deaf and dumb was impossible. It was then believed that language could be acquired only through the medium of the ear, as shown by the couplet of Lucretius:

To instruct the deaf no art could ever reach,
No care improve them and no wisdom teach.

The first mention of instruction for the deaf and dumb is found in Bede, A. D. 685. No other case is met with for some centuries. Rudolfus Agricola of Heidelberg makes mention of an educated deaf mute in his "Dialectics," 1480. It was not until 1620 that instruction for the deaf and dumb began to be general.—New York American.

Frederick the Great.

Frederick William I., father of Frederick the Great, was a most brutal old fellow, treating his son almost as badly as they treat the exiles in Siberia. Unable to endure such barbarity on the part of his father, Frederick resolved to run away and seek refuge at the court of his uncle, George II. of England. Ready to assist him in his attempt were his two young friends, Lieutenants Katte and Keith. By the imprudence of Katte the secret was found out, and Frederick was placed under arrest. Keith escaped, but Katte was tried by court martial, sentenced to death and executed. Frederick also was sentenced to death and would have been shot but for the earnest expostulations of the kings of Sweden and Poland.

A Powerful Combination.

Tim was a protege of Mr. Blank, a well known Boston lawyer. He was often in trouble, but by personal influence with the courts Mr. Blank managed to have him let down easy, so it became a matter of talk, the Green Bag says, that he did not suffer greatly in being arrested.

"How is it, Tim," some one asked one day, "that you are arrested very often, but never go to jail or pay any fines?"

"It's just this way," Tim replied. "I have Mr. Blank for me lawyer, and what he doesn't know about the law I tells him."

Miss Vere—Mr. Desmond, why did you go to the dining doom before you greeted the hostess? Mr. Desmond—Well, the hostess will keep, but the refreshments seemed to be getting away. —London Telegraph.

Water.

"Water," said the scientific person, "is H^2O."

"Yes," answered Dustin Stax as he laid aside the market report, "some of it is and a great deal of it I. O. U."—Washington Star.

Sensible Dog.

"Talking about the intelligence of animals," said young Kanebiter, "why, I have a dog up at the farm that's simply wonderful."

"How so?" said Pitken.

"Why, you see, I was out shooting one day when I found a large, handsome dog lying on the ground moaning with pain. Some ruffian had shot it in the leg. I carried it home, bandaged the wound and finally cured the poor beast. Some months after that I was compelled to travel a lonely road after dark when suddenly Ponto, who accompanied me, growled warningly. The next moment a highwayman stepped out of the bushes and put a pistol to my head."

"Ah," cried the listener, "I see! Thereupon the grateful dog seized the robber by the throat."

"Not at all. The man robbed me easily enough—took watch, purse, everything."

"But Ponto?"

"Ran off as fast as his legs would carry him. That's the point—don't you see? Animal instinct—didn't want to get shot again." — Illustrated London News.

The Ferret and the Rat.

A correspondent of a London paper, commenting on the crusade against rats in Great Britain, says: "The real remedy against rats is the ferret, not the unhealthy ferret kept by the half starved rat catcher of the agricultural village, but the strong, healthy ferret bred on the ground floor of a well ventilated, commodious dog kennel and there kept on skimmilk, table refuse and small birds. Bedded with clean wheat straw, the ferret is one of the sweetest of animals, and the expert goes into the kennels and cheers them as though in a kennel of hounds, and they crawl about him harmlessly. The young bucks will run miles across the country with the expert, just like little terriers. With this healthy life they grow too big for hunting rats in barns or other buildings, but they can settle any rat in a wheat stack if put in before the rat has made a labyrinth inside the stack. The doe ferrets will rout the buildings, and they alone should be the chief instrument in the crusade. The rat is too cunning for guns, traps and other devices."

The Hundred Best Books.

"The fact is that there is no possibility of naming the hundred best books. The naming of them for any large general audience is quite impossible. All that is possible in such a connection is to state emphatically that there are very few books that are equally suitable to every kind of intellect," says Clement Shorter in his book of "Immortal Memories." "Temperament as well as intellectual endowment makes for so much in reading. Take, for example, the 'Imitation of Christ.' George Eliot, although not a Christian, found it soul satisfying. Thackeray, as I think a more robust intellect, found it well nigh as mischievous as did Eugene Sue. There are great books that can be read only by the few, but surely the very greatest appeal alike to the man of rich intellectual endowment and to the man to whom all processes of reasoning are incomprehensible."

Did He Refuse?

They were alone in the conservatory. He turned to her. His voice was low, but passionate.

"You know," he said, "why I have asked you to come here. Will you be my wife?"

She looked at him intently.

"No," she answered, and she uttered the monosyllable as if she loved it.

No doubt she expected him to reel and clutch at something, but he did nothing of the sort.

"Very well," he briskly said. "That's all I want to know. Shall we go in and finish our dance?"

She stared at him in wonder.

"Are—aren't you hurt by my refusal? Don't you intend to do something desperate?"

"Desperate? Certainly not—unless you call tackling the lobster salad desperate."

Her pride was sorely wounded. She had meant to hurt him. It would have been a proof of her power. Now she hungered for revenge. There was only one way to get even with him.

"George," she said, "I have reconsidered my decision. I will be your wife."

And the two scrawny rubber plants and the three yellow palms quivered with suppressed laughter.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Lace Dressers.

Lace dressing has been considered a necessarily unhealthful occupation on account of the intense heat required to be maintained in the room. In some cases the temperature exceeds 100 degrees F. and much moisture is evaporated from the wet fabric. The evidence brought forth at a recent investigation in England, however, shows it to be an exceedingly healthful pursuit. New workers are often temporarily upset at the beginning by the high temperature, but no cases could be found where health had broken down. On the contrary, some ailments—colds, for instance—were found less prevalent among lace dressers than among the workers in other branches of the industry. Time keepers' books showed few absences from illness. No special tendency toward lung diseases could be found, notwithstanding that most of the workers lived in poor and insanitary localities and led irregular lives. Many lace dressers now enjoy vigorous old age after doing this work from childhood.—Indianapolis News.

Those who are curious as to what goes on "Behind the scenes," and what sort of people the playerfolks are when their make-up is off, will be delightfully enlightened by reading the complete novel in the April Lippincott's—"They Also Serve; The Story of a Farewell Performance," by Virginia Tracy—for no truer picture of theatrical life has ever been penned. T. Arnthur Fosburg, the pompous; Lydia Harland, the winsome; Frankie Carzon, the unfortunate; and all the other characters are typical actors and actresses, whose prototypes can readily be found on the New York Rialto before the seasons opens.

Beatrix Demarest Lloyd has written several novelettes for The Smart Set, but her latest story, "The White Stain," will undoubtedly prove the most popular of them all. The opening scenes are in Italy, whither a young English artist has gone to paint a certain picture. There he meets a beautiful young Italian girl. The story then shifts to Paris, where the real drama begins, and a delicate yet strong situation is handled with consummate art. The final chapter of this story is written with such depth of feeling that it will linger long in every reader's memory.

LITERARY NOTES.

The smiling, satisfied face which looks out from the front cover of the April American Boy is an index to the interesting, instructive, and pleasing matter this number contains. Jimmy Jones, Pirate; Four Boys on the Mississippi; and that Dillingham Boy, continue to delight their readers. Mr. Weir's fine serial, Canal and Jungle, is regretfully concluded.

The April number of the Woman's Home Compaion contains several notable articles, and is, in addition a thoroughly artistic and beautiful issue. Kellogg Durland contributes his second article on "Women of the Russian Revolt;" Jane Addams writes a thoughtful and appealing article on "The Working Woman and the Ballot." Dr. Edward Everett Hale gives a helpful talk on "The Meaning of Home," and Elizabeth Stuart Phelps continues her serial story, "Though Life Us Do Part." There are also some excellent short stories.

There is still no sign of abating in the braided trimming of gowns, and for really serviceable ornamenting of summer linens and other wash materials nothing is more effective or more readily accomplished. Models showing both embroidery and braiding are particularly charming, says the April Designer, and, moreover, are quite a boon when one considers the amount of time and energy saved by the combination.

The April McClure's is so full of a number of things that few readers will care to miss it.

The Carl Schurz memoirs are resumed in an article, "The South After the War," a graphic picture of the desolation and devastation of the South, and the anxieties of the Federal government in that critical period. Burton J. Hendrick tells of Hughes' achievements as Governor of New York. Ellen Terry is as entertaining as usual in "Some of My Associates of the Stage."

To have perfect health we must have perfect digestion, and it is very important not to permit of any delay the moment the stomach feels out of order. Take something at once that you know will promptly and unfailingly assist digestion. There is nothing better than Kodol for dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas and nervous headache. Kodol is a natural digestant, and will digest what you eat. Sold by all druggists.

Though through all the months of the voyage criticism at home has raged fiercely about the heads of our naval administration, and the country has been pained and unsettled by angry controversies among naval officers on shore duty, yet it must be acknowledged that the fairest and most conclusive test of a naval system is the actual results produced. Though more than half of the ships were new, and three of them actually in the first months of their commission, the fleet was complete and prepared for its departure from Hampton Roads on schedule time. From "The Greatest Naval Cruise of Modern Times," by Winthrop L. Marvin, in the American Review of Reviews for April.

The April Atlantic contains important articles on many vital topics. The leader is on "The Social Disability of the Jew," and is written by Dr. Edwin J. Kuh, a Chicago physician. John Burroughs, the well-known naturalist, contributes an unusually fine essay called "The Divine Soil." The last paper in Edith Wharton's series, "A Second Motor Flight through France," is printed in this number, together with the third of the "Confessions of a Railroad Signalman," by J. O. Fagan, an employee of a New England railroad.

The April number of The Ladies' World, which has just reached our table, has made an unusal departure for a household magazine, and in connection with its puzzle department—which seems rather appropriate—has obtained the opinions of its readers on the presidential possibilities. The editor in a brief comment on the figures states that the letters come from every State in the Union and whether they have or have not any significance, are at least a free expression of opinion on the part of a body of representative people. The same issue contains the usual number of excellent stories, pages showing the spring fashions, departments devoted to household and personal matters, children's reading, puzzles, etc., making it one of unusual entertainment.

Few magazines will brave a scientific presentation of so called "spirit phenomena" but Everybody's has made public this month a realistic account of Hamlin Garland's experiments in occultism, entitled "The Shadow World," it is sensational, authentic, and compelling, and heads a truly remarkable table of contents, John L. Mathews describes, in "The New Mississippi," the transition from ancient to modern in river traffic and shows clearly the great possibilities for the development of this "arm of the sea."

IDLE NOTES

Of Interest to the One Big Family.

"If you judge, understand."

It has often been stated editorially in the columns of the HERALD and often been remarked by Mr. Stacy that Tecumseh was more like "One Big Family" than most small towns are and however we may differ about minor matters, in affairs which touch the heart or affect the homes we are in our sympathies, our charities and our criticisms a unite.

We have our little cliques and sets and church societies and lodges and clubs where we meet those with whom we are most intimately associated and those whom we most often see, but there is a broader more far-reaching sense in which we all belong to the same fold and what touches the vital interests of one touches us all. Any case of sorrow or joy or suffering or success or adversity makes common comment and enlists the rejoicing or the sorrowing of us all.

Mr. Stacy often voiced this spirit expressing it in his paper and living it in his every day life. Therefore a little space from time to time devoted to "Thoughts for the Big Family" seems not inappropriate and of possible interest to us all. The thoughts are not always to be serious and not always mirthful as we cannot always be in the same mood, but whatever they are, knowing how much alike we all are in a general way, we know that somewhere among HERALD readers we may strike a responsive chord and they will be chronicled here.

* * *

"Thou driftest gently down the tides of sleep." Every member of the "Big Family" will grieve that this is the last sleep of Mrs Geo. Heesen, for she was one of the best beloved members of the "Big Family." There is hardly one of us that she has not rejoiced with in our happiness and comforted us in our deep sorrow. Her love and sympathy could be relied upon and what more beautiful trait of character could one have than love for humanity. Browning says "Love is beautiful" and we know that Mrs. Heesen's love cheered and beautified many lives. She will be missed by every one, old and young, and the thought we would all give her is: "Sleep sweetly, tender heart, in peace."

* * *

Another proof that the Big Family is responsive to any call which concerns the public good was found in the success of the dinner given yesterday at the Grange hall by the Pioneer society for the Boulder fund. Almost every one solicited by the committee for aid in the dinner contributed generously and the patronage which the society received from the public was very gratifying and those who worked for this cause about $30 above all expense was realized and the placing of the boulder on the second of June to mark the place where the first members of the Big Family lived seems now a certainty.

* * *

We have always understood "That in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." This does not apply to Tecumseh young men. Base ball would have to be substituted for the word love, so enthusiastic are Tecumsehites over the game. They remind one of the story of the man in jail, who said if he only could get out in time for the opening of the ball season he would conclude the Lord was on his side.

* * *

All hail to the Chinese gardener for the invention of the "Odorless Onion." We wonder if it would taste the same without the time honored smell.

No more a miss
Will fear a kiss
Announcing an onion's death;
No more in the car
Will others sit far
From the man with an onion breath.

* * *

We have been thinking that in the matter of fire escapes on school buildings we wonder why a building committee has full authority to build stairs inside for children to go up and no authority to build outside stairs for them to come down in case the inside stairs were not at that moment available. Verily the ways of law makers are past finding out.

* * *

And then why do not the societies who are interested in the placing of a boulder to mark the place of the first home, secure some of the old relics of the early times and form the nucleus for an historical museum at the library. A historical collection is an interesting accessory to any library.

* * *

One of the pet schemes of the Town Federation for village improvements was to offer a prize for the best kept yard. In looking up and down the street one might think a prize had been offered to the one with the largest ash heap.

* * *

We wonder why a petition to the Common Council for a Curfew ordinance is usually promoted by women who have no young children and why do not the mothers whose children are most in the streets, agitate the matter.

* * *

Mingled with the welcome robin's note these beautiful spring mornings, is also heard the flail of the carpet cleaner and we realize with the psalmist that "The time of the singing of birds is come" and the noise of the tack hammer is heard in the land.

WILLIAM WOODEN

Of Battle Creek, will probably make a Good Run for District Delegate.

W. R. Wooden of Battle Creek, secretary of the Nichols & Shepard Threshing Machine Co., is one of the active candidates for district delegate in the Third district and is regarded as very apt to be one of the two winners.

Mr. Wooden has been active in republican affairs for several years, having organized and planned the Calhoun-Kalamazoo convention which went into an eight-day deadlock last fall in naming delegates to the constitutional convention, finally breaking the deadlock in favor of Calhoun county which up to that time had generally laid down in favor of Kalamazoo.

He was born on a farm in Lenawee county and is 51 years old. Attended the public schools in Tecumseh and graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan in 1879. He practiced law in Tecumseh until July 1883 when he entered the employ of the Nichols & Shepard company of Battle Creek, being elected secretary of the company in 1891, which position he has continuously held since.

He has always been more or less active in politics yet has never sought or accepted but one office and that of alderman of Battle Creek.

"While I do not believe that it is generally the best thing to instruct a delegation yet I am convinced that Mr. Taft is seemingly the choice of the Third district" he writes.

Mr. Wooden is a power in Calhoun county and Third district politics and is well known throughout the state.

Loren Bowen.

Loren Bowen died Sunday morning in Adrian of old age. Mr. Belding drove there yesterday morning for the remains bringing them here for burial. Services were held at the grave Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Kamm, offering prayer. Mr. Bowen was an uncle of R. J. W. Bowen of this place.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Kidney Disease.

Now, people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physician. Kidney disease masks itself in other forms, while the organs may be diseased the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Tecumseh people have found that this is true.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench
A little cause may hurt the kidneys.
Spells of backache often follow,
Or some irregularity of the urine.
A certain remedy for such attacks,
A medicine that answers every call,
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific
Many Tecumseh people rely on it.
Here is proof

E. H. Hyde, living on west Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for about 2 years caused by a cold which settled in my kidneys. The pain in my back was often so severe that I could not stoop or lift. I used a number of highly recommended remedies but failed to receive more than temporary relief and finally began taking Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Wright & Son's drug store. On using the contents of the first box I received much benefit, continued and was cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

As people grow older, the days become shorter and the nights longer.

Constipation causes headache, nausea, dizziness, languor, heart palpitation. Drastic physics gripe, sicken, weaken the bowels and don't cure. Doan's Regulets act gently and cure constipation. 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

People tolerate those they fear further than those they love.

Some Knowledge Profound.

Nobody knows how noble it is to know. But if you do not know, and nobody knows that you do not know, and you know that nobody knows that you don't know, it is very pleasant to know that they don't know that you don't know that they don't know that you don't know. No man knows how much he really knows until he knows how much other people know that he doesn't know. To "know thyself" is really all there is worth knowing, and since no man really knows himself and there is no other knowledge worth knowing and we do not know the only thing worth knowing we really know nothing. But to know that we know nothing is knowledge greater than the knowledge that some people think they have when they really know nothing and think they know something. Therefore it is greater to know nothing and know it than to think we know something when we know nothing. So if you know nothing and you think you do, and I know nothing and don't think I do, I know more than you. It is therefore well that we know that we don't know.—Exchange.

Somewhat Mixed.

Margaret Durham was the latest arrival at Miss Simmons' select boarding school, and, being pretty and well dressed, she was popular.

Would she be an usher at the monthly musicale? Margaret was horribly shy. She never could do it—oh, never! But the chosen five elected her for the sixth, so the evening found her a perfect flutter of white frills and pink bows (this was the pink musicale) awaiting to receive the early comers. Each of the hardened five bore forward an imposing auditor, and Margaret found herself inquiring of a very ancient and elegant old gentleman in a voice scarcely audible, "Sir, shall I show you to a seat?"

"Sir," screamed the flustered novice, "shall I sew you to a sheet?"

Then five lace handkerchiefs were crammed into five tittering mouths, while Miss Margaret bolted from the scene of her discomfiture, and the five were left to do the honors.—Harper's

Pennyroyal and Fleas

When it comes to talking about fleas the writer knows just where he is at. When he was [illegible] his country swarmed with them. Perhaps one of the things he will remember longest will be the sleepless nights and the torments that the fleas gave him when sitting in Quaker meetings, where he did not dare to scratch. For many years the people seemed to put up with them as an evil from which there was no escape, yet there was an efficient remedy growing on every farm in the shape of a modest little plant called pennyroyal, which is familiar to every country bred boy. The odor of this plant seems very offensive to many kinds of insects. A freshly bruised bunch of the plant put in a small bag and rubbed on the bed linen and then left in the bed will evict the last flea in a very few minutes. A few drops of the essential oil of the plant, which can be got at any drug store, rubbed on one's underclothing will drive them from the person immediately and if sprinkled about a room infested with fleas will clear them out.—Forest and Stream.

Before the Mirror.

He is one of those persons with a mad passion for figuring out "How much," "How long," etc., and was waiting for his wife, who was adjusting her hat before the mirror. They were going to the theater and had ten minutes to catch their train. Presently a sparkle came into his eye, and he fished a pencil and paper from his pocket. That kind of man always has a pencil and paper even in his evening clothes.

"Do you know," he said presently, looking up at his wife, who had finished adjusting her hat, "that I figure, basing my figures on observation, that a girl from six to ten spends an average of seven minutes a day before her mirror, from ten to fifteen a quarter of an hour, from fifteen to twenty twenty-two minutes. A woman of seventy will have spent 5,862 hours, or eight solid months, counting day and night. Now, a woman of your age has spent"—

"Never mind what I've spent," she said coldly, removing her hat. "You have spent fifteen minutes figuring it out, and we have missed that train."—St. Louis Republic.

A Little Retouching.

The wonders of photography are ever on the increase. Nevertheless there are still some limitations to the power and skill of even the most expert photographer. Mr. Hall is an amateur of no mean attainments, and when his old Aunt Hannah from Bushby came down to the city he secured a picture of her in her most characteristic pose—arms akimbo and mouth slightly open. When Aunt Hannah saw the first print she looked at it, held it off, drew it close again and then sat down to write her nephew:

Dear James—Yours with photograph taken during my late visit just received. In reply I would say I'm well enough pleased with it for myself and your folks. But in the one you send out to California to Emma I'd rather you'd straighten out my elbows and let my arms hang. Affectionately, AUNT HANNAH.

P. S.—Perhaps you'd better close my mouth a mite more, as Emma's husband is a stranger to me.

—Youth's Companion.

And "Everybody Laughed."

The following story was told by Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler in the London P. T. O.: "At a dinner party one evening after my marriage the conversation, which was general, took a literary turn, and a gentleman sitting next to me, who did not know the identity of Mrs. Felix with Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler, began to descant on the way young authors spoil themselves with tricks. To emphasize his point he said, 'What can be more horrible than Miss Fowler's trick of saying "Everybody laughed?"' There was a dead pause. He evidently expected me to make a remark, for when I did not speak he turned and said: 'Oh, don't you know Miss Fowler's books? Haven't you read any of them?' 'I wrote them,' I replied, and then, indeed, 'everybody laughed.'"

A Mother's Sacrifice.

Legends in India relate that if a woman stricken with leprosy suffers herself to be buried alive the disease will not descend to her children. There was in the northwest provinces of India the wife of a gardener on whom the loathsome malady had fallen. Children were born to her. The disease grew worse. She importuned her husband to bury her alive. He at last, yielding to her prayers, summoned his son. The two dug the grave, and four neighbors assisted at the sepulture. So the woman died. These facts were investigated in a magistrate's court and were proved.

In Lengthy Terms.

In the suburbs of one of our great cities recently a new resident stopped in front of his neighbor's gate and inquired of the boy swinging thereon:

"Is your pa home, sonny?"

"Gone afoot?"

"No; about a mile."—Judge's Library.

To Keep From Breaking.

"My hero has a strong face," remarked the author.

"He needs it," replied the critic. "I notice his face falls every time he meets the heroine!"

Not New.

New Boarder—One thing I'll say for these eggs—there's nothing bold or impudent about them. Landlady—Bold or impudent! I don't understand. New Boarder—Why, not a bit too fresh, you know.

When a man has turned out to be a failure he tries to convince his friends that his conscience prevented him from making his pile.—Washington Post.

Charmless Music.

The man had just reached home after a heavy day's work at the office and was resting himself in his easy chair for a few minutes before partaking of tea. Little Jim, his youngest son, had climbed upon the paternal knee and was relating to his father the events of the day. "And, oh, father," said the boy, "won't you show me your fiddle some day?"

"I have no fiddle, my boy," answered the fond parent.

"Oh, yes, you have, papa," returned the boy, "for I heard mamma telling Mrs. Strongwill this afternoon that ever since she married you you had played second fiddle!"

She Knew What She Was About.

The Husband—You suggested that we should begin and save money. I consented and gave up my cigars and beer, and now with the money saved you have gone and bought a new hat. The Wife (pleasantly)—That's all right. It was to get the hat that I suggested retrenchment and economy.—New York Press.

LIVELY CONTEST.

Battle Creek Election Involves Strenuous Ward Fight.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 6.—Interest in the election in this city centers in the strenuous fight which is being waged in the second ward, between the independent Republican candidate for alderman, Franklin H. Starkey, and the regular Republican nominee, Joseph C. Brown. Claiming that Brown, who conducts a drug store, is backed by the liquor dealers, Starkey made an appeal to the anti saloon element, and upon this issue the campaign has been hotly contested.

The registration, which closed Saturday night, broke all previous records in the second ward, which presages a big vote. Bitter feeling has been engendered in the Republican ranks, and several street encounters have occurred during the past two days of registration, the police having been called upon to restore order in several instances.

Detroit, Mich., April 6.—When Thomas Hobbs returned in the morning from his work at the Solvay Process company, he found a suit case, and a little black bundle lying on the porch of his house at 582 Congress street, east. On approaching the bundle, he saw a child was contained therein. Babe and suit case were taken into the house. The stranger was wholly unidentified and had come with all its preparations, evidently to stay. In the stachel was a complete outfit, all nicely done up and scrupulously clean. The babe wore neat, clean and comfortable clothing, including a pretty little hood and cloak. Mrs. Hobbs, already having reared a family of six, is yet debating whether duty calls her to assume the added burden.

Gets Heavy Judgment.

Bay City, Mich., April 6.—After a jury had been out for twenty-four hours, a verdict was given in favor of Peter Forster against Dr. I. E. Randall, a prominent physician, for $3,000 damages. Forster broke his leg in an accident two years ago, and Dr. Randall was called. It was alleged that the doctor delayed operating, and, as a result, Forster is now a cripple. This is the second trial, the jury having disagreed in the first. Dr. Randall will appeal the case to the supreme court.

Alleged Copper Thieves Held.

Pontiac, Mich., April 6.—John Myers and Charles Hayes, arrested in Detroit on a charge of stealing copper wire from the Northwestern division of the Detroit United railway, were arraigned before Justice North and held for trial in the circuit court.

Adrian Citizen Expires Suddenly.

Adrian, Mich., April 6.—Oscar L. Teachout, sixty-three years old, a prominent citizen of this place, dropped dead at his home on Broad street. He had recently retired from active business life.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Orders have been issued by the adjutant general placing Captain G. H. Brown of Port Huron on the retired list, with the rank of brigadier general, and directing organization commanders to refrain from wearing dress uniforms at drill.

N. K. Potter, for many years a prominent farmer of Bancroft, is dead. Mr. Potter is well known over the northern part of the state as a lecturer, representing Michigan Agricultural college in holding farmers' institutes.

Liman S. Russell, the man who has compiled the labor statistics for the state labor bureau for the last ten years, is dead at Lansing of stomach trouble. He was sixty-eight years of age and served with bravery in the civil war as a member of the Third cavalry.

Although Chief of Police Murphy of Owosso fired three bullets into the body of a fleeing mad dog, no vital spot was touched until Ira Curry, son of the city treasurer, came up and sent a charge of buckshot into the animal. The chief of police and a small mob chased the dog nearly a mile. Several times he turned and held the crowd at bay.

Bernard MacFadden, the physical culture editor of New York and Battle Creek, sprang an odd petition on Mayor Green of Battle Creek. He asks if it will be all right for his 50 to 100 girl students to wear bloomers instead of skirts all the time. "They did it at Physical Culture City, N. J.," said MacFadden, "but Battle Creek is different, and we want to produce no shocks." Mayor Green says he is not mayor of public sentiment, and, unless there's a protest, the girls may go skirtless on the streets.

A new president has been named for the Dr. Perkins Sanitary Refrigerator company of Battle Creek, to succeed W. L. Wilson, defaulting secretary of the United Home Protectors' fraternity. The new man is Martin Hauser of Chicago, who also is president of the Great Lakes Dock & Dredge company and was formerly one of the directors of the Battle Creek concern. Wilson's trouble will affect the Sanitary Refrigerator company in no way beyond the necessity of his resigning for the good of the company's reputation.

J. A. Hossack, an Odell (Ill.) banker, jumped from the eighth floor of the Auditorium Annex, in Chicago. He was instantly killed. The window from which he leaped opens on a court, and many guests of the hotel saw the suicide. The act is thought to have been the result of insanity.

On the ground that the operation of automobiles constitute a menace to public safety, the Prince Edward Island legislature has voted a resolution favoring the complete exclusion of motor cars from the province. A bill carrying this resolution into effect will be introduced and passed at the present session, the members of both political parties being in accord on the question.

Not Far to Go.

The reporter hurried up to the scene of the accident. A workman engaged on some scaffolding had missed his footing and had fallen many feet into the street below. Then the reporter went off to interview the unfortunate man, who luckily had escaped with a very severe shaking and a few nasty bruises, and asked sympathetically:

"Did you have vertigo, my man?"

"Oh, no, sir; only about thirty-five feet. Quite far enough for me, though."—Pearson's.

He Was Not a Dumpling.

Some years ago the lord chancellor of England was cross examining a shrewd, bucolic witness.

"They sometimes call you a Devonshire dumpling, don't they?" asked the genial advocate.

"I believe they do," replied the witness.

"But you are not a Devonshire dumpling?"

The witness waited till the laughter occasioned by this inquiry subsided, then he slowly drawled out:

"Hey, but if I hod been a doompling you lawyers 'ud 'a' gobbled I up afore ——"

BANKERS ARRAIGNED.

Lyle and Gage of Dowagiac Before Judge Edwards

HEAVY BAIL IS DEMANDED.

Lyle Charged With Embezzling $1,500 From Elks—Alleged Gage Received Deposits When He Knew Bank Was Insolvent.

Dowagiac, Mich., April 9.—The hearing of Frank W. Lyle, president of the defunct City bank, and Ira Gage, vice president, has been held before Justice Edwards. Lyle was charged with embezzling about $1,500 which belonged to the Elks' lodge, of which he was treasurer, and also with receiving deposits after he knew that the bank was insolvent. Gage was charged with receiving deposits when he knew the bank was insolvent.

A new warrant was also secured for both men, charging them with getting money under false pretenses. The charges were made by Isaac Hardenbrook, who was treasurer of Wayne township, and had deposited a large amount of the township's funds in the bank upon the representation of both the president and vice president that the bank was solvent. They had also represented to him that a deposit made at that date could not be held for obligations made previously.

On the three charges made against Lyle, bail aggregating $13,500 was demanded. He was unable to secure it and was kept in the county jail to await trial at the next term of court, which convenes May 1. Gage's bail was set at $9,000. He, too, was unable to raise the money and was committed to jail.

When Lyle's case was called, he demanded an examination and upon the evidence was bound over to the circuit court. Gage waived examination and was also bound over to the circuit court.

Fifteen Eligible to Carnegie Pension.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 9.—The recent announcement of the additional gift of $5,000,000 to the Carnegie pension fund, including state universities, is of special interest in Ann Arbor. By the provisions of the gift, members of the faculty of an educational institution, together with its executive officers, are eligible to the pension if they resign after twenty-five years of service, or if past sixty-five years, after fifteen years of service. There are now connected with the university seven men who are eligible under the provisions of years, and eight others in addition whose term of service equals or exceeds a quarter of a century.

Sold 500 Tons of Twine.

Jackson, Mich., April 9.—Governor Warner, after a conference with Warden Allen Armstrong of the Jackson prison, gave instructions that no more orders shall be received for prison twine. The capacity output of the plant for the approaching harvest, 500 tons, has already been ordered. The plant will, however, turn out 200 additional tons for corn harvesting. Next year it is expected the plant will take care of the entire needs of the state. It has an annual capacity of about 4,000,000 pounds, but did not get started in time this year.

Tried to Dash His Brains Out.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 9.—A man about forty-five years old, supposed to be Conrad Braun of South Haven, created great excitement at the Michigan Central station, when he attempted to commit suicide by dashing his brains out against a stone fireplace in the waiting room. The man rushed against the rough hewn stone several times. The station was filled with people, and several women became hysterical. The city ambulance was called, and the man was removed to Bronson hospital. He will recover, it is believed.

Poorhouse Inmates Wed.

Port Huron, Mich., April 9.—John W. Thompson, sixty-three years old, and Sophia E. Schultz, forty years old, have applied for and secured a marriage license from the county clerk. Until Monday last, both of the parties named in the license were inmates of the county poorhouse of St. Clair county. The members of the poor commission, it is said, are very indignant over the action of the county clerk in issuing the license under the circumstances.

Loses County Seat.

Frankport, Mich., April 9.—In the contest on the removal of the county seat, Honor beat Frankfort by eighty-six votes.

VOTE RESULTS IN TIE.

Bills Stopping Gambling at Races Fail to Pass.

HUGHES IS DISAPPOINTED.

Vigorous Struggle In New York Legislature Over Governor's Favorite Measures—He Declares Fight Does Not End Here.

Albany, N. Y., April 9.—The vote of Senator Owen Cassidy of Schuyler (Rep.) has caused a tie vote of 25 to 25 and defeated, for the time, at least, the two Agnew-Hart bills embodying the recommendation of Governor Hughes that the legal protection be abolished which since 1895 has protected public gambling at race tracks, whereas it is a felony elsewhere in the state.

Lieutenant Governor Chanler, in the chair, by casting his vote to break the tie on a parliamentary motion, following which, but for him, would have resulted in killing the bills for the rest of the session, saved them for another vote at the discretion of their introducer, Senator Agnew, at any time when the order of business permits him to call up the matter.

Governor Hughes made no secret of his disappointment over the result of the struggle. He would not intimate what measures he would adopt in the premises, but that he regards the matter as far from settled he made clear by the following statement issued from the executive chamber:

"It is impossible to believe that the people will permit the plain mandate of the constitution to be ignored. The contest has not ended. It has only begun. It will continue until the will of the people has been obeyed."

The vote came at the end of a day so dramatic and intense that people who have been about the capitol for a generation say they remember nothing like it. Until the vote of Senator Wilcox, last on the list, was cast against the bills, the result was apparently in doubt, although for three days the opposition has expressed confidence that he would vote as he actually did.

MEMORABLE DAY.

Stormy Sessions in House of Representatives Wednesday.

Washington, April 9.—Wednesday's session of the house will go down as one of the stormiest in its history. The sum total of the day's proceedings was the adoption of several additional rules to further check the Democratic filibuster and the passing of the two resolutions introduced by Speaker Cannon calling on the department of justice and the department of commerce and labor for certain information regarding the so-called paper trust.

There were nine roll calls during the day, five of them on the new rules. The Democrats exhausted their resources before they were made to feel that the Republicans, by sheer force of numbers, had them beaten at every point.

The debate brought all the leaders of the house to the front. The Democrats were again charged with making the special rules necessary by reason of their filibuster, while the Democrats reasserted that they at last were causing the majority to enact legislation.

President Condemns Discrimination.

Washington, April 9.—President Roosevelt has made public his letter of April 2 to the attorney general, directing proceedings by injunction to compel certain railroads of the south to furnish equal accommodations to white and negro passengers. The interstate commerce commission, he says, has taken what is unquestionably the right ground; that where separate accommodations are provided for white and negro passengers, the accommodations for the latter shall be as good as those furnished to white passengers for the same money. In other words, while there is nothing in the law which forbids separate accommodations, their accommodations must be equal.

President Accepts Invitation.

Washington, April 9.—President Roosevelt has accepted an invitation extended him by John Barrett, director of the international bureau of American republics, to attend, early in May, the laying of the cornerstone of the new building for the bureau, towards the construction of which Andrew Carnegie contributed $75,000, the site having been purchased with funds contributed by the various republics interested.

IS NOW A FREE MAN

Citizen In West Was Indicted Twenty-Six Years Ago.

CHARGE WAS MANSLAUGHTER

Made His Escape—Has Lived Model Life Ever Since, and Now the Court Removes Stigma—His Identity Kept Secret.

Kingston, N. Y., April 8.—In some western city, the name of which is scrupulously guarded, lives a prominent and respected citizen, from whom the supreme court of New York has just removed the stigma of an indictment which was returned twenty-six years ago and charged John Taylor with the death of Thomas Murray.

The present home of Taylor and the name under which he has since lived, married and risen to the head of a big mercantile establishment are known to but three men here, and his secret will be kept. Taylor's identity was made known by him to the court, a search for him, which covered two continents and took several years, had been abandoned. Throwing himself upon the mercy of the prosecutor, Taylor invited an inquiry into his life for the past quarter of a century. This was made, and it proved so satisfactory that former Supreme Court Justice Clearwater, who, as district attorney, obtained the indictment against Taylor, declared that it would be gross injustice to reveal the man's new name.

Witnesses Are Dead.

Justice W. C. Howard of Troy, sitting in the supreme court, dismissed the indictment against Taylor, after it had been shown that all possible witnesses against the defendant were dead. Justice Clearwater, who personally investigated the case, and the present district attorney, W. A. Cunningham, seconded the action of the court. Only Justice Howard, Mr. Clearwater and Mr. Cunningham have knowledge of the facts in the case.

Ex-Justice Clearwater said:

"The killing of Murray was a case of love, rum, and politics. Manslaughter, which was charged, could not be proven now. Taylor has made a new home and won a honored name. He is at the head of a big manufacturing establishment in the west, has a wife and six children, all ignorant of his early misfortune. His character is above reproach, and it would be an outrage to revive the story now."

How It Happened.

The killing of Murray and the subsequent pursuit of Taylor created great interest. Murray was killed at Port Ewen, Ulster county, on an election day, when there had been a riot at the polls. Taylor and Murray were unfriendly for various reasons. They belonged to opposing political parties and loved the same girl. On election day they quarreled at the polling place and fought on the street. A brick, with which Murray's skull was cracked, is still in the office of the district attorney. Several days later Murray died, and Taylor fled. In 1882, a grand jury indicted Taylor for manslaughter in the first degree, and a search for him was instituted. He was traced to Pennsylvania, where it is alleged he had allied himself with the "Molly Maguires." He escaped from the country, but was traced to the home of his mother, in Ireland. He was apprehended, but again he escaped. Later he returned to America and settled in the west. Recently he determined to clear his name. He communicated with the officials here, who had long before given up hope of his arrest, and the dismissal of the indictment resulted.

Piracy and Crime.

Victoria, B. C., April 9.—News of a remarkable piracy and crime in the south seas is brought by the steamship Marama. The captain and mate of a Callao schooner were attacked with a tomahawk and forced to jump overboard by Joseph Mortimer, a Belgian; J. Taylor of Manchester and G. Jackson of London, who then stole the schooner, the Neuvre Tigre of Callao, and started for Australia. The vessel was wrecked in the Gilbert islands, where she was found by Captain Marshall of the trading schooner Laurel, who reported the piracy and killing to the authorities in Suva, where the pirates were made prisoners. Jackson later confessed.

Dies Hugging His Money.

Evansville, Ind., April 9.—Dr. W. W. Dailey, aged sixty years, one of the wealthiest citizens of southern Indiana, was found dead in his home at Selvin, Ind., hugging a "strong box" containing his fortune. He did not believe in banks. Death is supposed to have been caused by heart disease.

OFFICIALS DUMBFOUNDED.

See No Reason Why Castro Should Make Radical Statements.

Washington, April 9.—Administration officials express amazement over the statements in President Castro's official organ, El Constitutional, having as their basis the Tacoma mail pouch opening incident. The editorial received the closest attention.

Mingled with the feeling of amazement over the sentiments of President Castro is one of regret and mystification over the whole course Venezuela has pursued in dealing with the United States. "The United States has been a good friend to Venezuela," said a high official of the state department. "Twice within the last fifteen years we have gone to Venezuela's aid when that country needed assistance." For this reason he could not understand why she has acted as she has.

During President Cleveland's second term, when Great Britain was threatening to encroach on Venezuela's territory, he sent a message to congress which had the result of referring the question to The Hague for impartial determination. Again, several years later, when the allied powers were threatening a blockade of Venezuelan ports to compel payment of her foreign obligations, the United States, through Minister Bowen, stepped in and averted such a step. Again the question was referred to The Hague.

The navy department has received a report from Commander John Hood of the cruiser Tacoma, containing details touching the opening of the mail carried by that vessel at the La Guaira postoffices. It agrees substantially with the published statements, and the officials are satisfied the opening was inadvertent.

All correspondence on the Venzuelan question is now before congress. Administration officials frankly admit they will not be surprised should there be some delay. The issues presented are out of the ordinary, and time should be given, they say, for thorough study of the situation.

KILLED HIS MOTHER.

Boy Took Revenge For Having Been Kept Prisoner in Various Institutions.

New York, April 9.—Because his mother, Susan Carlin, had sent him to various reformatory institution, in which he was a prisoner for many years, Bernard Carlin shot and instantly killed her at her home in Quincy street, Brooklyn. Young Carlin had just been released from the reformatory at Napanoch, where he served a sentence for stealing a horse and wagon. He was arrested after the shooting.

When Carlin was freed from the reformatory, the superintendent gave him $10 for a new start in life. When he arrived in Brooklyn, he bought a revolver and went to apartments where his mother lived with his sister, Mary. When his mother opened the door, in answer to his knock, he thrust the revolver in her face and fired five bullets into her head before she sank to the floor.

He then attempted to shoot his sister, but the revolver was empty. Her screams summoned a neighbor, who wrested the revolver from Carlin; but the latter escaped to the street and fled. He was pursued and captured after a desperate struggle, in which he severely injured one of his captors.

He told the police that he killed his mother, "because she was making me do bits all my life." He declared that she sent him to an orphan asylum when he was sixteen months old, and had kept him in some kind of an institution most of his life.

Newsboy Returned $300.

Lansing, Mich., April 9.—C. C. Duncan of Alma, on arriving in Lansing, discovered he had lost his pocketbook, containing $300. Later it was returned by Oscar Zimmerman, a Michigan Central newsboy, who found it on the train.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

Archbishop Ryan has announced that a $100,000 gift had been made by a woman, believed to be Mrs. Frederic Canfield Penfield, formerly Mrs. Anne Weightman-Walker, for the proposed Catholic high school for girls in Philadelphia.

Without warning, Albert Heiser, a New York baker, suddenly drew a revolver at the dinner table in his home, fired two shots at his young bride, and then killed himself by sending a bullet through his brain. His wife is not expected to recover. Jealousy was the cause.

Calvin S. Wright, a baker of Jeanette, Pa., believing that the courts of South Dakota had given him the right to do so, about a year ago, married Miss Anna C. O'Donnell, a sweetheart of his younger days, but it develops that an error was made by the western court, which divorced him from the wrong woman, and now he must stand trial on charges of bigamy and perjury.

Kodol for dyspepsia has helped thousands of people who have had stomach trouble. This is what one man says of it: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill. —Gentlemen—In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. I could not digest anything. I ate and in the spring of 1902 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., Aug. 29, 1906."

Do not make unjust gains, they are equal to a loss.

Cupid Turns The Tables.

By MARTHA COBB SANFORD.

Copyrighted, 1906, by E. C. Parcells.

It began on the Greenwich local. The man sitting beside Henrietta on the cross seat was reading a typewritten manuscript.

"Either an author or an editor," mused Henrietta and soon allowed her curiosity to get the better of her to the extent of looking over her neighbor's shoulder and reading the story with him.

It proved to be a love story, and as it progressed Henrietta stole a surreptitious glance at the man every now and then. But his expression gave no clew to the impression the story might be making.

Once, as he turned a page, he looked up suddenly and became aware that Henrietta was following the story.

She blushed and started to apologize, but he put her at her ease in quite an unexpected manner.

"I'm glad you've been reading the story," he said, with a friendly smile. "A woman wrote it, and I hope you'll give me your opinion when we've finished it."

So they read on together.

When they had reached the end they sat for a moment silent, each evidently absorbed in thought.

"Well," said the man at length, "that is perhaps what would happen in real life, but the ending isn't satisfactory from my viewpoint."

"And what is your viewpoint?" ventured Henrietta, her interest in the situation overpowering momentarily her natural shyness. "Are you judging it as just a plain man or as an editor?"

Her query seemed both to please and amuse him, and Henrietta was surprised to find herself answering his smile quite as if they were old acquaintances.

"I am judging it," he said, "as an editor who tries to imagine himself just a plain man. But what do you think about it?"

"I'm afraid I agree with the author," answered Henrietta, somewhat timidly, "but really my opinion doesn't count in the least, because"—

"On the other hand," interrupted the man, "it counts supremely. It is the opinions of just such casual readers as yourself that I have to study and learn to understand almost intuitively, as it were.

"But to get back to the point in question. You mean that 'love at first sight' isn't worth writing about—that the type of woman who would consent to marry a man on short acquaintance isn't the stuff that heroines are made of?"

"Not exactly that perhaps. But any one could make the story end happily—have them marry, I mean. That would have been the ordinary way. It must have taken some courage to end it the other way, and it seems to me the story's stronger for it."

"But you see," persisted the editor, "everything in the story goes to show that this man and woman, though they met just once casually, as you and I are meeting, were most remarkably en rapport. Why, then, does the author never have them meet again after making her reader feel that they ought, by all that is happy and harmonious, to belong to each other?"

Henrietta smiled at the man's earnestness.

"Well," she began defensively, "perhaps the author was trying to show that, although a man and a woman may meet by accident, like that, and even feel and admit each to himself or herself that they really do belong to each other, yet neither one quite dares— Oh, I'm afraid I don't just know how to express it," she broke off, blushing consciously at having spoken so freely to an utter stranger.

"Thank you," said the man, and his manner was both sympathetic and thoughtful. "I begin to understand. But I'm still unconvinced as to its being the popular or natural viewpoint. If I could talk to the author herself, I feel quite sure that I could."

"Goodness!" said Henrietta, starting suddenly. "This is my station. Good night."

The more Henrietta let her thoughts dwell upon this unusual little discussion the more she found herself yielding to the editor's point of view. There was no real reason, after all, why the man and woman in the story shouldn't have married and continued to "live happily ever after."

Still that would be a most commonplace ending, after all, and she accused herself of being influenced, as was the editor, not by the artistic but by the commercial value of the story.

So she tried to think of new arguments to defend the author's denouement. The heroine, she imagined, was very much the same type of girl as herself and, like herself, therefore preferred to keep those few moments of chance acquaintanceship an idealized memory upon which she could look back forever and a day with joyful satisfaction.

An ordinary person might yield to the temptation of following up the lead, but the heroine of that story was not ordinary. Upon that the author and Henrietta agreed perfectly.

She herself, for instance, in her own comparatively insignificant experience would probably never meet the editor again, and what would it matter? She had the memory of their pleasant interchange of thought, and he of course would never think of her again. But here the defense weakened and hid her blushing face in her hands.

A few days later when Henrietta received a very courteous note from the editor of the New Fiction Magazine asking her to call at his office for the purpose of talking over her story she smiled archly, dressed herself most becomingly and made her way promptly, but more or less tremulously, to his august sanctum. It was a novel situation.

What if he had reversed his original opinion too? Would she or wouldn't she be pleased?

The editor's surprise proved intensely amusing to Henrietta at least.

"You—the author herself?" was all he was able to gasp. Then he broke out into a hearty laugh, in which Henrietta joined merrily.

"You still hold to your first opinion, I suppose?" Henrietta asked tentatively.

"More firmly than ever," was the editor's emphatic reply.

"Then the story is rejected?" queried Henrietta wistfully.

"Not if I can convince the author into my way of thinking," he answered brightly. "I have great confidence in my own powers of persuasion."

Henrietta looked skeptical. Since he chose to be so confident, she would never let him know that she was half persuaded already. She would defend her original ending of the story, just to keep him guessing.

And the arguments upon arguments that followed! Was ever the fate of a story held so long in the balance? And all the time that Henrietta was defending the story as it stood, in her own heart she was recasting it as the man willed and wanted.

A suspicion of the true state of affairs gradually convinced the editor that his best play was to confess himself vanquished.

Henrietta was radiant.

"There!" she cried triumphantly. "I've made you take it just as it is. You didn't win me over, after all."

"Didn't I?" was all the editor said, but looked straight into her eyes.

Henrietta lowered hers, but made no reply.

And then the editor did a very cruel thing.

"I suppose you are going to put your theories into practice, then, and never let me see you again? Of course you'd rather keep our acquaintance a memory and not let it be spoiled by any such commonplace thing as love and marriage."

"Please don't," begged Henrietta, struggling to keep back the tears. "I told you the very first time we met that it took courage to end the story that way. It may be that the woman isn't as strong as the author."

The editor smiled very tenderly.

"I accept them both," he said lovingly, folding her to him. "just as they are."

But Henrietta would not have it so.

"No," she whispered, "I'm going to rewrite the ending. I know now what it ought to be."

Everybody Suited.

He prided himself on having the largest general store in the county.

"If Man Wishes It and It Is Made I Have It," was the sign over his store and the motto which capped all his advertisements in the newspapers.

"William," said he one morning as he was giving instructions to a green clerk, "no one must ever leave this store without making a purchase. If a person doesn't know what he wants, suggest something. And, remember, we have everything, from carpet tacks to mausoleums."

William's first customer was a leisurely chap who gazed about curiously, but had no definite object in view.

"Just looking around," he explained.

"Wouldn't you like to take a look at our new line of post cards?" suggested the eager clerk.

"No, not this time," answered the stranger. "I'm just a little short this morning."

"Ah," urged the new clerk, who was not familiar with the wonderful slang terms of the language, "then perhaps you'd like to look at our line of new and handsome stretchers." — Sketchy Bits.

The Swaying Skyscraper.

Through the chance perfect adjustment in the way of balance of a row of large photographs that hang on the wall of an office on the twenty-second floor of an office building downtown the clerks in the place have a good deal of quiet amusement with persons who visit the place for the first time. Owing to this balance the pictures are easily swayed by the wind that blows through the open windows, and since the office force goes in for fresh air the year round the pictures are never still. The joke lies in catching the horrified expression on the faces of the callers when they get a sight of the swinging frames. Then it is always explained with due solemnity if the boss is not around that the swaying of the frames is due to the oscillation of the structure. It usually takes some time for the object of the joke to see the point. Meanwhile he has suffered a considerable shock.—New York Press.

Rifle and Smooth Bore.

The main difference between a rifle and a smooth bore gun is that the inner surface of the rifle barrel has one or more spiral grooves cut into it. The object of this is to permit a portion of the material of the bullet or projectile to sink into the grooves. As the projectile is forced out of the barrel these projections into the grooves tend to remain there, thus giving rise to a spinning motion. In fact, it is not only going forward, but is rotating rapidly as it goes. The axis will tend—in accordance with the gyroscopic principle—to maintain without change its direction. But that is really saying that the projectile will tend to remain in its true course. So this is why a rifled gun shoots straighter than a smooth bore.—St. Nicholas.

Five Women Killed.

Chicago, April 9.—Five women, while returning from a funeral, were killed, when the carriage in which they were riding was struck by an electric car on the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin railroad at Maywood, a suburb. The driver of the carriage was probably fatally injured.

Over 300 Students Fired.

Columbia, S. C., April 9.—It was announced at chapel services at Clemson college Wednesday that 267 members of the sophomore and freshmen classes had been dismissed, in addition to the forty-eight juniors expelled Friday last. This probably is the most wholesale expulsion in the history of the United States. The cause alleged was insubordination in an April fool prank.

Stearns Company Fined $20,000.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 9.—Judge Knappen, in the federal court here, has fined the Stearns Lumber company, owned chiefly by Justus S. Stearns, former candidate for governor, a total of $20,000 for accepting rebates from the Pere Marquette railroad on lumber shipments. The Stearns company pleaded guilty recently.

The ministry of justice in France, to which the foreign office turned over the request of the United States for the extradition of Paul L. Roy, a Frenchman who married an American woman known as Gracia Calla, and who has been accused by his wife of killing her brother at Newington, N. H., has decided that no law exists in France under which Roy can be given over to the American authorities.

The Ruling Passion.

"Why didn't your daughter go to Europe to study music, Mrs. Dibbs?"

"We've got her ready to go three times, and each time she decided she'd rather stay at home and show her clothes."

Beware of inquisitive people. An excessive curiosity to know all is generally accompanied by as great a desire to tell it again.

Mammoth Cave.

For many years after the discovery of Mammoth cave the entire work of exploration was practically in the hands of negro slaves, the property of the man who owned the cave. Sometimes they would come to an obstacle that barred the passage, such as a great limestone rock or a yawning crevasse across the way. Such obstacles would often stop exploration in that direction for years, though beyond the obstruction there were likely to be scores of beautiful chambers and many miles of passageways. Thus it happened that for years nothing was known of that large part of the cave lying beyond the abyss named the Bottomless pit. This obstruction was known for over twenty years before it was crossed. Then one day in 1837 the negro cave explorer Stephen and some of his fellows dragged to the place the trunk of a small tree, and on this rather dangerous bridge Stephen crawled across the abyss. Then began the explorations that revealed one of the most wonderful and extensive parts of Mammoth cave. The abyss was found later to be 180 feet deep.

Some Witty Titles.

The pupils of one of the high schools of Philadelphia evinced great interest in a competition for a prize to be awarded the pupil who should submit the wittiest list of titles for twelve sham books on a dummy shelf. The following are some of the titles received in the competition:

"A New England Puss," by M. B. W.
"Thoughts On My Bed," Stead.
"On Different Tacks," by Van Hammer.
"Lizzie Wouldn't," by John Wood.
"The Fatal Blow," by John Knox.
Porter's "Tales of Lost Baggage."
"Lost In the Wash," by the author of "Bachelor's Buttons."
"Grinding the Poor," by Mill.
"Owe No Man," by O. W. Holmes.
"After the Ball," by the author of "Our National Game."
Morse on "Our Old Houses."
"Woodchucks and Rabbits," by Burroughs.
"E. E.," by the author of "My Double."

An Unconscious Meal.

Once John Muir, author and rancheman, was dining with a friend. They sat down, and Muir began to tell a story. The waiter came around several times, but the story was so good nothing was ordered. Muir talked and talked, and in between he would reach over and break off a piece of bread from a French loaf on the table. This he did a good many times. The story reminded him of another, and so he talked and ate bread until finally, being very hungry, his companion broke in with:

"Well, what shall I order for you, Mr. Muir?"

"Order?" he repeated in his abstraction.

"Yes, order—to eat."

He looked over at the last little remaining piece of bread on the plate and said, as if waking from a dream:

"Eat? Why, I've had all I want. That bread was bully."—Bookman.

Large Thumbs.

"People of great strength of character, who are guided by the head rather than the heart, have large thumbs," says Irving R. Bacon. "Whenever you see a person with a strikingly large, well developed thumb, you may be almost certain you have before you one who is a natural born ruler, eminently practical and fond of whatever is useful. Wherefore also he is fond of history. A large thumbed woman may fall in love as deeply as her small thumbed sister, but will not marry unless she can see a sufficient bread and butter supply ahead. But she is more apt to be a real helpmate when adversity comes."—New York Journal.

The Only "Merrymaking."

The school record kept by an old time teacher of "No. 6" in a New England village contains at least one item which moved a chance reader to smiles. It is this:

"Special honor badges were given to Flora and Minetta Lovett for the best attendance. During the entire school year they were not once absent to attend any picnic, reunion, excursion or merrymaking, the only exception being the afternoon of May 10, when their twin brothers were ill from the effect of something they had eaten and not expected to live, although they soon recovered."

No Visible Signals.

"Yessum," said Sandy Pikes as he devoured the wedge of pumpkin pie, "I sternly object to the nefarious practice of clipping off de tails of dogs."

"Ah, I am glad you are so tender hearted, my poor man," sympathized the good housewife.

"Well, it ain't exactly dat, mum, but when a dog hasn't any tail I can't tell by de wags if he is in a good humor or not, and it makes me skeery about approaching de house."—Chicago News.

RECIPE FOR RHEUMATISM.

Directions to prepare simple yet remarkable home mixture.

There is so much rheumatism here in our neighborhood that the following advice by an eminent authority who writes for readers of a large Eastern daily paper, will be highly appreciated by those who suffer:

Get from any good pharmacy ¼ ounce fluid extract dandelion, 1 ounce compound kargon, 3 ounces of compound sarsaparilla. Shake these well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal at bedtime; also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and torturous disease who will find ready relief in this simple home made mixture and in most cases a permanent cure is the result.

This simple receipt is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the kidneys so they can filter from the blood and system the poisons, acids and waste matter which cause not only rheumatism but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active or who suffer from any urinary trouble whatever should not hesitate to make up this mixture as it is certain to do much good and may save you from much misery and suffering after awhile.

Our home druggists say they will either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription ready to take if our readers ask them.

CHURCH AFFAIRS

WORK BEING DONE IN OUR CHURCHES.

What is accomplished through the Social Life.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The ladies aid society held a business meeting at the church yesterday and considered the plans for remodelling the church.

The choir is preparing the music for Easter Sunday's morning service. There will be two anthems and a solo by Miss Kreidler.

In spite of stormy weather there was a large attendance at the communion service last Sunday morning. The occasion was gladdened by the reception of 36 new members, 8 by letter and 28 on confession.

The temperance lecture at the church Monday night was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mr. Randall gave a very interesting study of the saloon from a social and economic standpoint and illustrated it with stereoptican pictures from photographs taken by himself.

Next Thursday there will be given under the auspices of the men's class a very interesting entertainment. There will be two fine exhibitions of moving pictures, Alpine scenery and Washington at Valley Forge; three songs illustrated by stereoptican slides and a varied musical program. Full program will be printed Tuesday.

Next Sunday evening will be given the second of the musical programs which will in part be as follows:

Hymn—Jerusalem the Golden—Men's choir.
Hymn, Swell the Chorus—Congregation.
Prayer.
Solo—Miss Nina Schussler.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., Apr. 4, 1908.

There is no doubt that Mr. Von Meyer, the new Postmaster General, is earnestly desirous of promoting such reforms in the United States Postal Establishment as he became familiar with in the more progressive countries of Europe during his residence there as ambassador of the United States. It will surprise many Americans to know that Europe is more progressive in postal affairs than is this country. We are so in the habit, in our provincial pride of claiming that America is a head in everything—mainly because we excel in making and squandering money—that it is difficult to come down to actual facts and figures, and accept the truth, which is that we lag in many particulars. For example, in our rural route delivery system, we have the means of laying down, at the doors of millions of people, the things which they might buy in the city by postal card, for one half the price they pay at the country store. But short-sightedness and provincialism combined with protests of the petty store keepers and the great monopolizing express companies, prevents the establishment of the Parcels Post, which European peoples have enjoyed for two or three decades.

A bill has recently been introduced in Congress for the establishment of a postal savings bank. This is an old institution in England and probably in other European counties.

The bill provides for a system of postal savings banks, under the direction and supervision of the Postmaster General. Each post office authorized to issue money orders and such others as the Postmaster General may designate, will be postal savings bank offices. Deposits in these banks may be made by any person ten years of age or over, "a married woman in her own name and freefrom any control or interference by her husband," a trustee, parent, guardian, or other person for the benefit of a child under ten years of age.

At least $1 is required to open an account, but 10 cents or multiples of that amount may be deposited afterward. No person will be permitted to deposit more than $200 in any month. Two per cent per annum is to be allowed on these deposits. No deposit is to be allowed to exceed $1,000, and no interest is to be paid on any part of a deposit in excess of $500.

The postal savings funds are to be exempt from detention under any legal process against the depositor. They are not to be subject to taxation by the United States or any other State.

The Postmaster General is to deposit these funds in national banks to be designated by him at a rate of interest not less than 2½ per cent per annum. Such deposits are to be made in national banks in the United States and Territories in which the funds are received, and as far as practicable in the immediate vicinity of the places at which the funds are received. If any bank becomes insolvent such funds are to be a prior lien upon its assets.

Additional compensation is to be allowed postmasters at post offices of the fourth class for the transaction of postal savings bank business at the rate of one-fourth of 1 per cent of the deposits received, to be paid from the postal revenues.

Joseph Stitt.

Joseph Welling Stitt whose death occurred Wednesday, April 1, 1908, was born in Pittstown, N. Y., on July 5, 1830 and was the last surviving member of a family of seven children born to James and Mary Welling Stitt. Nearly 75 years ago while Tecumseh was yet in its infancy he came to this village accompanied by his parents where for 31 successive years he resided. His early education was received here and later took a course of study in architecture. Although quiet and unassuming he took an active interest in all projects for the upbuilding and improvement of the town.

On July 4, 1853 he was united in marriage to Miss Mary H. Pomeroy, who preceded him in death 30 years ago. To this union were born one son, Frederick F., who died in infancy and Mrs. A. C. Aylesworth, who still survives. In 1865 he moved to a farm home at Evans lake where good cheer and hospitality were at all times evident. On March 2, 1896 he was married to Miss Melissa Preston, who is left to mourn with the daughter, 3 grandchildren, 3 great granchildren and many friends.

Owing to his enfeebled condition, in the early part of Oct. 1905 he again took up his residence in this village and to spend his declining years in sight of the pioneer home built 71 years ago and although having suffered a stroke of paralysis in 1904 which rendered him almost helpless he was at all times patient and cheerful, bearing his affliction with no word of complaint. The funeral was held at his home Saturday afternoon, Rev. Dunning officiating. Interment in the family lot at Brookside.

THE DRYS WIN.

Ten Counties in Michigan will be without Saloons.

Ten counties in Michigan out of the 14 voting on the saloon question will be without saloons on May 1st as a result of Monday's election. This means the closing of 258 saloons in Michigan. The counties voting on it were:

	Majorities. Dry.	Wet.
Barry	1,500
Cass		83
Clinton	831
Gladwin		76
Grand Traverse		325
Gratiot	1,450
Kalamazoo		1,600
Midland	175
Missaukee	208
Oakland	72
Oceana	800
Oceola	500
St. Joseph	725
Wexford	360

Van Buren which has been the only dry county in the state for several years did not vote on the question this spring. Local option was really the big question before the state and the result shows clearly the strength the dry movement is gaining in Michigan. A total of 1280 saloons were voted out of the state of Illinois and only 1 county in the entire state is wholly "wet." The saloon leaders say they will exercise every influence to induce the legislature to "repeal the local option law."

John Cadmus.

John Cadmus was born in Lodi, Seneca county, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1828 and died at his home in Raisin April 4, 1908, aged 80 years, 1 month and 27 days. Mr. Cadmus came to Michigan with his parents when he was but five years of age. They settled in Macon and he continued to make his home with them until his marriage to Charity Swick, Mar. 30, 1853. They then moved to the present farm on which he died and which he had cleared himself, there spending 55 years of happy married life.

This union was blessed with nine children, seven of whom are still living to mourn the loss of a kind and indulgent father. They are, Mrs. Eva Bird and Mrs. Hettie McIntyre of Tecumseh, Mrs. Della Rose of Toledo, Sidney, Agnes and Albert of Raisin, and John Jr. of Macon. Richard Cadmus, his remaining brother, resides in Harvey, Ill.

John Cadmus joined the Ridgeway M. E. church 35 years ago and was until his death, an honored member of the church. The funeral was held from the home Tuesday morning, Rev. A. T. Camburn of Ridgeway, officiating. Burial in the Ridgeway cemetery.

Fred Merkle will not displace Larry Doyle at second base for the Giant regulars. He was worked at first and second but Tenney had the initial job cinched. Doyle has shown improvement in his work at second and will stick there. Merkle will be kept as a utility man and that he will remain with the club all season because of his ability to play any position, is a certainty. Last season in the South Michigan league Merkle certainly made a fine jump to a job in the National league.

Now is the time to select your wall paper while the assortment is complete and before the rush. I have a large and complete line and will be pleased to show you any time. B. J. PULVER.

Merkle Plays in Toledo.

Fred Merkle played first base with the New York Giants against the Mud Hens in Toledo Wednesday, the Giants winning the game by a score of 4 and 1. Gillen, formerly of Tecumseh, pitched the game for Toledo. A picture was taken of Merkle while he was in the act of catching a high throw. This picture was printed in the Toledo Blade Wednesday. Among the notes on the game were the following:

Merkle's stellar play of the afternoon was his stretch for Herzog's wide throw to get Anderson. Herzog slipped after capturing the grasser but pegged nevertheless. Merkle went out 6 feet for the ball but kept his foot on the bag.

Gillen had speed and nice control. He let himself out in the 4th, striking out Breenahan, forcing Hanifan to pop to Hinchman, walking DeVore and compelling O'Brien to ground an easy one to Anderson.

QUIET HOME WEDDING.

Marriage of Miss Luella Williamson to Mr. H. Raynor Brewer Wednesday evening.

The marriage of Miss Luella Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Williamson, to H. Raynor Brewer was quietly solemnized Wednesday evening at six o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on East Kilbuck street, Rev. J. W. Dunning officiating.

The guests, about thirty in number, the majority of them being relatives, were received by the bride and groom. The couple were unattended during the impressive ceremony, which was performed in the parlor before a bank of greenery, of palms and ferns, these being also used for decorations in the various rooms. The bride wore a brown traveling suit and carried a large bouquet of violets. After congratulations a three course supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewer left immediately for a four weeks' trip in the east, after which they will reside in Tecumseh, where Mr. Brewer holds a responsible position with the Brewer Foundry company.

PLAN TO FIGHT DISEASE.

Druggists will fight stomach trouble in Tecumseh.

The increase of stomach troubles in Tecumseh has led C. A. Wright & Son to take effective measures to combat the disease. They have the local agency for Mi-o-na stomach tablets and in order to induce people suffering with weak stomach or indigestion to use the remedy, offer to supply it with the distinct understanding that money will be refunded in every case where it does not cure.

Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive but an absolute strengthener and builder-up of the whole digestive tract. If you suffer with headaches, giddiness, palpitation, coated tongue, nervousness, distress after eating, use Mi-o-na and see how quickly these symptoms of a weak stomach disappear.

The remedy strengthens the muscular walls of the stomach and increases the flow of gastric juices so that nourishment is extracted from the food and the and the refuse is expelled without the aid of purgative or laxative medicines.

Strengthen the stomach and make it do its own work by using Mi-o-na. Do not nurse it along by digestive tablets that do no lasting good. Make a complete cure of your stomach troubles and replace weakness with strength by using Mi-o-na.

Remember that C. A. Wright & Son give a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures. They take all the risk and there is no danger of you losing any thing except indigestion when you buy a 50c box of Mi-o-na.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Tecumseh people have found that this is true.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench
A little cause may hurt the kidneys.
Spells of backache often follow,
Or some irregularity of the urine.
A certain remedy for such attacks,
A medicine that answers every call,
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific
Many Tecumseh people rely on it.
Here is proof

E. H. Hyde, living on west Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for about 2 years caused by a cold which settled in my kidneys. The pain in my back was often so severe that I could not stoop or lift. I used a number of highly recommended remedies but failed to receive more than temporary relief and finally began taking Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Wright & Son's drug store. On using the contents of the first box I received much benefit, continued and was cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Half the time when men think they are talking business, they are talking gossip.

Never can tell when you'll mash a finger or suffer a cut, bruise, burn or scald. Be prepared. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil instantly relieves the pain—quickly cures the wound.

This may interest you.

No one is immune from Kidney trouble, so just remember that Foley's kidney cure will stop the irregularities and cure any case of kidney and bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. Sold by all druggists.

Photography.

Practical photography first saw the light in 1839. On Feb. 21 of that year Talbot, who had obtained permanent prints and camera images as early as 1835, published his process. Daguerre's was published on Aug. 19, and somewhere between those two dates Ponton in a paper read at the Royal Scottish Society of Arts made known to the world his discovery that soluble organic matter in the presence of an alkaline bichromate was rendered insoluble by exposure to light, a discovery the value of which was not recognized for some years, but which is the basis of all that is included in "process work."

The Dark and Bloody Ground.

Before the white man began to explore Kentucky, about the middle of the eighteenth century, the region was a vast hunting ground for many large tribes of the south, north and east, and between these tribes there was continuous conflict for the possession of the rich game privileges. Later on, when the white people settled in the territory, their struggle with the red men was more bitter and persistent than in almost any other section of the continent; hence the sanguinary name that was given to the territory, "The Dark and Bloody Ground."—New York American.

Whist.

An acquaintance of Talleyrand once remarked to him that he did not think it worth his while to learn the game of whist. Talleyrand's reply has been remembered until this day: "Not know whist, young man? What a dismal old age you are preparing for yourself!"

Hard.

"Pa, is it true that all men are made of dust?"

"I've had reason to think lately," replied the man who had been trying to get his notes extended, "that a good many of them are made of cement."—Chicago Record-Herald.

SWAN DISQUALIFIED.

Judge Wanty May Be Placed In Charge of Glazier Affairs.

Detroit, Mich., April 9.—Affidavits will be filed with Judge Swan, probably asking that a date be set for an immediate trial of the Glazier bankruptcy matter as relating to the matters of the Glazier Stove company. Judge Swan, who is a stockholder in one of the Detroit banks that is listed among Glazier's creditors, has told interested parties that he was consequently disqualified to act, and that he would probably ask Judge Wanty of the United States court at Grand Rapids to take up the hearing.

The application of an immediate trial will be based on affidavits of Walter E. Oxtoby and B. B. Selling, representing the Security Trust company and the creditors respectively, who went to Chelsea in an effort to secure Glazier's statement. Glazier, it is reported, is well enough to take a little recreation in the way of hunting in the vicinity of Kavanaugh lake, where his summer residence is located, but he is absolutely in such bad shape that he can not make a statement respecting his muddled finances. At least this is what was handed out to Oxtoby and Selling.

Ward Case May Fall Down.

Detroit, Mich., April 9.—In the manslaughter trial of Representative C. E. Ward, the defendant's attorneys moved to take the case from the jury and declare the defendant not guilty, on the ground that the prosecution has not as yet connected Ward in any way with the crime which is alleged to have been committed. The prosecuting attorney argued against the motion. Judge Connolly announced an adjournment of the case for one day, so that he may have time to read over the testimony so far taken. It is deemed likely, by those who have followed the case, that there is no possibility of conviction, and that the case will likely be taken from the jury.

"Drys" Charge Bribery.

Dowagiac, Mich., April 9.—Cass county local option promoters charge that there was illegal voting and bribery in Mondays' election. They will protest the vote before Judge Carr. The county went "wet" by sixty-eight votes.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Frank Bisdale, trapper, and his partner, E. M. Taylor, called at the county clerk's office, at Calumet, with seven fine wolf pelts and one wildcat skin. They collected $175, and then collected about $200 from Baraga county for a similar catch.

Joe Jackson and Harry Boyer, charged with blowing a safe at Dansville, were arraigned at Jackson and waived examination. They are being held under a total bond of $15,000. The burglars who broke the safe engaged in a pistol duel with a Dansville resident before they made good their escape.

While on the way to the Battle Creek sanitarium to accompany a New York patient home, Charles Henning Osman, attached to the Roosevelt hospital at New York, became violently insane and had to be removed to the Kalamazoo asylum, handcuffed feet and hands.

When Sheriff Amidon of Grayling heard that Dan Stevens, hunter and trapper, had been whipping his wife, he went to the latter's home. Upon arrival Stevens met the officer at the door with a butcher knife in one hand and a revolver in the other. Stevens was captured and brought to town, where he was adjudged insane.

Engineer Edward Trumble was fatally burned and Fred Wilbur, a fireman, seriously scalded when the door of a cooker in a Battle Creek food factory broke open and caught both men in a cloud of steam. Trumble is scalded from head to below the waist, and the doctors say he cannot live. Wilbur may carry scars, but will recover.

With her head buried in the mud up to the neck, the body of Mrs. Jennie Brows, aged sixty-eight years, was found dead under a bridge near Holland. The woman lived with her son on a farm. When the son went to call her, he found her bed vacant. Neighbors were notified, and a search was begun. It is believed that she left the house during a spell of somnambulism and fell off the bridge.

The indications are that the freshman banquet at Ann Arbor, held in the town armory under military guard the other night, will be the last of those functions for the U. of M. The banqueters were refused the use of any university building this year, and restrictions were imposed on the hostilities between the sophomores and freshmen. In spite of this, there were occurrences that have determined President Angell to put a stop to the banquets altogether, it is said.

As he saw a patrolman, accompanied by wife and children, whom he had driven out, approach the back door, Ignatz Nemmet, thirty-seven years old, a Hungarian, 621 Theodore street, Detroit, placed a 32 caliber revolver to his right temple and pulled the trigger. The officer, hearing the shot, broke down the door and ran to the front room, where he found Nemmet dying on the bed, his hand still holding the smoking weapon. Despondency over lack of employment is said to be the cause of the tragedy.

The Wise Boy.

"What is the best place in which to keep fresh milk in hot weather?" asked the teacher.

"Please, teacher, in the cow," answered the small boy who had just returned from a country holiday.

For the Children

To succeed these days you must have plenty of grit, courage, strength. How is it with the children? Are they thin, pale, delicate? Do not forget Ayer's Sarsaparilla. You know it makes the blood pure and rich, and builds up the general health in every way.

ECCENTRIC HOGARTH.

Hogarth, one of the ablest and certainly one of the vainest artists that England has produced, was as a painter hardly recognized in his lifetime, to his bitter grief and disappointment. He made money out of his prints, but could only sell his pictures with difficulty and at low prices.

Yet Whistler once declared that Hogarth was our greatest painter. He painted some admirable portraits, but his manner was too independent and his tongue too sharp for success in a profession that requires a certain amount of diplomacy and much patience.

He resented any criticism of his work, and there is a story of a very ugly peer whom he painted that illustrates this. The portrait was returned to the artist. It was, in fact, too good a likeness.

But Hogarth declined to alter it in the least and told his sitter that unless the portrait was paid for in three days he would add a tail to the figure and sell it to a wild beast showman to hang outside one of his caravans. The peer paid the money and instantly destroyed the picture.

More curious still is a story of Hogarth's absence of mind. When the sale of his prints had made him prosperous, he set up a carriage and one day went in it to visit the lord mayor.

While he was in the Mansion House the weather became stormy, and Hogarth, who happened to go out at a different door, after vainly searching for a hackney coach, walked home through the rain and was soaked to the skin. He had entirely forgotten his carriage.—Modern Society.

HIS LIFE MASK.

The Actor's Breezy Story of the Way It Was Taken.

A famous actor entertaining some ladies at dinner showed them his life mask, then told them with feeling how the mask had been made. "They put me in a chair," he said, "tied a towel around my head, plugged my ears with greased wool and stuck a quill in each nostril.

"'Shet yer eyes,' said the workman, drawing near with a ladle and a large steaming tureen of pink plaster of paris of the consistency of thick soup, and he slapped the stuff on my face in great ladlefuls. I could feel it running down my collar and over my chest just as soup would have done. I motioned with my hands wildly. The man laughed.

"'That's all right, boss,' he said, and kept slapping the hot, horrible, slimy stuff upon me.

"He stopped when my face was incased in a half inch coat of plaster. He told me it would dry and harden in a few minutes. It did, but the minutes were awful. As the plaster dried it seemed to shrink, shrinking my skin with it. In a hundred places I was pinched and pricked as though by tiny crab claws. And the heat of the thing! And the difficulty of breathing through the quills stuck in my nostrils! Then, very carefully, very slowly, they drew the hardened cast from my face. I gripped the chair arms and shrieked. Did it pull? Did it tear? Let us draw a veil over the painful scene."

The actor smiled and handed his life mask about. "Behold," he said, "the result of my sufferings! It looks like a particularly dull and inanimate false face, doesn't it?"

Never Tested.

"You have a great many friends."

"I don't know whether I have any friends at all or not."

"You don't?"

INTENDS TO TRAVEL.

President Will Thus Spend His First Year.

AFTER LEAVING WHITE HOUSE

Has Been Urged to Visit Wilds of Alaska—Will Put In Coming Summer at Sagamore Hill—Won't Leave Washington Until After Convention.

Washington, April 13.—Should President Roosevelt's present desires be realized, he will spend the first year after his retirement from office in travel outside the United States. Mr. Roosevelt's itinerary has not, however, been determined. His plan is to see some of the rugged and little frequented portions of foreign lands, as well as to travel the beaten track of the tourist. That the president will indulge his fondness for hunting big game is believed by those to whom he has confided his intention.

It was at the recent dinner of the Boone and Crockett club, in this city, that the president last told his intentions for next year. He was told of the opportunities for hunting in Alaska and urged to arrange for a trip here, but this, he said, would interfere with his plan for foreign travel and would have to be considered, if at all, at some future time.

Plans for the occupancy the coming summer of the president's Sagamore Hill home are being considered, and it is expected that the "summer capital" at Oyster Bay will be opened for business before the end of June. It is the president's present intention to remain at the White House until the returns from the Chicago convention have been received, but it is likely that Mrs. Roosevelt will have the family settled in the old estate before the president reaches there.

It is predicted that the usual regime of "quiet" will prevail at Oyster Bay. Secretary Loeb will bring out the old plans for keeping the calling list down to a minimum, and nothing but the most important business will be allowed to come over the direct White House wire and through the special mail pouch from Washington.

As to politics, it is said the president will be simply an "interested observer," and politicians will find no cause to make pilgrimages to Sagamore Hill.

Before the return from the summer outing, the president will undoubtedly have prepared his last annual message to congress, besides doing many other important tasks, all of which are made to fit into his perfect plans of rest and recreation.

Helle Declares He Has Won.

New York, April 13.—Madame Anna Gould, with her three children, Boniface, George and Jay, their tutor and her servants, have sailed for Naples on the steamer Frederick der Grosse, an hour after the liner St. Paul, bearing Prince Helle de Sagan to Southampton, had cast off its moorings at the Fulton street pier. Madame Gould sailed without any farewell from any member of her family on the pier. The prince left as his valedictory the statement that he was the happiest man in America at that moment because he had won his suit for the hand of the former wife of Count Boni de Castellane.

Fear Boy Killed Himself.

Port Huron, Mich., April 13.—The police and the sheriff's force are searching along St. Clair river for the body of Gordon Yeates, the fourteen-year-old son of Richard Yeates, 714 Fort street, who it is thought has committed suicide. Yeates is large for his age. Several days ago the lad was punished by his father for stealing money from his employer, a local news agent, and, smarting with the chastisement, left home. His parents think that he has committed suicide, but are having officers search the state for him. When he disappeared, Yeates wore a dark gray suit and a small brown hat.

Standard Ousted From Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn., April 13.—By the judgment of the supreme court of Tennessee, in an exhaustive opinion delivered by Justice M. M. Neil, the Standard Oil company is ousted from the state of Tennessee, for the acts of this company at Gallatin, Tenn., in restraining trade. The counsel for the company have taken an appeal to the United States supreme court.

About the first thing that would strike a dead hero could he return to earth would be the great number who try to answer his name at roll call.—Atchison Globe.

DEATH CLAIMS HIM.

General M. B. Cutcheon Dies In Ypsilanti.

PROMINENT WAR VETERAN.

Four Times Represented Michigan In Congress—Practiced Law In Ypsilanti, Manistee and Grand Rapids. Office Under Harrison.

Ypsilanti, Mich., April 13.—General Byron M. Cutcheon, former congressman from Michigan and well known attorney in Grand Rapids, Manistee and Ypsilanti, is dead. Death came after a lingering illness. He was seventy-one years old. He is survived by a widow and four sons, Frank M. Cutcheon, an attorney of New York city; Charles, residing in Washington; Fred R. and Max H. of Wisconsin.

General Cutcheon was born May 11, 1836, at Pembroke, N. H. He graduated from Pembroke academy, from the Ypsilanti high school and later from the University of Michigan.

When the civil war broke out, he recruited Co. B, Twentieth Michigan infantry, at Ypsilanti, and was commissioned a captain. He fought in over thirty battle and was commissioned successively major, lieutenant colonel and brevet colonel. He became colonel of the Twenty-seventh Michigan volunteers and was breveted brigadier general for gallantry at the Battle of the Wilderness. After the war, he received a congressional medal.

General Cutcheon has been prominent in state and national politics for forty years. He was four times member of congress and held various offices under President Harrison. He was a resident of Manistee for many years, and in 1900 went to Grand Rapids, where he resided until two years ago, when he retired from his profession and came to Ypsilanti.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Highland cemetery, Ypsilanti.

Two Boys Drown.

Cadillac, Mich., April 13.—By the going to pieces of a raft which they had made, Lyman Enike, fourteen years old, son of Arlene Enike of Napoleon, and Elmer Thombley, fourteen years old, son of W. E. Trombley, a farmer, living two miles south of Cadillac, were drowned in an overflowed pond. The pond is from three to twelve feet deep. There was no boat, so the lads constructed a raft from old wood that was lying near. Mrs. T. A. Cooley, who lives sixty yards distant, saw the raft dissolve and the boys go into the water. No men were at hand. The woman used the telephone to secure male assistance, but it was three hours before the bodies of the lads were brought to the surface.

Big Fire In Marion.

Marion, Mich., April 13.—Starting at 11 o'clock at night, a fire of unknown origin raged until 3 in the morning and wiped out several business places. The losses; John McCambly, harness and shoe shop, $1,400, fully insured; Lewis building, $1,300; Burt Aselton, household goods $50, stock $450; Game Bros. meat market $1,600, small insurance; J. A. Nelson building, $1,000; George Gray, furniture, $800, no insurance; A. A. Johnson, drugs, and express office, stock $1,000, building $1,000, some insurance; Marion State bank building $1,000, fixtures $500, vault intact. Many more buildings were afire, but they were extinguished. Every light of glass in buildings across the street were shattered.

Mayor Question Still Unsettled.

Flint, Mich., April 13.—The question of who is mayor of this city is still in the air. The committee of three aldermen on whom the two prospective mayors had agreed to let settle the matter disagreed, and it still looks as if the matter will have to be settled in court. The problem that will confront the court, or anyone else who attempts to settle the dispute, will be that of admitting fourteen ballots which were cast in the Second ward. These ballots are said to have been mismarked by the inspector. If they are admitted, Horace C. Spencer will be mayor; if they are not, George McKinley will take the chair as head of the city.

Pretty Black.

"What do you know of the character of this man?" was asked of a witness at a police court the other day.

"What do I know of his character? I know it to be unbleachable, your honor," he replied, with much emphasis.

CHELSEA SWEPT BY A FIRE

Terrible Conflagration In Boston Suburb.

POSSIBLE LOSS $10,000,000

Hundreds of Buildings Laid Low By the Flames.

SWEPT PATH A MILE LONG.

Hospitals, Churches, Factories, City Hall and Tenements Go—Firemen From Every Town In District Battled to Stay Onward March of the Flames—Heavy Wind Carried Embers From One Building to Another. Three Lives Known to Have Been Lost; Possibly More—Many Were Injured.

Boston, April 13.—The greatest fire that has scourged any part of the metropolitan district in ten years devastated the manufacturing, tenement and retail business sections of Chelsea, burning over more than one square mile of territory and levelling many of the city's best structures Sunday and last night. The fire started at 10:40 a. m. and was not placed under control until 7 o'clock last evening, notwithstanding that half of the Boston fire department's strength and steamers from a dozen other cities and towns went to the aid of the Chelsea brigade. The loss has been estimated as between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000. About 1,500 families are homeless.

Three lives are known to have been lost, and it is reported that two other persons had perished, one a woman, having shot herself in a frenzy over her inability to save her property. From fifty to seventy-five persons were injured.

The fire originated in the rear of the Boston Blacking company's works on West Third street, near the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad and in close proximity to the Everett city line. A terrific gale from the northwest carried burning embers and shingles to a score of wooden buildings. The fire started almost in the extreme southwest section of the city and cut a path to the end of Maverick street at the extreme southeastern end of the city, which borders on Chelsea creek. This point is about one mile and a quarter from the point where the conflagration began. The flames swept through the heart of the retail business section, which was about midway between the two extreme limits reached by the fire.

Five Schools Burn.

Among the structures destroyed were thirteen churches, two hospitals, the public library, city hall, five schoolhouses, twenty business blocks, nearly a score of factories and upwards of 300 tenements and dwelling houses.

Among the places burned were: Frost hospital, Children's hospital, Fitz public library, St. Stanislaus Polish Catholic church, Chestnut Street First Baptist church, Central avenue; Central Unitarian church, Hawthorn street; St. Luke's Episcopal church (old building), Hawthorne street; First Methodist Episcopal church, Cary avenue; Elm Street synagogue, Walnut street synagogue, Chelsea Presbyterian church, People's Afro-Methodist Episcopal church, Fourth Street Universal church, Fifth Street Congregational church, Shurtleff Street Methodist Episcopal church, Second Adventist church; New England Telephone & Telegraph company's central offices, Austin and Young's cracker factory, Chaplin and Soden Car company's shops, Rosenfelt Bros.' three-story ragpicking factory, the Tidewater Oil company's three immense tanks near the easterly end of Marginal street.

The streets over which the flames rushed included Carter, Maple, Spruce, Arlington, Ash, Walnut, Popular, Chestnut and Cherry to Broadway. From Broadway the fire spread to Bellingham hill. From Summer street the fire cut another pathway, running diagonally across Third street, Everett avenue and Fourth street to Bellingham street. The flames reached Broadway, the principal street of the city, at a point between Third and Fifth streets, and destroyed the Masonic hall, Odd Fellows' hall and Bennett block.

sailors helped families remove their goods. Advance squads of military and police were sent ahead warning out families living in the path of the fire, which leaped block after block with astonishing rapidity. The spectators generally were easily handled.

How Fire Started.

The fire started on the marshes bordering the eastern division tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad, in the rear of the Boston Blacking company's works, where employes were at work drying out rags. The exact cause is not known, but it is supposed that spontaneous combustion among the rags was responsible.

The high wind drove the flames from the rag heaps directly upon the wooden buildings of the Boston Blacking company. The buildings were soon a mass of flames. A dozen factories and cheaper tenement houses west of Everett avenue were shortly on fire, and the firemen saw that they were utterly unable to cope with the conflagration.

Realizing that the city was apparently doomed if the flames could not be stopped at Everett avenue, Fire Chief H. A. Spencer summoned help from Boston and all the surrounding cities and towns, including Everett, Lynn, Haverhill, Wakefield, Salem, Malden, Cambridge, Winthrop and Revere. Heaps of burning embers were soon hurled down across Everett avenue, and the families nearest the start of the conflagration had only time to rush from their homes and save their lives, losing all their possessions.

Churches Go.

Forced back down Everett to the south, the firemen battled with the flames in an endeavor to save the heart of the business section and to confine the fire to the part of the city between the railroad tracks and Everett. Within an area of half a mile square were several churches and schoolhouses. One by one they fell before the flames.

Spreading to the northwest from Everett avenue, the fire seized upon the rows of business blocks facing on Broadway and enveloped them one after another, creeping steadily toward Chase square, the center of the city. The Fitz public library, a magnificent stone structure, was destroyed, and on the flames crept toward the Frost hospital and the Children's hospital. The inmates of the hospitals were removed to retreats of safety none too soon. The fire at the Fitz library marked the limit of the burned area on Broadway to the east. On Broadway the Masonic temple and Odd Fellows' building were burned, as were twelve business blocks, mostly of brick construction. Within a block of Chelsea square, the flames were held in check.

In the meantime, between Broadway and the water front, the southern section of the city was in flames. No one knew where the fire would spring up next. Householders piled up their good out of doors. All the money men possessed was offered teamsters to cart away household effects, but there were few teams to be had.

People Stream Across Bridge.

Over Chelsea bridge into East Boston, streamed a long line of fire refugees, lugging what few effects they were able to save. Push carts, drays and even baby carriages were piled high with furniture and bedding.

The greatest damage was done when the fire reached City Hall square, at the junction of Park and Washington streets. For a time it looked as if the magnificent city hall structure, built of brick and separated from all other buildings by a wide area, might be saved. The hope was but momentary, however, for soon a tiny, flickering flame was seen gaining headway under the coping of the cupola; then quickly the entire structure was swept away, and a dozen new buildings in the vicinity had become ignited from the sparks and heat. Within a half hour, in this one square, four churches and the city hall were levelled to the ground.

Fire Reaches Water Front.

Down Maverick, Congress and Essex streets the fire went by leaps and bounds. It was the same story throughout the whole southeast side. Building after building caught fire. Soon to the water front the flames swept. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion, and the oil tanks of the Tidewater Oil company, on the water front, burst into flames. Thousands of gallons of oil were soon burning, and gigantic clouds of smoke curled and rose into the sky, making as night all the east end of the city. The smoke was seen as far away as Portsmouth, N. H. It was a terrifying sight. But in a measure the smoke was a blessing, for, enveloping as it did the showers of burning embers from the main conflagration to the north and west, it smothered the fire in them and became a protecting mantle, keeping off the fire and flames from many homes which doubtless otherwise would have been swept away.

Firebrands were swept across Chelsea creek to East Boston, and five dwellings on Wadsworth street and vicinity were consumed.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Kodol for dyspepsia has helped thousands of people who have had stomach trouble. This is what one man says of it: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill. —Gentlemen—In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. I could not digest anything I ate and in the spring of 1902 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., Aug. 29, 1906."

Do not make unjust gains, they are equal to a loss.

Her Birthday Violets.

By NELL SPEED.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Jessie Morgan.

Naturally the new boarder had been seated beside the landlady's favorite, Miss Imogene Goldberg. Mrs. De Lancey firmly believed that Miss Goldberg's high blond pompadour and rhinestone dog collar lent eclat to her establishment.

But, oddly enough, Jane Williams, whose hair was parted demurely in the middle and who wore her grandmother's old fashioned locket under her plain pongee shirt waist, realized that the fine gray eyes of the new boarder were looking her way frequently and intently.

She tried to analyze her feelings with the salad, and when the coffee—such thick yet spiritless coffee—was served she decided that it was embarrassment and not a memory which stirred her whenever the gray eyes glanced her way.

Still at the conclusion of the meal she climbed three uncompromising flights of poorly carpeted stairs to her hall room and drew from her trunk her small but treasured box of photographs.

There they were; the father who had died the year of her graduation, the mother who had left her alone to fight the world only twelve months before, a couple of aunts who had forgotten her in the needs and pleasures of their own children, several teachers and three girls in her class at the high school.

But there was no picture with masculine eyes that could possibly have resembled the gray ones which had watched her gravely across the table in the dingy dining room.

"I am getting moody," she said to herself as she prepared for bed. "I must turn over a new leaf. Tomorrow is my birthday. I can't afford to turn sour and old maidish at twenty-one. When I go back to the office on Monday morning I'll be more pleasant and make friends with the other girls. I've been living too much in dreams of the past."

Yet when she fell asleep it was the dream again of the past. It was her birthday, the first party in celebration of that day which she could remember with any sort of distinctness.

She was dressed in pink tulle all spattered with paper stars, and there were pink candles on the birthday cake. No one knew why an ordinarily well behaved and unmischievous child should do such a thing, but she suddenly decided to steal into the dining room and light the birthday cake before the "party came in."

The match sputtered and jumped. She tried to climb quickly from the chair, but the tiny flame was quicker still. In a flash the pretty pink tarlatan blazed up far above the candles, and then she forgot everything in her fright until she felt some one rolling her over and over on the carpet and battering her with his coat, and that had been Willie, the cavalier of her wee girlhood.

She remembered how her mother kissed Willie and cried over him, and he had "poohpoohed" with very red face and shuffling feet. Their adventure was handed down as one of the traditions of the town, but when she was twelve Willie went away to live with his Grandfather Grey in the far west.

Later they had gone to Mexico, and Jane had lost track of them, although never forgetting in her own hard struggle for a livelihood.

And Willie had big gray eyes, just like those of the new boarder. She woke with a start. Now she knew why this man had attracted her attention. Of course the world was full of men with gray eyes. There were not colors enough to go around. Some must be duplicated, and it was very silly of her to think about Willie any more. Doubtless he was married even, now to some dusky senorita whose father owned valuable silver mines.

So she turned over and fell asleep again, not to awaken until some one tapped at her door and the maid, with new respect in her bearing, entered, carrying a huge purple box.

"This here package's for you, Miss Williams," she said, but holding it as if loath to yield it to its rightful owner. "An' bein' as it's Sunday mornin' an' Miss De Lancey gone to church, I'll bring you a cup of coffee an' some toast up here."

For all the world loves a lover. And are not violets and lovers synonymous?

Jane sat up in bed and reached for the box.

"Never mind about the coffee. I've overslept, but I'll be down in a few minutes."

She was undoing the box with trembling fingers, and the maid, all unnoticed, lingered curiously. Out came a great bunch of California violets done up in the most approved fashion—purple foil, cord, tassel and all.

"For me? Impossible! And there is no card."

She turned to the lid of the box.

"Gabrielle."

The florist around the corner!

Oh, it had been a cruel mistake. No one in the great city knew it was her birthday, and none would care if they knew.

"Now, Jane Williams," she said as sternly as was possible with a mouth half full of hairpins, "right after breakfast you'll take that box back. It belongs to some other Miss Williams."

And it went back, the excited girl rushing right past the new boarder in her haste—and, yes, in her tiny heart an ache that the flowers were not meant for her.

"Gabrielle" spoke a most impossible dialect, and he did his little worst to make Jane understand that there had been no mistake. But Jane firmly refused to carry the flowers back with her, and, just to convince herself that she was satisfied with what she had done, she walked half an hour in the park, returning to find the box standing on her shabby bureau. Again she opened it, and this time an engraved card met her gaze. "Mr. Frederick W. Grey," and beneath was the pencled legend: "Birthday wishes, and may I see you soon? I am waiting in the parlor now if you care to come down."

"Frederick W. Grey?"

That must be the red headed assistant bookkeeper who was "Freddy" to every one in the office save herself. She had never heard his last name. Of course she would see him and thank him, though she could not imagine how he had known about her birthday.

Tucking the lovely flowers into her belt and giving a few deft touches to tie and hair, she tripped down to the parlor.

But only the new boarder, he of the fine gray eyes, was there to greet her, and he certainly stood at attention as if waiting for her.

She held the card in her hand and looked about inquiringly.

"Jane—little Jane Williams—don't you know me?" demanded the new boarder.

Then suddenly something new and strange pulled at Jane's heartstrings and at memories long dead. Something new and wonderful bounded through her veins.

"Willie—little Willie," she almost sobbed. "Oh, if you'd tied the flowers with pink tarlatan I would have remembered!"

It took him so long to tell her all about it—of his wandering with his eccentric old grandfather from mining camp to mining camp, from Mexico to Peru and Chile, of fortune made and lost and found again and of how the grandfather, growing more and more bitter against the recreant husband of his only daughter, had insisted that the grandson have his name changed by the law from that of his father's family to his mother's.

Then followed the story of how he had gone back to the old town directly his grandfather had departed on the last long journey; how no one seemed to know where she had gone, and how he had finally traced her to Mrs. De Lancey's and had come there unannounced to make sure that he would be welcome—that she had not changed—and had not found some one else.

"Oh, Willie!" she sighed contentedly from a comfortable resting place on his shoulder. "Just as if there had ever been any one else since I lit the birthday candles!"

They had pre-empted the tawdry cozy corner, and by that time Mrs. De Lancey had come back from church, donned her pink silk negligee and was staring at them accusingly from the center of the ugly red and green parlor.

But when you have fine gray eyes you generally have the courage to announce your intentions, and Frederick William Grey did it so effectively that Mrs. De Lancey wiped her tears on the flowing sleeve of her pink negligee and shook hands with them both; then, turning her back on the cozy corner, for once put to its legitimate use, she departed, murmuring: "Well, you never can tell what sort of girl will land a man. And her hair so plain and her face so pale too!"

When One Spends Money.

One would think that money would be saved in prosperous times when there is plenty of it about. But no; that is not the time when it is saved. It is then that it is spent. Everybody spends it—governments, railroads, corporations, capitalists, housekeepers, house builders, collectors. People expand their wants in such times and satisfy some of them, and then is when it is most of all impossible to live on anything a year. But after all the money has been spent a few times over and has come to be scarce and borrowing has come to be a serious matter and folks have much less to spend and no expectations then everybody groans and begins to save, not only trying desperately to squeeze back inside of the bounds of income, but to pay back what was spent in expectation of a time when saving would have become convenient. To most of us that time never comes. And yet there are things for which we spend more than we can afford, that really do justify our expenditures, so that after the money has been spent and we are pinched for the lack of it we would still rather have what it bought than have the money back.—Appleton's.

Napoleon at Dinner.

Napoleon was no epicure. He usually drank nothing but diluted chambertin and was no judge of wine. He liked plain dinners—boiled or roast chicken, mutton chops, grilled neck of mutton, haricot beans or lentils. His table manners were not very refined. He would use his finger in lieu of fork or spoon and would dip his bread in the sauce, the dish being then passed around to guests, who had to dispense with squeamishness. The bread had to be particularly good. He ate fast, quitting the table in twelve minutes and leaving Josephine and the company to take their time. When he dined alone he commonly took only eight or ten minutes. Indigestion was the natural consequence of this speed, and he had sometimes to stretch himself at full length on the carpet till the pain abated. He detested physic and professed to disbelieve in it, a subject of playful discussion with his doctors. Constant never knew him to be obliged to keep his bed a whole day. He was very sensitive to cold and had fires and warm beds all the year.

Could See Too Much.

A fine, robust soldier, after serving his country faithfully for some time, became greatly reduced in weight, owing to exposure and scanty rations, until he was so weak he could hardly stand. Consequently he got leave of absence to go home and recuperate. He arrived at his home station looking very badly. Just as he stepped off the boat one of his old friends rushed up to him and said, "Well, well, Pat, I see you're back from the front."

Pat looked worried and replied, "Begorra, I knew I was getting thin, but I nivver thought you could see that much!"—London Tit-Bits.

Noah and Genoa.

In his "Rambling Recollections" Sir Henry Drummond Wolff tells the following story of Bulwer Lytton:

"A lady one day remarked to the famous novelist and politician how odd it was that a dove (derived from the word colombe) should have been sent to find the Old World and that Columbus (Colombe) should have found the new. Sir Edward replied:

"'Yes, and the one came from Noah, the other from Genoa.'"

His Spasm of Economy.

"Speaking of misdirected economy," said the lecturer, "reminds me of an old man who lived in my town. The old man had lost four wives and desired to erect for each a headstone with an inscription commemorative of her wifely virtues. But inscriptions he found, were very expensive. He economized in this way: He had the Christian name of each wife cut on a small stone above her grave—'Emma,' 'Mary,' 'Hester,' 'Edith.' Under each name a hand pointed to a large stone in the center of the lot, and under each hand were the words:

"'For Epitaph See Large Stone.'"

Measures.

"The money a man amasses," remarked the philosopher, "is not the measure of his value to the community."

"No," answered Mr. Dustin Stax; "it's the measure of the community's value to him."—Washington Star.

A married man says it isn't the jaws of death that worry him, but the jaws of life.

How Pythons Settle Quarrels.

It was in October, 1894, that the big python at the zoo fell into the deplorable error of swallowing his companion, a snake only a few inches shorter than himself. A similar disaster is reported from Bombay, where for some years two large Indian pythons had occupied a cage in the museum of the Bombay Natural History society. There was some misunderstanding between them over a partridge, for they were found so tightly entangled in each other's coils that the utmost endeavors of peacemaking keepers failed to effect a separation, and they were left to settle the matter according to their own lights. Next day there was only one very stout python visible. These large reptiles evidently know but one way of settling a quarrel.—London Sketch.

May Be Sign of Trouble.

"In a certain uptown barber shop," said the Bronxite, "there is a sign that says, 'If you are not pleased with the barber's work, tell the proprietor.' Now, I visit the place at least a couple of times a week and always get a good shave except when I get into the proprietor's chair. His razors are always rasping, his work careless and results bad. Now, should I tell the proprietor? Would he be insulted if I told him he ought to be fired and his chair given to a real barber? Of course the sign invites it, but I wonder what would happen if I told him just what I think? I'd try it were it not for the fact that he's huskier than I am."—New York Globe.

When Children Smoked.

Every one has read that Hawkins introduced tobacco into England and that King James inveighed against it. Elizabeth liked to sit on a low stool and watch Sir Walter Raleigh puffing away. In Anne's reign almost every one smoked. In Charles II.'s reign "children were sent to school with their pipes in their satchels, and the schoolmaster called a halt in their studies while they smoked."

In 1702 Jorevin spent an evening with his brother at Garraway's coffee house, Leeds, and writes: "I was surprised to see his sickly child of three years old fill its pipe of tobacco and smoke it as audfarandly as a man of threescore. After that a second and third pipe without the least concern, as it is said to have done above a year ago."

Women Smokers in Ireland.

The comparison between women smoking in England and in Ireland says a correspondent, is hardly on all fours. In Ireland many of the oldest women whose lives are spent in hard toil smoke in the country districts, but they would utterly disdain a cigarette. They smoke a short "cutty" pipe and the very strongest and most pungent tobacco—Limerick roll. It is no uncommon thing for a man to hand his lighted "cutty" pipe, black with long seasoned smoking, over to a woman for a "draw," as it is called. In Ireland the pipe has long been the solace of the poor, aged, hardworking woman and the habit has its origin in the use of tobacco for allaying the pangs of hunger in famine days.—London Chronicle.

LAKE SHORE

An editor after looking over the situation, concludes that some people go to church to weep while others go to sleep. Some go to tell their woes while others go to show their clothes. Some go to hear the preacher, some go to hear the solo screecher. Boys go to reconnoiter, girls go because they orter. Many go for recreation, precious few to help collection.

Slaves of the Lamp.

An up to date Acetylene Lighting Plant can now be completely installed in the average country home—ready to light up,—in two days' time, without injury to ceilings, floors or walls.

And when once installed it will give you the same amount of light as you now use for one-third less than regular lamps will give with Kerosene at 12 cents per gallon.

No more lamp-cleaning, filling, chimney-wiping, wick-trimming, breakages, soot nor smell of Kerosene.

Instead, brilliant Acetylene Light from permanent handsome polished brass brackets on the walls and neat brass chandeliers from the ceilings, city-like, elegant, up-to-date and out of the way.

Can't tip over (like Kerosene Lamps) where there are children—and does not need mantles, wicks nor chimneys.

Acetylene Light is so pure, so free from soot and color-fog that you can distinguish pale blue, pale pink or pale yellow under its rays as clearly at night, as you could in broad daylight.

Once a month the hired man must clean out and refill the generator in the basement. Takes him about 30 minutes per month to do this.

"The cost of all this?" you ask. So small comparatively, that the plant soon pays for itself through what you save on labor, chimneys and the difference between the cost of Carbide and the Kerosene you are now using.

Shall I give you more precise figures about this "Rural Gaslight"—called Acetylene?

Then write me to-day how many rooms you've got in house, hotel, or how large a store to light so I can answer intelligently and to the point.

Address me as follows—Acetylene Jones, 10 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION

A Reminiscence of the Great High School Exhibition of April 23, 1867.

THE STORY WITHOUT AN END

By Abner Wilson.

Now it came to pass in the third year of the reign of Cyrus, whose surname was Thomas, even in the year one thousand eight hundred seven and sixty, that the king issued a proclamation and put the same in writing, saying: Bring ye all the talented ones of my kingdom and let us produce a great exhibition. And so they brought all the wise ones of the kingdom, even from Franklin, from Ridgeway and the country round about. And the king said, "Go to now and let us produce a play, the like of which my people has never heard. And the play was called "Scenes in Bagdad or the Story without an end" and this was the play.

And the choice of king fell on one Cornelius of the mighty tribe of Waring and King Cornelius issued a proclamation saying, "He that shall tell me a story without an end shall have one half my kingdom and my daughter's hand in marriage and if any fail to tell such a story he shall be put to death. But they all failed in the attempt and were carried out and executed by Edgar, a mighty captain of the house of VanVleet and his two henchmen, Wilson and Osborn, who wore the firey uniform of the Zondoe.

Now there was one Alphonso David, of the great and mighty tribe of Stacy, who had been banished from the kingdom for daring to presume to ask for the hand of the king's daughter, Nellie, in marriage and she was from the tribe of Rosacrans and was fair to look upon. And so Alphonso David appeared before the king disguised as an old man and commenced telling a story which should be without an end and this was the story, "O King, there was once a mighty ruler who built a granary as large as a mountain and filled it with corn even to the top. And there came a great swarm of locusts and tried to get at the corn, but there was only one small hole just large enough for one locust to go in. So one locust went in and carried off a grain of corn and then another locust went in and carried off another grain of corn and then another locust went in—but the king was asleep.

When the king awoke Alphonse was still telling about the locusts. And then another locust went in and carried off another grain of corn. "Oh story teller" said the king, "tell us what happened after the locusts had carried off all the corn?" Said Alphonse, "O king, how can I tell what happened afterward until I tell what happened first:" and then another locust went in and carried off another grain of corn. For 7 long years the king listened to the story of the locusts until at last he said "There, that will do, take my kingdom, take my daughter, take anything, take everything, only let me hear no more about those abominable locusts."

IDLE NOTES

Of Interest to the One Big Family.

Reason is a ray of divine light.

Why is it that there are columns written up in almost every newspaper advising women how to be beautiful. The latest "beauty doctor", Madame DeBerg, of New York, says, "Women must think only pleasant, sweet beautiful thoughts; if there is anything unpleasant that comes into their lives they must turn from it." It would seem that the outcome of this advice, followed, would be a race of doll faced women.

Would a woman be beautiful to any one if in time of care, sorrow and trouble, she turned from her family and friends to think beautiful thoughts. Would it not be better to be beautiful within, is not a face expressive of character more attractive than one of mere physical beauty? "What is female beauty but an air divine, through which the mind's all gentle graces shine."

An exchange says in congratulating the prohibitionists on the dry counties that they can now step from county to county across the state without getting their feet wet. But as yet we would have to have seven league boots to take us to a dry county as Lenawee is entirely surrounded by wets.

We noticed in a recent issue of a paper published not far away that a Sunday school teacher announced that she would "teach a class of young ladies in the future." Of course an assurance like this of the certainty of ones future must be comforting to teacher and pupil.

Toledo has been given a swell entertainment by their Teddy Bear club. A seven course luncheon was served and every detail attended to, but they are not so many after all for we have a T. B. A. ourselves Tecumseh is not to be out done when it comes to entertaining.

New Time Table on Lake Shore does not effect Jackson branch.

G. J. Ziehr, local agent for the Lake Shore Ry. was notified yesterday morning that a change in the time table for the road would go into effect next Sunday, April 19, but this does not in any way effect the Jackson branch as it had been rumored.

The 8:57 northbound passenger train on the Lake Shore yesterday morning brought the private car of Gen. Supt. J. J. Burnett, who is here locating and making arrangements for a site for the H Brewer & Co.'s new building. He was accompanied by Div. Supt. Niles and E. J. Downey, industrial agent for the Lake Shore.

ROUND ABOUT US.

Backward, turn backward, O time in your flight, give me the nose that I breathed through last night. Bring back the smeller that two days ago, knew not the torment of continual blow. Wipe from my moustache the moisture of sneeze; put wooden splints on my poor weakened knees, rub my red nose as you oft have before, with tallow, dear mother! oh, it is so sore. Backward, flow backward, O tide of the nose, I am so tired from my head to my toes; tired out with mopping, coughing and sneezing; weary from handkerchiefs constantly seizing. I have grown weary from sniffle and snuff. Stick my poor head in a big pillow slip and sew it up, mother, I have the grip

ALONZO CLARK

Of Clinton, will build an Apartment House in Chicago.

Though past 90, Alonzo Clark of Clinton, has not given up his venture, as he has just invested in a $175,000 terrace apartment house in Chicago. The deal was closed Friday. Clark began business in Clinton in a small way and later built it up to a large dry goods and drug store. He was a genius in real estate speculations and amassed a fortune by his ventures.

He is spoken of as "half owner of Clinton," and owns a large amount of real estate in Chicago and a stove factory. Clark built the Clintonian hotel as a sort of monument to his wife and himself and the aged couple live in it.

ABOARD FOR ST. PAUL.

Adrian Bugle Corps Invited to take a Trip.

Wm. VanSickle, illustrious potentate of Moslem temple, order of the Mystic Shrine, Detroit and Geo. Fowle, captain of the Arab patrol, were here Friday evening and were entertained at Masonic temple at 6 o'clock dinner by 20 members of Adrian bugle corps which accompanied the patrol on its trip to Atlantic City a few years ago. When the dinner was ended A. P. Southworth called upon G. Roscoe Swift to act as toastmaster and short talks were made by Captain Fowle, H. Taylor, J. Will Kirk and Mr. VanSickle.

The latter gentleman unfolded a plan whereby the corps can go with the patrol to the annual meeting of the National Shrine at St. Paul and Minneapolis July 9. It contemplates a boat trip from Detroit to Duluth with stops at Mackinac and the Soo. The corps also received an invitation to attend the 28th anniversary of Moslem temple in Detroit June 5 at which time a grand parade will take place with a big time following at the Light Guard armory.

Following the talks an adjournment was taken to the larger hall and a bugle practice was indulged in. The members of the corps are considering the proposition presented by the Detroit gentlemen.—Adrian Telegram, April 11.

This is the Bugle Corps who made a hit at two of Tecumseh's Carnivals. Among the members are Gen. F. B. Wood, J. H. Smith and L. C. Hayden of Tecumseh. Adrian's famous Bugle Corps also accompanied Moslem Temple Mystic Shriners to Atlantic City in 1904 and attended President Roosevelt's inauguration in 1905.

EXTRACTS FROM DECISION IN SEWER CASE.

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Lenawee, in Chancery.

Opinion of court.

The bill in this case is filed by the complainant to enjoin the village of Tecumseh and the other defendants, who are officers of the said village, from proceeding to construct a sewer described in the bill of complaint and to have all the proceedings leading up to the issuing of bonds by the village for the purpose of raising money to construct said sewer set aside and held for naught.

It appears from the pleadings in this case and the proofs taken in open court that the village of Tecumseh was incorporated under Act No. 3 of the Public Acts of the State of Michigan for 1895; that certain proceedings were had by the council of said village to provide for the construction of sanitary sewers and that in order to raise money the council undertook to submit to the voters of the village the question of bonding the village for twenty-nine thousand dollars, and a special election was held the 23rd of Sept., 1906, for the purpose of determining whether the issuance of said bonds be authorized by the electors of said village; that the common council of said village did determine that at said election the electors did authorize the issuance of said bonds.

There are three questions raised by the complainant for the consideration of the court:

1st. Was the ballot used at the special election of the village of Tecumseh on Sept. 23rd, 1907, such a ballot as the law requires?

2nd. Was it necessary that two-thirds of all the electors voting at said election vote in favor of the proposition in order to authorize the issuance of the bonds?

3rd. Can the electors of the village of Tecumseh vote to raise by bonding for sewer purposes two per cent upon the assessed valuation of said village exclusive of the taxes of the same year?

The resolution calling the election and which clearly stated the object of the same, provided for a form of ballot as follows:

"The ballot for those voting to authorize said loan to read as follows:

Shall a village loan of twenty-nine thousand dollars for sewer purposes be authorized. Yes

The ballot for those voting not to authorize said loan to read as follows:

Shall a village loan of twenty-nine thousand dollars for sewer purposes be authorized. No."

The ballot as used read as follows:

"Ballot instructions. If you wish to vote to authorize this loan put a cross in the first ( ). If you wish to vote against this loan put a cross in the second ( ). Before leaving the booth fold the ballot so that the initials of the inspector may be seen from the outside.

Shall a village loan of twenty-nine thousand dollars be authorized. Yes.

It is apparent that by some mistake the words "for sewer purposes" included in the form of ballot prescribed by the resolution of the council were omitted from the ballot as printed and used at the election. At the hearing of this case my first impression was that this ballot, not being in the precise form prescribed in the resolution and not fully stating the purpose for which the loan is to be made, was not such a ballot as the law requires and that therefore the electors of the village have not authorized the loan. After a careful consideration of the matter and reading the authorities cited in the briefs since submitted I am of the opinion that the proceedings should not be set aside on this ground.

The resolution adopted clearly described the purpose for which it is proposed to issue bonds. This resolution was published and posted. It appears from the proofs that this matter was fully considered by the residents of the village. The election was held solely for the purpose of determining whether the issuance of these bonds be authorized. Nothing else was voted upon. No fraud is charged and there is no proof that any elector was misled. It is very apparent that this ballot considered in connection with the resolution clearly expressed the desire of the voters. It cannot be said that any voter voted yes without intending to vote to authorize the issuance of the sewer bonds as proposed. * * * * * *

With reference to the second question it appeared that 561 electors attempted to vote at the election. That the inspectors of election in counting the votes rejected 55 ballots because they had upon them distinguishing marks, and that they reported the whole number of legal ballots cast at said election was 506 of which 364 were yes and 142 were no The power to issue these bonds and the proceedings to authorize it is provided in the village charter.

I am satisfied from the evidence in this case that this loan was "authorized by a two-thirds vote of the electors voting upon the question"

As to the third question it appeared from the proofs that $29,000 is less than 2 per cent. of the assessed valuation of the property in the village as shown by the last preceeding tax roll made therein. If the amount raised for ordinary village purposes by tax in the same year were added to the $29,000 the sum would exceed 2 per cent of the valuation. The limitation of 2 per cent. is the limit of the amount that may be raised by loan under the power of section 22, which clearly provides for raising in addition to this amount by the council any sum not exceeding 2 per cent. of the valuation.

Other questions are raised by complaintant in his bill but the three above considered are the ones argued in the briefs and the others need not be considered further than to say that the position of complainant in relation thereto cannot be sustained.

A decree may be entered dismissing the bill of complainant.

Harry A. Lockwood,
Circuit Judge.

Judge Lockwood is deservedly considered one of the strong lawyers of the state and his decisions are universally respected. His opinion in this case, which is so clear and exhaustive and such a complete vindication of the work of our village officials, will never, we prophesy, be reversed on any appeal.

In the face of this decision it is certainly to be hoped that the complainant or those who may be hiding behind him, will not court by appeal any greater condemnation of public opinion than has already been earned, for an appeal can be inspired only by spite and an utterly unworthy disposition to delay public improvement.

Jesse P. Morris of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906 He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for cough and lung diseases in the world." Sold under guarantee at C. A. Wright & Son's. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free

THOUSANDS CURED.

Wonderful success of Hyomei in curing catarrh, even in chronic stages.

It follows nature in her methods of treating diseases of the respiratory organs, as its healing balsams are taken in with the air you breathe, thus reaching the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs that may be present.

Relief comes with almost the first breath of Hyomei, while lasting and complete cure follows its faithful use. There is hardly a town or village in the whole country where there are not many who have been cured of catarrh by this natural treatment.

In Tecumseh, C. A. Wright and Son can tell you of customers who have been cured of catarrh by Hyomei, many of them after they had given up all hope of even relief.

Be wise in time and use Hyomei at the first symptoms of catarrh. Do not allow the disease to extend along the delicate mucous membrane, gradually going from the nose to the throat thence into the bronchial tubes, and then onward and downward until the lungs are reached. Hyomei will cure all curable forms and stages of catarrh. C. A. Wright and Son take all the risk of trial and offer to refund the money for a $1.00 outfit if it fails to cure.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disordess, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them? Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to preform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases cure your self now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Tecumseh testimony:

Mrs. Chas. Stevenson, Wyandotte St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as they proved of great benefit to me. After an attack of malaria I began to be troubled with sharp pains in my back and kidneys. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box at Wright & Son's drug store and began taking them. They proved to be just the remedy I required. In a short time the pains left my back, the kidney secretions assumed their natural color and my health improved. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Many sober, industrious men wish their wives were as patient, industrious and economical as a drunkard's wife.

When you don't get what you want, change your mind and want something better.

Most disfiguring skin eruptions, pimples, scrofula, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes you clear eyed, clear-brained, clear skinned.

No one is immune from Kidney trouble, so just remember that Foley's kidney cure will stop the irregularities and cure any case of kidney and bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. Sold by all druggists.

Four Kinds of Nails.

The members of a primary class in the young ladies' school were ambitious to emulate the members of the senior class, whom they regarded with considerable envy on account of their proficiency in the art of writing compositions. Becoming eager for a like privilege, the five little girls were told that they might tell the world what they knew about "nails."

A half hour was allotted to the difficult task, and all went to work. The first four had nothing unusual or startling upon their papers, but Sadie M., aged seven, was characterized by considerable ingenuity. She took her place with dignity and read without a tremor, "There are four kinds of nails—finger nails, door nails, toe nails and tacks!" and resumed her seat bewitchingly unconscious that she had caused the smile.

Behind the Screen.

At a particularly dainty little restaurant a lady with a sense of humor chooses the seat nearest the serving room, from which vantage point she notes and records, somewhat after the manner of Miss Beatrice Herford, the squabbles and comments of the dainty waitresses. Here are some of her curious transcripts from reality:

"I told you six soups, not desserts—the beginning of the meal, not the finish! Can't you hear straight?"

"Here, Birdie, take back this coffee! It's so cold it gave the woman malaria!"

"Great Scott! This lettuce isn't fit for a horse! I'd sooner eat grass!"

"Say, you're the limit! I asked for fat meat, and you've given me a joint—nothin' but bone! Wake up!"

Behind a screen, my correspondent tells me, they often imitate certain of the guests—mimicking their walk, even their table manners. And as for the remarks she overhears, she marvels less at their content than at the way they are uttered. "Such voices!" And so she expresses astonishment that at table, while waiting on the people, "these young women are ever quiet and demure and patient—soft tones and a cheery but dignified manner."—Boston Transcript.

Precious Stones and "Paste."

Glass, or "paste," as it is called, is made which cannot when new be distinguished from diamonds by any one but an expert armed with the necessary tests.

And the same is true as to paste imitations of all precious stones excepting the emerald (whose beautiful green tint cannot be exactly obtained), the cat's eye, which has a peculiar fibrous structure, and the opal. The real value and quality of precious stones as compared with glass depend on their durability, their hardness, their resistance to scratching and "dulling" of face and edge.

Even our Anglo-Saxon ancestors made gems of glass and paste. It is only in modern times that the art of making artificial "precious stones" has reached a degree of perfection which, so far as decorative purposes are concerned, leaves the natural stones no claim to superiority.—London Telegraph.

Official Precedence.

The Chicago Inter Ocean tells of the daughter of a well known representative who on her tenth birthday had a party, and one of the guests was the daughter of a senator. The birthday cake shone gloriously with ten candles.

A few weeks later the senator's daughter reached her eighth milestone, and a party was in order. Just before the guests arrived the small celebrant betook herself to the dining room to take a look at the festal board. High on its pedestal of crystal stood the birthday cake, and circling its snowy circumference were eight tiny candles, one for each year.

"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven—eight!" ejaculated the small hostess. "Mamma, mamma, please come here quick. They've only put eight candles on my birthday cake, and my father's a senator! Now, Mary had ten candles on her birthday cake, and she's only the daughter of a congressman."

Quick Wit.

Napoleon was pacing up and down one day before his quarters, planning probably some new scheme of conquest. He dropped his glove, and a common soldier happening along picked it up and returned it to him.

"Thank you, captain," said the emperor absentmindedly, not thinking that the man was only a private.

"Of which company, sire?" put in the soldier promptly, taking Napoleon at his word.

"Come to me tonight and you shall receive your commission," said the great commander.

He knew that that common soldier had the presence of mind necessary to make a good officer.

In the "Coaching" Days.

An amusing story is told of the coach which used to run between Edinburgh and Berwick. A passenger complained bitterly that the cushion on which he sat was wet. It appears that there was a hole in the roof, and through it the rain was pouring copiously. The passenger called the guard and in great wrath reproached him. All the satisfaction he got, however, was the quiet and typical Scotch reply, "Ay, mony a one has compleened aboot that hole."—St. James' Gazette.

Books in India.

In India the printed book is regarded as vulgar if not irreverent, and no devout Hindoo would allow his sacred writings to be contaminated by contact with leather prepared from the hide of some animal's dead body. A leather bound copy of the Bible is for him a remarkable illustration of Christian irreverence.—Churchman.

The Insect and the Net.

It has been known for a long time that an insect will not fly through a net with meshes three or four times as large as its body, whereas a bird will go through a mesh of corresponding size without hesitation. The insect cannot tell us why it stops and lights on the net without trying to go through, and its peculiar action puzzled observers until the scientists took the matter up, as they do all things of that kind. They say that the eye of the insect is made up of many facets, so that the net looks to it like a continuous opaque surface, the meshes not being apparent. Therefore it stops or turns back before it discovers that it might have gone through the net without stopping. To the eye of the bird, however, the meshes are plainly visible, and it goes through without hesitation.

What He Got.

He was addressing a lowly but intelligent audience somewhere in the vicinity of Whitechapel, and he had selected for his discourse "Rhymes and Rhyming," so that he might illustrate to those rough and rugged minds how the charms of poesy can brighten the poor man's hearth. And, touching upon the difficulties of rhyming, he said:

"It is easy enough, my friends, to get a rhyme for so simple a word as 'sea,' but what can you get for 'burglary?'"

"Well, guv'nor," exclaimed one of his hearers, "it all depends on the judge. My Bill got seven years!"—London Scraps.

True Enough.

MANUAL TRAINING COUNTS.

Universities of the Middle West Will Recognize Technical Studies.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 13.—After several years' persistent effort, the Western Manuel Training and Drawing Teachers' association has succeeded in getting recognition from universities and colleges in the shape of an agreement to give pupils entering those institutions credit in the subjects coming under the general term of manual training and drawing, just as they do in other studies.

The success of efforts which secured this agreement at a conference of colleges and universities of the middle west, recently held in Chicago, was announced last week in Indianapolis at the annual meeting of the Western Manuel Training and Drawing Teachers' association, as reported by Professor George S. Waite, head of the Kalamazoo public schools' manual training department. The decision will affect the University of Michigan and the colleges of the state, as well as other institutions of learning in neighboring states, and it is planned to immediately begin an active campaign to secure a similar agreement with universities and colleges in the east.

Up to the present time pupils in manual training, etc., were not allowed any credits on entering a college, but would be given some credit after they had passed examination.

Mrs. Metzger has become self possessed and has recovered from the hysteria that followed the tragedy. Her attorney states that she will not plead guilty.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

William A. Atwood, a prominent resident of Flint for many years, is dead of infirmities attendant upon advancing years, after an illness of several months.

Charged with going to a schoolhouse and beating his fifteen-year-old daughter with a stick, James Farley, a farmer living one mile north of Carsonville, has been arrested.

While searching for sheels along the west beach of Belle Isle, three young boys stumbled across the body of fifteen-year-old Raymond Kalso, son of John B. Kalso, 321 Sherman street, Detroit, who was drowned while trying to skate out to an old wreck in the river Jan. 20 last. Coroner Parker took charge of the remains, which were in a remarkably good state of preservation.

By an agreement between both sides of the controversy over the Pontiac, Oxford & Northern railway, the road probably will not be sold at auction before the last of August. Receiver Lounsbury states that the sale will be advertised sixty days and probably will not be started before the last of May. Judge Wisner's decision was that the road be sold within ninety days.

An acquaintance of four years which developed into a warm and peculiar attachment has had a sensational sequel at Flint in the disappearance of Samuel M. Andrews, fifty-five years old, and Nellie Helena Foltz, thirteen years old. The man and the girl have been missing since last Tuesday. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Andrews on the charge of abduction.

The Houghton authorities have just unearthed a case of bondage in which a fifteen-year-old Austrian girl plays the leading role. Sold for $80 by her uncle, Josephine Gragoch was turned over to Mrs. Antonia Pinter of Hurontown, a suburb of Houghton, and immediately pressed into slavery. Relatives of the girl, learning where she was, came to the Pinter home, and, with the aid of the authorities, they took her from her miserable surroundings. The uncle, Victor Albanac, left for Austria after securing the $80.

C. C. Glover, arrested in Chicago for burglary committed four years ago at Corunna, has been brought back to Corunna. Glover was captured by Sheriff Watson, who found him in a way car on the Chicago & Alton railroad, where he was employed as a brakeman. In August, 1904, the office building of Hamlin Bros., at Corunna, was broken into and a typewriter stolen. There was no clue until two years afterward, when a letter was received from Glover, who offered to give evidence against another man if he was guaranteed immunity. Glover gave a false name. With the letter as a clue, the officers finally located Glover.

Singing and Gargling.

Singers do not give away their secrets of the voice. I know, however, that some of the tenors and prima donnas use an astringent gargle whenever their vocal cords become so relaxed that very high notes are difficult to emit. One famous little tenor used cold tea that had drawn a long time. Such a gargle, though, does not improve the quality of the voice, even if it does raise the pitch temporarily.

The popular gargle among opera artists is the solvent. It loosens crusts which form in the throat and nasal cavities and removes mucous which cannot be got rid of by coughing and hawking. A common wash is twelve grains of chlorate of potash to a wineglassful of warm water. Many singers and orators in order to render their voices clear and mellow use a gargle containing one teaspoonful of common salt and one of baking soda in a tumblerful of water. These gargles are improved by further adding some aromatic substances to stimulate the mucous membrane with which they come in contact.—New York Press.

NEW BRITISH CABINET.

Prime Minister Asquith Will Not Dissolve Parliament.

London, April 13—Official announcement has been made of the new cabinet appointments, as follows:

Herbert H. Asquith, prime minister and first lord of the treasury.

Lord Tweedmouth, president of the council.

Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty.

John Morley, secretary of state for India, and Sir Henry H. Fowler, chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, have been made peers, but retain their present offices.

Colonel J. E. Seeley has been appointed under secretary for the colonies; Lord Lucas, parliamentary secretary, war office; F. D. Acland, financial secretary, war office, and T. R. Buchanan, parliamentary secretary, India office.

There has been some speculation as to whether the new premier would think it well to dissolve parliament, and he would have been fully justified, upon assuming the government under somewhat unusual circumstances, of taking the course of appealing to the country for a new mandate. He has, however, evidently decided otherwise.

His aim in composing the cabinet seemingly has been to avoid, as far as possible, any by elections in constituencies where the faith in liberalism is wavering. The changes as announced will only necessitate four by elections.

Now that it is officially confirmed, perhaps the most striking feature in the new cabinet is the leap of David Lloyd George to the front rank in political life. As second minister in rank, he becomes the deputy leader of the house of commons and the prospective heir to the premiership, should any unforeseen accident leave that office vacant. It is interesting to note that before giving the chancellorship to Lloyd George, Mr. Asquith offered it to Mr. Morley.

NEGRO HONORED.

Elected Delegate Alternate-at-Large From New York.

New York, April 13.—The Republican state convention, which assembled in Carnegie hall, elected the following delegates-at-large and their alternates to the national convention, which is to meet in Chicago June 16:

Delegates-at-large—Stewart Woodford of New York city, Seth Low of New York city, Frederick R. Hazard of Onondaga county, Edward H. Butler of Erie county.

Alternates-at-large—John Raines of Ontario county, Thomas P. Peters of Kings county, Norman J. Gould of Seneca county, Charles W. Anderson of Erie county.

Mr. Anderson is President Roosevelt's negro internal revenue collector for the Third district. He is the first colored man in the history of the Republican party of the state to be elected an alternate-at-large to a national convention.

There has never been a negro delegate-at-large elected.

These delegates-at-large and their alternates were directed by the convention to use all honorable means to bring about Governor Hughes's nomination.

Troops Go to Pensacola.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 13.—Governor Broward has ordered every command of the state militia to proceed at once to Pensacola. The sounding of the riot call summoning the three companies here to quarters gave rise to a report that a serious strike riot was in progress at Pensacola, but this proved to be a mistake, later advices showing that the electric company has decided to start cars on its lines, and that the troops had been called out as a measure of precaution, as further trouble is feared.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

The ship Jacques Cartier, bearing the polar expedition under command of Lieutenant Bernard, has sailed from Dunkirk, France. The object of the expedition is to investigate the disappearance of seal off Newfoundland.

Enraged because the girl with whom he was enamored declined to accompany him to a concert, Bilis Vass, a young Hungarian carpenter in New York, shot and wounded Julia Szilagzi and then killed himself, at the girl's home. The girl cannot live.

Frank Sprague, twenty-four years old, walked down the street in Davis City, Pa., and saw his sweetheart riding in a carriage with another man. Sprague spoke pleasantly to the couple and passed on. Before he had gone twenty-five feet he drew a revolver and shot himself dead.

John Webber, aged eighty-seven years, who was a member of Co. I, First New York volunteer artillery and who had just been discharged from the national military home at Leavenworth, Kas., fell from a New York, Chicago & St. Louis train, east of Fostoria, O., at night, breaking his neck.

Caddies.

The term "caddies," or "cadies," or "cawdies," is akin to "cad" and "cadet" and means messengers or unattached male servants. Caddies, in fact, were originally a class of men found in every Scotch town of any size who were at the beck and call of everybody who wanted an odd job done; hence they were at the beck and call of everybody who was starting for a game of golf, and now they are employed solely by the golfer.

Making "Cinnamon" Canaries.

"Cinnamon canaries are the best known of a mere handful of instances where it is possible to change the color of a bird or animal by food. The trick has long been known to fanciers, and each claims to have his own secret for working the miracle, but the process is really simple and consists in abundantly sprinkling the birds' food with red pepper. It is a troublesome process, for a large number of birds either refuse to eat or suffer from deranged digestion. Even of those who take the diet not more than a third or a half will show the color effects. The only inducement to the fanciers to produce this curious change is that once so altered these birds have an artificial value. Dealers will tell you that in addition to the red pepper they give other red articles of food, such as tomato skins, slices of beet and the skins of red apples or cranberries. But this is merely an innocent fallacy, based on the idea that the coloring matter of the food is transferred bodily to the feathers.—Collier's Weekly.

Confession of Mouth.

A city dentist, defending his profession as a whole from the double charge of charlatanism and "graft," made this interesting declaration:

"While such things exist in dentistry, as in all businesses, there is far more of it among gilt edged practitioners than along the modest level where, for example, I work. Some men enjoying the most fashionable clientele are the rankest frauds either in ability or in representation of work done.

"But a dentist never can fool a dentist. Often a patient will get into my chair for the first time, and in a casual conversation I will ask who last treated the teeth. The name always comes, and a glance tells me whether the man has worked honestly or dishonestly. I have sized up some of our best dentists in that way in half a minute, and many a reputation has crumbled in my estimation.

Your Heart
May Be Weak. One Person in Four Has a Weak Heart.

One of the surest signs of a weak heart is shortness of breath after exercise.

Your heart is not able to pump the blood fast enough to your lungs.

Some of the other symptoms of Heart Trouble are: Pains in the Side, Back and Shoulder; Fainting or Weak Spells; Dry Cough; Swelling of Feet and Ankles; Cold Feet or Hands.

No one can afford to allow a weak heart to go without medicine, because weak heart means poor circulation, and poor circulation means weak lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, etc.

If, therefore, you suspect heart trouble, begin taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. The Heart Cure will do you good, as it is a splendid tonic for the blood and nerves, and will revitalize your entire system.

Finally, remember, Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold under a guarantee that the first bottle will do you good.

If it doesn't—your money back.

"I was afflicted with heart trouble for three years. I would be apparently all right, and without a moment's warning would fall as though shot. The attacks were frequent, and a terrible dread possessed me, as I never knew when or where, nor under what conditions I would be attacked, and whether I would survive them. I consulted, and was treated by some of the most eminent physicians of the state. Not finding relief from this source, I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and began to improve at once. I used ten bottles, which entirely cured me, as I have not had an attack for five years."—MRS. JOHN DIESBACH, Delphos, O.

BRYAN NOT INDORSED

State Democratic Committee Very Evenly Divided.

ELEVEN IN FAVOR OF HIM.

Twelve Lined Up by Opposition. Matter Referred to State Convention—Campau Finds Opposition. State Convention May 20.

Lansing, Mich., April 16.—The Democratic state central committee, at a meeting here Wednesday, was almost evenly divided upon the question of formally endorsing the candidacy of William Jennings Bryan for the nomination for president. The vote in the committee stood eleven in favor of an endorsement of the Bryan candidacy and twelve against, the matter being referred to the state convention.

It was decided to hold the state convention in Lansing, May 20.

The committeemen who opposed the endorsement said they were not opposing Mr. Bryan's candidacy, but held that it was not in accordance with the principles of the party for the state committee to endorse any candidate.

A faction that is opposing the reelection of D. J. Campau of Detroit as national committeeman seized upon the endorsement question as a means of showing opposition to Mr. Campau, whose supporters favored an endorsement by the committee. The Campau faction favored Kalamazoo for the convention city, but failed to carry their point.

State Committeeman John Preston of Mackinaw city and Edward Ryan of Houghton led the Campau faction, while S. M. Cummings of Lansing and George P. Hummer of Grand Rapids led the opposition. The debate was extremely animated and at times personal.

LIVELY CONVENTION.

Prohibitionists at Kalamazoo Differ Over Numerous Things.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 16.—Fearing that the resolutions committee had reported out a platform entirely too radical for the party, the Michigan state Prohibitionists, in convention here Wednesday, smothered the report of the committee, referring it to a special committee for revision and refusing to allow the press to take copies.

Among other resolutions considered was one considering the proposed state constitution and the convention which made it. The Prohibitionists demand a prohibition clause.

Joseph Tracy of Detroit was indorsed for the presidential nomination at the national convention, and the entire delegation of seventy-one from this state were instructed to vote for him.

There was a warm fight in the convention over the election of a state chairman, there being considerable opposition to the re-election of Chairman W. A. Taylor of Battle Creek. Charges of gag rule and misadministration of affairs were made by the anti Taylor men, but they were finally defeated, their candidate, Alfred S. Lowther, withdrawing.

Bowin to Become Minister.

Detroit, Mich., April 16.—News from Woodville, Ont., the home of Percy Bowin, the young man who was last week acquitted, in Detroit, of the murder of "Mother" Welch, is to the effect that Bowin is going to study for the ministry. He is quoted as saying: "I made up my mind while I was in jail down in Detroit. I've been readin' up some on the bible. I read both testaments in a bible a girl brought me. It's a mighty fine book, and there's a lot of good readin' in it, and I think if you preach the same things from the pulpit, kind o' explainin' them, you know, why a lot o' fellows 'll be helped."

Bird's Opinion.

Lansing, Mich., April 16.—Attorney General Bird has made formal his opinion that the primary election law provides that a majority of party electors voting, not necessarily the enrolled vote of a party, suffices to effect the adoption of the primary nominating system for that party. It is now conceded by all interested, apparently, that the proposition to adopt the primary system carried in Tuscola county.

Doctor Commits Suicide.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 16.—Dr. G. A. Cirtilles, a traveling salesman for the Frasier Tablet company of New York city, took poison in his room at the Herkimer hotel here, and is dead. His home was in Detroit.

AMOUNTS TO MILLION

Breaking of Dam in Montana Caused Great Damage.

HOUSES WASHED AWAY.

Town of Craig Suffered—Cattle and Other Livestock Drowned—Great Northern Railway Trains Delayed by Washout—Dam to Be Rebuilt.

Helena, Mont., April 16.—With several houses destroyed in the town of Craig, forty-six miles north of here, hundreds of heads of cattle and other livestock drowned and the Great Northern railroad tracks washed away for miles, the loss from the flood caused by the breaking of the seventy-foot dam at Hauser Lake is estimated at approximately $1,000,000, which includes the damages to the dam. The dam is owned by the Helena Power Transmission company.

After making a careful examination of the dam site since the water has receded, A. H. Gerry, Jr., general manager, is of the opinion that the wrecked structure can be rebuilt for $250,000. The dam will be rebuilt at once, and that the construction of the third dam at Wolf Creek, which was approved by Secretary of War Taft, will not be delayed is assured by a telegram received in Helena from former Governor Samuel T. Hauser, president of the Helena Power Transmission company, who is now in New York.

The indications are that the water has receded sufficiently to prevent any great damage at Great Falls. Every precaution has been taken to protect the Boston & Montana smelter, which is situated on the river bank at Great Falls, and it is now believed that the plant will not suffer from the flood. The river is becoming normal at Craig and Cascade, and no further damage is anticipated.

A special from Great Falls says that the water is slowly rising, and that if it goes three feet higher the Boston & Montana smelter may be damaged.

Butte, Mont., April 16.—Great Northern Agent Stewart at Wolf Creek reports that the railroad tracks from Wolf Creek to a point twenty-eight miles east is flooded to a depth of three feet, and that for three miles it is washed out, while the rails are twisted and bent by the foaming waters. No repair work can be done until the water recedes.

The washing out of this stretch of track delays traffic between Helena and St. Paul.

Bay Shore Has a Big Fire.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 16.—The business section of Bay Shore, a small town eight miles west of Petoskey, was wiped out by fire at midnight. The fire started in the Bay Shore Mercantile company's store and, fanned by a south wind, consumed also the store of Knapp, Van Schaick and Stauffer, the postoffice building and the building of the Elk Cement company. The fire protection was inadequate, and the whole damage was done in a few minutes. The total loss is $25,000.

Prison Breaking Results in Deaths.

St. Petersburg, April 16.—A sensational prison breaking is reported from Penza, which resulted in ten deaths. Eleven political prisoners attacked and stabbed two wardens to death. They then threw a number of bombs and escaped from the prison in the confusion. Guards hastily gave pursuit and shot eight of the men dead.

Steamer Tips Over; Many Drown.

Gothenburg, Sweden, April 16.—The small steamer Godtreff capsized here. Thirty or forty persons were aboard the steamer at the time of the accident, and a large number of them were thrown into the water. Some of these were rescued, but eight bodies so far have been recovered. It is believed that others still are lying under the docks.

May Lock Out 250,000 Men.

London, April 16.—The Shipbuilding Employers' federation announces that unless the ship workmen on the northeast coast, who went out on strike the middle of January, resume work by April 25, all the shipbuilding yards in the country will be closed. Such a lookout would involve 250,000 workmen.

COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The county association of the ladies of the Modern Maccabees for Lenawee county was organized in Adrian, last Tuesday. After the organization was effected by Dr. Emma E. Bowen, Great Record Keeper of the L. O. T. M. M., she gave them an interesting talk for the "good of the order." The initiatory work was given two candidates by the Adrian team. The officers elected for the county for the ensuing year are as follows:

County Com.—Mrs. Mary James, Adrian; Lieut. Com.—Mrs. Webb, Palmyra; Rec. Keeper—Mrs. May Hiens, Tecumseh; Fin. Keeper—Mrs. Mary Leonardson, Britton; Chap.—Mrs. Alice Alice Mills, Clinton; Ser.—Mrs. Adelia Weaver, Addison; Mistress at Arms—Mrs. Myrtle Spaulding, Medina; Sent.—Mrs. Alva Ellis, Macon; Picket—Mrs. Clara Button, Rollin.

Mrs. Edna Belding was chosen as a delegate to attend the biennial review in Toledo in June, with Mrs. May Hiens as alternate. The association will meet again in Adrian in two years, as the conventions are to be held only in the year of the biennial review.

31st Michigan Reunion.

In the stirring spring time of '98 when our Co. C soldier boys marched forth in prompt response to the call from President McKinley, our admiration and gratitude followed them to the tented field. It was esteemed an honor then to wear our country's uniform and as the campaign developed we watched with interest its every phase. Every mail from the army was welcomed with eager interest. Our boys were not favored by being put into the advance guard and we sympathized with them realizing that their life in southern camps was oft times more wearying and discouraging than other more active service would have been.

But after awhile the 31st was landed on Cuban soil and their meritoriously performed the part assigned it to do. And then at the year's end we were gladly thankful when the peace bells rang, and all the soldiers, midst loud acclaim came marching home again. Since then a decade has passed—and so has Co. C. But its few remaining members are now making a brave effort to fittingly welcome the 31st Michigan to our hospitable town on May 19. It will be a privilege for the citizens of Tecumseh to gladly help them to make this a red letter day in their calendar. When a soliciting committee visits you give them substantial evidence of patriotic appreciation.

Floyd Bertrand Lewis.

F. Bert Lewis was born in Tecumseh, Mich., April 4, 1871. He died at Los Angeles, Cal., March 27, 1908 and all that was mortal of a genial personality rests at his birthplace. In Detroit, he was actively engaged with the business management of the Foundry, a trade paper that became the property of the Iron & Steel Press Co. of Cleveland, O. Mr. Lewis moved to Cleveland with the Foundry and held the position of auditor. The company was later reorganized by John A. Penton of Detroit, as the Penton Publishing Co.; Mr. Lewis retaining his former place but with additional responsibilities.

During the fall of 1905 his never robust health demanded a less rigorous climate and he left for Los Angeles. There he made another home and began business anew, his first enterprise being the firm of Lewis & Cope. Mr. Cope subsequently came east and the company was continued as Lewis & Joy. The health of Mr. Lewis revived under the balmy climate of California and his many friends rejoiced in his recovery.

His letters, always keen witted and never lacking the sparkle of a whimsical and good natured humor, now were radiant with contagious cheer. His future seemed most encouraging. Alas, under the promising bloom of health, there yet remained hidden traces of the old weakness and danger. Thus it came to pass that by a hemorrhage following an unusual exertion, he was suddenly stricken and in a few moments was dead. So passed a blithely helpful spirit that quickened all it touched.

Mr. Lewis was a member of Tyrion lodge 370 F. & A. M. Cleveland, Ohio. He leaves a widow, mother and brother who are residents of Detroit.

GO UNINSTRUCTED.

New York Democratic Delegates Will Not Support Bryan.

New York, April 16.—In a two-days' session, which was concluded late last night amid scenes bordering on the riotious, the Democratic state convention squelched a boom for William Jennings Bryan; drove the Kings county faction, headed by Senator Patrick McCarren, from their seats and chose an unpledged delegation to the national convention at Denver. The last hour's business was transacted amid a hubbub that made it almost impossible to determine the will of the delegates as expressed in their voting. This last hubbub came after the names of the new state committee was announced.

During the day the Bryan men, who had already been defeated in the committee on resolutions, abandoned their attempt to have the national delegates instructed for Mr. Bryan. The real fight of the convention centered in an attempt to oust a large number of the Brooklyn delegates, headed by Senator McCarren. This attempt was successful.

Locks Closed Until May 1.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 16.—Ice conditions at the Soo at this date are still very unfavorable for an opening of the navigation season. It will take two weeks of most favorable weather before the ice will loosen up. It will probably be the first of May before boats will be able to make the passage.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Kodol for dyspepsia has helped thousands of people who have had stomach trouble. This is what one man says of it: "E. C. I could not digest anything I ate and in the spring of 1902 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., Aug. 29, 1906."

The village attorney was requested to give the council the decision in the sewer case, whereupon he read the following:

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF LENAWEE: IN CHANCERY.

James W. Wightman, Complainant, vs.
The Village of Tecumseh et al.,
Defendant.

OPINION OF COURT.

The bill in this case is filed by the complainant, who is the owner of real estate situated in the Village of Tecumseh to the value of several hundreds of dollars, to enjoin the Village of Tecumseh and the other defendants, who are officers of the said village, from proceeding to construct a sewer described in the bill of complaint, and to have all the proceedings leading up to the issuing of bonds by the village for the purpose of raising money to construct said sewer set aside and held for naught.

It appears from the pleadings in this case and the proofs taken in open court that the Village of Tecumseh was incorporated under Act No. 3 of the Public Acts of the State of Michigan for 1895; that certain proceedings were had by the council of the said village to provide for the construction of sanitary sewers, and that in order to raise money for the construction of these sewers the council undertook to submit to the voters of the village the question of bonding the village for the sum of twenty-nine thousand dollars, and a special election was held in the said village on the 23rd day of September, 1907, for the purpose of determining whether the issuance of the said bonds be authorized by the electors of the said village; that the common council of the said village did determine that at said election the electors of the said village did authorize the issuance of the said bonds.

At the conclusion of the testimony in the case objections were raised that the bill did not show complainant was interested in the question involved in the case and it did not give the court jurisdiction to determine the question raised. The court permitted counsel for the complainant to amend the bill of complainant to correspond with the proofs, and such amendment was made.

There are three questions raised by the complainant for the consideration of the court:

First, Was the ballot used at the special election of the Village of Tecumseh on September 23rd, 1907, such a ballot as the law requires?

Second, Was it necessary that two-thirds of all the electors voting at said election vote in favor of the proposition in order to authorize the issuance of the bonds?

Third, Can the electors of the Village of Tecumseh vote to raise by bonding for sewer purposes two per cent upon the assessed valuation of the said village exclusive of the taxes of the same year?

With reference to the first question raised, it appears that at a meeting of the common council of the village of Tecumseh held September 4th, 1907, the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That the proposition to raise the sum of Twenty-Nine Thousand Dollars by loan on the faith and credit of this village, for the purpose of constructing a sanitary sewer system in said village, according to the plans and specifications prepared by Riggs & Sherman, and now on file in the office of the Clerk of this village, be and the same hereby is submitted to the vote of the electors of this village, at a special village election now and hereby called for that purpose, to be held at the council building in said village on the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1907, at which election the votes shall be by ballot, the contents of which shall be as follows, viz:

The ballot for those voting to authorize said loan to read as follows:

The ballot for those voting not to authorize said loan to read as follows:

That said village election be conducted in every respect in the manner provided by law for special elections, and that the village Clerk is hereby directed to give notice of said election by having a copy of this resolution published in each of the Tecumseh Herald and the Tecumseh News at least twice before said election, and by posting notices of said election, containing copies of this resolution, in six of the most public places in this village at least two weeks before the date of said election. This is the resolution required by section 23 of Chapter 9 of the Village Charter.

Notice of the said election was published and posted as provided in said resolution. At the election held on the 23rd of September, 1907, the ballots used and voted were as follows:

"BALLOT INSTRUCTIONS. If you wish to vote to authorize this loan put a cross (x) in the first [ ]. If you wish to vote against this loan put a cross (x) in the second [ ]. Before leaving the booth fold the ballot so that the initials of the inspector may be seen from the outside.

It is apparent that by some mistake the words "for sewer purposes" included in the form of ballot prescribed by the resolution of the council were omitted from the ballot as printed and used at the election. At the hearing of this case my first impression was that this ballot, not being in the precise form prescribed in the resolution and not fully stating the purpose for which the loan is to be made, was not such a ballot as the law requires and that therefore the electors of the village have not authorized the loan. After a careful consideration of the matter and reading the authorities cited in the briefs since submitted I am of the opinion that the proceedings should not be set aside on this ground.

The resolution adopted clearly described the purpose for which it is proposed to issue bonds. This resolution was published and posted. It appears from the proofs that this matter was fully considered by the residents of the village. The election was held solely for the purpose of determining whether the issuance of these bonds be authorized. Nothing else was voted upon. No fraud is charged and there is no proof that any elector was mislead. It is very apparent that this ballot considered in connection with the resolution clearly expressed the desire of the voters. It cannot be said that any voter voted yes without intending to vote to authorize the issuance of the sewer bonds as proposed in the resolution. The cases cited by counsel for defendants fully sustain their position upon this question.

Irwin vs Lowe, 89 Ind. 540
Williams vs. Shoudy, 12 Wash. 362
Ry. Co. vs. County of Kossuth, 41 Iowa 57
City of Aurora vs. West, 22 Ind.
Thomas vs. Kent Circuit Judge, 116 Mich. 106.

With reference to the second question it appeared that 561 electors attempted to vote at the election. That the inspectors of election in counting the votes rejected 55 ballots because they had upon them distinguishing marks, and that they reported the whole number of legal ballots cast at said election was 506 of which 364 were yes and 142 were no. It also appeared that of the fifty-five votes rejected 32 were yes and 23 were no. The power to issue these bonds and the proceeding to be taken to authorize it is provided in Sections 22 and 23 of Chapter 9 of the Village Charter. The first is as follows:

"Sec. 22. Should any greater amount be required in any year for the purchase of grounds for erecting public buildings, or for other necessary corporate purposes, than can be raised by the council under the foregoing provisions of this chapter, such amount may be raised by tax or loan, or partly by tax and party by loan, if authorized by two-thirds vote of the electors voting upon the question at an annual or special village election. The amount that may be voted or raised, in any year, under the provisions of this section, shall not exceed two per cent of the assessed valuation of the property in the village, as shown by the last preceding tax roll made therein.

"Sec. 23. The proposition to raise such additional amount shall be submitted to a vote of the electors by an ordinance or resolution of the council, distinctly stating the purpose of the expenditure for which said money is required, the amount proposed to be raised therefor, and whether by tax or loan, and appointing the time when the vote will be taken. Such ordinance or resolution shall be published at least twice in a newspaper in the village, if any is printed therein, and copies of the resolution or ordinance shall be posted in six of the most public places in the village at least two weeks before the election at which the vote is to be taken. Such vote shall be by ballot; the contents of the ballot shall be prescribed in the ordinance or resolution submitting the proposition to the electors."

I am satisfied from the evidence in this case that this loan was "authorized by a two-thirds vote of the electors voting upon the question"

As to the third question it appeared from the proofs that $29,000 is less than 2 per cent. of the assessed valuation of the property in the village as shown by the last preceeding tax roll made therein. If the amount raised for ordinary village purposes by tax in the same year were added to the $29,000 the sum would exceed 2 per cent of the valuation. The limitation of 2 per cent is a limitation of the amount that may be raised by loan under the power given in said section 22.

It seems to me that the language of this section clearly provides for raising in addition to the amounts that may be raised by the council any sum not exceeding two per cent of the valuation.

The case of Schneewind vs. Niles, 103 Mich. 301 does not control the case at bar. Provisions of that charter were not the same as those in this village charter.

Other questions are raised by complaintant in his bill but the three above considered are the ones argued in the briefs and the others need not be considered further than to say that the position of complainant in relation thereto cannot be sustained.

A decree may be entered dismissing the bill of complainant.

HARRY A. LOCKWOOD,
Circuit Judge.

On motion council adjourned.

Go to Cuba, Young Man!

Thirty years ago the advice to young men was to "Go West." Many did, and from a comparatively small investment became not only comfortable but wealthy. The OPPORTUNITY is now CUBA. What the West did in thirty years will be done in Cuba in five years. Cuba has everything in its favor. About as far from New York as is Chicago. WONDERFUL FERTILITY. PERFECT CLIMATE. The best proposition in Cuba is a Citrus Fruit Plantation. Investment absolutely safe. Returns sure and large. We have the land, plant the groves, and sell on easy terms or for cash. A small investment makes a family comfortable for all time. Returns EVERY year.

Executing a Death Sentence.

Prince Urussov writes in his "Memoirs of a Russian Governor" of an acquaintance, one Von Rohren, a very kindly man, who liked to tell sometimes of his presence of mind and his police ability as demonstrated on one occasion at his former post. He was once called upon to be present at the execution of a Jewish criminal. The condemned man hung the required number of minutes and was taken down from the gallows, when the physician was supposed to confirm his death. But it appeared that they had forgotten to cut off the Jew's long, thick beard, thanks to which, although the noose had deprived the man of consciousness, it had not killed him. "Imagine yourself in my position," said Rohren. "The doctor told me the Jew would come back to life in five minutes. What was I to do? To hang him a second time I held to be impossible, and yet I had to execute the death sentence." "But what did you do, then?" I asked and received the memorable answer, "I had him buried quickly before he regained consciousness."

The Wise Ones.

"Some people don't never seem to learn nuthin' as they grow older," remarked the Squedunk sage.

"Some people don't need ter," responded the Pohick philosopher. "Some people knows it all from the start."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Human Failing.

"Pa, what is the meaning of inconsistency?" asked Freddy.

"Inconsistency, my son," explained pa, "means a man who growls all day and then goes home and kicks the dog for barking at night."—Harper's Weekly.

A Matter of Spelling.

"This is the age of steel," said the after dinner speaker.

"Permit me to suggest," interrupted the chairman courteously, "that for the benefit of the reporters present you spell that last word."—Philadelphia Ledger.

False friends are worse than open enemies.—French Proverb.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY.

Mix this simple, helpful Recipe at home and try it, anyway.

Get from any prescripton pharmacist the following:

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is consider by an eminent authority, who writes in a New York daily paper, as the finest prescription ever written to relieve backache, kidney trouble, weak bladder and all forms of urinary difficulties. This mixture act promptly on the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the afflictons may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescripton of an eminent authority whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home, when asked, stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it as harmless.

To have perfect health we must have perfect digestion, and it is very important not to permit of any delay the moment the stomach feels out of order. Take something at once that you know will promptly and unfailingly assist digestion. There is nothing better than Kodol for dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach belching of gas and nervous headache. Kodol is a natural digestant, and will digest what you eat. Sold by all druggists.

Electric Light.

Electric light may be burned in sleeping room or sick chamber without injurious result, the air remaining pure and sweet. Not so with other forms of illuminating. One open-flame light consumes as much oxygen as four grown persons, vitiates the air and makes perfect health under such conditions impossible. Use Electric Light that's pure, clean convenient and safe.

Robert Arner.

An especially sad case of appendicitis terminated Tuesday afternoon when the sweet but brave little Robert Arner surrendered to the grim warrior that knows not defeat. He fought the monster for more than three weeks and suffered untold agony, and at one time was believed by the doctors to be entering death's door and his fond parents could plainly see he was basking in the sunbeams of the heavenly realm, when the medical profession marvelled at his strength and courage by his re-engaging the enemy in heart crushing struggle. Th case evidenced a combination of serious and fatal stomach diseases that no person has ever been able to outlive. Dr. L. F. Stuch gives much credit in prolonging the little life to a Miss Bockstahler, a professional nurse from Butterworth hospital of Grand Rapids, who seemed especially interested in the pathetic case. Robert would have been six years old the 17th of this month and was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Arner of 235 Main street, who certainly have the sympathy of many friends in this dark, lonesome hour. The funeral services will be conducted at the family home today at 2 o'clock, Rev. Brashear officiating, with burial in Oakwood cemetry.—Allegan News

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Bottles of Swamp-Root.

Faint heart ne'er won fair lady: neither did it ever escape the clutches of one.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disordess, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them? Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to preform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases cure your self now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Tecumseh testimony:

Mrs. Chas. Stevenson, Wyandotte St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as they proved of great benefit to me. After an attack of malaria I began to be troubled with sharp pains in my back and kidneys. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box at Wright & Son's drug store and began taking them. They proved to be just the remedy I required. In a short time the pains left my back, the kidney secretions assumed their natural color and my health improved. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Many sober, industrious men wish their wives were as patient, industrious and economical as a drunkard's wife.

Most disfiguring skin eruptions, pimples, scrofula, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes you clear-eyed, clear-brained, clear skinned.

Mr. S. L. Bowen of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease so that at times I could not get out of bed and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's kidney cure. One dollar a bottle and part of the second cured me entirely." Foley's kidney cure works wonders where others are total failures. Sold by all druggists.

How to avoid appendicitis.

Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated. Orino laxative fruit syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino laxative fruit syrup does not nauseate or grip and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all druggists.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

The Washington hotel, Ryan Bros., general merchants, and Mrs. Quinn's store and dwelling in Gagetown have burned; total loss $30,000.

Frank D. Burch, aged forty-seven years, of Grand Rapids, was found dead in bed in the morning. The gas was turned on in his room, and his wife and daughter are at a loss to know whether or not the death was an accident.

Will Ramsey, employed by the Mussler Lumber company at Blaney, was killed. He was at camp, taking the time of the men, when a tree fell on him. Ramsey was employed in the general office of the company.

Eleanor Gunstrom of Norway, three years old, choked to death while drinking water out of a waterworks faucet. Her mouth was drawn on the faucet so tight that a doctor had to be called to release her.

Because he thought William Hall, a boarder in his home, paid too much attention to his wife, John Hennessey of Muskegon is alleged to have set out to kill Hall. Both were intoxicated. Hennessey attacked Hall with a broken beer bottle, cut his head, and for a time neighbors thought Hall was dead, but he will live. Hennessey was arrested.

GREAT NAVAL PARADE

Men From Battleship Fleet March In San Diego.

OFFICIALS REVIEWED THEM.

Marines and Jackies Cheered by Thousands of People—Admiral Evans Remembered During Festivities. Given a Sword and Key to City.

San Diego, Cal., April 16.—A parade of bluejackets and marines landed from the American battleship fleet—fighting men, fresh from a cruise of 12,000 miles—marked Wednesday the ceremonies of official welcome to the state of California. Sixty-four companies of sailors and sixteen companies of marines formed this most notable of the navy's land displays.

The landing party, equipped as infantrymen, armed with guns in light marching order and with canteens filled, equalled an army corps. The procession that the men of the navy formed was more than two miles long. They marched from the water front to the city park over three miles of streets canopied with decorations which combined the red, white and blue of the nation and the gold and white of the state.

San Diego took a holiday to see the martial pageant, and the sidewalks paralleling the asphalt-roadways were crowded with a typical holiday throng. Their enthusiasm was explosive, the appearance of the bluejackets and marines calling forth long sustained cheering.

At the city park the sailors passed in review before Rear Admirals Thomas, Sperry and Emery and Governor Gillett and his staff. A crowd of many thousands of people surrounded the grandstand. Three thousand school children, waving flags and banners, were massed directly in front of the reviewing stand, and their songs and cheers were one of the prettiest features of the day's celebration.

Governor Gillett, in a brief speech, supplemented his words of welcome spoken Tuesday on the quarter deck of the flagship Connecticut, and Rear Admiral Thomas made formal response in behalf of the fleet. He finished by saying:

"In the midst of these welcoming ceremonies, there is one sincere source of regret to us at the fleet and I am sure, I may add, is all within the reach of my voice, and that is the enforced absence of our able and respected commander-in-chief, together with the reason therefore."

Admiral Thomas then graciously accepted, in Admiral Evans' behalf, a golden key, symbolical of the freedom of the city. The token will be forwarded to Admiral Evans at Paso Robles. There will go with it a gold mounted and jeweled naval sword, presented to Admiral Evans, through Admiral Thomas, by the patriotic fraternities of the city, including the Grand Army of the Republic, the Confederate Veterans and Spanish War Veterans.

Last night a ball was tendered to the admirals and the officers of the fleet at the Hotel Del Coronado.

Hid His Money.

New York, April 16.—Convinced that William Janes, who died last fall at Hempstead, L. I., had possessed a considerable amount of money, the executors of his will made a thorough search of his property and finally decided to tear down the dilapidated cottage in which the man had spent his life. The workmen found two bags, one containing $5,000 in gold, the other $6,000 in bank notes. Later they discovered bank books which will bring the value of the estate to $25,000.

Carnegie Offers $3,000,000 More.

Pittsburg, April 16.—Andrew Carnegie has offered to donate $3,000,000 more to the Carnegie technical schools of this city, on condition that the city purchase forty-two acres of ground adjoining the present site of the schools. It is estimated that the ground will cost $1,250,000. The trustees received the announcement favorably and appointed a committee to consider the matter and report to Mr. Carnegie.

Noted Sporting Editor Dead.

New York, April 16.—John H. Mandigo, for twenty years the head of the sporting department of the Sun, is dead, aged fifty years. He had been in the employ of the Sun for thirty-three years, having begun as an office boy. He early became an expert baseball reporter, and is said to have originated what came to be known as a technical story of the game. A widow survives.

Will Appeal to Roosevelt.

New York, April 16.—Three members of a committee representing the shipping interests here have left for Washington to intercede with the president in behalf of the aged Captain W. S. Van Schaick, who entered Sing Sing on Feb. 27 to begin a twenty-year sentence for negligence in connection with the burning of his charge, the ill fated excursion steamer, General Slocum.

Find Another Body.

Relics of Mound Builders.

Boone, Ia., April 16.—The state historical department has unearthed, in a mound near Boone, human bones, animal bones and human teeth, historical documents from ancient urns and other curios, believed to be relics of the ancient mound builders.

Send Aid to Homeless Ones.

Manistee, Mich., April 16.—Citizens of Manistee and neighboring towns liberally have come to the aid of the 200 Polish people made homeless in the Oak Hill fire. Cots, furniture, clothing and food supplies have been rushed to the region. It is now estimated the loss will be $60,000, of which about half is covered by insurance.

ITALY IS DISGUSTED.

Decides to Give the Sultan of Turkey a Scare.

WARSHIPS ORDERED EAST.

Demonstration to Be Made—Trouble Grows Out of Refusal of Turkey to Permit Establishment of Italian Postoffices in Her Empire.

Rome, April 20.—An Italian squadron, under command of Admiral F. Grenet, will set out at once for the purpose of making a demonstration in Turkish waters. The squadron comprises eleven warships and includes the battleship Regina Blena, commanded by the Duke of the Abruzzi. Altogether, the vessels will carry 5,000 men, and their objective point will be Asia Minor, some 700 miles away.

It has been decided, if it is deemed necessary, also to occupy a small island off the coast, but it is hoped here that Turkey will see the error of her ways and give full satisfaction, so that more energetic measures may be avoided.

The difficulty arises out of the refusal of the Turkish government to permit the installation of Italian postoffices in Turkish territory, while, at the same time, other foreign nations have established and are conducting postoffices there without interference.

Missionary Murdered.

Considerable irritation has been felt here, also, over the murder of an Italian missionary in Tripoli and the persecution by the Ottoman authorities of natives who have sold land to Italians; but the present action of the Italian government is based primarily on the postoffice question. With regard to this, however, the Turkish ambassador in Rome has pointed out, in an interview, that his government has in no instance granted to the countries in question such privilege, although it has "tolerated" the postoffices which they have maintained.

For years it has been felt in government circles in Rome that Turkey has been taking advantage of the international situation to act in a high handed manner towards Italians, showing but little respect for Italian rights. This government, it is stated, has been very indulgent. Apparently Turkey came to the conclusion that the Italian government would never resort to extreme measures, in view of the fact that the Macedonian problem is pending for the settlement of which the accord of the powers is indispensable, and she went so far as to order detachments of troops to guard the Italian postoffices and thus prevent the work from being carried on.

To this provocation, the Italian administration felt that it could only reply with coercive measures, in order to protect the dignity of Italy and safeguard her rights. In issuing orders for a demonstration of warships, Italy desired clearly to show that she did not wish to take advantage of the situation for the purpose of occupying any territory.

Great satisfaction is felt here, and it is stated that all the powers have approved Italy's decision to take recourse to force, if necessary.

It has been learned that eight destroyers will join the squadron, bringing the number of men in the fleet up to nearly 7,000, with about 500 big guns. It is expected that the demonstration will begin on Thursday.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

The Solace, formerly a hospital ship and now on the Pacific coast, is to be fitted out at a "mother" ship for the submarines and torpedo vessels on that coast.

It has been decided by the government to have a representative at the international conference on telegraphy, to be held at Lisbon, Portugal, beginning May 4.

A federation of all the union men employed in the shops of the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern railroads in Winnipeg has just been completed. They will fight the reductions in the new wage schedule.

Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador, has left for Russia. The baron is going home on a vacation and expects to be away from Washington until October.

The Lincoln Educational league has provided a fund of $20,000 to be used toward placing in the schoolhouses throughout the country bronze tablets bearing the full text of Abraham Lincoln's address at Gettysburg.

Army officials at Fort Totten, N. Y., have received instructions from Secretary of War Taft that hereafter carpenters employed at work about the post shall be paid $6 instead of $3 each for a day's work, $4 being recognized by him as the "prevailing rate of wages" in New York.

ON WITH THE LIDS

Two Mayors Vigorously Enforce Sunday Closing Laws.

SALOONMEN HAD IDLE DAY

Nothing Doing in Marshall and Benton Harbor—Chief Executive of the Latter City Also Declares Slot Machines Must Go.

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 20.—Mayor Seitz of this city has swung the big stick on gamblers and all forms of gambling. Official notice has been issued to the effect that every make of slot machines, in saloons, cigar stores, hotels and restaurants, must be thrown out by Tuesday. Otherwise, wholesale arrests and seizure of machines will follow.

Acting under orders emanating from the city executive's office, the police of the city Sunday watched every saloon. Positive orders were given Saturday night that saloons and billiard halls must be closed and screens and shades removed from windows. A patrol of the Municipal league guarded six downtown streets of the city, watching for infraction of the statutes.

In opening the war on gambling, Mayor Seitz has announced no quarter will be given to members of this ilk, and officers have been instructed to raid every joint in the city.

Marshall, Mich., April 20.—The wise ones say the "lid" was nailed down tight here Sunday. A majority of the liquor dealers were noticeable for their presence in church.

One evening last week all the liquor dealers of the city assembled in the office of ex-Judge H. E. Winsor, the new city attorney, at the solicitation of Mayor G. W. Leidle, for a conference. It is said he informed them that the law must be obeyed.

This year the liquor dealers of the county will furnish surety bonds signed by the company recently incorporated as the result of an act passed at the last session of the legislature.

In Marshall the bond is fixed at $3,000. The surety company goes on the bonds for 10 per cent of the amount.

Plowed Up Nitro-Glycerin, But Lives.

Rockwood, Mich., April 20.—While plowing, William Lemerand turned up enough nitro-glycerin to have scattered his team and himself over a large section of the county. Just because the earth was wet, springy and soft and the plow point did not strike the cans, Lemerand is alive. In the fall of 1903 a test well for oil was drilled here. The drillers had two thirty-pound cans of nitro-glycerin left and, to dispose of the dangerous stuff, buried it where the American Silica plant is now located. Lemerand is an employe of the company and was turning up the earth when the cans were uncovered. When he recognized the nitro-glycerin cans, Lemerand was so overcome that he quit for the day.

Deprived of Beer; Kills Self.

Detroit, Mich., April 20.—No use of living under the lid, thought Ignatz Mechlinski of 1131 St. Aubin avenue, so, when his wife refused to allow him to break the Sunday drouth by rolling an eighth keg of beer into the house, Ignatz grabbed a two-ounce vial of carbolic acid, swallowed the contents and died while the East End ambulance was rushing to the house like mad. Mechlinski, who was fifty-odd years old, had been married twice and leaves a family of ten children, the youngest about three years old.

Varnums Body Found.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 20.—Terribly disfigured by its long submersion in the water of Huron river, the body of Thaddeus Varnum, the missing Detroit newspaperman, has been found. The recovery of the body was made by Eber M. Kanage and Edward Auer, students at the university, who were on a canoe trip down the river to Ypsilanti. The remains were found at the dam at Geddes, four miles from the city. Varnum disappeared Feb. 18.

Stabbed Him With Umbrella.

Cleveland, April 20.—A thrust from an umbrella killed Salvadore Arrigo. Sebastiano Petrillo and his brother, Michael, are under arrest on the charge of murder. The two men charged with the murder had been in Arrigo's employ. They met him and demanded money which they said was due them in wages. Arrigo put them off. Michael held a closed umbrella in his hand and is alleged to have thrust at Arrigo with it. The ferule on the end of the umbrella penetrated Arrigo's skull three inches.

WILL VISIT QUEBEC.

Prince of Wales Crosses the Atlantic in July

AN IMPORTANT OCCASION.

Royal Visitor Comes Attended With All Pomp and Ceremony of British Court—Monument to Be Inaugurated to Wolf and Montcalm.

London, April 20.—Arrangements have been completed for the visit which the Prince of Wales is to pay to Quebec in July to attend the tercentenary celebrations and inaugurate the monument on the plains of Abraham to Wolfe and Montcalm and the men who fought under them for possession of what is now the Dominion of Canada. This will be the prince's second visit to Canada, he having crossed nearly ten years ago, when on his world tour, going from ocean to to ocean and visiting all the chief towns enroute. He also spent some time enjoying the fishing and hunting of the northwest. This time, however, he will go no further than Quebec, and his stay will not be extended over a fortnight.

The Atlantic will be crossed on a fast cruiser, probably the Minotaur, accompanied by another fast cruiser as an escort, the two leaving Portsmouth on July 16 and reaching Quebec on the 23rd.

The British Atlantic fleet will go over in advance of the Minotaur and her escort, to take part in the celebration and give a fitting welcome to the heir to the throne upon his arrival in Canadian waters. His royal highness, too, will be accompanied by a brilliant staff, so that none of the pomp and ceremony of the British court will be missing.

French and American squadrons will also be at Quebec, and invitations have been sent to France and all the colonies to send delegations to take part in the celebration. Australia has accepted and will be represented by Lord Dudley, the new governor general of the commonwealth.

Peanut in Child's Lungs.

Owosso, Mich., April 20.—The case of the three-year-old daughter of Paul Thiede of this city is puzzling the physicians. Two months ago the little girl swallowed a peanut, which lodged in her windpipe. She was given up, as it was supposed that she would die at any time from strangulation. But fighting constantly for breath, the child survived several hours, when her breathing suddenly became easier. The peanut had passed on into her lungs. She has been gravely ill, but her health is gradually becoming better. An operation to remove the peanut would probably be fatal.

Lived Hours With Broken Neck.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 20.—Supposedly dead from a broken neck, Henry Greenleaf, a Jefferson avenue grade crossing victim, was revived sufficiently, after surgeons mended his vertebrae, to live several hours. Greenleaf walked in front of a night freight train, despite frantic yells of Crossing Tender Dean. He was tossed aside with such force as to break his neck and fracture his skull. At Nichols hospital he showed wonderful vitality. Greenleaf was a bachelor.

Governor Pack's Wife Wants Divorce.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 20.—Charging her husband with drunkenness and extreme cruelty, Mrs. Clara Pack, wife of Governor William F. Pack of the province of Benguet, in the Philippine Islands, asks Judge Adams to grant her a legal separation.

FLEET DIVIDED.

Occupies the Four Harborns Adjacent to Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 20.—For the first time since leaving Hampton Roads, the battleships of the Atlantic fleet are separated. In four harbors, a few miles apart, they lie at anchor in divisions of four, and these positions they will maintain until next Saturday morning, when the sixteen craft, again united under the flag of Rear Admiral Thomas, will get under way for Santa Barbara, the next port of welcome.

For the ships, for the officers and men and for the people of Los Angeles, it was a busy Easter Sunday. The division of the fleet was accomplished at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, but even at this early hour the shores of San Pedro harbor and the hills overlooking were well covered with spectators, eager to witness the maneuvers of the warships. While the crowds ashore watched, suddenly the signals began to fly, and within a few minutes the second division, led by its flagship, the Georgia, steamed slowly out of line and proceeded three miles across the harbor to a point opposite Long Beach. The third and fourt divisions rounded Point Firmin for a long cruise to San Pedro, the four ships led by the flagship Maine proceeding to anchorage in the most sheltered portion of Santa Monica bay, and the fourth division, with the Alabama leading, dropping out of the column to anchor a few hundred yards off the pier at Redondo.

At an early hour the steam and electric roads were transporting thousands of visitors to all four ports, and, as the day advanced, the overcrowded beach cities sent their surplus thousands of people along the stretches of sandy beach out and along the hills that command the best views of the vessels at anchor.

Until in the afternoon were visitors received on board. A striking feature of the service in each of the big churches of Los Angeles was the presence of squads of sailors in uniform, who were, without exception, given places in front pews and to whom, in nearly every instance, the clergyman addressed a portion of the Easter sermon.

Throughout the next five days and while officers and men of the fleet are participating in the round of banquets, balls and other forms of entertainment devised by various committees, the people will be welcomed aboard the battleships.

May Oust Soo Power Company.

Washington, April 20.—The rivers and harbors committee of the house, after consulting Attorney General Bonaparte about the proposed legislation on the Soo rapids, has decided to wait a few days before taking action. This is due to a tip that very likely the supreme court will soon decide the lawsuit brought by the interior department to remove the Chandler-Dunbar Power company from the rapids. The court has been fully informed that the construction of the new lock and canal at the Soo may depend in large measure on the decision in the suit, and, while the court has not definitely promised to hurry its opinion, it is believed it will so hurry it that action may be taken on the necessary legislation before congress adjourns.

Two Killed in Pistol Fight.

Warrensburg, Mo., April 20.—James Ryan, chief of police, and Byron Hall, son of a farmer, were killed, and J. E. Basham and Robert Pollock, officers, were wounded in a pistol fight in the corridor of the Estes hotel. The three officers were attempting to take a revolver from Hall when he shot all three. The officers returned the fire, and Hall was shot twice.

W. C. Leckie Passes Away.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 20.—W. C. Leckie of Dowagiac is dead, in Borgess hospital, of complications following an operation. His death had been expected for the last three days, and his wife was at his bedside. Mr. Leckie was one of the most popular residents of Dowagiac. For many years he had been manager of the Beckwith Memorial theater, a member of Kalamazoo lodge, No. 50, Elks, and, when as an offshoot of the Kalamazoo lodge, No. 889 was organized at Dowagiac, Leckie was made first exalted ruler. Leckie had been district deputy for Michigan, and at the last grand lodge meeting of Elks he was elected grand esteemed loyal knight.

'Phones Girl, Then Shoots Self.

Washington, April 20.—In a fit of jealous rage, Edward R. Taylor, a bookkeeper, aged twenty-five years, has committed suicide by shooting himself in the temple at his home, 101 H street. He had gone to the telephone and called up Miss "Reggie" Gargas, at 1919 Pennsylvania avenue, only to learn that she had gone for a walk with a rival suitor. Taylor hung up the receiver, drew a pistol and shot himself.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Kodol for dyspepsia has helped thousands of people who have had stomach trouble. This is what one man says of it: "E. C. I could not digest anything I ate and in the spring of 1903 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., Aug. 29, 1906."

Barter and Exchange.

By JANE LEE.

Copyrighted, 1908, by P. C. Eastment.

The evening paper contained very little news. Evening papers were getting stupid and dry—at least so thought Ethel Yorke as she turned over one page after the other in hopes of finding an item of some interest.

Aimlessly her glance wandered from one sheet to another, and her attention was finally attracted to the "exchange" column. Only one ad. seemed to interest her. She read it to the end, mused to herself, "I wonder," then read it again aloud to herself to see if it sounded the least bit plausible.

"Will exchange a first class typewriter in A1 condition for genuine antiques. Fakirs need not apply. J. B. G., Box 411."

"Antiques!" commented Ethel to herself, "Well, we're strong on antiques—have everything from the human to still life, from dear old Aunt Cornelia to the pen used in signing the Declaration of Independence. Then, again, Aunt Cornelia is worth more than a secondhand typewriter, and the pen is probably not worth the bell on the old machine. Let me think."

"Whom are you talking to, Ethel?" she asked as she glanced around the apparently empty room. "It seems to be a very one sided conversation, for I hear only your own voice," she added.

"Auntie, dear, I am conversing with a very bright young person of my acquaintance—none other than yours truly, Ethel Yorke," said Ethel, with a sweeping bow. "Auntie, I want a typewriter, and"—

"I know you do, dearie, but talking to yourself won't get one."

"Auntie, I'm not fooling. I want a typewriter, and I'm going to get one. Behold!" said Ethel as she presented Aunt Cornelia with the ad. to read. The old lady read it carefully, glanced at Ethel, then said:

"Well, dearie, there is the old melodeon. That is a true antique. Your Grandfather Parker gave that to your grandmother for a wedding present. It is all carved by hand and inlaid with teakwood."

Aunt Cornelia sighed as she went on. "I suppose if you want to learn to be a stenographer and go out in the workaday world you must have a typewriter on which to learn, and I guess you had better offer the dear old melodeon in exchange."

The ad. was duly answered, and within forty-eight hours a prompt reply was received saying that the owner of the typewriter would call that evening to inspect the so called antique.

Ethel answered the doorbell of the little apartment that evening, for the household boasted of no maid since the loss of their little fortune. A tall, smartly dressed man entered and was ushered into the sitting room, followed by Ethel.

"Are you the young lady who wants a typewriter?" he asked as he took in the graceful lines of her well rounded figure, her mass of red brown hair and the even contour of her beautiful face.

"Yes," she replied as she offered him a chair. "I want to become an expert typist, and I was attracted by your ad. Here is the melodeon, if you want to look it over," and she walked across the room and lighted another gas jet to exhibit her heirloom to better advantage. The man followed in silence.

"It's a really, truly antique," said Ethel. "I'm not a fakir such as you suggest in your ad."

The young man walked up to the beautiful old melodeon, a priceless treasure to one who knew its value. For the moment he seemed lost in his admiration of the delicate workmanship, the beautifully tinted woods, and he sat down before it, dreaming. The girl looked at the man as if upon the figure in a picture. The lights fell upon him as he sat before the instrument, and she wondered why he did not speak. Maybe, after all, the old thing was worth nothing.

Howard Philips, man of leisure and collector of antiques, turned to his companion, hardly knowing which he admired most, the inanimate wooden treasure or the beautiful girl.

"If acceptable to you, Miss Yorke, I will take the melodeon, giving you in exchange the typewriter and a bonus of $50," he finally said. "The instrument is a beauty and a very rare specimen," he added.

The final arrangements were completed, and the next day found Ethel in possession of a typewriter and Philips with the melodeon. Philips went on with his search for antiques, but somehow he felt that the greatest treasure on which his eyes had rested in months—aye, even years—was the girl whose face seemed to haunt his dreams.

A terrific snow and hail storm kept him indoors some weeks after the purchase, and Philips sat down before the instrument to see what sort of music it would produce. His fingers ran over the keys, but no sound came forth. He peddled with greater force, yet silence was his only reward.

Something was wrong within, and his deft fingers went to work in the mechanism, and after several minutes' search he was rewarded by finding a package pressed against the keys.

The package was apparently a wad of old papers; but, with the true instinct of the collector, Philips began to undo the yards and yards of twine about the long bundle. He was speechless. Before him lay a pile of bills, money that was not his by any other right than possession. The girl's money!

He counted it carefully twice—$1,300. He must find the girl and return it. Here was the longed for excuse to see her again.

The storm had somewhat abated, and in a few minutes he started to the little apartment in search of the girl. He was informed that the Yorkes had moved out three weeks ago. Where? Nobody knew! The janitor thought they had moved to a smaller flat in Harlem.

Now that he could not find the girl Philips realized the folly of not having kept track of her. Perhaps it had been love at first sight. Indeed, as he thought about it seriously he knew that he was very much in love. But how could he tell her so if he could not find her?

A visit to the postoffice left him none the wiser. They furnished no addresses. He drifted home to his open fire and the evening paper. He sat in the twilight gazing in the embers, and it seemed that every flame carried with it a shadow of the girl.

He read the advertisements from force of habit and was about to throw the paper down and refill his pipe when his eye caught this ad.:

"Young lady will give French lessons in exchange for lessons on the typewriter. Apply after 6. E. T. Y., 2 Broadway."

Philips sat up a bit straighter in his armchair. Could it be she? At least it was worth finding out.

At 8 o'clock that evening Philips rang the bell of the Harlem flat, to be admitted and made welcome by Ethel.

"You see, Miss Yorke, I am here again," he said as he turned to the girl. She seemed more lovely than ever. "I have been trying to find you for a long time, but you had run away from your old home, and I only traced you by the exchange column. The fact is—well—er—how would you consider me as a teacher?"

Ethel's eyes danced. "You see, Mr. Philips, I tried so hard to pick it up, but could not, so I thought of your idea of exchange and put that ad. in the paper," she explained. "I did not dream you taught typing."

"To be honest, I do not. But I have something here—something I found in the old melodeon that will buy hundreds of lessons." And he handed her the precious roll of bills.

A cry of joy brought Aunt Cornelia to the room, and a careful inspection of the money revived memories of a queer maiden aunt who did not believe in savings banks.

Of course Philips had to remain and discuss the wonderful find, and this made him one of the tiny circle, so that the next ad. inserted by either appeared under the column headed "Marriages."

The Diamond.

Writing on "The Romance of the Diamond" in the North American Review," Sir William Crookes refers to the theory advanced by some scientists that the diamond is a gift from heaven conveyed to earth in meteoric showers, and he confesses that the theory is not without support. His description of the Kimberley diamond mines is interesting. The writer says:

"Many circumstances point to the conclusion that the diamond of the chemist and the diamond of the mine are strangely akin as to origin. It is evident that the diamond has not been formed in situ in the blue ground where it is found. The genesis must have taken place at vast depths under enormous pressure. The explosion of large diamonds on coming to the surface shows extreme tension. More diamonds are found in fragments and splinters than in perfect crystals, and it is noteworthy that, although these splinters and fragments must be derived from the breaking up of a large crystal, yet in only one instance have pieces been found which could be fitted together, and these occurred at different levels. Does not this fact point to the conclusion that the blue ground is not their true matrix? Nature does not make fragments of crystals. As the edges of the crystals are still sharp and unabraded, the locus of formation cannot have been very distant from the present sites. There were probably many sites of crystallization differing in place and time or we should not see such distinctive characters in the gems from different mines nor indeed in diamonds from different parts of the same mine."

Sarcastic.

Lighting Country Homes for Less Money.

Calcium Carbide, from which Acetylene Gas is made, looks like coal, won't burn, can't explode, and comes in moisture proof steel drums containing 100 lbs.

When Carbide is dropped into a tank of water it immediately produces Acetylene Gas which combines with Air for Lighting.

The resulting Acetylene Gaslight is identical with Sunlight. It is so Sun-like that it makes plants grow as rapidly and naturally at night as Sunlight makes them grow by day.

Two million Americans use it regularly,—and already 348 Towns are publicly lighted with it.

One pound of "Carbide" costs 3¾ cents, in most of the States east of the Rocky Mountains.

This 5 cubic feet of Acetylene Gas will give 24 candle-power Light for 10 hours.

All for 3¾ cents observe.

Compare this cost per candle-power with common Kerosene Light as regularly used.

A Kerosene Lamp which will give an actual 24 candle-power of light for 10 hours will average a cost of 6 cents for Kerosene, Chimneys and Wicks.

Six cents against 3¾ cents for Carbide and water.

Don't let the contrast escape you.

Observe that the Acetylene Light will be cool, clean, brilliant and white like Sunlight. You can see pale blue, pale pink, or pale yellow as clearly by it as by Daylight.

This means about 6 hours per year of labor for 40 Light capacity, as against (30 minutes per day, or) 182 hours per year with Kerosene Lamps.

Write me today how many rooms you've got, or how large your store, and I'll tell you what it would cost to light them with brilliant Sunlike Acetylene.

Address me thus—Acetylene Jones, 11 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD HARKNESS

MR. AND MRS. VINCENT WOOD

On Adrian Street in This Village Yesterday.

Richard Harkness was born in northeastern New York Aug. 24, 1820. He came to Michigan when 13 years old and has lived in Lenawee county ever since. Deborah R. Crane was born in New York City May 24, 1823, and came to Michigan at the age of 16.

They were married according to the Friends order in the old Valley meeting house April 20, 1843. Of their large family of children seven are still living and five of these are in attendance at this anniversary: Mrs. Mary C. Wood of Tecumseh, is the oldest. David Harkness and wife and Lydia M. Cause and husband came down from Jackson, Mrs. Hannah Abels from San Francisco, Cal., and Nathan E. Harkness from South Chicago. There were also a number of grandchildren present.

There were about fifty who responded in person to the invitation and quite a number of letters were received from those who could not come. There were present from out of town, Mrs. Jane Landon, Mrs. Sarah Wright, Mrs. Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Mosher and Archie Crane of Adrian; D. H. Wood of Wheatland, Mr. and Mrs. Peleg Haviland, Mrs. Geo. Westgate, Mrs. Walter Brown and daughter, J. H. Green and Mrs. Addie Graves, of Raisin. Ice cream and cake were served to the visitors and a good social time was enjoyed by all.

Village Local

Tecumseh has frequently delighted to honor the soldiers of the Civil war which has been most magnificently manifested when reunions of the several regiments were held in our village. Conspicuously prominent were the ovations provided for the old 4th, the 18th and 26th Michigan regiments. On May 19 we will have opportunity to extend a similar graceful compliment to the boys of the Spanish-American war.

On that date a reunion of the 31st Michigan in which Tecumseh's Co. C. held an esteemed rank, will be called at this place. And as the membership of this company has dwindled to a small number, it is especially fitting that this entire community shall enthusiastically unite with our young soldiers in entertaining their guests, coming from different parts of the state. Let us all generously remember the boys who "remembered the Maine," and when their soliciting committee calls upon us kindly give them the glad hand, and also something much more substantial.

Meeting of the Pioneer Society.

The committee appointed by the Pioneer society to locate and secure the site for the boulder went over to Brownville yesterday afternoon and looked the ground over which they decided was situated on land belonging to the Smith estate. Geo. Smith was sent for and on learning what it is the society wished to do, promptly agreed for the estate to make a gift of the ground for the purpose stated. It is a pleasant little spot on the river bank sloping west to the highway, and with the work and care which the society intend to put upon it will make a beautiful little park.

Work is to be begun at once. The ground cleared up, leveled and made into a fine lawn where each of the ones most interested propose to plant a tree and otherwise ornament it. This will be a fine setting for the boulder which the society are proposing to erect in respect of the memory of our early settlers. R. B. Gillespie is chairman of the committee, Lewis Waldron, president of the society and Jas. McKinney, treasurer and if any person feels as if they would like to aid the cause, contributions handed to these gentleman would be appreciated by the society.

$1,000 For a Woman.

There may be nothing new under the sun, but "When the Mummy Moves" is certainly an original title for a story. It is, of course, a story of mystery and it is so ingenious and interesting a mystery that The Chicago Record-Herald, in which it appears serially, offers a first prize of $1000 to the woman who makes the best solution, with 115 other cash prizes for women and girls who make the next best solutions. The story begins in The Record-Herald Thursday, April 23, and the conditions of the contest will be found, accompanying each installment, in that paper. Those who have been unable to get The Record-Herald containing the early installments may obtain a reprint of those installments by writing to the Prize Mystery Editor, The Record-Herald, Chicago. While the masculine sex is not eligible in this competition it is probable that it will interest the whole family circle and there is no reason why men should not help their wives, daughters, or friends to a successful solution.

To have perfect health we must have perfect digestion, and it is very important not to permit of any delay the moment the stomach feels out of order. Take something at once that you know will promptly and unfailingly assist digestion. There is nothing better than Kodol for dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach belching of gas and nervous headache. Kodol is a natural digestant, and will digest what you eat. Sold by all druggists.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Congress having refused the president his four big war ships, is now feeling extremely virtuous, not because they saved the country twelve million dollars, for this is the amount squandered on the merry widows in pensions, but virtuous because it thinks it has recaptured its legislative perogative and that it is once again in the law making saddle and that the president is relegated to his chair in the White House. The president is no doubt disappointed. As a statesman he has a keener and more extended foresight than most members of the House, a broader and deeper read historian. He is more intimately in touch with national and international movements than all but a few of them. It was perhaps a mistake for us to have planted our flag in the Philippines, as we are so vain and sensitive at our removing it, but it would be much better for us to take it away from that oriental outpost, now and of our own accord, than to be compelled to surrender it after a disastrous war and untold loss of blood and treasure.

It is doubtless this foreboding ever imminent in the mind of the president that impells him to ask for these iron pacificators. There is but one respect in which we are stronger than the strongest and most war like people of the east. Our navy is larger than that of Japan, but the Russian navy was much larger than that of Japan. We believe that our navy is better than was the Russian navy but it is doubtless the desire of the president to make it so overwhelmingly superior to the Japanese navy that there will be no question of the outcome of a conflict. The Japanese army is at least fifteen times as strong as ours but there will be no need of our ever trying conclusions with the Japanese land force if we are able to overcome her at sea.

From the sublime to the ridiculous is but a step, hath the proverb well said and apropos of envisaged war with Japan we are now entertaining in Washington a large number of wealthy Japanese tourists. They come from Tokio, Yokohama and Kioto. Your correspondent was in that country and in those cities last October, and is better able to understand the interest and surprise with which these intelligent and progressive people study the folks, the institutions and the manners of the new world.

I have no doubt that our wealth, our prodigality and our wastefulness, in such sharp contrast with their economy and thrift, will astound them more than our automobiles and skyscrapers. They will all be received by the President who will shake each one of them by the hand and talk to those who may be able to speak English but in their own capital at Tokio they would not be allowed to approach within two hundred yards of one of the gates to the wall surrounding the thousand acre park that encloses the palace of the Mikado. The President's daughter, Mrs. Longworth, is entertaining at her home one of the ladies of the party whom she met when, with the Taft party, she visited the Japanese capital.

There is rumor that the Secretary of War, Mr. Taft will soon resign the War portfolio and give his entire attention to his Presidential pose. It is possible however he may wait until after the Chicago convention or until after there is absolute assurance that he will be nominated. The events of the last week doubtless considerably strengthened his presidential candidacy. It is said that the President is in high spirits at the prospect of Taft's nomination and that next to battle ships that this is the dearest object of his hopes.

Oliver Avery.

Mr. Oliver Avery was born in Moorevilles Mich., Oct. 30, 1888, and died at his home in Brownville April 13, 1908, of typhoid fever. He was married Jan. 4, 1908, to Miss Inice Mattison of this place. They lived a happy life until death parted them. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, father, Stephen Avery, of Plymouth, Mich., a sister, Elnora, of the same place, and a host of other relatives and friends.

He was a member of the K. O. T. M. lodge, who held the services at the grave, Rev. Blanch Young officiated. He was laid at rest in Brookside cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our beloved one, also the K. O. T. M. lodge.

Easter at the Universalist Church.

The church was simply but tastefully decorated with Easter lillies, potted plants and cut flowers with a touch of graceful white drapery. The dignity and beauty of the whole effect appealed pleasantly to the artistic sense. The design of the morning service which was to bring home to young and old with fresh power and vividness, the resurrection lesson, was well realized both in the Sunday school exercises and in the Easter sermon on the text "For this corruptible must put on incorruption and this mortal must put on immortality. Thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

The church proved inadequat to the accomodation of the large number who came to hear the fine program of the evening. Every number on the program had a merit of its own. The anthems and the quartette were greatly enjoyed. It will be long before the memory of the exquisite harmonies in "I'm a Pilgrim" a contralto solo by Miss McKinney with vocal accompaniment by Miss Gaston, Mr. Ellis and Mr. Kramer, will fade from the minds of those who heard it and "Fear not, O Israel" was a fitting climax for an evening of rare musical delights.

The solo work was of an exceptionally high order. Ellsworth Ellis in his selection "Hosanna" by Jules Ganier, surpassed himself and that is no mean praise. Mr. Kramer, who is new to Tecumseh audiences, made a host of friends with his excellent bass voice. His solo "The Crown of the Hill," was especially appreciated. The piano selections by Mrs. F. B. Wood were rendered in her usual faultless manner, to the deep delight of all. Her interpretation of Mendelssohn's Spring Song was a revelation to most who heard it. The service was pervaded throughout by a profoundly religious atmosphere, although the specifically religious features were very brief and simple.

Go to Cuba, Old Man!

When the advice was given to young men 30 years ago to "Go West," it was excellent advice for YOUNG MEN. But not for old men. The West was sure, but too slow for the old men, and the trials were too great. Cuba is different. Cuba will do in 5 years what the West did in 30. The West WAS O. K., but TODAY look to Cuba.

Cuba will come quick enough for the OLD man, and the climate is so soft and agreeable that it will add 10 or 20 years to your life.

WRITE US. Just send your name and address on a postal card. We want to tell you more of Cuba. You can get a lot from magazines, but our information is first-handed.

Mr. Joseph K. Farrand, a wealthy farmer and capitalist of Colon, St. Joseph county, Mich., has recently returned from a trip to Cuba to visit the orange groves at Herradura, Province of Pinar del Rio. He says that he considers investments in the orange groves, which are being grown and sold by the Herradura Plantation Co., 502 Whitney Building., Detroit, Mich., as safe as mortgages on Michigan real estate and feels sure that the money invested will double every three or four years. Large or small investments can be made and all are safe-guarded by the U. S. Government. The investments can be made in small monthly or annual payments. When a man puts his own money in, he feels sure that he is telling the truth. Mr. Farrand is transferring his investments from real estate mortgages to orange and grape fruit groves, sold by the Herradura Plantation Co.

Of Interest to the One Big Family, 'Where there is a right, there is a remedy."

We suppose the common council with its other important matters under consideration has remembered that section 5528 of the Compiled Laws of 1897 provides as follows:—"It shall be the duty of the Mayor, by and with consent of common council of every city and of the president, by and with the consent of the board of trustees or village council of every incorporated village in this state on or before the first day of May of each year to appoint in and for their respective cities and villages, three competent mechanics, builders or architects to be known as the board of building inspectors of such cities and villages respectively, who shall hold and execute the duties of their offices until their successors shall be appointed and enter upon the duties of their offices; and whose duty it shall be to make inspection of buildings and structures in their respective cities and villages as herein provided."

And also that section 5527 provides:—"That it shall be unlawfull for any hall theatre, opera house, church, school house or building of any kind whatsoever, in any city or incorporated village to be used for the assemblage of people unless the same is provided with ample means for the safe and speedy egress of the persons therein assembled in case of alarm." There are several meeting places in town that seem to need the attention of the "board of building inspectors" and we hope the three competent architects which the law requires have been appointed, and will get busy.

No better advice could be given to every member of the "Big Family" than that given by Emerson when he says "Stay at home in your own mind, don't recite other people's opinions." We know that it is the active, busy brain that develops and becomes a power. We often wonder how a certain person attains so quickly, be assured it is because he "Stays at home in his own mind."

You cannot name a club, society or any body of people that meet frequently, but are ruled by two or three members. Have opinions of your own, don't show a shiftless lazy mentality and when some important question comes up to decide or, vote upon "Stay at home in your own mind" don't be ruled by some one else.

* * *

Another substantial proof that we are one Big Family lies in the fact that when the Pioneer society wish to place a boulder to mark to mark the placed of the first home in this county, the Smith estate through Geo. U. Smith, immediately donated sufficient ground to make a pretty little park on which to place that monument.

It is a great aid to a worthy purpose and greatly appreciated by the society, who hope to make this an attractive spot. Now let any other public spirited citizen who wishes to beautify the town and perpetuate the memory of those courageous souls who first settled in this wilderness follow Mr. Smith's example with a contribution to the fund which is being raised for the purpose.

The latest fad to govern your child is by telepathy. No more will you find the switch reposing behind the door, if you wish to reprove your child feed him on mental suggestions. You can mould him for good or bad—so says Dr. Frederick VanEeder, an eminent sociologist of Holland. Mental telepathy is a sure cure for juvenile evils and ills.

Jesse P. Morris of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for cough and lung diseases in the world." Sold under guarantee at C. A. Wright & Son's. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free

JURY

In the Case of the People against

MARVIN GREGG AND CHARLES THOMAS

Of Macon. Found them Not Guilty.

At 1 30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of the people vs Marvin Gregg and Charles Thomas took their places in the jury box and Atty. J. L. O'Mealey took the floor and made the final plea for the defense. He traced their past life, showing how they procured the liquor which he claimed drove them to their task. Prosecuting Attorney Hart at the conclusion of Mr. O'Mealey's plea, presented the people's side of the case in a clear, forceful argument. He pointed out how the law applied to the different phases of the case and asked the jurymen to perform their full duty according to their convictions.

Judge Chester gave his charge to the jury stating that if they were convinced that the boys intended to wreck the train they should bring in a verdict of "guilty," but if they did not intend to wreck the train then they should be found "not guilty." It will be remembered that these boys were charged with placing obstructions on the Wabash track, east of Britton, on the night of Nov. 21, with the intent of wrecking trains. The boys declare that if it had not been for the liquor they had procured, the idea of placing obstructions on the track would not have entered their heads. The jury found the boys "not guilty."

Dr. Arthur Oven.

Word was received here Saturday of the death of Dr. Arthur Oven of Petoskey, Mich., his death occurring suddenly Friday. Dr. Oven was a former Macon boy and the remains were taken there this morning for burial. He leaves his wife and two children, Zoe and Paul, to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and father.

No man ever succeeded in life if he was afraid to work hard enough to get tired.

RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES.

Help comes quickly when Hyomei is used for catarrh

The quick relief that comes from the Hyomei treatment for catarrh is most remarkable. Put a few drops of liquid Hyomei in the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, and before you have used the treatment for five minutes you will notice relief from your catarrhal troubles.

It gives a tonic healing effect to air you breathe, kills all catarrhal germs, stops the poisonous secretion, soothes the irritated mucous membrane and makes a marked improvement in the general health.

Hyomei is not a cure all; it has but one aim, the cure of catarrh and diseases of respiratory organs. when the catarrh is cured, the general health is improved, for then nature has a chance to build up the whole system.

If you suffer from offensive breath, raising of mucous, frequent sneezing, husky voice, discharge from the nose droppings in the throat, loss of strength, spasmodic coughing and felling of tightness across the upper part of the chest, general weakness and debility, or any other symtoms of catarrh, you should begin to use Hyomei at once. It will destroy all disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs and makes a quick and permanent cure of catarrh.

So strong is the belief in the power of Hyomei to cure all catarrhal troubles that with every $100 outfit C. A. Wright & Son give a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Faint heart ne'er won fair lady: neither did it ever escape the clutches of one.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disordess, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them? Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to preform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases cure your self now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Tecumseh testimony:

Mrs. Chas. Stevenson, Wyandotte St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as they proved of great benefit to me. After an attack of malaria I began to be troubled with sharp pains in my back and kidneys. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box at Wright & Son's drug store and began taking them. They proved to be just the remedy I required. In a short time the pains left my back, the kidney secretions assumed their natural color and my health improved. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Many sober, industrious men wish their wives were as patient, industrious and economical as a drunkard's wife.

Most disfiguring skin eruptions, pimples, scrofula, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes you clear eyed, clear-brained, clear-skinned.

Mr. S. L. Bowen of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease so that at times I could not get out of bed and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's kidney cure. One dollar a bottle and part of the second cured me entirely." Foley's kidney cure works wonders where others are total failures. Sold by all druggists.

How to avoid appendicitis.

Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated. Orino laxative fruit syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino laxative fruit syrup does not nauseate or grip and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all druggists.

The Servant.

"Remember," said the patriot, "that so long as you hold public office you are a servant of the people, a plain servant."

"Great Scott!" answered the suburban resident who had just been elected. "Can I act as haughty and overbearing and take as many holidays as all that?"—Washington Star.

Needles and Pins.

The Lancet tells of a peculiar case in a London hospital. The patient, a healthy Scotch girl, aged twenty years, was in the habit of putting pins in her mouth and sometimes had been known to fall asleep without removing them. She was admitted to the hospital, having swallowed five pins accidentally while fixing clothes, and by the help of emetics she was relieved of them. Returning home, she began regularly to vomit pins and got rid of twenty-three in the course of a month. She then began to produce needles, and in a fortnight thirteen came out from the following situations: The left nostril, the origin of the sternomastoid behind the left ear and a spot on the front of the right forearm. At the same time she continued vomiting pins until seventy-five had appeared. The needles were blackened and slightly eroded, and two of them were threaded with about three inches of thread.

HER NEWSPAPER DAD.

He Isn't Always Cross; Sometimes He Is Positively Jubilant.

Newspaper daddies are funny, I think. Mine's one. He's fushiest at breakfast, only it isn't breakfast, 'cause it's lunch, and that's another funny thing about it.

"Where's 'smornin's paper?" he asks mamma the first thing when he comes downstairs. And then when she looks sort of childishly at him 'cause he's a little gruff he hurries up and says, "Good morning, everybody," just as though he felt kind-a 'shamed of himself.

And then he won't talk when he gets his old paper. He just sticks his nose into it and looks at one page after another just as fast as he can, and then he begins all over again and does it slower and keeps still for quite awhile.

Then mamma and I wait for an explosion.

"Ijits!" he says. "They couldn't spell 'cat' right."

Then he goes chasing from one page to another as fast as ever he can, talking to himself, and when he's got real mad he shouts at mamma: "They buried it! See. They buried it back there—way back there, of course, and it's the best story in the paper!"

Then mamma says, quiet, like a calm after a storm, "Come, dear, your coffee ⁚ get cold."

But he's more like a bear than a dear, and he doesn't come, but he keeps on growling at the old paper. I guess he finally gets tired of himself, too, and then he jumps up, throws the paper on the chair and tries to dodge mamma's funny smile.

Mamma's awfully patient, I think, and she never gets mad, but just smiles and smiles at daddy when he gets cross at things. Sometimes she asks him why he wants to keep on being a newspaper man if it's so awful. One time he answered and said it was because if he kept on working sixteen hours a day maybe the office would some time give him as much as the stereotyper gets for working eight hours a day. Mamma said that was sarcasm. I guess he thinks sarcasm must be a good thing for the office, 'cause he most always talks that way about it.

But newspaper daddies aren't always cross. Sometimes mine hurries downstairs a whole lot earlier, and then when he grabs the paper he smiles all over and shouts at mamma:

"See that story? That's a clean scoop, and a bully one! That's worth living for! And, say, won't the fellows on the old Bugle feel sore, though!

"I tell you," he says then, "one day like that is worth a bicycle of Cathay," whatever that is.

And then mamma looks at me and smiles, 'cause we both think he's funny sometimes.—Des Moines (Ia.) Register.

A Great Lawyer's Method.

Writing of "Civilian Leaders of the Confederacy" in the Louisville Courier-Journal, John Goode says of Judah P. Benjamin:

"The first time I met him we discussed the practice of law, and in the course of the conversation he asked me what we considered a good fee in my part of the country, to which I replied that we considered $500 a very respectable fee. He smiled and said: "When I practiced law in New Orleans if a man employed me I charged him a retainer. If he came about the office much I charged him a reminder, when I had done some work in the case I charged him a refresher, and when it was all over I charged him a finisher."

Test For Hydrochloric Acid.

A curious mishap gave us a very delicate test for hydrochloric acid in the atmosphere. In a north of England locality many houses have curtains of the cream color produced by methuil yellow, popularly known as "dolly" cream dye and to science as "the sodium salt of meta-amido-benzine sulphonic acid-azo-diphenyl-amine." Some of these cream colored curtains suddenly changed to heliotrope. Investigation showed that an accidental escape of hydrochloric acid from a neighboring alkali plant had discolored the curtains, and the dye became a most useful test.

An Episode in Court.

"You are charged with snatching a woman's pocketbook."

"I know it, judge. But I wouldn't do such a thing, hungry and broke as I am."

"Too conscientious, I suppose?"

"No. I don't pretend that. But why should I snatch a woman's pocketbook? What would I want with a couple of car tickets, a powder rag, a piece of chewing gum and a dressmaker's address?"

Once more a shrewd criminal overshot his mark. His familiarity with the contents convicted him.—Washington Star.

Why He Was Suspicious.

"There is something suspicious about that," remarked the young man named Brown as he hung up the telephone receiver.

"About what?"

"Why, I just called up the home of a girl who has led me to believe that I am the warm favorite and that there are no others on her list." She wasn't at home, so the party who answered the ring said, but it gave me a jar when she added, 'Shall I tell her you called, Mr. White?'"—New York Press.

Beyond the Earth.

"Billkins thinks he knows more than anybody else on earth."

"You state it mildly," answered Miss Cayenne. "Since the assertion that Mars is inhabited he goes further than that."—Washington Star.

Be as pleasant in your own home as you are in your neighbors.

The Choice.

A young man stood before the mirror completing the finishing touches to a toilet of which he felt justly proud.

He was going to call upon the girl's widowed mother to ask for her daughter's hand in marriage.

At last everything was complete except his cravat. Before him on the dressing table spread the two cravats between which his choice rested, one, a neat black with a narrow white stripe, which he had bought himself; the other a cravat which the girl had given him for a present, a tie such as only women purchase.

"If I wear the black and white one, I'll look my best," he mused. "On the other hand, if I wear the one she gave me I'll please her immensely, but will look like a fright!"

Then he whistled, walked around the room and carefully tied his cravat.

The mother said: "Yes," although there were tears in her eyes, and the girl thought he was the handsomest and best dressed man in the world.

Which cravat did he wear?—Bohemian Magazine.

UP TO OLD TRICKS.

Prince De Sagan Tried to Disguise His Presence in Paris.

Paris, April 20.—Prince Helle de Sagan, who arrived here via Cherbourg on the steamship St. Paul, essayed to resume the secrecy which he unsuccessfully sought to carry out in the United States. Instead of coming direct to Paris, he left the steamer train at Evreux, about sixty-five miles from this city, after having requested his fellow passengers not to mention his plan. At Evreux he resumed his journey to Paris by automobile.

The prince declined to grant an interview to the newspapermen who finally discovered him and refused to answer questions relative to the statement published by the Cri de Paris that he and Madame Gould already were married.

The passengers on the steamer, with whom the prince freely intermingled during the voyage, say that he told them that he regretted he could not entertain them in Paris, as he expected soon to leave the city, going probably to Italy. Some of the passengers added that the prince did not act like a married or engaged man, being devoted to a young English girl throughout the voyage.

The French newspapers generally ignore the de Sagan-Gould affair, except where they ridicule the prince on account of his reported interviews and his conduct in the United States and express the hope that the "international farce" will soon be ended.

TERRIBLE MISTAKE.

Brothers Are Killed by Policemen, Being Mistaken For Burglars.

Columbus, O., April 20.—Mistaken for burglars, John and William D. Frank, sons of R. O. Frank, grocer, were shot and killed here by City Patrolmen Heinz and Casey. Casey was suspended, pending an investigation, but Heinz remains on duty. Shortly before the shooting, burglars were discovered by neighbors in Frank's grocery, 1221 Parsons avenue. The owner of the store and the police were informed about the same time of the burglary. The two young men who wre later shot, another brother, Bert, and William Yoeger hastily armed themselves and ran to the store. Patrolmen Heinz and Casey were watching in the shadows of the building when the four young men arrived, and each party mistook the other for the burglars.

According to Yoerger, W. D. Frank fired a rifle four times at Patrolman Heinz, who drew a revolver and fatally wounded the young man. Patrolman Casey ordered the other three men to throw up their hands, and they did so, the survivors say. Patrolman Casey declares, however, that John Frank did not throw up his hands, but aimed a revolver at the patrolman. Casey then shot John Frank.

HER BODY MANGLED.

Remains of Benton Harbor Woman Found on Track Near Eau Claire.

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 20.—A tragic death in which there is more or less mystery has occurred at Eau Claire village, east of here. The body of Mrs. George Tutton, wife of a prominently known citizens of this city, was found on the Big Four railroad tracks, badly cut and mangled. Mrs. Tutton had left Benton Harbor for Eau Claire on an interurban car. Arriving at the village, she left the car, supposedly for a farm. Nothing was seen of her from then on until the corpse was discovered. Many theories are advanced by officers who are endeavoring to ascertain the movements of the woman after she left the village. Though evidence of foul play is apparently lacking, yet several unexplained circumstances in the case have impelled the authorities to make a thorough investigation. A coroner's jury was impaneled and, after viewing the remains, adjourned so as to permit the coroner to gather facts.

Change Postoffice Plans.

Flint, Mich., April 20.—When the ground was broken for the new postoffice last week, it was a matter of generally expressed regret on the part of the citizens that the building was placed so close to the street, instead of allowing a greater lawn frontage. The attention of the Flint Improvement league was interested, the result being that a telegram from Congressman Wm. W. Smith at Washington, was received, stating that he had conferred with Architect Taylor and that changes would be made.

Ex-Governor's Daughter Kills Self.

Chicago, April 20.—Jessie Llewellyn Call, daughter of former Governor Llewellyn of Kansas, committed suicide in her room at a hotel here by taking poison. Despondency, because of ill health, is believed to have been the cause.

ABYSS OF OCEAN.

Effects of the Fearful Pressure in the Depths of the Sea.

More than half the surface of the globe is hidden beneath water two miles deep; 7,000,000 square miles lie at a depth of 18,000 feet or more. Many places have been found five miles and more in depth. The greatest depth yet sounded is 31,200 feet, near the island of Guam.

If Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, were plucked from its seat and dropped into this spot, the waves would still roll 2,000 feet above its crest.

Into this terrible abyss the waters press down with a force of more than 10,000 pounds to the square inch. The stanchest ship ever built would be crumbled under this awful pressure like an eggshell under a steam roller.

A pine beam fifteen feet long which held open the mouth of a trawl used in making a cast at a depth of more than 18,000 feet, was crushed flat, as if it had been passed between rollers.

The body of the man who should attempt to venture to such depths would be compressed until the flesh was forced into the interstices of the bones and his trunk was no larger than a rolling pin. Still, the body would reach the bottom, for anything that will sink in a tub of water will sink to the uttermost depths of the ocean.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Train Kills Farmer.

Morenci, Mich., April 20.—Alford Furman, a farmer, sixty years old, was struck by a fast Wabash passenger train, one mile east of North Morenci, and instantly killed. He lived near Seneca village and was on his way home, walking on the tracks, after a day spent in Morenci. At one time he owned a good farm, but drink and bad investments had left him penniless.

"Father of Baseball" Dying.

New York, April 20.—Henry Chadwick, known throughout the country as the "father of baseball," is reported to be dying at his residence in Brooklyn. Mr. Chadwick is suffering from pneumonia and heart trouble. He is eighty-three years old. Mr. Chadwick was born in England and came to the United States when a youth. He has written many articles on baseball and other popular pastimes. He was an authority on the rules of his favorite game.

Arizona Convention Splits.

Tucson, Ariz., April 20.—The Republican territorial convention met and split, each faction selecting delegates to the national convention. Contesting delegations were present from Cochis, Marcopa and Gila counties. Governor Kibbey led the faction of the Marcopa delegation favoring instructions for Taft. The credentials committee seated the delegations that opposed instructions, and Governor Kibbey withdrew, taking with him a majority of the delegates. The convention soon rallied from the disorder and adopted resolutions, indorsing the national and the territorial administration and warmly eulogizing Senator Foraker. It did not instruct the national delegates elected.

Once Rich; Dies Miserable Death.

Marshall, Mich., April 20.—While being brought to the county jail here, to serve fifteen days for drunkenness, William C. Kellogg, son of the late former Sheriff L. C. Kellogg, who was in his day the richest man in Calhoun county, died on an interurban car. Kellogg was once a prominent member of the Calhoun county bar. He inherited his father's fortune and embarked on a career of fast living, which ended in his death.

Teachers Were Buncoed.

Pontiac, Mich., April 20.—County School Commissioner Elliott is authority for the statement that many of the teacher of Oakland county have been buncoed by representatives of a Chicago concern, who unloaded a course of study on the unsuspecting pedagogues at $35 per. The commissioner says that when the teachers received the books ordered, they found they had received a valueless course.

TROPHY FOR TROOPS.

Beautiful Trophy Tendered M. N. G. By Wagner Rifle Club.

AN OWOSSO ORGANIZATION.

Cup Will Be Known as Wagner-Wimbleton Trophy—Modeled After Famous Wimbelton Cup—General's Splendid Career Thus Recognized.

Owosso, Mich., April 23.—At a meeting of the state military board, at Lansing Wednesday, a communication was received from the Wagner Rifle club of Owosso, a civilian organization, tendering a handsome cup to the board for an annual competition among the officers and men of the Michigan national guard and the Michigan state naval brigade.

The cup will be known as the Wagner-Wimbleton trophy, in honor of General Carl A. Wagner, inspector general of the Michigan national guard, and modled after the famous Wimbleton cup, presented thirty-two years ago, by Great Britain, to the United States for annual competition. The terms of the match will be the same as in the Wimbleton match, fifteen shots at 1,000 yards.

The cup will be manufactured after a unique design by Robert Kay of Detroit and will soon be on exhibition. The first competition will undoubtedly be held on the new Detroit range, in the autumn. The cup is named for General Wagner because of the splendid work of that officer in behalf of rifle practice and the advancement in general of the Michigan national guard.

He was captain of a company in the Thirty-third infantry in Cuba during the Spanish-American war. For several years past he has been a director of the National Rifle association and has always insisted that a soldier, to be a true soldier, should be able to shoot straight.

The Owosso club, in tendering the trophy, is merely acting as the representative of a number of military and civilian admirers of General Wagner in the state.

It was felt that the trophy could be appropriately presented by the club, since that, too, is named for General Wagner. The trophy is the first for long distance shooting that the Michigan troops possess, the Ellis-Fordney veterans' trophy and the Evening Press trophy being for short and mid-range shooting.

Boys Escape Conviction.

Adrian, Mich., April 23.—Confessing to the officers at the time that they committed the act and not even denying it when placed on the witness stand, Marvin Gregg and Charles Thomas, two Macon township boys charged with placing obstructions on the Wabash track east of Britton the night of Nov. 21 last, with intent to wreck the train, were found "not guilty" by a circuit court jury. When the boys were arrested and arraigned, the Thomas boy, on being asked why he committed the act, said, "To see the cars pile up." The defense argued that if it had not been for the boys drinking blackberry brandy and whisky, the thought of placing the obstructions would never have entered their minds. The Thomas boy admitted on the stand that when he committed the act, his mind was clear.

Former Professor Wants Divorce.

Detroit, Mich., April 23.—Professor W. S. Hazelton is suing his wife for divorce in the Wayne circuit court, and the sessions are attracting considerable interest because of the picturesque charges the former U. of M. teacher makes against Mrs. Hazelton. He declares that he was forced to wash dishes, dust the furniture and watch his meals grow cold while she said long prayers blessing the food. The ex-professor also told the court she declared that she did not love him and that she wished she had become a missionary.

Dewey Succeeds Himself.

Owosso, Mich., April 23.—Edmund O. Dewey, for the past eight years postmaster of this city, has received a message from Senator Burrows of the committee on postoffices and post roads, announcing himself as postmaster.

Woman Awarded Verdict of $4,046.50.

Flint, Mich., April 23.—In the case of Mrs. Kate L. Peck of Swartz Creek against the Grand Trunk railroad, the jury awarded a judgment of $4,046.50 in favor of the plaintiff. Her husband, William A. Peck, was killed on the Swartz Creek crossing, about two years ago.

SENATE MUST ACT.

President Wants Money For Two New Battleships.

ELSE HE WILL VETO BILL.

Measure, as It Came From House, Carried No Money Provision—Senator Hale Will Offer Amendment Providing Fund of $7,000,000.

Washington, April 23.—President Roosevelt will veto the naval appropriation bill should the senate, as did the house, fail to make any appropriation for the two battleships authorized in the measure. The prompt announcement of this fact to senate leaders is regarded as responsible for the announcement by Mr. Hale that he should propose an additional appropriation of $7,000,000 towards construction of those ships.

The president stated his position on this point with equal emphasis and suddenness, upon learning that the bill, as passed by the house, was simply a paper provision for naval increase. Authorization of the ships was made, but no money carried to make the provision effective. Such legislation as this, the president made known to his numerous congressional callers, was a travesty as to effectiveness, as well as bearing all the earmarks of legislative ledgerdemain, intended to make ridiculous his campaign for the greater navy.

Hale Will Offer Amendment.

That the president's quick and vigorous action is to be effective is evidenced by the action of Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee in announcing that at the proper time he will propose the $7,000,000 amendment.

There is not the slightest indication that the president has ceased his fight for four new battleships, according to the evidence of senators who have talked with him. Senators who are with the president in the fight on this proposition admit that a careful survey of their strength in the senate gives but a vote of twenty-six in that body in favor of the president's naval program for four ships.

President Roosevelt has just signed the employers' liability bill, having received an opinion from Attorney General Bonaparte that the measure was constitutional.

The bill makes railroads or other common carriers, while engaged in interstate commerce, liable for the injury or death of an employe, if the injury or death results, in whole or in part, from the negligence of any of the officers, agents or employes of such carriers, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency in equipment. This provision is made applicable also to carriers in the territories, the District of Columbia, the Panama canal zone and other possessions of the United States.

Won't Molest Venezuela.

Administration officials have practically abandoned the expectation that the senate will at this session of congress authorize the president to take punitive measures against Venezuela for her refusal to refer to arbitration the disputed claims of American citizens and corporations against that country. All the papers in the case are before the senate committee on foreign relations, and ample time has been given for a reasonably thorough consideration of the matter.

Public opinion as to the merits of the controversy or the propriety of the United States taking summary action has not developed to any great extent, the officials say, as a result of the publication of this correspondence, and for this reason the senate committee probably does not feel justified in acting.

Want Federal Form of Government.

Columbus, O., April 23.—Only the signature of the governor is required to make a law of a bill by Representative Paine of Lucas county, providing the federal form of government for cities of Ohio, which has passed the senate and the house. Under the bill, the mayor will appoint a director of public safety and a director of public service, instead of present boards, the mayor and two directors to constitute a board of control. Civil service for cities is also provided.

Rector to Become Priest.

Huntington, W. Va., April 23.—An incendiary fire early in the morning caused the deaths of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Brumfield. The isolated house in which they lived was wrapped in flames when Brumfield awoke, and it was with difficulty that he aroused his wife and leaped from a window to the ground with her in his arms. Three children, all under twelve, sleeping in another room, were cremated.

MAGNIFICENT BALL.

Los Angeles Function Rivals Inaugural Event

IN HONOR FLEET'S OFFICERS

Shriners' Auditorium Was Beautifully Decorated—Rain Hinders Carrying Out of Program For Enlisted Men. Storm Prevented Visits to Ships.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 23.—A ball last night, rivaling in its wealth and brilliant effects an inaugural function at Washington, brought to a close the fifth day of the stay of the American battleship fleet at the ports of Los Angeles.

The dance was given in the immense Shriners' auditorium, in honor of the admirals and officers of the fleet, and it is estimated that more than 1,200 couples took part in the grand march, which was led by Rear Admiral Charles N. Thomas and Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, wife of General Chaffee, chairman of the officers' entertainment committee. The officers were attired in full evening dress uniform, and the glitter of gold lace mingled everywhere with the blended colors of the splendid gowns worn by the women.

The program of dancing was a long one, beginning promptly at 9:30 o'clock and calling for carriages at 3 a. m. Suppers were served at 11:30 p. m. and at 1 a. m., in a dining room which was decorated in a fashion almost as elaborate as the auditorium itself.

The ball was the last big public function of the fleet's stay, and it took rank with the admiral's banquet of last Monday evening as a notable event in the society of the city. It brought to one exceptionally happy conclusion a day of leaden skies and heavy showers, which caused a postponement of most of the outdoor celebrations, including the boxing bouts, the barbecues and wild west shows, which have constituted the most generous and lavish entertainments ever planned anywhere in honor of the enlisted men of th United States navy.

More than 3,000 bluejackets and marines came ashore in the early morning, and, while disappointed that the principal features of the day had to be abandoned, turned to and had a good time despite the rain. They reefed their flapping trouser legs and blouses, made snug their flat topped caps and went galloping through the city on horseback in large numbers. Others, with faces wreathed in smiles, were whirled about in automobiles, to their evident delight, and still others were entertained at indoor luncheons, matinees and theater parties in the evening. Three-fourths of the fleet entertainment fund, raised in this city, has been spent on the enlisted men. They have shown their appreciation of the attention devoted to them by making a record of conduct which reflects a standard of the present enlisted force of the naval establishment.

The storm put an end to many entertainments, afloat as well as ashore. A stiff breeze from the southwest piled up a heavy sea on the beaches and prevented visitors going on board the ships. The vessels of the first division—the Connecticut, Kansas, Vermont and Louisiana—anchored in the lee of the long protecting breakwater at San Pedro, did not feel the effects of the blow and rough water outside. They were open to visitors throughout the day.

Probing Paper "Trust."

New York, April 23.—The federal grand jury has begun an investigation of the Fibre & Manila Paper Manufacturers' association, alleged to be one of the seven groups of the so-called paper trust. Before the inquiry is closed, it is stated, the grand jury is likely to extend the scope of the investigation to include all the other paper manufacturers' associations, which, it is charged, are operating in violation of law.

Tourists Visit New Crater.

Naples, April 23.—Three hundred American tourists have just landed here from the White Star steamer Cretic and visited the new and imposing crater of Solfatara, near Pozzuoli, which recently has become active. Frank A. Perret, the American engineer, who was an assistant to Professor Matteucci, director of the royal observatory on Mt. Vesuvius during the eruption of 1906, is studying the new phenomenon.

BLIND MAN KILLED.

Wandered Out on Interurban Car Track at Night.

Pontiac, Mich., April 23.—Charles Blount, a blind man, seventy years old, living south of Troy Corners, was struck and instantly killed by an interurban car on the Flint division of the Detroit United railway at night. The old man was killed in front of his own home, and his body was terribly mangled.

As far as could be learned, Blount must have been either standing or walking in the middle of the tracks. The motorman of the car was unaware that he was bearing down upon him until the front fender struck him.

Blount's head was severed from his body, and his arms and legs were badly mutilated and crushed. The car was stopped as soon as possible, and the mangled form of the old man was lifted from the fender.

Blount was unmarried and made his home with a niece, Mrs. May L. Butler. Mrs. Butler stated that the old man had left the house just a few minutes previous to the accident and must have wandered out on the track, in front of the approaching car.

Accidentally Kills Friend.

Bay City, Mich., April 23.—While conversing with Nelson Norgan, Harry Maxson, thirty-three years old, was shot in the right leg by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of Norgan, who stood within five feet of him. The entire charge of duck shot entered the leg, nearly blowing it off. Maxson was brought to this city from Bangor township, where the accident occurred, and the limb was amputated. He died within three hours. Norgan was a neighbor and close friend, and his grief at the death of his friend is inconsolable.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Gus Keene, the Muskegon saloon keeper who was held on two charges, one of which was conducting a disorderly place, has skipped out of town. His bondsmen have paid $600, the amount he was held under.

Charles McGuire was found guilty in the circuit court in Muskegon of horse stealing and was sentenced to two and one-half years at Ionia. He stole a horse belonging to Mrs. J. Dowie.

Edward Cooley, who escaped from the Boyne City jail two years ago while being held on a charge of forgery, was caught at Flint. On the way to the train he assaulted the Charlevoix deputy, and it was not until assistance came that he was firmly handcuffed.

Frank Kresina, about twelve years old, is in jail at Adrian. Deputy Shaw picked him up in Blissfield. The lad says he lives at 4140 East Seventy-first street, Cleveland, and left home to go west to be a cowboy. Fourteen dollars and a big revolver were a part of his belongings.

Nick Gutenkunst, aged twenty-seven, living in Eighth street, Wyandotte, was almost instantly killed by a Lake Shore train at the Dearborn road crossing, Delray. Gutenkunst had attempted to board a moving train, when he slipped and fell under the wheels. He was badly mangled.

L. L. Osgoode, aged seventy-three years, of Big Rapids, veteran of the civil war, is dead. He was a descendant of an ancient English family, his grandfather, Benjamin Osgoode, having been presented with a coat of arms by King James I. for service as one of the captains of the Blue regiment. In the civil war he took part in eleven battles and was severely wounded in the battle of Cold Harbor.

TAKE BALLOON TRIP.

President's Son One of Party of Three to Journey to Delaware.

Washington, April 23.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., with Captain Fitzhugh Lee, the president's military aide, and Captain Chandler of the signal corps in charge of the experiments with army balloons, made an ascension Wednesday from this city.

A number of friends of the two passengers were present at the gas works from which the balloon was sent up including Mrs. Longworth, Mrs. Wadsworth, Mrs. Beveridge, Professor and Mrs. Alexander Graham Bell and Generals Ainsworth, Allen and Aleshire of the army.

The baloon took a course almost due north in the direction of Baltimore, making about twenty miles an hour. There was a trifle too much wind blowing for comfort when the balloon started.

At 10:10 o'clock last night the following dispatch from Captain Chandler at Wilmington, Delaware, was received:

Wilmington, Del., April 22.—Signal corps balloon landed safely four miles north of Delaware City, Del., 5:15 p. m. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Captain Lee, passengers.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

There are countless roads on all sides to the grave.

Kodol for dyspepsia has helped thousands of people who have had stomach trouble. This is what one man says of it: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill. —Gentlemen—In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. I could not digest anything I ate and in the spring of 1902 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., Aug. 29, 1906."

Do not make unjust gains, they are equal to a loss.

An insidious danger

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure at the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. Sold by all druggists.

Unlike nearly all other cough remedies, it does not constipate, but on the other hand it acts promptly yet gently on the bowels, through which the cold is forced out of the system and at the same time it allays inflammation. Always use Kennedy's laxative cough syrup. Sold by all druggists.

I had one foot in the grave but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at C. A. Wright and Son's drug store 50c.

When Lady Betty Held the Candle.

By ORMOND GREY.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Jessie Morgan.

"Jeffry," said my uncle when he caught me sulking and demanded an explanation, "all women are good at heart, but all women are abnormally uncertain. They will go their own way, whether we like it or not, and perforce we must put up with their whimsies and make the best of it. If your cousin Betty is capricious, give her to understand that you would rather have her that way than not. Then she will no longer have any desire to keep your head whirling."

This was one day after Lady Betty had trifled with my love and dignity, and I had gone to Sir Hugh Rivington, the dearest of relatives and the best of patrons, to declare that I should at once sail away for Spain and offer my sword as a soldier of fortune. I would depart within a week, and as for Lady Betty, she might marry whom she pleased or die a spinster.

"I think myself that the filly has romped long enough," continued Sir Hugh as he laid a kindly hand on my shoulder, "and that the halter should now be slipped over her head. But how to do it, Jeffry—how to do it? Indeed, let us plan."

And plan we did.

Four days after our planning the Lady Betty set out for the country seat of the Marchioness of Littleton, nine leagues distant, there to tarry for the space of two weeks. Naturally her maid accompanied her, and besides the coachman and footman there were two armed and mounted servants to prevent the knights of the road from coming too close.

Sir Hugh and myself were to follow on horseback two days later, or so it was understood. Scarce had we waved the coach out of sight when the good man pinched my ear in playful way and said:

"The plan worketh thus far without hitch or suspicion. The adventures of the night wilt give thee a bride within a month, Jeffry, the capricious filly is haltered."

At 3 o'clock that afternoon, when the coach had reached Featherstone, hardly more than half the journey, the capricious Lady Betty decided to remain there for the night. At sundown she decided to push on to the White Hart inn, two leagues farther, saying it would be romantic to ride beneath the stars of the summer night.

Her great coach had rolled out of the courtyard. The last league had been entered upon, and the night had become fairly dark when an uproar suddenly occurred. That uproar should have been caused by two pretended highwaymen hired for the occasion, and the guards should have fired a shot or two at them and then fled, as per orders, but, alas, for our well laid plans against the maid!

Our hired varlets lost their way and did not appear in time, and the two that did come forward were genuine members of the profession. Our two merry thieves were to abduct the Lady Betty and her jewel box and hang on to them until meeting me on foaming steed, and I was then to drive them away in short order with pistol and rapier and rescue the damsel all forlorn.

In her gratitude and admiration, how could she say nay when I asked that the marriage day be named and that there should be no more trifling?

Fate ordained that my horse should cast a shoe and that I should be an hour late at the rescue, and even then it was to learn that the Lady Betty, suspecting my plans and determined to balk them, had actually remained behind at Featherstone and sent only her maid forward in the coach. Sir Hugh and I had planned according to military tactics, but a simple maid had brought our endeavors to naught.

The weather had changed, and the rain was pouring down, and yet I must ride back to Featherstone and secure corroboration of the maid's story before I could feel at ease. Back I rode to be told that when the coach left the inn Lady Betty had taken to horse to complete her journey by another road.

If she had accomplished this without adventure, then I would have been a butt of ridicule indeed. Fate was waiting to play her a shabby trick, however.

The highwaymen who had stopped the coach on the east road had galloped away to the west by a crossroads, and as she reached this in her ride she fell into their hands. A hut in the woods, in which they were making a temporary home, was close at hand, and thither they conducted the frightened and lamenting maiden, to shut her up in the back room while they sat down in the front one to eat, drink and make merry over their plunder.

Plowing my way over the execrable roads amid the downpour, my eye suddenly caught the twinkle of a light in the forest, and I dismounted and approached on foot. Through the open windows I heard the talk of men. Passing to the rear of the hut, I drew myself up to a sashless opening and softly called to know if any one was there.

"Thank heaven, 'tis thee, Jeffry!" came the voice of the Lady Betty in prompt response. "I am in the hands of highwaymen and almost dead with fright. Hast thou sword and pistol with thee, dear boy?"

"In truth I have, but as you have oft asserted that the former is but a toy and the latter a danger for a youth to experiment with, I know not how such arms can aid you in this emergency."

"Nay, nay, Jeffry. I may have spoken slightingly, but it was only the way of a willful maid. However, if thou hast taken it too much at heart, or if thou doubtest thy courage or skill"—

Then I was beside her and my arm around her. It was well that I had not remained longer outside. Of a sudden the men in the front room rose up and flung open the door between us, one of them having a flaring candle in his hand, and at the sight of them the girl moaned and covered her face with her hands.

The ruffians started for a moment and then drew pistols from their belts. The three of us pulled triggers together, but our powder was damp and there was no explosion. Then one sprang back and possessed himself of their swords, and next moment I was fighting the pair of them.

I love to look back on that hour. The glance that my sweetheart gave me would have put heart into a coward. She stooped and lifted up the candle and backed into a corner and held it during all the fight. I took the corner opposite, brave of heart, and then the blades began to sing.

The fellows were bold and lusty and no bunglers with the steel, but within two minutes I knew that I was master despite the odds. Sometimes the white hand holding the candle was steady enough, and our three blades caught the flame and sent it back a hundred times over, and again it wavered about and sent shadows across our faces as we cut and thrust, parried and retreated.

By and by I flashed my rapier into the shoulder of one and the hip of the other, and they were down and out. Then Lady Betty wavered her way through the open door and fell into a chair at the table and dropped her head on her arms and sobbed in a hysterical way. I bade the cursing robbers get up and limp away to be hanged elsewhere, and when I had seen to their going I stood beside the tearful maid and said:

"Dear one, doth it not strike thee that we have been overlong a-wooing?"

"Dear me, but I have never given it a thought!" she replied as she raised her head and dried her tears all in a moment.

"Wilt marry me a month hence, sweetheart?"

"'Tis too ridiculous."

"Or wilt thou wait here until I ride back for a coach and thy maid and wish thee a pleasant journey?"

"Jeffry," she said after a startled look around, "thou art a determined and persistent young man."

"Within a month, dear one? Speak quickly, for the rain hath ceased and the moon is showing her face, and if I am to set out for Featherstone"—

"I shall set out, too," she said as she let me take her hand. "Wherever thou goeth I shall follow and be with thee."

And the capricious Lady Betty was won at last.

A Rash Conclusion.

"Then I am to understand that this is your final answer, Miss Stubbles?"

"My final answer."

"Nothing can move you?"

"Nothing."

"Then my life will be a lonely one and my fate a harsh one, for my uncle with whom I lived has just died and left me"—

"That fact somewhat alters the case, Henry. I cannot be harsh to one who has sustained such recent bereavement. If I could believe that you are sincere"—

"Sincere! Oh, Miss Stubbles!"

"You have certainly made an impression on my heart. Give me time to think of it."

"How long?"

"After all, why think of it? Henry, I am yours!"

"Oh, Genevieve!"

"Do not squeeze me so hard, Henry. Your poor uncle! Was he long ill?"

"Three days."

"It is too bad. You say he left you?"

"Yes; he has left me."

"How much?"

"How much? I said he had left me. He had nothing else to leave. I am alone in the world now, homeless, penniless, but with you by my side—why, she's fainted!"—London Mail.

A Bit of Home.

One is always glad to see a familiar face on foreign soil. Hardly less welcome is the sight of some object associated with one's native country. Some people never discover their patriotism until they catch sight of their flag in a strange land. Mr. Samuel Cox found a bit of the United States in Russia and tells about it in "Arctic Sunbeams."

While visiting Peterhof we were rowed out to a fairy island on the lake. Then the guide took us to an oak about thirty feet high. On it was a brass plate registering the fact that the tree grew from an acorn taken from an oak by George Washington's grave and sent to the Emperor Nicholas. The tree was well grown and thrifty.

It was curious to see how the name Washington was spelled in Russian. I do not know the Russian type, but this is the nearest approach to it I can make:

BamuHrmoHa.

I asked the guide to spell and pronounce it, and he said:

"Va-sha-li-n-g-ton-a!"

Savage Crabs.

The most savage specimen of the crab species is found in Japan, seeming to dream of nothing but fighting, to delight in nothing half so much. The minute he spies another of his kind he scrapes his claws together in rage, challenging him to the combat. Not a moment is wasted in preliminaries, but at it they go, hammer and tongs. It sounds like two rocks grinding against one another. The sand flies as the warriors push each other hither and thither until at last one of them stretches himself out in the sun, tired to death. But he does not beg for mercy or attempt to run away, only feebly rubbing his claws together in defiance of the foe. That foe comes closer, and, with his claws trembling with joy at his victory, the conqueror catches hold of one claw of the vanquished crab, twists it until it comes off and bears away the palpitating limb as a trophy of his prowess. Such is a battle between warrior crabs.

Arctic Dog Life.

Nowhere in the world has the dog such unrestricted right of way as in our most northerly possession—Alaska. In winter, when the more than 600,000 square miles of territory are sealed up in solid ice, dogs are almost the sole means of getting from place to place—in fact, they seem necessary to life itself.

The aristocrats of arctic dog life are the mail teams in the service of the United States government. They are today a superior breed to the dogs employed some half dozen years ago before great gold discoveries demanded increased mail service.—Lida Rose McCabe in St. Nicholas.

A Useful Tree.

The carnahuba palm of Brazil may be said to be the world's most useful tree. Its roots make a very valuable drug, a blood purifier. Its timber will take a high polish and is in demand among cabinetmakers for fine work. The sap becomes wine or vinegar, according to the way it is prepared, and starch and sugar are also obtained from this sap.

The fruit of the tree is a cattle food, the nut is a good coffee substitute, and the pith makes corks.

Go to Cuba, Old Man!

When the advice was given to young men 30 years ago to "Go West," it was excellent advice for YOUNG MEN. But not for old men. The West was sure, but too slow for the old men, and the trials were too great. Cuba is different. Cuba will do in 5 years what the West did in 30. The West WAS O. K., but TODAY look to Cuba.

Cuba will come quick enough for the OLD man, and the climate is so soft and agreeable that it will add 10 or 20 years to your life.

Two Clever Answers.

A pretty southern girl recently showed herself a match for the curious minded women in her boarding house who were bent on knowing what her father's business was.

As a matter of fact, he was an undertaker, but the girl was a bit sensitive on this point, so she made up her mind not to gratify their curiosity. When unduly pressed on the point she answered:

"He's a southern planter."

This was quite within the bounds of truth and completely threw the inquisitive one off the track.

The retort of a well known actress to a similar question about the occupation of her father, who was a letter carrier in her old home, was not inferior in finesse to that of the Dixie girl.

It was when she first began playing in London. Some one asking what business her father was engaged in, she sweetly replied that he was "a man of letters."—Pittsburg Leader.

At 4 in the Morning.

The hour of 4 a. m. has something mysterious about it. Cocks crow, people on the brink of death give up the ghost, every one who is asleep sleeps sounder, and even the watchful sentry can't always keep his eyes open. At this hour people are in their weakest state, and if life is just on the flicker it is not surprising that it goes out. Many a man's life has been saved by a spoonful of ammonia administered just when the clock strikes 4. The period of deepest sleep varies from 3 to 5 o'clock. An hour or two after going to bed you sleep very soundly, then your slumber grows gradually lighter, and it is easy enough to waken you at 1 or 2 o'clock. But when 4 o'clock comes you are in such a state of somnolence that you would take no notice of the end of the world.

Criminals in New South Wales.

New South Wales has a novel system of dealing with habitual criminals. A man is sentenced to a term for his particular offense and to an indeterminate term because he is an "habitual." When he has served the definite term, if he is well behaved, he can rise from grade to grade, each step being accompanied by various concessions. One feature is that he may earn wages, which may be sent to his family, spent on luxuries or credited to him for the day of release. A committee examines his progress from time to time, advising the minister when he may be released. No release is absolute till after a year's probation under modified restraint.

Curiosities in Wedding Rings.

Among the curiosities of wedding rings it is on record that in the early days rings were made of rushes. Perhaps the most curious material used for rings required on an emergency is the case of one being hurriedly made by cutting it out of the finger of a glove and another cut out of a visiting card. Many cases are on record of rings made of brass and iron being used, as also curtain rings and door keys being pressed into service at weddings.

More at Home.

A young fellow being asked by a recruiting sergeant if he wished to enlist in a Scottish regiment, replied:

"Not likely. I'd rather go to a lunatic asylum than enlist in a Scottish regiment."

"Ah, weel," said the sergeant, "I've nae dout ye'd feel mair at hame there."—Dundee Advertiser.

FEDERATION

EVERISS HALL, ADRIAN

Last Tuesday, Thirty delegates were in attendance.

The third annual meeting of the county Federation of Woman's clubs took place on Tuesday in Adrian, at Everiss hall. Thirty delegates were present from away with a large attendance of the women of Adrian. The ladies were welcomed informally and at a quarter of ten Miss Florence Frensdorf of Hudson, president of the federation, called the meeting together. The roll call showed the following clubs represented, Hudson Woman's Literary club, Research Circle, Monday club and Town Federation of Tecumseh, Clinton Culture club. The minutes of the last meeting written by the retiring secretary, Mrs John Carr, were approved as read. The financial standing was considered in the report of Mrs. J. D. Shull treasurer, and this was accepted.

Mrs. Bessie Priddy in behalf of the Adrian Woman's club and in behalf of the entertaining clubs, gave the visitors a hearty welcome. Responses were made by Mrs. Howland, Tecumseh Town Federation; Mrs. Wm. Albert of Tecumseh Monday Club, Mrs. B. Hurry of Tecumseh Research Circle, Mrs. Clark, Clinton Culture Club; Miss Ida Park of Monday Evening Literary Club, Adrian; Mrs. Chas. Humphrey of Adrian Woman's Club. Under the head of reports of standing committees Mrs. J. D. Shull reported for the Boulder committee which has $50 on hand. Mrs. Rose C. Mosher reported the organization of a new club, Clinton Culture Club, which would be ready to begin their work in October.

Committees were appointed, each club being asked to elect a member to the nominating committee. Meedames Geo. Tiffany, Alfred James and Eugene Harris represented the Tecumseh clubs. Miss Frensdorf named the following resolution committee—Meedames F. O. Tefft, Andrew Wilson, Tecumseh; Miss McElroy, Adrian. It was also decided to adopt a color and this was left to the executive committee. The nominating committee made the following report:

Pres.—Mrs. Frank Dodge.

Vice Pres.—Miss Frensdorf. Each club president in the federation is considered a vice president by virtue of her office.

Sec.—Mrs. J. D. Shull.

Treas.—Mrr. C. C. Fisher.

Adjournment was then made until afternoon.

Mrs. Frances Wheeler Smith, president of the State Federation, gave an address in the afternoon and Mrs. Frances B. Mauck, wife of the president of Hillsdale college, was down for an address.

In the afternoon session Mrs. Marion Landon of Addison, proved in her talk that the club could be maintained in a village without a library and Mrs. Alfred Edwards of Adrian township, thought that though the obstacles were many, they would in time be overcome and the rural women living about the cities and villages be given an opportunity of joining the clubs of those places.

The girls of the Industrial Home gave several pleasing musical selections. The address of the president, Miss Frensdorf, was brief, bright and right to the point. Among the suggestions she made was that hereafter each delegate defray her own expenses when attending a meeting, as this would make the work much easier for the club entertaining and more of the club members would be able to attend. She also spoke of influencing the rural school district officers for the betterment of conditions around school houses.

Mrs. Edward's paper on Possibilities of Rural clubs followed. Possibilities of Town and Village clubs was the subject handled by Mrs. Carrie Bryan and Mrs. Marion Landon, the former speaking of the "towa" and the latter of the "village." Mrs. Bryan suggested the improving of school grounds, cleaning up of vacant lots, establishment of drinking fountains, improvement of the library and night schools. Mrs. Landon told of the formation of the club in Addison without a library.

Woman's Congress at County Fairs was spoken of by Mrs. Mauck, who said that this had been successfully tried in Hillsdale. They started first with a tent where women could rest and be entertained with good speaking and music by the school children. Some interesting talks on Industrial Education and the Practice Of were given by C. W. Mickens and Miss Ella Irish. Our Wayward Girls was spoken of by Miss Lucy Sickels and was extremely interesting.

The Dignity of the Woman's Club Movement was given by Mrs. Frances W. Smith of Hastings, and was heartily applauded. The program was concluded with a song by Mrs. Fisk of Adrian. The invitation of the Town Federation of Tecumseh, extended by Mrs. Harris to meet here in 1909, was accepted. A supper was served over 100 covers being laid.

Recipe is easily prepared at small cost and many swear by it.

Fluid extract dandelion, ½ ounce; compound kargon, 1 ounce; compound syrup sarsaparilla, 3 ounces. A local druggist is the authority that these simple harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from our home druggists.

The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged, inactive kidneys overcoming backache, bladder weakness and all urinary trouble if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial.

The Scranton (Pa.) Times was first to print this remarkable prescription in Oct. of 1906, since when all the leading newspapers of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburg and other cities have made announcements of it to their readers.

Jesse P. Morris of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for cough and lung diseases in the world." Sold under guarantee at C. A. Wright & Son's. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free

PROGRAMS

Interesting Reading for our Older Citizens.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION

Held here May. 29 and 30, 1867.

In coming across one of these old programs what a host of memories arise. Here we live again in the good old times, youth is renewed and all the long, weary years of work and worry, of sorrow and care, are for the time forgotten. The dear old company of friends comes before us and we forget that death divides us. At the time this entertainment was given we were a loyal, patriotic band for we had just passed through the horrors of our Civil war, and young though we were, we realized its full import and many among us, mourded the loss of loved ones slain, whose memory we would perpetuate by the monument for which we worked so gladly.

As we look over the names we find that eight of our number have passed to the other side, six are still residents of Tecumseh, the others are scaltered far and near but return occasionally to the home of their youth which still has charms to draw them. Those were good old days and whether as laborers on the "Model Farm" or more lively participants with "Slasher and Crasher" it is all the same and we come back to the realities of the present with a sigh for our memories have been full of pleasure. ONE OF THEM.

First benefit of the soldiers' monument. The Tecumseh dramatic association will give their first entertainment at Good Templars' hall May 29 and 30, 1867. This entertainment has been gotten up under the supervision of a committee appointed for that purpose by the Board of Trustees of the Tecumseh Monumental Association and the net proceeds will belong to the association and be paid to the same. Music by the orchestra. New and beautiful scenery. Program:

KILLED

Milan Business Men Instantly Killed

By the Michigan Central Train.

Speeding over country roads, enjoying their first ride in an automobile which they had been to Detroit to purchase, Chas. and Wm. Woolcott brothers and business men of Milan, were struck by a Michigan Central passenger train, hurled 100 feet and instantly killed at a railroad crossing near Dearborn Tuesday afternoon.

Both men were married and leave families. Wm. Woolcott was a confectioner in Milan and purchased his first automobile a few years ago of Chas. Voegele, then of this place. Fred Frost delivering the machine.

Munn—Breitenwischer.

The marriage of Miss Merle Munn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Munn, to Dr. Breitenwischer, of Toledo, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at four o'clock, Wednesday afternoon. Only relatives and immediate friends were present. Dr. Trotter of the Ashland avenue Baptist church officiated.

An improvised altar and background were formed in the parlor by lilies and palms. The bride was preceded by little Jane Munn, her sister and by Master Robert Moore, of Tecumseh, Mich. The wedding march was played by Mr. Glenn Munn.

The bride's costume was of Copenhagen blue silk, trimmed in white lace and she carried bride's roses.

Immediately after the service, supper was served for about thirty, the tables being brightened with lilies and ferns.

After a short trip, Dr. and Mrs. Breitenwischer will reside on Grove Place, Toledo.

The out-of-town guests were Misses Martha and Bertha Breitenwischer, of Manchester, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, of Tecumseh, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Clyde T. Heck, of Tecumseh and Mr. James C. Munn, of Ironville, Ohio. Toledo Blade.

REMOVE THE CAUSE.

How to remedy much of the suffering in Tecumseh.

There is hardly a family in Tecumseh where there are not one or more members who suffer at times from the effects of a weak stomach.

It may be that this occurs only after eating some food that does not agree, or because of a supper late at night; or it may be that the stomach is so weak that scarcely any food can be eaten without pain and distress.

The only way to treat a condition of this kind successfully is with Mi-o-na. It removes the cause of indigestion, weakness of the muscles of the stomach and bowels, and restores the whole digestive system to health and strength so that it takes care of all the food that is eaten.

When the stomach is weak indegestion is followed by flatulence, dizziness, headaches, sleeplessness and many other disagreeable symptoms. The one remedy than can be absolutely relied upon to cure this condition is Mi-o na for this removes the cause of the suffering, the weakness of the stomach and intestinal tract and restores health so that all food is easily digested without pain or suffering.

Get well and strong by useing Mi-o-na tablets. Take the remedy at the first symptom of indigestion, when you can be cured easily with a few doses However, no case of stomach trouble is too severe or chronic for Mi-o-na to overcome.

C. A. Wright & Son sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money unless it cures. A 50-cent box lasts for a couple of weeks, and will do more real good than a dozen boxes of the ordinary digestive tablets.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make a mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Faint heart ne'er won fair lady; neither did it ever escape the clutches of one.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disordess, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them? Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to preform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases cure your self now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Tecumseh testimony:

Mrs. Chas. Stevenson, Wyandotte St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as they proved of great benefit to me. After an attack of malaria I began to be troubled with sharp pains in my back and kidneys. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box at Wright & Son's drug store and began taking them. They proved to be just the remedy I required. In a short time the pains left my back, the kidney secretions assumed their natural color and my health improved. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Many sober, industrious men wish their wives were as patient, industrious and economical as a drunkard's wife

Most disfiguring skin eruptions, pimples, scrofula, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes you clear eyed, clear-brained, clear-skinned.

Mr. S. L. Bowen of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease so that at times I could not get out of bed and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's kidney cure. One dollar a bottle and part of the second cured me entirely." Foley's kidney cure works wonders where others are total failures. Sold by all druggists.

McKinley Home Becomes Hospital.

Cleveland, O., April 23.—The McKinley home in Conton has been donated to Bishop Ignatius F. Horstmann of the Cleveland Catholic diocese, to be used as a non-sectarian hospital. "It will be open to everyone," Cleveland Catholic authorities said. The home was bought by Mrs. Rose Klorer of Canton for $20,000. It will be known as "Mercy Hospital."

BANNERMAN IS DEAD.

Former British Premier Passes Away In London.

London, April 23.—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, former British premier, is dead in his official residence, 10 Downing street. The end was peaceful. The cause of death is given as heart failure.

His death, after a lingering illness of more than two months, was no surprise. The doctor's bulletins had not declared his condition critical, but the public had been expecting the announcement of his end at any hour during the past fortnight.

"He was the faithful servant of his country; I am truly sorry he has gone," is the expression King Edward used on hearing, at Copenhagen, of the death of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and it well expresses the deep feeling of regret, as for a personal loss, underlying the tributes given in ungrudging measure by public men and newspapers of all shades of opinion.

There will be a funeral service in Westminister Abbey at noon on April 27, attended by representatives of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, diplomats and members of parliament, etc., and the final interment will occur at Meigle, Perthshire, beside the body of Sir Hnry's wife, on the following day.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman was born Sept. 7, 1836. He was the youngest son of the late Sir James Campbell of Stracathro, Forfarshire. He assumed the name of Bannerman under the will of his maternal uncle, Henry Bannerman, who bequeathed to him a large estate. He attended Glasgow university and Trinity college, Cambridge. In 1860 he married Charlotte, daughter of Major General Sir Charles Bruce. She died in 1906, and from that time, Sir Henry's decline in health may be dated.

For nearly forty years he sat for the same seat in parliament—that of the Stirling burgs—and his record of office goes back to 1871, when he was financial secretary to the war office. During the next two years he was secretary to the admiralty, and in 1884 he succeeded Sir George Trevelyan as Irish secretary, filling that office ably and unobtrusively until the fall of the Gladstone ministry, in 1885. On the resignation of the Balfour administration, in December, 1905, Sir Henry was summoned by the king and formed the Liberal cabinet. The general election followed, and Sir Henry entered the new parliament with the greatest majority ever given to a British premier. His ill health forced him to resign on April 5.

To Memory of "Father of Baseball."

New York, April 23.—Baseball players and followers of the game throughout the country are to be asked to contribute to a fund to be used in the erection, in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, of a memorial monument to Henry Chadwick, the "father of baseball," who died recently in this city. The matter has been taken in hand by Patrick T. Powers, president of the National Association of Baseball clubs, and he will ask each club in organized baseball to devote a suitable sum to the fund and also that every professional player in the country contribute $1 to the fund. It is Mr. Powers' idea that $1 should be the maximum individual contribution.

Plague Claims Nine Lives.

DEATH LIST IS LONG.

About 350 Lives Lost In Tornadoes In South.

THE INJURED NUMBER 1,200.

Three Separate Storms Brought Destruction to Forty-Six Towns in Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama.

New Orleans, April 27.—The totals of death, misery and ruin caused in four southern states by Friday's tornadoes have come to hand in approximately correct form. Briefly stated, they are:

Killed, about 350.

Homeless, several thousand.

Injured, painfully or seriously, 1,200.

Town reporting serious wreckage, forty-six.

Habitations and business houses practically complete ruins in these towns, about 2,500.

The above figures do not include the wreckage on plantations and farms, scores of which were struck and damaged. The number of dead will never be known accurately, for the reason that about 300 of them were negroes, and they were buried in many communities without careful records being made of their numbers.

Direction of Tornado.

By following the wreckage of towns, the general direction of the tornadoes can be traced closely. Apparently the storm struck in three separate currents, each describing the arc of a circle and traveling northeast. The first of these struck through north Mississippi and Louisiana and into Tennessee, before daylight Friday. The second appeared further south, about 7 o'clock, in central Louisiana and Mississippi. This apparently was the portion of the storm which had swept through Alabama and Georgia on Friday night and Saturday morning. The third portion of the storm appeared during Friday afternoon further south than either of its predecessors. This was the storm which demolished Amite, La., and Purvis, Miss., the towns in which the wreckage was worst.

Why the fatality list is so unusually large is apparent from a glance at photographs which have arrived here. They all tell the same story. Whole blocks of what were formerly little residences and cabins lie spread over the ground.

Under this mass of wreckage many hundred persons were buried, not one in a hundred escaping without some injury.

Along with the accounts of suffering have come many recitals of remarkable experiences, of which the following is typical:

Queer Experience.

At Amite, La., when the tornado appeared, there were seven persons at the dinner table of Mr. Hamilton Warner's home, including three children. One of the diners saw the whirling cloud in time to shout a warning and rushed outdoors, but the others remained in the dining room. The wind, in a second, tore off two doors on opposite sides of the room, and an astonishing procession of live and inanimate objects began to pass into the room through these doorways. First came a calf, running before the wind. The animal jumped over the dining table and went out the opposite door. Afterward came a horse, which followed through the exit taken by the calf. The three children sought refuge under the table, and no one was injured.

Relief measures are being carried on throughout the wrecked district. The ruined towns have been visited by thousands of spectators. At least a dozen relief funds have been started.

Following is a list by states of the forty-six towns reporting more or less damage:

Louisiana—Lacoree, Kentwood, Lamourie, Richlieu, Amite, Easts, Pine, Angie, Fraklinton, Sheridan, Avard, Eunice—Total, 13.

Mississippi—Gillies Bend, Purvis, Church Hill, Bozman, Tillman, Melton, Bartelville, Braxton, Sunflower, Wesley, Frangate, Columbus, Walls, Fairchild's Creek, Gettman's Landing, McLaurin, McCullum, Winchester, Pine Ridge—Total, 19.

Georgia—Columbus, Chipley, LaGrange, Harris, Griffin, McDonough, Locust Grove, Cedartown, Cave Springs—Total, 9.

Alabama—Albertville, High Mound, Hatton, Lacebury, Bettlemat, Bloustville—Total, 6.

TAKE POISON FROM IT

Deadly Lance Head Viper Gave Up Valuable Venom.

IT IS USED FOR MEDICINE.

Remarkable Operation Performed In New York—Sufficient Fluid Secured From One Reptile to Last Whole World Half a Century.

New York, April 27.—For the first time in eighty years and the second time in the history of the science of medicine, an operation for the extraction of venom from the deadly lance-head viper, said to be the most poisonous of all known reptiles, has just been performed at the Bronx zoological park.

The operation, which was directed by E. W. Runyon of this city, through whose efforts the snake was captured and brought to New York, was a complete success, and as a result science once more has a plentiful supply of the serum, which has been found almost invaluable in the treatment of extreme cases of insanity and also many of the malignant diseases.

The extremely powerful nature of the lance-head's venom can be no better described probably than by the declaration of one of the scientists who witnessed the operation. When the perilous task had been completed and the precious fluid obtained had been carefully weighed and found to be less than a third of an ordinary teaspoonful in quantity, he announced that the supply was ample to meet the demands of the world for at least half a century.

A Powerful Poison.

So powerful is the action of the venom on the human system that it is prescribed only in the most minute quantities, the largest potion commonly used containing only one-tenth trillionth of a grain. From that point the trituration continues down to a point where figures would be useless in attempting to describe it.

This operation was the culmination of years of painstaking trouble, in the course of which many obstacles, which appeared almost insurmountable, were finally overcome. So great is the dread of the reptile among the natives around the headwaters of the Amazon, where it is found, that it was only with the utmost difficulty that a specimen was captured and brought to New York.

The operation consisted in, at a proper moment, putting a receptacle which had been prepared to receive the venom before the snake's head. It was glass, of unusual strength, and the wide aperture at the top had been covered with a piece of medicated gauze and securely fixed in place. When the receptacle was at a point less than half an inch from the viper's nose, there was a lunge forward, so quick that the eye scarcely could follow it; the mouth was thrown open; the lips which covered the cruel fangs were curled back, and, with a snap, the fangs tore through the cloth; the jaws closed sharply, and the poison, enough to kill a dozen men, spurted harmlessly into the glass.

The snake will be kept in captivity, and, if he survives, it is likely that other operations will be performed from time to time.

BLOW TO BRITISH NAVY.

Sinking of Gladiator Comes as Terrible Shock—Twenty-Eight Perish.

London, April 27.—The total number of dead and missing of the Gladiator's crew, as a result of the collision between the American liner St. Paul and the British cruiser, off the Isle of Wight, is twenty-eight. Divers have searched part of the sunken cruiser for bodies, but have not been successful in finding any.

The opinion among shipping men and naval officers and officials appears to be unanimous that the accident was unavoidable, being one of the chances of the sea which all seamen must risk.

There will be the usual naval court and an inquiry by the board of trade. The officers of both ships refuse to discuss the affair until they have given their testimony officially. All witnesses of the disaster agree practically that both crews behaved as well as possible.

Coming so soon after the loss of the torpedo boat destroyer Tiger, which was sunk by the cruiser Berwick, off the Isle of Wight on April 3, last, thirty-six men being drowned, the sinking of the Gladiator is a severe blow to the British navy.

Dies Suddenly.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 27.—David H. Haines, treasurer of the Kalamazoo Gas company, is dead of apoplexy. Mr. Haines was sixty-four years old and leaves a widow and one son.

A DAY OF SUICIDES.

Epidemic Seems to Have Seized People of Michigan.

DESPONDENCY MAIN CAUSE.

Strange Sequel in Case of Woman at Otsego Taking Her Life by Drowning—Men in Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Port Huron Kill Selves.

Otsego, Mich., April 27.—Miss Sarah Carder, forty-five years old has met death by drowning in the Kalamazoo river, just back of the home of George Bardeen, her brother-in-law, with whom she lived. It is believed the woman committed suicide. Her body was found by Harold Ream, while he was fishing along the river.

The death of Miss Carder, following close on that of her friend, Miss Etta Dickinson, with whom she had lived in Dowagiac up to two months ago, and who committed suicide by shooting herself, brings to light an interesting story.

On the night preceding the death of Miss Dickinsin, the two women held an earnest conversation as to whether a person was justified in taking her own life. Miss Carder contended that such action was justifiable. That night Miss Dickinson shot herself in her room. Shortly afterward, Miss Carder came here to Otsego, where she made her home with her brother-in-law, George Bardeen.

Saturday night, Miss Carder wrote a letter to a friend, but left the missive unfinished, saying in the letter that she was feeling nervous and would take a short walk before finishing the letter. When she left the house, she stated that she was going for a stroll. Later in the evening, when she did not return, search was begun for her. All efforts to find her were in vain, until some time later, when George Ream, who was fishing along the river, found her body in a clump of reeds in about twelve feet of water.

Muskegon, Mich., April 27.—Despondent because of ill health, John Weedon, for thirty years a prominent saloon keeper, shot himself through the right temple before a mirror. His body was later discovered lying on the floor in a pool of blood, the weapon, with one chamber empty, a few feet away.

Just before killing himself, Weedon wrote a note to his friends, saying good-bye and telling them he could no longer stand the strain of ill health.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 27.—Despondent because of his failure to secure work, John Leuner, who lived at 280 Bowery, blew out his brains on the porch of his home. Leuner, it is said, had money in the bank, but had been out of work and was downhearted. Mrs. Leuner is prostrated. The body will be sent to Detroit for cremation.

Port Huron, Mich., April 27.—Suicide was attempted by two Port Huron men, one of them succeeding in his attempt, while the other lies at the city hospital in a critical condition. Constant brooding over his losses in the United Home Protectors' fraternity, it is believed, led Herman Peters, sixty years old, to swallow eight ounces of carbolic acid. He died shortly after. A. Van Patten, proprietor of a restaurant on Military avenue, was found, bleeding and half conscious, by his wife and daughter after he had jabbed his throat with a dull knife. Loss of his mental faculties is assigned as the cause of his rash act. He has a chance of recovery.

Detroit, Mich., April 27.—Despondent because he had rheumatism and apparently could get no relief, Andrew Eberhardt, sixty years old, 748 Superior street, committed suicide by shooting himself three times in the abdomen. It was not until his wife missed him and went to the tool house, in the rear of their home, that Eberhardt's body was found.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 27.—In the presence of a brother, who did not divine his intention in time to prevent the act, Bert Birchler, twenty-two years old, formerly of Detroit, committed suicide by shooting, at his home here. The young man was a patternmaker, but had been out of employment.

No music sounds so sweet as your own.

ROBBERS AT WORK.

Tecumseh and Onsted Visited by a Bold Pair.

Adrian, Mich., April 27.—A pair of daring robbers and safecrackers have operated successfully at Onsted and Tecumseh during the night, and, although they were interrupted in the middle of their travels by a night watchman, they safely made their escape and have so far eluded the sheriff and his force.

At Onsted they rifled the postoffice located in a drug store, and stole $13. A few hours later they entered Tecumseh and robbed a blacksmith shop of a $200 note and a number of valuable drills. They made their way to the residence of Banker Lucius Lilley, where they made their biggest haul. The robbers secured $285 in cash and a gold watch belonging to a veteran named Westgate, who made his home there, and $25 and a gold watch belonging to Mr. Lilley and a quantity of silverware.

At the robbers were leaving the Lilley home, about 3 o'clock, they were encountered by Watchman William Bennett. The men dropped their load of tools and began to run. Bennett stumbled over a sledge hammer, which one of the robbers dropped, and before he could regain his feet the men had disappeared.

The daring pair went to a farm house near Adrian, where they entered the barn and stole a horse and buggy. They were seen driving furiously toward Adrian. At 6 o'clock in the morning the abandoned horse and rig were found. No further signs of the robbers were found.

BOAT OVERTURNS.

Man, Wife and Young Man Drown Off Muskegon Shore.

Muskegon, Mich., April 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Willard Stone and Boyd Ward, a young man, were drowned in Muskegon lake at about 11 o'clock at night, when their boat was overturned by the high waves. Miss Ethel Stewart, who was one of the party, drifted to shore, a distance of about a mile, on the boat and was rescued in an unconscious condition.

Storm Wrought Havoc.

Emmet, Mich., April 27.—Several barns and other farm buildings were wrecked in the country about here and the windmills and windows in the village broken by a terrific wind and rain storm which passed over this vicinity. H. H. Bailey, a rural mail carrier, was caught out in the storm, his rig being capsized, throwing him into the ditch, his mail being scattered by the gale and some of it lost.

Ask Gage's Removal as Executor.

Dowagiac, Mich., April 27.—Application for the removal of Ira B. Gage, vice president of the wrecked bank of Dowagiac, as executor for the estate of Nelson T. Choate and as guardian for the Misses Gilberta and Ruth Choate has been made in circuit court. While it is not charged that Gage has embezzled any of the estate's funds, it is alleged that there appear to be several irregularities.

Alleged Embezzler Acquitted.

Manistique, Mich., April 27.—Ernest W. Adgell, former cashier for the Ann Arbor railway at this point, who was charged with embezzling the company's funds, was acquitted. One of the main points of the defense was the allegation that the money supposed to be short was turned over to the agent of the road.

Caracas Prepares For Plague.

Caracas, April 24, via Willemstad, April 27.—President Castro has asked the academy of medicine to formulate measures for the sanitation of Caracas to combat the bubonic plague, if it should break out. Following this request, the academy has issued orders for the immediate destruction of rats, the daily washing of the streets and buildings and the destruction of existing foci or infection, of whatever kind. The academy also has ordered the compulsory use of Haffkine's serum and other antitoxins and the construction, in the suburbs, of many huts for hospital use. Sanitary commissions have been appointed for each ward in the city where alarm has arisen because suspicious cases have been reported.

Want to Share Carnegie Money.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 27.—At the recent meeting of the board of regents of the University of Michigan, resolutions were adopted applying for admission to the benefits of the Carnegie fund for pensioning teachers, when they resign after twenty-five years service, of if past sixty-five, if they have taught fifteen years. This fund was formerly closed to state university professors, but about a month ago, Carnegie decided to increase the fund $5,000,000 and to take in state university teachers.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The new pure food and drug law.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's honey and tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

There are countless roads on all sides to the grave.

Kodol for dyspepsia has helped thousands of people who have had stomach trouble. This is what one man says of it: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill. —Gentlemen—In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. I could not digest anything I ate and in the spring of 1902 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., Aug. 29, 1906."

Do not make unjust gains, they are equal to a loss.

An insidious danger

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure at the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. Sold by all druggists.

The early riser is healthy, cheerful and industrious.

Kennedy's laxative cough syrup—the cough syrup that tastes nearly as good as maple sugar and which children like so well to take. Unlike nearly all other cough remedies, it does not constipate, but on the other hand it acts promptly yet gently on the bowels, through which the cold is forced out of the system and at the same time it allays inflammation. Always use Kennedy's laxative cough syrup. Sold by all druggists.

He got what he needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come" says C. Farthing of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at C. A. Wright and Son's drug store 50c.

Is it not sheer madness to live poor to die rich.

Gilson's Little Girl.

By LULU JOHNSON.

Copyrighted, 1908, by E. C. Parcells.

"My little girl," Gibson called her to himself, and of all in the human tide that twice a day swept through the gates of that section of the concourse devoted to the suburban traffic the gateman liked best the little blue eyed girl. She reminded him so strongly of that other little blue eyed girl who in a happier day had greeted his comings and goings and had called him "father."

That was before the tunnel wreck three years back, when they had carried her and her mother home—two victims of the worst disaster the road had ever known.

The claim agent had learned that Gilson was without work and had settled the damage claimed by providing him with a life position as gateman on the big station. Ever since then Thomas Gilson had watched the tide of humanity ebb and flow through the iron gates and had found solitude in the crowd.

Until the blue eyed girl had come, not quite three months before, he had watched indifferently the hurrying throng. The busy clicking of his punch kept time to the dull monotone of the announcer's megaphonic voice.

Then one night he glanced up into the face of a girl so like his own dead daughter that his punch dropped from his nerveless hands, and he held them forth yearningly if unconsciously.

The ring of the metal on the concrete pavement roused him. His hands dropped to his side, and he took up his dull routine of inspecting tickets, but the grimy train shed, with its smoke stained walls and its wastes of cinder bed tracks, held a new interest for him.

The monthly ticket which she presented was brand new and proclaimed her a recruit to the army of workers who daily took their places in the city's commercial field, and he knew that each night he should see her come hurrying down the concourse toward the gate.

Later, when she learned that the regular commuters never displayed their tickets, she would perhaps give him the little nod and smile of friendly recognition that the more experienced always vouchsafed the guardian of the gate. Gilson's memory for faces was remarkable. He knew all of the commuters by sight and had a nod for each.

It was not long before Gilson "got her trains." She came in on the 8:27, and every night she hurried to catch the 6:45. Sometimes she was late and missed that train, having to wait for the 7:58 and thereby missing also her dinner.

She never went out for dinner when she missed the earlier train, but sat in the great marble waiting room. Gilson, quick to deduce, knew that the money she earned was so sorely needed at home that she could not spare the sum that would buy an extra meal in town.

The old gateman did not go on duty until 9 o'clock in the morning, but he was always there now at 8:27, standing by the exit gate when the suburban trains came rolling in, and that was how he came to know that Metcalf was becoming interested in her.

Usually they came together down the platform, and only a glance at the girl's face was needed to tell that she liked Metcalf. Later on Metcalf took to going out on the 6:45 instead on the 6:43, which was an express and stopped only at the more important stations. No matchmaking mother ever watched the social progress of her daughter with greater solicitude than did Gilson watch the growth of love between Metcalf and Miss Traynor.

He had known Metcalf (he had learned the names on the commutation tickets) ever since he had come to the station. Metcalf seemed a nice, steady going young fellow, for he seldom waited over until the theater train, and each morning his eye was clear and his hand steady. His appearance betokened his prosperity, and Gilson rejoiced that his little girl was making so good a match.

Then came the day when the little girl came down the platform by herself, her head held high and her cheeks flaming. Metcalf lingered in the rear, and he, too, was flushed and angry. Gilson's heart was troubled, though he tried to tell himself that all would be made smooth that night.

But it was not made smooth. Metcalf did not appear until just in time for the 7:03, and there were traces of tears on the little girl's face as she passed through the gate to take the 6:45.

Once during the week they both came in by the same train, but Metcalf was in the smoker and the little girl was in the last car.

She tried very hard to look as though she did not care, but Gilson's sharp eyes could see the change, and he worried so that he let a fussy old lady take the next accommodation in the belief that it was the through express, which fact was duly reported to headquarters and resulted in Gilson's being forced to economize for a week to cover his fine.

Then came the night when the little girl, hurrying to catch her train, found the gate shut just as she approached.

"You are mean!" she cried, with a stamp of her tiny foot. "I could have made it easy."

"Orders to close the gate on signal," reminded Gilson stolidly.

"But the train had not started to move," she stormed, pointing to the tracks.

"I'm sorry"—Gilson's voice was full of apparent concern—"orders are to close the gate on signal."

"I've gone through lots of times," she reminded him. "They don't start until the passengers are all on. Often I've just made it. You used to be obliging. Now I shall have to wait for the 7:58; more than an hour. I shall report you to the office."

"Duty," murmured Gilson, trying to look properly regretful, for he saw Metcalf passing through the swinging doors of the waiting room.

"I shall report you just the same," declared the little girl as she turned away to come face to face with Metcalf.

"Lost your train?" cried Metcalf. "That is a shame! The service on this road is a disgrace. There is not another train that stops at your station for over an hour."

"I am not in the habit of discussing my inconveniences with strangers," declared the little girl, with a toss of her head, as she moved away.

Metcalf followed, and as Gilson moved over to the other gate where the express was made up he smiled in satisfaction, for had he not heard Metcalf declare that, angry or no, she must come across the street for a cup of tea and a bite to eat?

The hour had nearly expired before they came into the concourse again, and Gilson's face fairly glowed as he caught the look of happiness in their eyes.

The train had been called, and the gate was open, but the little girl did not pass through.

"You did it on purpose," she accused smilingly as she laid a gentle hand on Gilson's sleeve. "And to think that I threatened to report you! You must have thought me a little cat."

"Duty to close the gate when the signal is given," said Gilson mechanically, but the little girl saw only the twinkle in his eyes, and she raised herself upon the tips of her little patent leathers.

"It's all right again, thanks to you," she whispered. "We will be married after Easter, and you must come to the wedding."

Blushingly she hurried through the gate. Metcalf pressed the toil worn hands as he followed after, and to Gilson, watching them go down the platform through the film of glad tears that veiled his eyes, it seemed that the clanging of bells, the hiss and roar of escaping steam and the babel of cries resolved into one grand wedding march for "his little girl."

Oddities of Alcoholism.

Anecdotes of alcoholism were being narrated by a little group of physicians.

"One of my alcoholic patients steals when drunk," said a Philadelphian. "You should see the trophies he brings home. His valet is continually sneaking off of mornings with great parcels—overcoats, umbrellas, silver spoons, clocks—that his master, trembling in fear of arrest, has begged him to get rid of somehow."

"I have patients," said a New York specialist in dipsomania, "who in their intoxication steal only particular things. One man, an agnostic, steals Bibles. A woman steals gimlets. A young spinster steals baby things—little shoes and frocks, bottles and rattles, once even a perambulator."

"I had a case, an old lady," said a Kansan, "that I had worked over seventeen years—a hopeless case, it seemed. But she lost her money, and then they began to arrest her as a 'common drunk.' Well, after she had been arrested a dozen times or so the magistrate said he was tired of seeing her about and instructed the police to take her to the river whenever they found her drunk and give her a cold dip. By Jove, that cured her. Two cold dips cured her. She has been sober now, my old patient, almost three years."—Minneapolis Journal.

A World of Half Built People.

The world is full of half built people. If any one doubts this, let him or her visit a Turkish bath and note the number of people who are flat in the chest, round in the back, ponderous as to paunch and heavy in the jowl—people with outstanding shoulder blades and flat feet.

Out of a thousand people in this country there could be found scarcely three who had really fine figures. I make this statement advisedly after many years of careful observation. And why is this so? Why are there so few people in this country, in the civilized world, who have bodies that are not a travesty of him in whose image they are supposed to be created?

The reasons are many, but may be grouped under one phrase—unhygienic and unwholesome conditions of living. Among these conditions may be mentioned dietary errors—food that is excessive in quantity, variety or frequency as to meals and food taken under improper conditions either of mind or body.—W. R. C. Latson, M. D., in Outing Magazine.

How to Get Poorer Quicker.

We hear a great deal about get-rich-quick schemes, but if you want to get poor quick go into Wall street without a level head or a lot of experience, play the races, take a flier in the schemes you see advertised, in mines and oils and real estate—not that they are all bad, but most of them are not good. Some time ago a New York man discharged a valuable employee because he played the races. When asked if he thought gambling wrong, he said:

"It isn't so much that, but I am convinced that a man who would make the loose, one sided contract required by a bookmaker is not competent to take care of his own interests or those of anybody else."—Success Magazine.

Fishing With Forty Foot Rods.

In sea fishing at Biarritz, France, some remarkably long and heavy rods are employed. We think a twenty foot salmon rod or roach pole is a pretty good length, but our friends at Biarritz use rods over forty feet in length. In fishing from the walk at the lighthouse the rods are balanced on the railing by means of a wood rest fitting the iron bars. A line about the length of the rod is used, three or four hooks and a light sinker. At La Pointe Plate rods of lesser length and weight are used, but even these are not featherweights by any means. Reels, according to Vicomte Henri de France, are known to these sea anglers, but are seldom used.—London Fishing Gazette.

The Word "Engine."

"Engine" is a noteworthy instance of specialization and also of verbal development. "Ingen" originally in Latin meant only something "born in" a man, but the derivative words from that have diverged so widely that "ingenious" and "ingenuous," one of which can so easily be misprinted for the other, now rank almost as contradictories. And from the "ingenious" man to the "engine," which he contrived, is a great step. Moreover, the man who calls it an "ingen" is right!

Wrong Interpretation.

"I declare," remarked Rev. Mr. Goodley, "I never really knew what profanity was until I met Mr. Tuff."

"Yes," put in Dumley. "Ain't he aggravatin', though? I don't blame you a bit, for he'd make a saint swear."—Philadelphia Press.

Speaker of the House.

Binks—Very few women have any knowledge of parliamentary law. Jinks—You should hear my wife. She has been speaker of the house for the last twelve years.—New York Press.

The Reptile.

Schoolmaster—So, then, the reptile is a creature which does not stand on feet and moves along by crawling on the ground. Can any one of you boys name me such a creature? Johnny—Please, sir, my baby brother.—London Tit-Bits.

SEA AND LAND.

The Way They Meet and Clash and Finally Harmonize.

In "The Wonderful Adventures of Nils," translated from the Swedish of Selma Lagerlof by Velma Swanston Howard, is the following pretty description of how sea and land meet:

You see that sea and land can meet in many different ways. In many places the land comes down toward the sea with flat, tufted meadows, and the sea meets the land with flying sand, which piles up in mounds and drifts. It appears as though they both disliked each other so much that they only wished to show the poorest they possessed. But it can also happen that when the land comes toward the sea it raises a wall of hills in front of it, as though the sea were something dangerous. When the land does this, the sea comes up to it with fiery wrath and beats and roars and lashes against the rocks and looks as if it would tear the land hill to pieces.

But in Blekinge it is altogether different when sea and land meet. There the land breaks itself up into points and islands and islets, and the sea divides itself into fiords and bays and sounds, and it is perhaps this which makes it look as if they must meet in happiness and harmony.

Think now first and foremost of the sea! Far out it lies desolate and empty and big and has nothing else to do but to roll its gray billows. When it comes toward the land it happens across the first obstacle. This it immediately overpowers, tears away everything green and makes it as gray as itself. Then it meets still another obstacle. With this it does the same thing. And still another—yes, the same thing happens to this also. It is stripped and plundered as if it had fallen into robbers' hands. Then the obstacles come nearer and nearer together, and then the sea must understand that the land sends toward it her littlest children in order to move it to pity. It also becomes more friendly the farther in it comes, rolls its waves less high, moderates its storms, lets the green things stay in cracks and crevices, separates itself into small sounds and inlets and becomes at last so harmless in the land that little boats dare venture out upon it. It certainly cannot recognize itself, so mild and friendly has it grown.

A TRICK OF THE TRADE.

Bear This In Mind When You Purchase Art Treasures Abroad.

A warning to picture buyers that was published in Paris by the versatile and fiery Frenchman, M. Rochefort, may well be laid to heart by wealthy Americans and others who are disposed to purchase works of art on their face value and without challenging the credentials that are lavishly paraded. It is of course the picture dealers in Paris who need to be specially watched, and M. Rochefort tells a good story in illustration of the care that should be used. A customer had bought an authentic picture by an old master in an excellent state of preservation and expressed his intention of taking it with him. The dealer, on the other hand, insisted strongly on sending it home by one of his employees.

"If you are afraid that we will change the picture, you have only got to write your name on the back," said the shopman.

But the customer had his way. When he reached home, he undid his purchase and discovered that a copy of the original canvas had been nailed behind the genuine picture, so that if the customer had placed his signature on the back of the picture he would have written it on the copy. The dealer would have maintained that that was the picture he had bought, and the original would have remained in the possession of the dealer.—Argonaut.

TOO STRONG A BLUFF.

The Boy Meant Well, but Carried His Instructions Too Far.

The proprietor of one of New York's fashionable hotels was talking about the crush that restaurants experience on New Year's eve, Washington's birthday and other holidays. "But I must not boast," said he. "It is bad luck. A grocer in my boyhood told me that. The grocer said that he had once engaged a new boy and had exhorted this boy always to give customers the impression that they were very busy.

"'Whether we are actually busy or not, say we are busy,' the grocer said. 'Tell people we are, for they like to deal with brisk, go ahead firms that do a large trade.'

"Well, an hour or so later a brougham drove up, and the rich judge's wife entered. She did not stay long. The boy looked after her. And on her departure the grocer said to the boy:

"'Did Mrs. Judge Brown leave a very large order, James?'

"'She was goin' to,' said the boy. 'She had a list as long as yer arm. But I looked mad and told her we was so busy I hardly seed how I could stop to tend to her, so she said, 'bein' as she was in a hurry, she'd just go next door.'"—Exchange.

Durability of Glass.

It does not seem odd to find inscriptions written ages ago still visible on the Tower of London or on the steeple of some cathedral, but one would hardly look on a fragile pane of glass in a common window for characters 200 years old. A notable case in point is that of the old house in London wherein the notorious Jack Sheppard once lived as a carpenter's apprentice. One of the window panes still bears an inscription cut in it by a glazier's diamond recording the name and address of a man who preceded Jack's master in that house.

That was nine years before the coming to the house of the famous Jack Sheppard and over 200 years ago.

Alexander the Great's Escape.

As a young man Alexander the Great escaped death in a curious manner. A great banquet was being held at Pella, the capital of Macedonia, at which were present the future conqueror of the world and his father, Philip. During the feast one of the guests proposed a toast and prayer offensive to Alexander, who hurled a goblet at him. King Philip, angry at this outrage, started up, drew his sword and rushed furiously upon his son, but he had drunk so deeply that before he reached him he fell prostrate among the terrified merrymakers. Not a whit perturbed at this extraordinary escape from death, Alexander retorted, "Here is a man preparing to cross from Europe into Asia who yet cannot step surely from one couch to another."

Burglars

LUCIUS LILLEY

Gang working in the county. Several places robbed during the past week.

For the first time in years a successful burglary was made here at the home of Lucius Lilley, at the corner of Union and Pottawatamie streets, about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning, the thieves taking for plunder $305 in cash, two watches and a gold chain, silver ware and a pocket knife, cigars and wine and leaving the house as quietly as they came, arousing not a one of the six sleepers within.

The grounds around the house shows the tracks of three men, who had evidently tried every window, tracked across the front porch and finally struck the dining room window on the north, which was unlocked. This window they pried open with a chisel and entered the dining room. A lamp was burning in the dining room and also in Mr Lilley's sleeping room. On the side board a small decanter of wine and a box of cigars were standing. They drank the wine and took half of the cigars.

They also helped themselves to the silver ware which consisted of spoons and forks. In the kitchen they found raw eggs which they ate. From there they proceeded to the bedroom, where Mr. Lilley slept, taking his trousers on into the back parlor where they removed the pocket book containing $35.00, a solid gold watch and chain, which Mr. Lilley prized so highly. Leaving Mr. Lilley's trousers in this room, they went to Hiram Westcotts bedroom, who stays with Mr. Lilley nights, and sleeps just off from his bedroom. Mr. Westcott suffered the greatest loss of money as they took $280.00, his watch and pocket knife. He found his clothes in the dining room. When the burglars left the house, they went south and were traced through Mrs. Rector's yard.

About 4 o'clock Mr. Lilley was aroused by Nigger, the cat, jumping on his bed. He called to Mr. Westcott to come and put the cat out and it was while attending to this that Mr. Westcott discovered the burglary. On account of the storm Mrs. Raynor Lilley, whose room was up stairs, was restless and was up at all hours of the night putting down windows and it is thought that this was undoubtedly the reason they did not go up stairs. Mr. Westcott's money was mostly pension money which he had had cashed recently. This seems a very foolish thing for one to do for if he had still had the money in the checks no one could have cashed them but by order.

A phone from Hanover yesterday morning said they had arrested a man there on suspicion. A horse and buggy was taken from L. D. Kenyon's barn and was found Sunday afternoon near Adrian. It is supposed that after leaving Mr. Lilley's house they left the town going south until they came to the Kenyon farm. Officers phoned to John Smith Sunday afternoon saying the rig had been found and Mr. Smith went over and brought it home.

Thomas Elliott's blacksmith shop was also entered some time during the night Saturday. They rifled the safe and carried off a sledge hammer and other tools which they evidently intended to use in robbing either the bank or postoffice as they dropped them at the back of the Lilley State bank when frightened away by Nightwatchman Bennett and escaped. Whether this was the same gang that entered Mr. Lilley's house is not known but it is thought by some that they were not the same ones. Officers traced the rig to Adrian but there lost all track of the burglars, who are still at large.

The post office at Blissfield was broken into last Friday night about midnight, but the burglars were scared away by the clerk, who happened to be going home from a party and noticing something strange about the building, went back, found the front door unlocked and as he entered two men made their escape by the rear door. The officers have one man whom they think is the right one.

The postoffice at Onsted was entered last Saturday night but nothing was disturbed. Several other business places were robbed, among them John Kane's store where they succeeded in getting $10 from the money draw. A saloon was also broken into. The burglary in this village brought a number of the officers to Tecumseh Sunday, among them Geo. Hines of Onsted, Sheriff Harley Holt and Seager of Adrian.

A STRANGE CO-INCIDENCE.

Dandy Alberts found last Sunday through the aid of a clairvoyant.

Dandy, the beautiful scotch collie, belonging to Wm Alberts, that has been missing for several weeks, was returned to them last Sunday. They consulted a clairvoyant, who had been successful in finding a dog belonging to Isaac Sloan. He discribed the house, and its location, and said he could see a dog tied there in a shed and on going there they found the dog as the clairvoyant had said. Certainly this was a strange coincidence, his describing the place and the dog being tied there as he said.

High School Musical.

The musical given by the pupils of the Tecumseh High School last Friday night at the New Bradley was a decided success. The house was well filled and the audience thoroughly appreciated the work of the pupils. Each part was so well taken that one might easily have thought the participants were professionals instead of amateurs. Miss Wilbur, who directed the efforts of those who took part, has every reason to feel proud of the results.

"Not at all. I couldn't resist the temptation to give the law a swift kick."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

He Emptied His Pockets.

The Comte de Corbieres, minister of the interior to Louis XVIII., while working in the king's cabinet one day became absorbed in his work and so far forgot himself as to place his snuffbox on the king's desk after taking snuff. The king observed this unheard of familiarity from the corner of his eye, but said nothing. Presently the minister whipped out his pocket handkerchief and placed it beside the snuffbox.

"M. de Corbieres," remarked the king at last, "you appear to be emptying your pockets."

"Perhaps so, sire," was the calm response, "but that is much better than filling them."

The king smiled at the clever hit at the corruption of some of the minister's predecessors. Corbieres was noted for his scrupulous integrity.

Neat Little Game.

After tea she brought over his pipe and his slippers.

"John," she whispered tenderly, "do you know my conscience has been hurting me and I have formed a little conscience fund."

"Conscience fund?" asked the big husband in surprise.

"Yes, dear. You see, I have been borrowing a few dollars out of your vest pockets every night for a week, and here is the entire sum."

"Well! Well! You are an honest little woman."

"And, John?"

"Well, my dear?"

"Now—now that I have been so honest, would—would you mind giving me the 'conscience fund' to buy a pretty hat I saw in a window today?"—Boston Post.

Think of the pleasant winter evenings Acetylene Lighting insures.

Think of the eyesight it prolongs and saves; the valuable Reading it encourages; the Social advantages it means; the Contentment-at-home of the Young Folks.

Think of the years of lamp-cleaning it saves, and the ever-present risk in carrying around lighted hand lamps which it precludes.

Then reflect upon this:

When once installed a modern Acetylene Light Plant will give you as much Light as you now get from Kerosene—at a third less cost.

In this way, and in the labor saved on Lamp cleaning 365 times per year, an Acetylene Plant pays for itself, while being an asset as valuable as any part of the house,—good for 40 years service.

Write me today how many rooms you've got to light (or how large a store) and I will tell you how little it need cost to install the right sort of Lighting Plant for your individual purpose.

H. BREWER & CO. TO BUILD NEW SHOPS

Increasing Business Demands Larger Buildings.

CAPITAL STOCK TO BE RAISED.

Brief History of the Company.

In attempting to give a sketch of one of our oldest and most substantial factories, we thought it would be of interest to give a little of its earliest history but found this easier thought of than executed. We could but think, "Man has been lent, not given to life." How strongly we are impressed with this truth when we attempt to trace a person's life. What he has accomplished lives long after him. Little did Horace Brewer foresee when he bought that little foundry in 1851 that it would ever grow and reach the dimensions it has.

HORACE BREWER

Tecumseh between the years 1828 and 1840 made a very rapid growth and among the energetic and enterprising spirits who came here were B. L. Baxter, Judge Stacy, Peter R. Adams, Dr. Patterson, John J. Adams and Horace Brewer. Horace Brewer at this time was in the strength and vigor of early manhood and was soon acknowledged as a leading spirit among the various interests of the village. He was born in 1816, died in 1881, was an expert carpenter and mechanic and his first work here was on the old Presbyterian church

This story is told of him to show his wonderful grit. While shingling the church he missed his footing and fell to the ground, receiving injuries which it was supposed were fatal but the next morning he got up from his bed and drove with Judge Stacy to Adrian. Of such material were these early settlers made.

The foundry when bought by Mr. Brewer was called the Tecumseh Foundry and Steam Engine Works and was started in 1849 by Elijah Anderson and Stoughton Strong. Elijah Anderson was a mechanic and an uncle of Webster Anderson, living in the house now occupied by B. J. Garlinghouse. In about a year, some time in 1849, J. J. Tucker took an interest in the concern and the firm was Anderson, Tucker & Co., the Company being Albert Anderson, Joseph Tucker, liveing in the Hyde house next to Stoughton Strong's.

They carried on the business until Feb. 1851 when Horace Brewer bought one half of the concern and Elijah Anderson took the other half. The firm Anderson & Brewer remaining so until 1861. During this period, it is said, some of the finest machinery known to the country went from the shop. In 1861 Mr. Brewer became sole owner and remained so until 1867, when his son, Albert, was taken into the business and the name became H Brewer & Son. It is stated at this time the firm had $30,000 capital and employed 25 hands.

In 1871 the firm of H Brewer & Co. was formed consisting of H. Brewer, A. L. Brewer and H. W. Coakling. This continued until 1880. Thus for 30 years the man who gave his name to the firm was in active business. In 1885 H E. Stout, H. Heesen and P. S. McKinnon were taken into the firm and in Dec. 1900 H. Brewer & Co. were incorporated as a stock company. We can but contrast these early years with their trials and struggles with the present outlook of the company.

The company now occupy the foundry at the corner of Shawnee and Evans streets, a portion of which is the old original building built by Elijah Anderson and J. Stoughton Strong and which still bears the name of Elijah Anderson. But like all other hustling manufacturers, their business has increased to such an extent that a much larger building has really become a necessity. In order to do this work they are forced also, to increase their capital stock as well at this time. Therefore the firm has purchased a piece of land east of the Anthony Fence Co's. factory and west of Ottawa street, on which they will erect a modern and convenient plant during the ensuing year. The new buildings will be entirely refurbished with the modern machinery.

During 1907 the business done by H. Brewer & Co. was the largest in the history of its organization and so far this year bids fair to surpass that of former years. The capital stock of the company has been increased to $250,000, of which $175,000 will be paid in cash, principally by the original stockholders of the foundry and this money will provide for the improvements

A description of the new buildings is as follows: The main building will be built of brick one story high, 322 feet long and 90 feet wide and this will contain the offices, machine, wood working and forge shops and warehouse. Adjacent to, but independent of the main building, will be the boiler house and coal bins which will contain the big tubular boiler 5x16 feet in size. This will supply the steam for the two engines, 40 and 75 horse power and heat the entire buildings.

Twenty feet in the rear of the main building, the foundry 100x60 feet will be built, which will have an appendant cupola and blower house 30x30 feet and a room for manufacturing foundry cores 20x25 feet A truss roof will cover the foundry. Back of this building there will be a two story brick pattern storage house 50x60 feet in size, apart from the other buildings as much as possible in order to lessen the risk of fire. At different places will be located buildings for coke bins, sand bins and oil house, to make the grounds and buildings convenient for the workmen.

The entire plant will be properly lighted and the equipment of the entire buildings will be modern and labor saving. Jib cranes will be found at the foundry and the tram tracks which will connect with the main building, for convenience in handling heavy machinery.

Building so near the Anthony Fence plant enables the company to connect, by means of a spur track, with the Fence company's track at the rear of their property and also with a straight track running parallel with all of the buildings the entire length of the new plant. These arrangements have been perfected by the Lake Shore agents, who recently made a trip to Tecumseh for that purpose. The contract for this new building has not been awarded to any one as yet, but both local and foreign contractors are figuring upon the buildings.

CATARRH A GERM DISEASE.

Wonderful success of the Hyomei treatment guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son.

Catarrh is an insidious disease of most destructive tendency. Its approaches are unalarming and its victims are well on the road to a chronic stage or to dread consumption before they realize their danger.

It is not a blood disease, but is caused by germs that lodge and grow in the air passages, causing irritation with poisonous and offensive mucous discharges. To cure this condition, stomach dosing is ineffective and the only healing agent is Hyomei. It goes directly to every nook and corner of the air passages, disinfecting, healing and curing. To be convinced of this, you have only to give Hyomei a trial, and C. A. Wright & Son will sell you an outfit with the understanding that if the trial is not satisfactory, and the treatment does not relieve, your money will be refunded.

You cannot afford to trifle with catarrhal troubles, for if neglected they grow worse and the annoyance and danger rapidly increases. It is best to get Hyomei at the first symptoms of catarrh, such as stoppage of the nose, offensive breath, raising of mucous, droppings in the throat, spasmodic coughing. The sooner you use Hyomei, the sooner you will be freed from all these troubles Remember that it will not cost you a cent to try Hyomei unless the treatment helps you, for C. A. & Son's guarantee is clear and plain to refund the money if Hyomei does not give satisfaction.

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send you address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A new back for an old one. How it can be done in Tecumseh.

The back aches at times with an indescribable feeling, making you restless; piercing pains shoot through the kidneys and the loins are so lame, to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster you cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one.

C. E. Sharpsteen, of 21 Locust street, Adrian, Mich., says: "In recommending Doan's Kidney Pills I have my opinion based not only upon personal experience but that of friends who have used them with just as satisfactory results as I did. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me 6 years ago of heavy, dull pains in my back, always more severe when I did any work that caused a strain on my back. I was also bothered with inflammation of the kidneys and in passing the secretions there was a smarting sensation. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me entirely of these annoyances."

Plenty more proof like from Tecumseh people. Call at Wright & Son's drug store and ask what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Mr. S. L. Bowen of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease so that at times I could not get out of bed and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's kidney cure. One dollar a bottle and part of the second cured me entirely." Foley's kidney cure works wonders where others are total failures. Sold by all druggists.

This may interest you.

No one is immune from Kidney trouble, so just remember that Foley's kidney cure will stop the irregularities and cure any case of kidney and bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. Sold by all druggists.

A CLEVER THIEF.

His Capture and Sale of a Consignment of Diamonds.

An expert criminal named Raymond is described by Sir Robert Anderson as a Napoleon of crime. The plot which he devised for the theft of diamonds worth $450,000 and which he carried out with a masterly forethought and address is unrivaled.

Diamonds were habitually sent from Kimberley to the coast just in time to catch the mail steamer for Europe. Were the convoy delayed the gems were locked up in the postoffice until the next steamer left the harbor.

Raymond, profiting by a knowledge of those simple facts, visited the port of departure. He made friends with the postmaster, learned his habits and took wax impressions of his keys. He then returned to Europe, leaving behind him a memory of pleasant manners and good fellowship.

A few months later he was in Africa again, disguised and unknown. He made his way up country to the point where the diamonds had to be carried across a ferry on their way to the coast. Unshipping the chain of the ferry, he sent the boat downstream, and the next convoy of diamonds missed the mail.

All that remained for Raymond to do was to unlock the safe in the postoffice and go off with the treasure, which by a fine stroke of ironical humor he presently sold to its rightful owners in Hatton garden. This was Raymond's "masterpiece.—Blackwood's Magazine.

HOLLAND MUSTARD.

Hollanders use enormous quantities of mustard and thrive on the condiment. There is a small spot in Greryssel, I think it is near Goor, where the land slopes gently down to the river Ijsel and is a brown gray clay. This is fashioned into the cutest little jugs you ever saw, holding about a pint each, and the genuine Dutch mustard, made only in that pocket borough, according to a secret process handed down for many generations, is hermetically sealed therein. It will keep for years and is as delicious as the finest confection. It is butter, cheese and condiment to the Hollanders who can afford it. And there is no other place on earth where that mustard can be bought.

You might ask, "Why do the Hollanders eat so much mustard?" The answer is: The Holland mustard is a most delightful stomach stimulant. "It makes the food slide down." It cures the worst cases of dyspepsia. It keeps the liver in fine shape. It is an antidote for the most deadly poison, corrosive sublimate. It is in large doses a non-nauseating emetic. It is the only counterirritant handed down to us by our grandmothers—the mustard plaster. The Dutch girls use it sparingly on their velvet cheeks to give a rosy complexion. When a person is down and nearly out a "drink made of pure mustard and oil will fetch him around. A mustard "stoop" is a certain cure for catarrh in the nasal cavity.

Here is one Dutch method of preparing mustard for the table: Mix equal portions of black and white seeds and grind to a fine powder. Boil this in the best vinegar till thoroughly mixed. Grate some fresh horseradish, squeeze out the juice and add to the mustard. Then put in a little salt, a little sugar, a little turmeric, a little fenugreek and a little white honey. You will eat this on your bread, cake, pie, buttercakes and waffles, your meats, fish, game and poultry.—New York Press.

PRESENCE OF MIND.

A Madhouse Doctor's Experience With His Crazy Cooks.

A celebrated Scotch physician tells a story of a madhouse doctor whose presence of mind alone saved his life.

"A great friend of mine was for a considerable time the medical superintendent of a lunatic asylum near Glasgow.

"One night in making his customary rounds he had occasion to visit the patients in the kitchen, who were preparing the dinner. There were seven of them, all big, sturdy fellows, who were believed to be harmless. The keeper only looked in upon them now and again, feeling that his constant presence was unnecessary.

"The doctor unlocked the iron barred door of the kitchen and went in among the lunatics.

"There were five large boilers containing scalding water ready for making the day's dinner for the patients.

"One of the lunatics pointed at the boilers full of hot water and, laying his hand upon the doctor's shoulder, said, 'Doctor, you'll make a fine pot of broth.' And the words had no sooner been uttered than the other six madmen shouted in a voice of delight, 'Just the thing,' and, seising the doctor, were in the very act of putting him into one of the large boilers of scalding water when the doctor had the presence of mind to say, but not a second too soon:

"'Capital broth! But it would taste better if I took my clothes off.'

"The madmen, with a yell of delight, said 'Yes,' and the doctor asked them to wait a moment while he went and took his clothes off. But as soon as he got out of the kitchen he turned the key in the door and ordered the keeper to see to the lunatics being put under restraint.

"The doctor's presence of mind saved him, it is true, from a terrible death, but he died shortly after telling this. The experience had destroyed his reason."

Origin of the Postal Card.

In 1869, while Professor Emanuel Herrmann of Vienna was seeking a vast amount of information by correspondence for his notable book, "The Guide to the Study of National Economy," the thought occurred to him that many advantages would result from the adoption of a means of correspondence cheaper than the sealed letter. On Jan. 23 he went before the Austrian post director with his idea, an open, stamped card, and his suggestion was almost immediately adopted. Within a month the Austrian postal authorities printed and sold 2,000,000 postal cards and thus established this indispensable means of communication.

An Unconscious Toast.

Lord Clyde one day after dinner asked a chaplain to one of the regiments in India for a toast, who, after considering some time, at length obtained, with great simplicity:

"Alas and alack a day! What can I give?"

"Nothing better," replied his lordship. "Come, gentlemen; we'll give a bumper to the person toast, 'A husband to let a day.'"

Well Known Signal.

The trainman who when sober was so competent that the officials had winked at his occasional bibulous lapses was at last called up on the carpet.

"What does this mean?" asked the trainmaster sternly. "A month ago you went on a prolonged bat when we were short handed—stayed drunk a month. Then recently you were away on two different occasions for a half week each time. What does it mean?"

"Why," said the trainman, "I am surprised that you should ask me what it means. I had understood that you came up from the farm yourself, and yet you ask me the meaning of one long toot and two short ones. I thought everybody knew that was the signal to stop."—Chicago News.

A Greater Noise.

They had removed from New York to a quiet country town, and a new neighbor was tendering his sympathy.

"I guess you must miss the noise of the elevated cars a good deal," she said. "I don't suppose you could get to sleep at first because you was so used to hearing them where you lived."

"I never heard them," said the lady from New York. "My husband snored."

ONE TOUCH OF NATURE.

A Display of Courtesy "In Memory of Old Virginia."

All the seats were taken in the car which I entered one morning in early April. An old colored man sat next the door. It is not often in these days that I see that type of black man. I used to see that kind on the old Virginia plantation, where he was "Ung Ligo" or "Ung Sambo" to all the household.

His days were devoted to useful toil and his evenings to his banjo and the old plantation melodies that no one can ever sing again as musically as they were sung then.

"Take this seat, mistis," he said, rising promptly. "Mistis" sounded very "homey" and pleasant to me. It had been so long since I was "mistis" to anybody.

"Thank you, uncle," said I. "Keep your seat. I would just as lief stand."

"Sense me, please, mistis, but 'tain't jitten fer you ter stan'; you mus' set," he admonished respectfully.

I took the seat, thanking him for his courtesy. Soon a departing passenger left a vacancy.

"There is a seat for you," I said to the old man.

"Between the ladies, ma'am?" He hesitated.

"Yes," I said.

He bowed apologetically to right and left and took the vacant place. Just before leaving the car I slipped a silver piece into his hand, saying, "Uncle, get you a nice luncheon with this—in memory of old Virginia."

"Thank you, my mistis," he said, opening his hand to look at the little gift and then closing it. I left the car with a sunnier feeling in my heart because of the chance meeting, but with no thought that I should ever again hear of my old Virginian.

That afternoon I received a bunch of arbutus which had been left for me by an old colored man—"for the tall lady with a long blue coat an' white hair—in memory of ole Virginia an' dem old time days."—Lippincott's Magazine.

"I didn't say I wanted it," replied the child politely. "I only said that I liked it."—Woman's Home Companion.

CATHOLICS CELEBRATE.

Observe 100th Anniversary of Founding of Catholicism in United States.

New York, April 27.—Every Catholic church and the houses with the arch diocese of New York were in festal array Sunday, while perhaps a million men, women and children gave thanks for the progress Catholicism had made in New York since it was formally established, a hundred years ago. It was the beginning of the week of rejoicing in honor of the completion of a century of activity.

The center of interest was St. Patrick's cathedral, where, at 11 o'clock in the morning, Mgr. Lavelle, the rector, was celebrant of a solemn mass of thanksgiving, and the archbishop of New York preached a sermon. The edifice was decorated in the interior with the papal colors and outside, and between its tapering towers, the American flag was flung to the breeze. Every seat was filled, and hundreds clamored for admission.

Cardinal Logue occupied the archbishop's throne at the service and gave the blessing at the close. At the end of the first gospel, Archbishop Farley entered the pulpit and, in a few happy words, welcomed Cardinal Logue to this country. He then delivered a sermon, in the course of which he reviewed the history of Catholicism in New York, referred to the parochial school system and its influence on the morals of a community, spoke of the numerous patriots it had given to the country, then closed with a word on the tendency of the age.

LANDSLIDE BURIES TOWN.

Thirty Beings Perish in Little French Hamlet in Canada.

Buckingham, Ont., April 27.—Half the little French hamlet of Notre Dame de Salette, sixteen miles from here, on th Lievre river, lies buried under a sliding mountain, and at least thirty of its small population are known to have perished. The hamlet has no telephone or telegraph, and neither is it on a railroad. Meagre bits of news of the disaster come in by messenger from the physicians and other rescuers, who were hurried there when the first call for aid came at early morning.

The first messengers to Buckingham ordered twenty-five coffins to be sent to de Salette, and all the physicians of the town were hurried across country with rescue parties.

Train Kills Conductor.

Pontiac, Mich., April 27.—Frank Kremer, conductor of a local freight on the Grand Trunk, has met death at Clarkston. His train was about to pull into a siding, when Kremer stumbled and fell across the track. Two trucks passed over his legs just below the hips. Conscious, he pulled himself from the track. The passenger train, then due, brought him to the home of his parents, this city, where he died.

Masked "Night Riders" crossed the river from Maysville, Ky., in skiffs and applied the torch to the large warehouse of Paul Kautz, at Hondes Ferry, about fifteen miles west of there on the Ohio side, and destroyed it with contents, a large amount of tobacco, the loss amounting to $15,000, with small insurance.

Fines of $5,000 each and sentences of two years in the penitentiary at Stillwater were imposed by Judge Page Morris, in the federal district court, in St. Paul, on Frank B. Holiday, Herbert F. Robinson and John L. Layne, formerly associated with Edward A. Vaughan in the commission and brokerage business in Minneapolis.

By a ruling which has been arranged between the departments of state, justice, treasury and agriculture, at Washington, whisky manufactured abroad and alleged to be misbranded under the American pure food law, hereafter will be allowed to come into the country, after which it will be subjects to the adjudication of the courts under that law.

Time Reminders Unpopular.

A west side woman who wished to entertain a great deal one day wondered why her guests always seemed so uncomfortable.

"It is because of your clocks," said a candid friend. "There are three within hearing distance of your drawing room that strike. I don't know of anything that makes company feel quite so uncomfortable as to hear a clock strike. Somehow it is bound to give the impression that we have outstayed our welcome and the hostess is anxious to get rid of us. Of course that is purely a matter of fancy, yet somehow a striking clock always seems to say, 'You'd better be going.' The wise hostess knows that, and if she wants her callers to be thoroughly comfortable she shuns a clock that strikes."—New York Times.

Not Fatal.

No Matter What Doctors Say—We Know That Heart Trouble in Many Cases Can Be Cured.

There are seven main features of heart disease, viz.: (1) Weakness or Debility; (2) Rheumatism or Neuralgia; (3) Valvular Disorder; (4) Dilation; (5) Enlargement; (6) Fatty Degeneration; (7) Dropsy.

Documentary evidence will prove thousands of so-called "incurables" have been absolutely cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Patients often have no idea their disease is heart trouble, but ascribe it to Indigestion, Liver Complaint, etc.

Here are some of the symptoms: Shortness of breath after exercise, Smothering Spells, Pain in Chest, left Shoulder and arm, Discomfort in Lying on one side, Fainting Spells, Nervous Cough, Swelling of Feet and Ankles, Fulness of Face and Lips, Palpitation, Nightmare, Irregular Pulse.

"I have great faith in Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and speak of its merits whenever opportunity presents. Manufacturer's Bankrupt Clothing Sale,

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

Mose, the darky cook of a party of surveyors in eastern Texas, was greatly annoyed by the razorback hogs that roamed around the camp. One evening while he was at the spring a particularly ravenous band of these "piny woods rooters" raided the cook tent and ate up everything that was edible and some things that weren't. For several moments after his return from the spring Mose could find no words to express his feelings. "Waal," he finally exclaimed, "de good Lawd suhtainly knowed his business when he named hawgs 'hawgs!' Dey sho' is hawgs!"—Everybody's Magazine.

MAKE IT YOURSELF

A well known authority on rheumatism gives the readers of a large New York daily paper the following valuable yet simple and harmless prescription which anyone can easily prepare at home.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost and being of vegetable extraction are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each bose until permanent results are obtained, without injuring the stomach. While there are many so called rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results and the above will no doubt be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately or the druggists here will mix the prescription for our readers, if asked to.

How Red Herrings Came.

The first red herring was accidentally produced in England many years ago by a fisherman who, having a surplus of fresh herring, hung them up in a smoky shed to dry and then forgot all about them. When he looked at them some time after he found that they had changed in color. The king, to whom the fishes were presented, was so interested that he gave permission to the fisherman to exhibit them around the country as strange mon-

BASE BALL

About 1200 enthusiastic fans braved the slight snow storm of yesterday and witnessed the game of base ball between Tecumseh of the Southern Michigan League and Adrian at Adrian. Factories and stores were closed in order that the employees might witness the game Adrian had so surely won, but really to see the basket of goose eggs the leaguers handed them. In the first five innings neither side scored, but in the sixth Tecumseh fell on Carrick for six hits and five runs, the Tecumseh team scoring again in the seventh and ninth.

Score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E

BASE BALL NOTES

Secretary Reynolds of the South Michigan League has assigned his umpires for the opening games as follows: Tecumseh at Kalamazoo, Duval; Lansing at Battle Creek, O'Toole; Flint at Jackson, Fitzgibbons; Bay City at Saginaw, Corlett.

Bill Smith, the Albion boy, once a catcher for the Tecumseh team, is a great favorite at Pueblo, Col. The Denver Times says: "Smith electrified the stand in the fourth inning in hitting one of the nicest home runs in the history of the local team. In the eighth Patterson stepped on one of Bohannan's offering and met it squarely for a 3 bagger to centerfield. Smith sent another, just as good, in the same place.

NEW CURE FOR STOMACH

C. A. Wright & Son Give Their Readers a Chance to Try It.

Druggists do not often guarantee anything.

But C. A. Wright & Son assure persons suffering from distressing indigestion that they can surely be relieved.

Since nobody knows when, people have suffered from indigestion, sick headaches, bloating, dizzy spells, distress after eating, sleeplessness, and many other symptoms of stomach trouble, and have found the usual remedies powerless.

At last a prescription called Mi-o-na stomach tablets is offered to the medical profession and general public as a final solution of curing stomach and intestinal troubles. Its success everywhere has made it, in the last few years, the acknowledged specific it is to-day.

Indigestion, which is so common a trouble, is the principal cause of a great share of the general poor health It has misleading symptoms that seemingly have no reference to the stomach, such as headaches, sleeplessness, nervous symptoms, etc. These conditions if neglected, become chronic and hard to shake off,

Strengthen the whole digestive system with Mi-o-na, and you will soon find that the stomach and bowels do their work as they should. There will be no distress after eating, and the refuse will be expelled from the system without the aid of physic.

C. A. Wright & Son have so much faith in the power of Mi-o-na to cure stomach ills that they give a guarantee with every 50 cent box to refund the money if the remedy does not do all that is claimed for it. They take all the risk, and you cannot afford to pass by a reliable medicine that is sold in this way.

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The back aches at times with an indescribable feeling, making you restless; piercing pains shoot through the kidneys and the loins are so lame, to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster you cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one

C. E. Sharpsteen, of 21 Locust street, Adrian, Mich., says: "In recommending Doan's Kidney Pills I have my opinion based not only upon personal experience but that of friends who have used them with just as satisfactory results as I did. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me 6 years ago of heavy, dull pains in my back, always more severe when I did any work that caused a strain on my back. I was also bothered with inflammation of the kidneys and in passing the secretions there was a smarting sensation. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me entirely of these annoyances."

Plenty more proof like from Tecumseh people. Call at Wright & Son's drug store and ask what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

HE DIDN'T SWEAR.

But a Court Record Quoted Him as Using Strong Language.

One day during a term of court at Macon, Mo., Judge Shelton, who was running through a stenographic record of a trial, detected a sentence which reflected upon the piety of appellant's senior counsel, Major B. R. Dysart, an elder in the Presbyterian church.

"Major," he said, "I have just been reading this record. I was inexpressibly pained to note in it some very disrespectful language you used in the presence of the court."

A funereal solemnity would fall short of describing the appearance of Dysart's features.

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"Of course you may have been excited a bit during the trial, major. I know those other fellows were worrying you like everything, but that is hardly an excuse for using cuss words. You should have waited until you got outside. It won't do"—

"Does your honor mean to intimate that I swore in your presence while trying a case?" demanded the major sternly.

"I don't intimate anything, major, but you just look at that." And he handed the transcript to Dysart. There, nestling in the midst of a long argument over an objection, printed as plain as type could make it, were the words:

"It is a damned obscure injury."

It required nearly five minutes for the major to think out how it happened. Then he grabbed a pen, shoved it into the ink bottle and viciously scratched out the ribald sentence, over which he wrote:

"It is a damnum absque injuria," meaning a damage without an injury. —Kansas City Star.

SHOPPING IN CAIRO.

Where Bargaining Is the Perfume, the Poetry of Trade.

"I entered Sidi Okba's shop in Cairo," said the man with the oriental labels on his luggage, "and a handsome carpet caught my eye. 'What is the price of that?' I asked.

"'That carpet is not for sale,' Sidi Okba answered. 'I bought it at great cost for my own delectation only. How beautiful it is! But will not monsieur partake with me of coffee and cigarettes?'

"I partook. The next morning I was in that neighborhood again, and Sidi came forth and saluted me. He had changed his mind about retaining the carpet. Allah forbade selfishness among the true believers, and since I desired the thing he'd let me have it for $1,000.

"'I'll give you $10,' said I.

"He fell back, almost fainting; then in a weak, pained voice he offered me coffee again.

"Next day when I turned up he came down to $900, and I went up to $15, and we drank more coffee and smoked. Next day he dropped to $800, and I rose to $17.50. We were very cheerful over the coffee and tobacco that day. We had the carpet spread before us to admire. It was evident that we would strike a bargain yet, and just before I left Cairo we did strike a bargain. The carpet became mine for $50. It would have cost $250 at home. As we shook hands in farewell Sidi Okba said:

"'I love a good bargainer like yourself. Bargaining is the bloom, the perfume, the poetry of trade. I adore it.'" —Exchange.

Another Kind of Guest.

"Won't you please write in my guest book?" said a woman to the friends she had entertained at dinner. And she brought out the treasured volume, with its record of hospitality. The names were inscribed.

"Why, what's this?" said the modern Eve as the pages were fluttered before the book was returned to its owner. "There are lots and lots of names in the back and all in your handwriting too."

The hostess laughed. "Do you want to know what these names are?" she asked. "Well, I suppose I might have a confession. They are names of guests, all right, but of another kind. It's the list of the servants I have had since my housekeeping experiences began."—New York Press.

The practiced hand is at one with the accurate ear, and the pressure is brought to bear with most delicate adjustment to the resistance. OCEAN CABLES.

The Many Dangers to Which They Are Constantly Exposed.

The vicissitudes of a submarine cable are many, says the Magazine of Commerce. It may be torn by an anchor, crushed by a rock or seriously damaged by coral reefs such as abound in the tropics.

Some of the growths often found on a cable tend gradually to decay the iron sheathing wires.

Then, again, a cable is sometimes severed by a seaquake. It may be fatally attacked by a snout of a sawfish or by the spike of a swordfish. But perhaps the little animal that makes itself most objectionable from the cable engineer's standpoint is the insignificant looking teredo navalis.

This little beast is intensely greedy where gutta percha is concerned, working its way there between the iron wires and between the serving yarns. The silica in the outer cable compound tends to defeat the teredo's efforts at making a meal of the core, and this defeat is further effected by the core being enveloped in a thin taping of brass.

But where the bottom is known to be badly infested with these little monsters of the deep the insulator is often composed of india rubber, which has no attraction for the teredo and possesses a toughness, moreover, which is less suited for its boring tool than the comparatively cheeselike gutta percha, which it perforates with the greatest ease.

WIGS IN COURT.

Bench and Bar in England Stick to the Traditional Headgear.

American visitors to English court rooms have been struck by the strange appearance—strange to their eyes, at least—of judges and lawyers in wigs.

Times and customs change, but the judicial wig of England remains unchanged. Bench and bar hold faithfully to the traditional headgear.

Until 1827 human hair was used in making the wigs, which were heavily powdered when worn, but since then white horsehair has been used. While English horsehair is considered the best, the wigmakers buy supplies in France, Russia and even China and South America.

Every operation in the manufacture of wigs is by hand except the curling, and this is done on a small hand curling machine. Most of the wigs run from twenty-one to twenty-four and a half inches in circumference.

The wig of the average member of the bar costs $30. Full bottomed wigs, such as are worn occasionally by judges and the king's counsel and always by the speaker of the house of commons, cost about $60.

Few lawyers buy more than one wig in the course of their career at the bar. Some of the most famous advocates of England may be seen in court with dilapidated wig and rusty gown.—Philadelphia North American.

FIERCE CANINES.

The Wolfish Dogs of Newfoundland and Labrador.

On the extreme northern coast of Newfoundland, as well as on Labrador, the fishing villages and settlements are all situated in the harbors and creeks along the seashore. In the summer all intercommunication with the various villages is by water, so that the roads are very primitive. In winter, when the ground is covered with snow and the marshes and lakes are frozen, the people utilize dogs and "comaticks" to travel to and fro, and also for hauling firewood, building material, etc. Those dogs are savage mongrels, closely allied to their progenitor, the wolf; in fact, they are half wolf.

The residents do not trouble much about these mongrels in the summer, and they are generally kept in a state of semisavage starvation. They feed on fish offal during the fishing season and occasionally band together and go a-hunting on their own account. On these occasions they will attack anything they come across, man or beast, and so fierce are their depredations that caribou, which are plentiful in Labrador, can only on rare occasions be found within twenty-five miles of the seacoast, as these mongrels have destroyed or driven them all inland.

Last winter it was reported that a team of those dogs turned on the driver and devoured him and his wife and child, who were accompanying him to a distant settlement. It has been long recognized that these packs of savage dogs were great obstacles in the way of the progress of the people in these parts. It was impossible for them to keep cows, sheep, goats or even poultry.—Forest and Stream.

EARTHWORMS.

They Can Move About Only When the Ground Is Damp.

Ever since Darwin wrote his remarkable book on earthworms the general public has taken an interest in these lowly creatures. Everybody has observed thousands of them on the cement walks during and after a rain, but the true cause of these remarkable wanderings is not often written about. The fact is that earthworms can move about only when the ground and the grass are wet. The truth of this is easily shown by placing an earthworm on some dry sand, when the dry grains will stick to its slimy skin and make it helpless.

All living creatures are endowed with the instinct to move and spread over the earth. Human beings, higher animals and birds prefer to move about in fair weather. To the earthworm and other lowly creatures, like frogs, salamanders, slugs and land snails, rainy days are the only fair days for traveling. When the sun comes out and dries the roads and the meadows, they withdraw into their hiding places. As earthworms cannot see clearly, they crawl about in an aimless sort of way. If they happen to get on a board or cement walk, when the sky clears they soon die and shrivel up.

When a dry season or winter approaches, the earthworms burrow deeper into the ground. At a depth varying from six inches to two feet each worm coils up into a little ball. By aid of secreted slime it makes a case of dirt round itself, and in this state it remains dormant until abundant rains or the spring thaws call it back to a more active life.—St. Louis Republic.

NEGRO WIELDS RAZOR

Attacks Sweetheart Then Cuts His Own Throat.

FINDS RIVAL AT GIRL'S HOME

Robert Lewis of Detroit Attempted Murder and Suicide While in Jealous Rage—His Rival Ran Away When Trouble Began.

Detroit, Mich., May 4.—In a jealous rage, Robert Lewis, a negro, twenty-eight years old, slashed his sweetheart, Florence Henderson, and then drew the razor twice across his own throat. The girl is at West Side hospital in a critical condition from several cuts, the most serious being around her right arm, while Lewis has a bare chance for recovery at St. Mary's hospital.

Lewis had been paying his attentions to the woman for the past two years and became angered when he found a rival, Allan Robinson, present. The couple had a few words, and then Lewis suddenly seized the girl by the throat, drawing his razor at the same time and slashing wildly.

Miss Henderson called for help, and her stepfather, Charles Clay, ran in, felling Lewis by a blow of his fist just in time to avoid the brandished razor. Lewis then rose to his feet and, before Clay could hit him again, slashed himself twice across the throat. Then he stumbled out to the sidewalk and collapsed.

During the stirring scenes caused by his presence, Robinson, the rival, watched his opportunity and quietly slipped out of the door and away from danger.

Two patrolmen of the central station heard the screams and hurried to the house, stumbling over the unconscious body of Lewis as they came in. Clay had wrapped a blanket about the girl and carried her to a rear room. A doctor was called, and he sent her to the hospital. Lewis followed soon after to St. Mary's hospital.

The assailant was a boarder at the Clay home.

May Never Try Glazier.

Lansing, Mich., May 4.—A conviction is prevalent here that former State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier will never be tried on the indictments found against him by the grand jury. Men connected with the case against him incline to this belief most strongly since the showing made by the experts who recently examined Glazier and made a report to the court in Detroit. Attorney General Bird is also of the opinion that Glazier will never be able to stand trial and that his mental poise is permanently disturbed. The courts will not try a man for a crime who is mentally incompetent to direct his defense.

Mixup in Numbering Autos.

Lansing, Mich., May 4.—A bad mixup has resulted from the enactment of the automobile license law, and the effectiveness of the measure is seriously questioned. Not a new number has been issued by the secretary of state's office for several months, and it is believed that a large proportion of auto owners have disregarded the statute. The numbers that are being issued to autoists are those which have been cancelled because they have not been renewed as provided for by the law, but many of these numbers are doubtless in use by those to whom they were originally issued.

Shoots Rival and Himself.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 4.—When Asa Brantmyer, twenty-eight years old, called at the home of Mrs. William Reynolds, he found a rival, Ezra Daniels, there. Brantmyer drew a revolver and fired twice. The bullets entered Daniel's arm and penetrated his body. The wound, while serious, is not necessarily fatal. Brantmyer, believing that he had killed him, then turned the revolver on himself. The wound was not serious, and Asa walked to the home of his brother, nearby, and, retiring to an upper room, fired a bullet into his temple. The second wound will probably be fatal.

Hamel's Body Found.

Manistique, Mich., May 4.—The body of Henry Hamel, for many years foreman of the Chicago Lumbering company's mill, which was burned in December, was picked up on the beach outside the harbor. He, with others, was in the mill when it was enveloped in flames. He attempted to reach and start the pump, when exit was cut off by the flames. After the burning of the mill, the body must have dropped into the river and floated out into the lake.

WED IN CZAR'S PALACE

Prince Wilhelm of Sweden Marries Emperor's Cousin.

CARRIED OUT WITH POMP.

Great Crowds Gathered About Palace to See Royal Personages Come and Go—Cannons Boom and Trumpets Blare—Ends With State Banquet.

St. Petersburg, May 4.—Prince Wilhelm of Sweden, second son of King Gustave, the popular sailor prince who visited America in 1907, has married Grand Duchess Marie Pavlopa, cousin of the emperor of Russia and daughter of Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch. The ceremony took place at Tsarskoe-Selo and was accompanied by all the pomp and brilliant display of color characteristic of the most stately pomp court in Europe.

A great crowd gathered around the palace to catch a glimpse of the emperor and other royal personages and the arriving guests. The crowds stood for hours in the bleak and muddy palace square, until the conclusion of the ceremony.

Agreement Sealed.

A great state banquet was served at which toasts were drunk to the good understanding between Sweden and Russia recently reached in the Baltic agreement, to which this wedding—the first in modern times between the ruling houses of the two countries—puts the seal.

The beginning of the nuptial ceremonies was announced by the firing of five guns simultaneously at 9 o'clock in the morning by the battery at Tsarskoe-Selo and by the fortress at St. Peter and St. Paul in St. Petersburg. This was but the beginning of the noisy acclamation, for the thunder of salutes was heard almost uninterruptedly all day.

The wedding guests who took part in the ceremony assembled at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the great palace. The orthodox ceremony was performed in the small blue and gold chapel of the palace. Guests were stationed according to their rank in the various salons and halls through which the bridal procession passed.

Robed in Empress' Rooms.

The robing of the bride was performed, in accordance with court custom, in the private apartment of the empress. She wore on her head a jewelled diadem, and from her shoulders hung a long trained mantle of strawberry velvet, lined with ermine. In the procession the train of this garment was borne by five court chamberlains.

A salute of twenty-one guns and a blare of trumpets announced the start of the procession. At its head came the dowager empress on the arm of King Gustave; the emperor of Russia, escorting Queen Olga of Greece; the empress, escorted by the Grand Duke of Hesse, Crown Prince Ferdinand and Crown Princess Marie of Roumania, attended by the court ushers and marshals and other functionaries.

Then, arm in arm, came the bridal pair. Behind the young couple marched Prince Nicholas and Prince Andrew of Greece and their wives, Prince Christopher of Greece and Prince Carl of Sweden and his wife. The guests from foreign courts were followed by more than a score of Russian grand dukes and grand duchesses.

Use Wedding Rings.

The imperial guests were received at the chapel doors by th metropolitan of the court and a number of priests. The emperor conducted the bridal pair to the dias. The wedding rings were brought from the altar and placed upon the fingers of the bride and the bridegroom by the emperor's confessor. The metropolitan completed the rites of the marriage service, and the procession then returned to one of he ante salons, where the Lutheran marriage ceremony was performed by the Swedish bishop of Lund. This brought the afternoon program to an end.

The nuptial dinner was served in the evening. After the dinner the members of the imperial family and the royal guests participated in a polonaise.

The bridal pair took a special train for St. Petersburg, where the honeymoon will be passed.

Chinese Boycott Japanese Ships.

Seattle, Wash., May 4.—Chinese importers and merchants of Seattle have received notice that Hong Kong merchants had initiated a boycott against Japanese steamships plying to this port and against Japanese merchants and manufacturers. The local Chinese are notified that hereafter all goods will be sent from China to Seattle and other ports on American ships or tramp steamers.

CHARLES BENJAMIN, salesman for Detroit Neckwear company, Detroit, Mich.

Unknown woman, companion of Mrs. Hathaway.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 4.—Ten known dead, several missing and thirteen seriously injured are the results of a fire that destroyed the New Aveline, Fort Wayne's principal hotel, early in the day. Chief of Police Anckenbruck declares he believes that twenty bodies are still in the ruins.

The hotel register was consumed by the fire, and there is no accurate means of determining who is missing.

The complete destruction of the interior of the hotel makes the work of recovering bodies a difficult task. A confused heap of charred wood, bricks and twisted girders is piled up between the walls to the second story. Piece by piece this must be removed before the roll of the dead can be completed. Some of the bodies taken out are mangled and charred beyond recognition.

Night Clerk Gives Alarm.

The fire was discovered at 3:30 in the morning in the elevator shaft by Night Clerk Hipkins. He rushed to the upper floors, alarming the guests until the flames, which had spread with great rapidity, drove him back. His efforts, however, saved many lives. The hotel was erected half a century ago, and the woodwork was as dry as tinder. It burned like matchwood, and within a few minutes from the time the fire was discovered the whole interior of the hotel was a mass of flames, and the only means of escape left was by the windows.

The fire department rescued many by means of ladders; but some, frenzied by the rush of the flames, leaped from windows to the street.

R. S. Johnson of Pana, Ill., jumped from the fifth story. His body struck a balcony and bounded far into the street. He was badly crushed and died a short time later in St. Joseph's hospital.

Thrilling Rescue.

There were many thrilling escapes. Claude H. Varnell of the Fort Wayne baseball team, his sister, Mrs. John Hendricks, and John Hendricks of Chicago, manager of the Fort Wayne baseball team, barely escaped with their lives. Varnell lost all his personal belongings, valued at several thousand dollars. Hendricks, with his wife ahead of him and his son in his arms, started down the fire escape from the fifth floor. At the third floor the fire broke out below them at the turn in the iron stairs. He swung Mrs. Hendricks over the railing of the third floor platform, and she dropped to the platform of the story below, thus avoiding the blaze swept portion of the fire escape. Then he dropped his son into the arms of his wife, and he followed them in this way to the ground in safety. Other similarly narrow escapes were numerous.

Leaped From Third Story.

When the fire was at its height, F. M. Matthews of Columbus, O., was seen widly waving his arms at a third story window. He shrieked for help in vain, and then leaped from the window and went swirling to the pavement below. He was terribly injured.

The hotel and its furnishings were valued at $80,000.

Jones and Stevens, proprietors of the hotel, personal, $5,000; G. H. Brown, saloon, $10,000; C. B. Woodworth & Co., drugs, $6,000; Postal Telegraph company, $2,000; Strauss Bros., bankers, $2,000; George Streicher, barber shop, $2,500; Lee Ivins, cigars and newsstand, $6,000; Bass block, adjoining hotel, $1,500.

All losses in the hotel block, save the Strauss bank, are total. The bank vaults are intact. All losses are fully insured.

FIRE CAUSES SIX DEATHS.

Big Sacrifice of Life In Burning of Brooklyn Tenement House.

New York, May 4.—An early morning fire in a four-story brick tenement at 17 Humboldt street, a thickly settled section of Brooklyn, caused the death of six persons and the serious injury of four others.

Every member of one family, consisting of a mother and four children, are among the dead. Several persons, trapped in the upper stories, were saved by jumping into life nets. The financial loss is $10,000. The dead:

Mrs. Dora Abrams, Sadie Abrams, Carrie Abrams, Anna Abrams, Charles Abrams, Mrs. Jennie Cohen.

The fire, which originated in the cellar, gained much headway before it was discovered, and three policemen, who arrived about this time, repeatedly risked their lives in dragging people from the lower floors. When the firemen came, the fire had spread through the entire rear of the house, where the fire escapes were, and the terror stricken inmates of the upper floors had been driven to the front rooms, where they were hanging from the windows, shrieking for help.

Ladders and life nets were quickly brought into use, and most of the imperilled persons were rescued. The Abrams family lived on the third floor. Charles Abrams and his sister, Anna, jumped from the windows, but both struck an iron railing and were dead when picked up. Mrs. Abrams and her other children, Sadie and Carrie, were burned to death clasped in each others' arms.

Although there is no evidence of incendiarism, the origin of the fire was so peculiar that the authorities will make a rigid investigation.

IN COURT AGAIN.

Thaw Is Endeavoring to Obtain His Release From Asylum.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 4.—Public interest in the case of Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, is being revived today. Thaw is endeavoring, by habeas corpus proceedings, to obtain his release from the Matteawan state hospital for insane criminals.

The writ of habeas corpus is returnable before Justice Morschauser in the supreme court in this city. The writ was issued by Judge Morschauser at White Plains, on April 22, on the application of James G. Graham, an attorney of Newburgh.

District Attorney Jerome of New York county is opposing the proceedings and will try to prevent the discharge of Thaw, who, he believes, is insane.

The first step in the court proceedings was a motion by Mr. Jerome to have the trial transferred to New York county.

Mr. Jerome thinks it will be more convenient for witnesses to have the trial in New York, and he has pointed out that it will cost Duchess county $30,000 to have the case heard here.

Thaw was brought to Poughkeepsie this morning by Dr. Baker, acting superintendent of the Matteawan, and two attendents. Dr. Baker and others will testify that Thaw is not mentally fit to be given his liberty.

Among the experts retained by Thaw's attorney to testify as to his mental condition are Dr. Charles W. Pilgrim, superintendent of the Hudson river state hospital, and Dr. Charles H. Lane of Poughkeepsie.

Enraged because his long journey across the seas had ended in the refusal of his proposal of marriage, William Sekansky, a young Polander, shot and killed Annie Kockonwa, a twenty-year-old Polish girl, in Williamsburg, N. Y. and, before he was overpowered by the police, shot Michael Kirsani, who sought to intercept him in his flight. Kirsani died later in a hospital.

If any one has any doubt as to the virtue of Foley's Kidney Cure, they need only to refer to Mr. Alvin H. Stimpson, of Willimantic, Conn., who after almost losing hope of recovery, on account of the failure of so many remedies, finally tried Foley's Kidney Cure, which he says was "just the thing" for him, as four bottles cured him completely. He is now entirely well and free from all the suffering incident to acute kidney trouble. For sale by all druggist.

The Morning After.

By CECILY ALLEN.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Homer Sprague.

It was the very irony of fate! Victor Marshall stood before the billboard, staring dully at its foot high lettering:

MISS MAUDE MOWRY
VIOLINISTE
THURSDAY EVENING, FEB. 2
Under the patronage of the Countess of Carchester, Mrs. Peter Wolff-De Peyster, Mrs. Roger Standbilt, Mrs. Porter Osborne Smith.
Tickets, $3, $2 and $1.

Marshall glanced from the billboard to his watch and then signaled for a cab. He had meant to walk in leisurely fashion to his hotel, but matters had suddenly turned urgent. His room engaged, he turned toward the flower shop at the far end of the electrically lighted corridor. Nothing in the whole shop seemed worthy of the Maude he had known. The orchids drooped even in the refrigerator. The stems of the American Beauties were too short. The pink roses were too deep in tone. They would clash with the delicate tint of her cheeks. He finally settled on lilies of the valley and California violets.

Then he hurried over to the stand where theater tickets were sold. No, they never carried tickets for Mozart hall, but they would send a messenger for one.

By 7:30 Marshall was fuming over his toilet. That lavender tie looked too loud by electric light, and the white had turned a queer yellowish tint. He would wear black. That was always safe.

He arrived fifteen minutes too soon and watched nervously the slow gathering of the well gowned audience. When the stringed sextet started the overture the house was half empty.

Marshall wondered what ailed the music loving public of New York that it would take chances on missing the opening number by its favorite violiniste. And then she came out through the narrow white and gold door, and he forgot the audience, forgot everything but her—her clinging white gown frosted with pearls, her slender white throat.

She was looking thinner than when she left McKeesport, and her face had a wistful expression where once it had been a trifle imperious.

So much music had done for her! Like Undine, she had found her soul, but somehow Victor Marshall caught himself wondering, under the spell of her playing, why the kiss of music and not of love had awakened that soul.

He woke with a start. The audience was applauding, and ushers were hurrying down the aisle with moustrous floral offerings, American Beauties, with stems three and four feet long, overtopped by golden chrysanthemums.

Victor Marshall leaned back grimly in his chair. What was $10 worth of lilies and violets in New York?

The piece de resistance of the concert was over, a concerto in which the violiniste had outshone the popular string sextet.

Marshall reached for his hat. Part of the audience was making for the entrance, exclaiming the personalities of regular concert goers. Another group, a smaller one, was making its way intimately toward the door leading to the dressing room, obviously to congratulate the star.

Impulsively Victor Marshall started to follow the smaller group, then stopped, with a grim smile on his lips. Every one of these men wore evening clothes. He'd look well in his plain business suit offering congratulations along with countesses and society leaders.

So he went back to the hotel—but not to sleep. All night he fought it out with himself. Sometimes he paced the floor. Sometimes he stood gazing over the twinkling lights of the city. And by morning he had found himself.

He would drop in to call upon his old sweetheart, but in the most correct and casual way. Of course McKeesport had not dreamed that she had advanced so far in her profession. The Countess of Carchester! Mrs. Roger Standbilt! They were names to conjure with.

And he had thought that because he had won the D. R. and Fort G. suit he had the world at his feet and Maude Mowry would be glad to come back and reign over the Queen Anne cottage he had bought without even writing to her.

He did not dare to think of the new bay window he had designed for the south room, nor the rugs he had selected at the mechanical exposition, nor the Marshall mahogany he had bought from the rest of the heirs.

It was 4 in the afternoon when, refreshed by a Turkish bath and a thick beefsteak, he felt fit to present himself at the studio of "Miss Maude Mowry, Violiniste." Under the very eyes of a very towering studio building and in the dim light of fading day and shaded electroliers it seemed to radiate that vague artistic atmosphere of which Victor Marshall had read much.

Maude was glad to see him, unfeignedly, frankly glad, and Marshall argued that it was the proper attitude of the great and the successful toward old time friends. He leaned back in the carved French chair where he could keep the masses of fragrant floral offerings in full view to temper his speech. They were a warning against personalities and reminiscences.

But try as he would to talk glittering generalities, Maude steadily and persistently led the conversation back to McKeesport, old friends and what Marshall felt was the danger zone for himself. He would not tell her of the D. R. and Fort G. case, because she might guess that behind this triumph lay his heart's secret, the years of work for her. Oh, no! He would be game and as coolly worldly as herself.

The chimes in a nearby church tower rang 6, and he rose abruptly.

"I'm going back tomorrow," he began.

"Tomorrow"— Her voice was a bit faint and toneless. She was burying her face in his violets.

"Yes; I just ran on to see a—a—man on business."

She was looking at him above the violets now, and he felt that she saw straight through that lie, so he plunged desperately.

"I'd like awfully well to take you out to dinner with me tonight at—at any old place you might name; but, you see, I've no evening clothes with me. I didn't think. I came on business"—

"Oh, bother the evening clothes," exclaimed Maude, with a shaky laugh. "I'll wear a tailored suit and shirt waist."

"It's awfully good of you," he said. "Do you know where we can get good food without too much style?"

The girl looked at him oddly.

"I don't know. Sometimes I think I've forgotten what good food tastes like. It's been tea and cocoa and rolls, with an occasional banana, for me so long that real hot food sounds like—well, heaven!"

He was staring at her as she stood there against the bank of flowers.

"I don't understand," he began. She closed her eyes suddenly as if shutting out unhappy memories. "Last night—those flowers—that beautiful dress you wore—and the countess"—

"Yes, last night finished it all. It took every dollar I had earned by teaching. Most of those folks were other musicians. They came on passes. They spent on flowers what I needed for food and clothes. The countess and the rest of the patrons gave their names—and nothing more—through my manager. He got $50 out of it; I got $5. That's what it means to give your first concert in New York. That's what musical success means for a girl without backing."

For a moment Victor Marshall could not find his voice. Then very gently he drew the girl to his side.

"I've been in wrong," he said slangily, but earnestly. "I thought you did not care, and so I pretended not to." Her head was on his shoulder, her relaxed form shaking with sobs. Then, being a wise man in love, if not in affairs musical, Victor Marshall told her quietly and gently all about the D. R. and Fort G. case, the Queen Anne cottage, its new bay window, the rugs and the Marshall mahogany.

And when he had finished they went forth together into the glittering streets, she wearing the California violets and he a single spray of lilies of the valley. Then for the second time that day Marshall ordered and ate, this time with much gusto, a steak four inches thick, which Maude Mowry, ex-concert violiniste and bride prospective, compared favorably to ambrosia, which goes to show that Olympus may be located anywhere between New York, McKeesport and Hongkong.

A Budding Financier.

Bobby's parents had forbidden him to accept presents of money from casual visitors or strangers. The visitor to his home who was attracted by the boy's bright face and who wished to show his approval by offering Bobby his stray pennies was politely but firmly told any other kind of present would be welcomed, but that the boy was not allowed to take gifts of money. The parents explained that they wished to keep the innocent boy untainted by the lust for money, which he would only squander on harmful sweetmeats. However, in cases where Bobby had rendered an actual service he was permitted to accept remuneration when offered, as his parents reasoned that the laborer is worthy of his hire.

A nice old lady who was a friend of the family noticed Bobby passing one day and, calling him in, asked him to run down to a nearby store for her. Bobby executed his commission and returned promptly. The old lady was pleased.

"That was very nicely done, Bobby, and you are a bright lad," she said, fumbling in her purse. "Now, here is a penny for you."

Bobby drew himself up with dignity.

"My price for doing that kind of an errand," he said, very distinctly, "is 5 cents."—New York Press.

His Souvenir.

A famous novelist arrived one day at a little country place and from the moment he crossed the threshold of the quiet inn comforted himself with excessive ease.

He was passionately addicted to cabbage and instructed the landlord to prepare for dinner on his arrival an immense dish of that vegetable, which he conscientiously devoured.

Next day there was cabbage in the soups and cabbage in the stew, and by the third day the whole culinary department by order was conducted on the basis of cabbage.

After a week's stop the novelist had sickened of it and announced his intention of departing. Just before starting he waited on his host to present his respects. He found him in the garden—the kitchen garden.

"Good sir," he began loquaciously, "may I not hope that, after having been the guest of so capable an entertainer, I shall not be suffered to depart without a souvenir of the visit?"

The country landlord looked at him with surprise and then, inspired with an idea, called aloud:

"John"—a farmhand—"bring one of your finest cabbages for this gentleman."—London Standard.

Navy Is Never Done.

A navy, like a railroad, is never done. There never comes the grateful moment when the work can be said to be finished and the sole task left to be discharged is that of operation. As the roadbed, track, equipment of a railroad must be constantly maintained and improved, so if there is to be any navy at all equipment must be constantly improved and brought up to date, even under the policy of "replacement and repair."—Boston Transcript.

Village Local

31st Michigan Reunion.

The committee having charge of the arrangements for a reunion of the 31st Michigan Regiment, to be held at Tecumseh on Tuesday May 19, are busy with the details, and report very satisfactory progress. They are receiving the glad hand everywhere, in all their efforts, and if present indications are verified there will be hundreds of soldier laddies with us on this occasion. It is to small matter to properly entertain so large a crowd in a small village, but the boys of the Cuban war will do it fine and dandy, if they have such cooperation of our citizens as they now have every reason to believe they will. There will be a banquet in the evening, at Witherell Hall, followed by a Camp Fire, a full program of which will appear in later issue of this paper. Let us all help the boys to credit Tecumseh. It is expected that Hon. Grant Fellows, and Congressman Charles E. Townsend will be among the speakers on this occasion.

Wit and Wisdom Club Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Wit and Wisdam club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rosacrans Friday evening, May 1. At 8:30 o'clock the members and those taking part in the program sat down to a delicious three course dinner. The tables were handsomely decorated with May baskets and a carnation and hand painted place cards at each plate.

Dr. L. G. North in his usual happy manner acted as toastmoster. The program was opened by an instrumental solo by Mrs. Hodges. Dr. E. D. Brown responded to the toast "Clubs" showing the difference between men's and women's clubs and the advantage of combining the two as in the Wit and Wisdom club. Miss Cotton's subject was "Man" and she brought into her description nearly every word in the language beginning with man, adapting it to the genus homo very cleverly. "The Declaration of Independence, why? Soliloquy of the unmarried ladies of the club"—a la Shakespeare, was given by C. A. Slayton.

The next number was a vocal solo by Wade Frost "Grandmother's Love Letters." "Prehistoric Jokes"—some old, some new—was told in a very spicy manner by J. H. Smith. "The Wit and Wisdom Club" an original poem by Miss Jessie Allen contained some very good jokes on the members. A quartette composed of Mesdames Orr and Rosacrans and Messrs. Frost and Conkling sang "Star Spangled Banner" and "Old Oaken Bucket."

This closed the program and the president, Miss Kyle, after thanking the club for its support the past two years, introduced the new president, Miss Allen, who assumed her honors gracefully and announced the program committee for the next club year as follows:—Miss Kyle, Mrs. Hurst and Rev. Dunning. The club has been saddened by the death of two members this year, J. L. Anderson and Mrs. Geo. Howell. The officers for the coming year are:

Pres.—Miss Jessie Allen.
Vice Pres.—Miss Alice Wimple.
Sec—F. D. Hammond.
Treas.—Dr. E. D. Brown.

Cut His Visit Short.

The Duke of Wellington once wrote to Dr. Hutton for information as to the scientific acquirements of a young officer who had been under his instruction. The doctor thought he could not do less than answer the question verbally and made an appointment accordingly.

Directly Wellington saw him he said: "I am obliged to you, doctor, for the trouble you are taking. Is —— fit for the post?"

Clearing his throat, Dr. Hutton began: "No man more so, my lord. I can"—

"That's quite sufficient," said Wellington. "I know how valuable your time is. Mine just now is equally so. I will not detain you any longer. Good morning."

That Littie Brother of the Sun.

I mean Acetylene Light.
What is Acetylene made from?
Calcium Carbide and Water.
What is Calcium Carbide?

A dark and stony substance made from Lime and Coke melted together at the fierce heat of 6,000 degrees by an Electric Furnace.

How is it used?

This Carbide, crushed into nuggets like small coal, is put up in steel drums containing 100 pounds each.

These drums are water-tight.

Carbide can't burn, can't explode, can't do anything till you bring it in contact with water and air,—the two cheapest of all elements.

When you drop Carbide into water its Carbon combines with the Hydrogen of the Water and forms Acetylene Gas.

Touch a match to that, at the burner, and it gives out a brilliant, white light, steady, cool and odorless which is nothing less than Sunlight.

Now, what does Carbide cost?

It costs 3¾ cents per pound in most of the States.

At 4 cents per pound it produces white Sunlight (Acetylene), of 24 candle-power, for two-fifths of a cent per hour.

This is a full third less than the same candle-power light costs from regular Kerosene Lamps the expense of Chimneys and Wicks considered.

What does an Acetylene Lighting plant cost to install?

Write me the number of rooms in your House (or Hotel) or the size of your Store.

Then I can tell you which sort of Generator will best suit your purpose, and how little it would cost installed complete when you go the right way about it.

Dr. A. G. Oven.

It was a shock to the whole community when the word went out on Saturday that Dr. A. G. Oven had died in the early hours of the morning.

He had been sick only two days and it did not seem possible that, with his naturally strong constitution, he could succumb so quickly, but though Dr. Darling of Ann Arbor, arrived Friday night for consultation with Drs Pedden and Ramsdell of this city, and Dr. Armstrong of Charlevoix, it was too late to operate and death resulted from an ulcer perforating the bowels

Dr. Oven was born in Detroit of English parents Oct. 8, 1851 and went with his parents to Macon when a young child. From his early years his ambition was to study and to travel and he was the first student to get his degree from the U. of M. by examination when he graduated in 1875.

In 1878 he received the degree of M. A. and after a year or two spent in the study of law he returned to Ann Arbor and took up the study of medicine which became his life work. He graduated from the medical department in 1893 and at once became Dr. Frothingham's assistant, both in practice and teaching. Later he was superintendent of the University for several years.

About twelve years ago he went to Germany and spent eighteen months studying with some of the greatest surgeons in the land.

He came to Petoskey about 22 years ago and a year or two later he was married to Miss Hilda Pennington of Macon. Two children were born, Paul Pennington and Zoe Edna, who are left to be a strength and comfort to their mother. Two brothers also survive, Dr. T. P. Oven of Brookfield, Mo., and T. J. Oven of Dearborn.

The funeral service was held from the home Monday afternoon, Rev. Louis Grosenbaugh of Boyne City, a personal friend of Dr. Oven, preaching the short but impressive sermon. Rev. Wilson Aull of this city assisted in the service and the music was in charge of Mrs. Morgan Curtis, Mrs. Chase and Mrs. Norman Rice. The body was taken to Macon for burial in the cemetery where all of his people with the exception of his sister, Mrs Bonteeou, are buried.—Petoskey Record, April 22.

AT REST IN BROOKSIDE.

Funeral of Miss Sena Cook took place this afternoon.

Sena Cook was born at Raisin, Mich., Oct. 1, 1893. Having been left an orphan when a tiny babe her home has been with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Cook, who has been a mother to her in all that the word implies. Her entire life has been spent in this village where she was a student in the public schools, being a very capable pupil in the eighth grade and was looked upon by the entire community as one of Tecumseh's brightest and most promising young ladies.

Her pleasant disposition and pleasing manner made her a favorite among her classmates. She passed to her reward Saturday, May 2, at 7:30 in the morning. Her passing away was unexpected until a few hours before the call "come home." In her Christian associations she was a member of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school and has been faithful in her attendance. When a member of the primary class she was one of six who were present every Sunday for one year and her picture now hangs on the wall in this room.

For the past few years she has been a member of Miss Allie Cutting's class of girls and this is the second time death has entered their class and claimed one of its members inside of one year. The funeral was held from the house at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. J. W. Dunning officiating. The Sunday school class of which she was a member, and the eighth grade attended in a body. Amid a profusion of flowers the remains were laid at rest in Brookside.

Rev. John Hay.

Word was received here this morning hat Rev. John Hay, father of Kenneth Hay of this place, died at his home in Watford, Ont., Sunday morning. Rev. Hay had been pastor of the Congregational church at Watford for a number of years; retiring on account of ill health. He was the father of seven children, six of whom are living, his wife having preceded him in death a year ago.

High School Basket Ball Team Played Adrian Saturday.

Our high school basket ball team went to Adrian last Saturday and were defeated by the Adrian high school team by a single basket, the final score standing 12 to 10. The game was a snappy one from start to finish and at the close of the first half stood in our favor 8 to 3. In the second half Adrian had two fresh players and succeeded in gaining on our girls and winning the game.

Our line up was entirely changed because Lydia Babcock, one of our forwards was unable to go and neither of our regular substitutes were there; and the lack of team work shown at times was due to the fact that at no practice were the girls in the positions that they played. Ruth Ward, who played exceptionally well as side center, had never played a match game before.

We feel, considering the facts that we had never played on gymnasium floor and had never practiced lined up as we were, that our team deserves a great deal of credit and should be encouraged by a large crowd at the game which we play here with Hillsdale high school team next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The line up last Saturday was as follows:—Forwards, Grace Albert, captain, Josephine Hayden; centers, Marion Rosacrans, Ruth Ward, Ella Hastings, sucstitute; guards, Fern Lowe, Bessie Brotherton.

Fourth Annual Field Meet.

The fourth annual county field meet will be held here Saturday, May 23. There will be six towns of Lenawee county represented in this meet and as there is considerable rivalry among the towns a day of good closely contested sports and games is nsured. The high schools who will take part are Tecumseh, Hudson, Britton, Clinton, Addison, Morenci, Blissfield and Deerfield.

Last year the meet was held in Morenci. About 100 of the students of Tecumseh chartered a special train and went to Morenci, some to take active parts and some to take their conspicuous places in the grand stands. In spite of the inclement weather there was a good crowd and they enjoyed the day. Our high school base ball team finished second last year and this year in all probability, they will play Hudson here on field day. The girls have a good chance to secure the basket ball championship and the track team will not take a back seat for any team. There will be gold and silver trophies awarded to the winning teams and athletes.

The committee who has charge of the meet are working hard to make the day a success and solicit the help and cooperation of all the business men who are interested and willing to help. The athletic park has been secured for the day and every possible effort toward making the day perfect is being made. There will be crowds here from all the other towns and the people in and around Tecumseh are cordially invited to turn out and join in making the day a veritable sports day without the undesirable element. Further notice of the meet will be made in the next issue of the HERALD.

While taking the University of Chicago track team to a depot in a tallyho last Friday John H. Kintz, 66 years of age, of Chicago, the driver, fell from the seat to the pavement with an attack of heart disease. He was hurried to St. Bernard's hospital where he died an hour later.

Mr. Kintz was the owner of the Jackson Park livery in Chicago and employs about 400 hands. Mrs. Augustus Cummins was an only child and with her husband and child resided with her parents. The remains were taken to Tiffin, O., yesterday for burial.

SIMPLE WASH CURES ECZEMA.

Great inventors often have been praised for surrendering the secrets of their discoveries. Practically the same thing happened in the medical world in the case of Dr. Decatur D. Dennis, the eminent skin specialist of Chicago.

Dr. Dennis, in his own office practice, dis covered that pure vegetable oil of wintergreen, properly mixed with other simple redmedies was practically a sure specific for Eczema, psoriasis, barber's itch salt rheum and other itching skin diseases. But the oil of wintergreen alone was found ineffective. It required other mild ingredients such as glycerine and thymol compounded with the wintergreen to produce the real eczema cure.

This compounded D. D. D. Prescription positively takes away the itch at once—the instant it is applied to the skin. This vegetable liquid goes away with deleterious drugs so long used in an attempt to doctor the blood, whereas modern science has determined that eczema is first and all the time a skin disease.

If you want to know more about the merits of D. D. D. Prescription, call at our store. We vouch for this remedy. B. J. Pulver, Tecumseh, Mich.

They had seven scalps hung over a large war club and were making a noise like further trouble. —Adrian Telegram.

IDLE NOTES

Of Interest to the One Big Family

"Each day is the scholar of yesterday."

The HERALD recently published an account of Grandma Williams' 90th birthday celebration. The article came to the notice of A. J. Kempton, former editor of the Addison Courier and now mayor of Nevada, O., and he sept Mrs. Williams a beautiful and appreciated letter which she greatly prizes In view of the deplorable neglect of the aged which is shown by most young people of the present time, this letter of Mr. Kempton's is worthy of publication and its sentiments worthy of adoption by any young person who can carry as much pleasure to their elders as this kind message has to this old lady. He says:

Mrs. Susan B. Williams.

ESTEEMED OLD NEIGHBOR AND FRIEND:—I have just read a paragraph concerning the celebration of your 90th birthday, also of your pioneer incidents and of your continued good health. Accordingly I hasten to add my congratulations to those of your many friends both in Tecumseh and Addison, not to mention those of the long ago, at the Round Lake Settlement and other places where you have lived and wrought.

You are one of the very few who were familiar with the experience of pioneer life in Southern Michigan and who knew my parents before I was born. You were acquainted with most of those who lived in Addison when I was a boy and but few of whom remain to relate the story of their better days.

You were a member of the old Sons of Temperance, also of the Good Templars lodges and later of the Red Ribbon club of which I was president and I wish to say to you now, that your faithfulness to duty as you understood it, was a help to me then and has been an inspiration to me many times since. Then when I finally chose "the better way" and took up church work, you were one of the first to give me the hand of fellowship and word of encouragement, something which was withheld by some from whom I naturally expected to receive at first.

When you left Addison I felt that one of my true friends had gone and my sympathy for you in your affliction was but feebly expressed either inperson or newspaper. I am glad indeed to learn of the blessings which the good Father has given you since and may His grace be sufficient until the battle of life is over and the final victory of the soul secured. Sincerely,
A. J. KEMPTON.

Let us all go forthwith and write a similar letter to any to whom we may owe a debt of love and gratitude for—"we come not this way again."

Again, the women think it would be fine and artistic to have the school children form in a body and march through the village in their nice white pinafores and carry little swill pails to clean up the village streets. This suggestion seems to strike the right chord for our neighbor to the south. The mayor wished the schools closed May 1st so that all the children might participate in this hilarious jollification. Certainly it would be a very economical way to clean the city. We better adopt it here, we might be able to save enough money to build a sewer, for we all realize that much time and money is spent in keeping our alleys clean and immaculate.

* * *

And now we note in an eastern city an ordinance pending suggested by a woman's club, prohibiting the barking of dogs and crowing of roosters between the hours of ten p. m. and six a. m., a sort of Rip VanWinkle village seems desirable to them.

* * *

Life would be too serene and calm for our Village Council if it were not for the kindly (?) suggestions of the feminine part of the population.

To each one Easter brings an individual significance, but to all it brings the message of hope which is so necessary to life and happiness. It comes in the spring when Mother Earth begins to clothe herself anew. The miracle of the embryo leaves pushing aside the soil and these particles of earth resolving themselves into plant, flowers and fruit, teach that in life nothing is in vain, that each event, be it joyful or sad, tends to the perfection of the whole.

* * *

Who is they?
Why don't they build a fire escape on the school house,
You ask with deep annoyance not undue.
Why don't they keep the bicycles off the sidewalks?
Do you ever stop to think that they means you?

The adage "There is nothing new under the sun" was fully demonstrated recently when the use of a practical mechanical tool was explained. When we asked if this is something new, fancy our surprise when told, "Not very, it has been in use since the time of Pythagoras," thus all things which do not come to our notice we think are new.

A RECORD BREAKER.

Last Year's Sales of Hyomei, the Guaranteed Cure for Catarrh, Larger Than Ever.

The merits of Hyomei (the treatment that cures catarrh without stomach dosing), its popularity and growth, aae unique in the annals of medicine. So pronounced is the relief and cure following the use of this treatment that it has been publicly recommended by leading druggists and physicians in nearly every state and town in the country, with the result that last year's sales were larger than ever.

The fact that Hyomei is so simple and complete, and that it cures by breathing medicated air and not taking drugs into the stomach, no doubt has helped to create this wide-spread and rapidly increasing army of friends.

The way in which it has been sold by C. A. Wright & Son has undoubtedly aided greatly its introduction in Tecumseh. They are such firm believers in the power of Hyomei to cure all catarrhal troubles, that they urge people to use it with the understanding that the cost will be refunded to anyone who is not benefitted by the treatment. You do not risk a cent in testing the healing virtues of Hyomei, for C. A. Wright & Son take all the risk of its giving satisfaction, and leave you to be the judge.

If you have catarrh, give Hyomei a trial and you, too, will become its friend and recommend it to others. The complete outfit costs only $1 00; nothing if it does not cure.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

The back aches at times with an indescribable feeling, making you restless; piercing pains shoot through the kidneys and the loins are so lame, to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster you cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one

C E Sharpsteen, of 21 Locust street, Adrian, Mich., says: "In recommending Doan's Kidney Pills I have my opinion based not only upon personal experience but that of friends who have used them with just as satisfactory results as I did. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me 6 years ago of heavy, dull pains in my back, always more severe when I did any work that caused a strain on my back. I was also bothered with inflammation of the kidneys and in passing the secretions there was a smarting sensation. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me entirely of these annoyances."

Plenty more proof like from Tecumseh people. Call at Wright & Son's drug store and ask what their customers report.

THE UNIVERSE.

Man's Place in This Eternity of Space and Matter.

The solar system is but a fragment of the universe. Every star is a sun with a solar system. It is possible that there may be millions of planets inhabited by beings higher or lower than ourselves. What we see going on is what we call the process of evolution—from broken fragments to coherent masses and to inhabited worlds, from chaos to cosmos, a struggle upward of the universe from something lower and disorganized to something higher and organized.

As to how life originates on these planets science is ignorant at present. It is an entire mystery. I would not have you build too much on that. I do not think it will always remain a mystery, nor would I have a theologian shaken in his views if science should discover something about the nature and origin of life. I want you to realize that this process of evolution is not a process which negatives or excludes the idea of divine activity. It is, I venture to say, a revelation to us of the manner of divine activity. It is the way the Deity works.

The attempt to show that evolution is unguided, that it is the result of absolute change, fails. What is pointed to is not unguided random change, but guided change. The other could not be done in time.

What we have to realize in regard to our place in the universe is that we are intelligent, helpful and active parts of the cosmic scheme. We are among the agents of the Creator. One of the most helpful ideas is co-operation—helping one another. Co-operation—this in a new and stimulating sense—co-operation with the Divinity himself.—Sir Oliver Lodge.

OLD MAN DESERTED.

Detroit Police Find Bedridden Robert Miller Alone In Big House.

Detroit, Mich., May 4.—Paralyzed for the past fourteen years, and now bedridden and almost helpless, Robert Miller, sixty-eight years old, an old resident of Detroit, lies alone in the ten-room house at 746 Fort street west.

The pitiable condition of the old man was reported, and Precinct Detective Wilson was sent to investigate the circumstances.

Miller reported to him that he has paid the Smith-Fox Home corporation a total of $660 on the understanding that he was to have a home and attendance for life. Last Thursday all of the other inmates were moved from the place and were taken to new quarters near the West Side hospital, an institution that is run by the same persons. Miller remained behind.

Miller says he would have had nothing to eat Sunday if it had not been for the kindness of Mrs. Fleming, cook at a house in the rear.

"We have tried to move the old man, but he won't budge," said Mrs. Fox, president of the home. "He has been a great deal of trouble since we first took him in, and when our other patients were transferred he announced that he would stay right where he was. We coaxed, pleaded and threatened. His own son tried to persuade him to do as we asked, but he wouldn't leave the room. He is fed by our cook, and the janitor looks after his needs."

Justice Carpenter to Resign.

Lansing, Mich., May 4.—From a most trustworthy source it is learned that Justice William L. Carpenter of the supreme court of Michigan will resign in the near future. He has already discussed the matter with close personal friends, to whom his attitude is not a matter of surprise, as he has contemplated such action for a long time. Those in a position to know say that it is probable Judge Carpenter will time his resignation so that his successor can be nominated in the fall, but there is also the intimation that he may not wait, and that in such an event Attorney General J. E. Bird will be appointed to fill the vacancy.

With tears streaming down his face, McCauley confessed to Justice Hess, and his story secured a suspension of sentence.

CLIMBING A CHIMNEY

The Way the Steeplejack Does His Dangerous Work.

HIS APPARATUS IS SIMPLE.

A Couple of Bo's'n's Chairs, a Trio of L Shaped Iron Pegs, a Heavy Hammer and a Ball of Twine Will Take Him in Safety to the Summit.

In the climbing and repair of chimneys and steeples it is, as in so many of the upward steps of life, undoubtedly the first which counts, says the New York Times. Once set your man, with a ball of twine tucked in the pocket of his coat, safely astride the coping of the big brewery chimney which rears its bulk of brickwork perhaps 300 feet above surrounding roofs or on the apex of the steeple of a church, his arm around the weather vane's vibrating pole, and you have the means by which ropes, ladders, scaffolding and all the necessary structure for examination and repairs may be brought into place. To get the first man to the giddy summit—that is the question.

There was a day when this was not infrequently accomplished by what at first sight might appear the somewhat frivolous method of kiteflying. A kite having a goodly length of string attached to its tail was raised in the usual manner and gradually coaxed over the steeple or chimney under treatment, then drawn down until the tail string lay across the top. It was then merely a matter of time and patience to pass a rope over and haul up a man. But the method had obvious disadvantages. To draw the tail line successfully across a chimney top, still more across the pointed spire of a church, often took more than one or two attempts. Moreover, there must be a fair wind blowing at the time and a large open space available close by in which to raise the kite—this last condition one not often found about the chimney stacks or steeples of a town. Another system was that of ladders built upward from the steeple's base, exceedingly cumbrous and, in the opinion of many modern steeplejacks, highly dangerous.

The man who on this morning stands beside us at the foot of a great shaft of brickwork towering skyward from the very center of a famous northern town will fly no kite, nor does a wagon load of sectional ladders wait his orders in the yard. A small man, sinewy and lean faced, is he, and all the tackle that he needs to take him safely to the coping sixty yards above our heads has traveled to the scene of action in his pockets or his hands. On the ground before him are two bo's'n's chairs, or short planks, through holes at either end of which a rope is passed, forming a loop by which the chair may hang. Beside them lie three L shaped iron pegs or staples. The longer arm of each peg has a sharply pointed end and is nearly a foot in length; the short arm is but two or three inches long. The handle of a heavy hammer peeps from the pocket of our companion's coat, and that is all.

Taking a staple in his hand, he drives it into the chimney at a point breast high above the ground. On this he hangs a chair and, mounting, drives a second peg two or three feet above the first. On this the second chair is hung. The upright arm at a right angle to the peg precludes all danger of the rope slipping off. Nor do the chairs hang close against the shaft, for strips of wood projecting from each end insure a space in which the climber's legs are free to move. Now, stepping up into the second chair the steeplejack drives the last of his three pegs. Above him is a peg, below another one, on which hangs a chair. Leaning aside and down, he lifts this chair and hangs it above him on the topmost peg; leans down and with a twist of his fork headed hammer wrenches out the peg. This is less dangerous or difficult than might at first be supposed, for the pegs are never driven deeply in, having but the steeplejack's light weight to bear, and that only for a few minutes at a time, while should the hammer or a peg slip from his hand it is easily recovered by means of the ball of twine in his coat pocket and the watcher below.

Such is the system—the mere mechanical repetition of the movements just described—which has carried him safely to the top of many a giant stack. Arrived at the summit of the chimney he will find holdfasts built into the masonry—sometimes a massive bar or chain is stretched across the shaft—to which a rope and pulley blocks can be made fast. This done, he can descend and reascend at will, scaffolding can be slung and inspection and repairs be carried out.

THE WORLD OF HOMER.

Ancient Idea of the Earth and Its Margin of Water.

Let us consider for one moment what the idea of the world was—not, indeed, at the earliest period of which we have any knowledge, but at the dawn of written history or of written history among that Indo-Germanic people whose descendants have overspread so much of the earth. The world of Homer was a small, flat surface, in which civilization was hemmed in by foreign races, who again were surrounded by a great ocean or river over which no man had ever passed. The world of which Homer had any definite notion was Greece—a Greece which hardly extended as far as the Balkans on the north and which scarcely included the Levant and the islands in the Aegean sea. No doubt he had some general acquaintance with a world beyond these narrow limits. He knew, at any rate, some of the leading features of northern Africa. He had heard, as was only natural, of Egypt, whose civilization had made such marked advances and was exercising so much influence. He had some knowledge of the great river on whose recurring floods Egypt depends for her prosperity. He had even heard of the pygmies and of the Ethiopians who dwelt higher up its stream. Some reports had reached him of southern Italy. But it is hopeless to attempt to fit the geography of Homer to the actual facts. If a man were to search today for the precise spot on which Captain Lemuel Gulliver was wrecked in the first of his famous voyages he would find that the Lilliput of Swift was in the heart of Australia, and much in the same way, to quote Mr. Glad one's language, "the key to the great contrast between the outer geography (of Homer) and the facts of nature lies in the belief of Homer that a great sea occupied the space where we know the heart of the European continent to lie."

It is another indication of the smallness of Homer's world that the ten years' war, of which he has given us the concluding episode, was not, as even Herodotus has described it, one of the opening chapters of the great struggle which has endured throughout historic times between east and west, but a contest between men of common origin. It is not a mere poetical license which makes Greeks and Romans address one another in the same language. Yet the world of Homer, small as it seems to us, seemed large to him. Compared with the mighty oceans which men now traverse the Mediterranean is but a little landlocked sea. The Mediterranean of the "Iliad" was only the Aegean, yet for Homer it had terrors which the Atlantic has not for us.—Sir Spencer Walpole in Contemporary Review.

Jack's Lucky Bag.

The annual publication of the brigade of midshipmen at Annapolis goes by the name of "The Lucky Bag," even as that of the corps of cadets at West Point bears the military appellation of "The Howitzer." On board ship is kept what is called a lucky bag. Into this are put all sorts of articles that are left around the decks or out of their proper places by the men. At the end of each month the lucky bag is opened, and the men who have lost different articles gather around it in the hope that they have been lucky enough to have had their possessions find their way into the lucky bag. At the end of the month the bag generally is filled with a great variety of articles. In it are jackknives, pairs of shoes, plugs of chewing tobacco, sewing kits, caps, photographs, writing materials, and so on through practically the entire list of the sailor's possessions.—New York Tribune.

My Breath.

Shortness of Breath Is One of the Commonest Signs of Heart Disease.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (allopathic or homeopathic) of regular practicing physicians.

It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing those diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exercises, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers—there is something wrong with it.

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.

"I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells and pains in my left side. For months at a time I would be unable to lie on my left side, and if I lay flat on my back would nearly smother. A friend advised using Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the remedy the pains in my side and other symptoms vanished. I am now entirely well. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past."—P. P. LEAGE, Middletown, O.

GO TO ANN ARBOR.

Members of Coroner's Jury Question Wreck Victims.

THE HOSPITALS ARE VISITED.

Those Who Were Injured in Detroit, Jackson & Chicago Collision Tell of Their Terrible Experience—Conductor Meede Too Ill to Talk.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 7.—The Wayne county coroner's court, in the inquest of the Detroit, Jackson & Chicago wreck, was transferred to the university city Wednesday, where they convened at the bedside of several of the victims. On the way they stopped at the scene of the wreck and at the Ypsilanti power house, where they examined the system of dispatching cars. The party made the trip from Detroit in two autos.

Charles Anderson was the first to be examined, but he could not remember what he had remembered before; but he was sure that the car stopped somewhere for orders. He could not say whether it was east or west of Ypsilanti. The jury was afterward taken to the Homeopathic hospital, where a lecture room was placed at their disposal, and the patients were brought in one at a time.

The first was Edward Dewitte, who was rolled in in a wheel chair. Edward Gay of Milan was the next witness. Mr. Gay's appearance was such that the prosecutor asked him if he had recently been through an experience with a threshing machine. He was one of the men who rode in the smoker and lived to tell the story.

Saw Car Coming.

Gay said he sat on the left hand side of the center of the smoker; that he felt the car take to the air. He saw the other car coming and got out of his seat. He said the first thing he did remember was when someone pulled his leg to get him out of the wreck.

Conductor Meede was next called, but his attorney, Colonel John P. Kirk, mayor of Ypsilanti, stated that the injured man was not in a condition to be placed on the stand.

Miss Chamberlain stated that to the best of her belief the car stopped for orders after it reached Ypsilanti.

Superintendent Dawson of the Detroit United railway denied that it had been reported to him that on the morning of the accident Motorman Fay reported at William street, Ann Arbor, and he was given the right of way to Wells street to meet the west bound car, and that, just as he was going to pull out, he saw the westbound car rounding the curve a few feet away. He denied that Fay had notified the dispatcher of this fact, adding that the line was all up in the air, and that someone would be killed before night.

At the University hospital the party gathered about the bed of Frank Daily and Edward Reeves. Reeves said that he saw the car coming and heard the whistle. The home of Charles Hurd was the last visited, and his evidence concluded the examination.

To Pay Fifteen Cents on the Dollar.

Rochester, Mich., May 7.—Nearly the whole population turned out to the sale of the bankrupt stock of Arthur B. Comins, most of those present being animated by curiosity, for their money is tied up in the failed bank. The proceeds of the sale aggregated $9,525, making the total assets foot up $18,760, against a total liability of $27,045.14. It is not thought that more than fifteen cents on a dollar will be left for the creditors after the expenses are paid.

Bomb Misses Russian Governor.

Moscow, May 7.—An unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the governor of Voronesh was made. A bomb was hurled at his carriage as he drove through the main street with his wife. The missile missed the vehicle, but exploded with terrific violence, killing a woman who was passing.

Warrant For Freight Agent.

Jackson, Mich., May 7.—A warrant is out for the arrest of George E. Brown, formerly telegrapher and freight agent, employed by the Grand Trunk at Munich. The warrant charges Brown with taking goods from the sheds in Munich and selling them in Detroit.

Army Pay Increased.

Washington, May 7.—Senator Warren has reported to the senate a complete agreement of the conferees on the army appropriation bill, and it was adopted. It makes a flat increase of $300 a year in the pay of officers and of 25 per cent in the pay of enlisted men. As finally agreed to, it carries $94,000,000.

MORE BODIES FOUND.

Terrible Affair at Laporte Increases in Ghastliness.

MINE CORPSES UNCOVERED.

Now Believed Bella Gunness's Place Was "Dumping Ground" For Murders Done in Chicago—Crowds Witness Search.

Laporte, Ind., May 7.—A possible solution of the Gunness farm mystery, which is deepened by the finding of four additional bodies in the barnyard, has developed. Evidence tending to show that the nine dismembered corpses unearthed had been shipped to Laporte, probably from Chicago, has come to light.

Testimony of draymen who had carted trunks and boxes to the Gunness home lends color to this supposition. Laporte police have also received information that two trunks, consigned to "Mrs. Belle Guinness, Laporte, Ind.," are held in an express office in Chicago. Assistance of the Chicago police in unraveling the puzzle was sought at once.

Two of the nine mutilated bodies are identified with reasonable certainty. Antone Olson of Chicago viewed the body supposed to be that of Jennie Olson, sixteen years old, foster daughter of Mrs. Guinness, and pronounced it to be that of his daughter. A sister of the girl, Mrs. Leo Olander of Chicago, confirmed the father's identification.

Identifies Brother.

Axel K. Helgelein, whose inquiries regarding his missing brother, Andrew, led to the first discoveries on the death haunted farm, is sure that the largest and best preserved of the corpses is that of his brother.

Roy Lamphere, who is held on a charge of first degree murder as a result of the fire that destroyed the Gunness home and caused the deaths of Mrs. Bella Gunness and her three children, has given no new evidence, despite repeated questionings. Ralph W. Smith, prosecuting attorney, asserts that a confession is not necessary so far as Lamphere is concerned. "We have evidence in the shape of letters connecting Lamphere with alleged murders at the Guinness farm," he said. The exact nature of the letters is carefully guarded by Mr. Smith.

An attempt to identify one of the corpses as that of Ole B. Budsberg, Iola, Wis., has also been started by the sheriff. In response to a telephone message, word has come that a member of Budsberg's family had left Iola for Laporte.

The Guinness farm is thronged with curious sightseers. When Sheriff Smultzer and his assistants resumed the task of delving for bodies, carriages, wagons, automobiles and people on foot overrun the place. The crowd hindered the digging. Finally the sheriff appealed to the police to keep the crowd back.

Woman's Body.

One of the bodies found in one pit is believed to be that of a woman. The other two, and that found earlier, are probably those of men. Of the nine cadavers, seven are those of males.

John A. Welker, a liveryman, and Leo Wade, his employe, are the men who tell of having carted heavy trunks to the Guinness farm. This was in the summer and autumn of 1906. Clyde Sturgis, employed by Foster and Degarmo, another livery concern, also remembers that he took two similar trunks to the place about a year ago. In addition, several heavy boxes, marked variously "potatoes" and "wall paper," were carted to the house at different times.

Wade asserted that his experience in taking the trunks to Mrs. Guinness was unpleasant:

"She wouldn't let Welker and me into the house with one of the trunks," he said. "We put it on the front porch. Another, at her orders, we carried to the house after dark."

Cardinal Lunches With President.

Washington, May 7.—The chief event Wednesday in connection with the visit here of Cardinal Logue, the primate of Ireland, was the luncheon tendered him by the president at the White House. Other distinguished churchmen present: Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, Monsignor Falconio, the apostolic delegate, Archbishop Farley of New York, Bishop Browne of Cloyne, Ireland; Bishop O'Connell, rector of the Catholic university, and Rev. William S. Wassell, rector of St. Patrick's church, and the cardinal's host in this city. The guests also included Attorney General and Mrs. Bonaparte and Senator Carter. Much of Cardinal Logue's time Wednesday was spent as on the other days since his arrival, in sightseeing.

ENTERS 'FRISCO PORT

Combined Fleet Under Evans Makes Wonderful Showing.

THOUSANDS WITNESS SIGHT.

Whistles and Bells Send Forth Sounds of Welcome—Officials Extend Glad Hand—Enormous Parade Takes Place—Evans Unable to Take Part.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7.—Into the world famed harbor of San Francisco, to be reviewed Friday by the secretary of the navy in honor of the first stage of their tour around the world and to be entertained for ten days or more in the most elaborate and picturesque fashion the residents of the city, with an immense fund at their disposal, have been able to devise, the sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet, accompanied by the six hardy little black hulled destroyers and a squadron of auxiliary and dispatch boats, arrived here in the presence of a multitude, unnumbered, that covered all the high hills, coastal precipices, tall buildings, army reservations, wharves and parking spaces that surround the Golden Gate and the shores of the spacious bay.

No accurate estimate of the vast throng that gazed at the beautiful marine picture painted by the long line passing within the gateway and maneuvers of anchoring in the harbor roadstead has been given. It was not alone an outpouring of nearly every resident of the city who was able to drop work long enough to catch a glimpse of the incoming ships, but a representation of scores of cities in California and surrounding states attracted here by the fame of the fleet, whose progress has been watched almost hour by hour ever since it set out upon its journey to the western seas.

Thirty vessels were in the imposing line, stretching far out to sea. Fourteen vessels of the Pacific fleet joined the line inside the entrance off Angel island, and then followed the greatest parade of ships of war the navy has ever known. Through the crowded harbor, the combined fleets, under command of Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, threaded their way to the anchorage grounds, their progress being heralded by never ceasing blasts of steam whistles afloat and the ringing of bells ashore.

Big Welcome Sign.

On the top of Telegraph hill a huge "Welcome" sign, spelled of letters fifty feet high, was visible from every incoming ship and constituted the first expression of the cordiality with which the fleet is received. The head of the four long lines of anchorage berths assigned to the forty-four ships in the combined fleets is just south of Folsom street, several hundred yards within the ferry lanes landing, from the foot of Market street to Oakland, and other terminal points of the eastern shore of the bay.

Admiral Evans stood on the after bridge of the Connecticut as the famous flagship led the way through the harbor gate. Both because of illness and the death of a favorite grandchild, Admiral Evans will be unable to participate in any of the functions planned in honor of the officers.

No sooner had the ships reached their final anchorage than a committee boat, carrying Mayor Taylor of San Francisco and members of the official reception committee, including James D. Phelan, the chairman, put off, officially to welcome Admiral Evans and the officers and men of the fleet to San Francisco. The ceremonies aboard the Connecticut were brief and informal.

This morning the naval and military parade through the streets of the city took place. Eight thousand bluejackets and marines, 3,000 soldiers of the regular army and many civic and military bodies were in line.

On board the Connecticut Friday Secretary Metcalf will review, at anchor, the great fleet. On the gunboat Yorktown, on which he has made his headquarters, he witnessed the arrival from the gateway of the big fleet and afterward followed the long column to its anchorage.

At night the city is gay with merrymaking. Streets and buildings are illuminated for the first time in the history of the new city, many of the giant skyscrapers that have risen on the sites of less imposing buildings destroyed being outlined in a fire of electric bulbs.

Official dinners, band concerts and a reception and ball at the Fairmount hotel, with 5,000 invited guests, are the features of the first evening of the fleet's stay.

Stars and Stripes.

The ships, as they sailed into the bay, were dressed only at the masthead, big American flags flying at fore and aft trucks and at the peak of the gaffs. The blue flag of Admiral Evans on the Connecticut was followed by the red flags of six subordinate rear admirals.

No class of citizens in the city was more interested in the coming of the fleet than the Chinese. The new pagoda like buildings that mark the present Chinatown were crowed with the residents of that quarter, and the streets are gay with lanterns and decorations of lavish beauty.

HARMON FOR GOVERNOR.

Ohio Democrats Place Him at Head of Ticket.

Columbus, O., May 7.—In a tumultuous convention, characterized by the intense factional feeling, Democrats of Ohio nominated Judson Harmon of Cincinnati, formerly attorney general of the United States under President Cleveland, for governor and indorsed William J. Bryan for president. The Ohio delegates to the national convention were instructed to vote for his nomination.

A complete state ticket was nominated, former Governor James E. Campbell of Butler county was indorsed for United States senator, and delegates and alternates at large to the national convention were selected.

National issues were left to the Denver convention, and the platform adopted dealt solely with state questions, attacking the administration of various Republican state officers and indorsing especially the initiative and referendum in state and local legislation and the taxation of franchises.

Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland, after having met defeat in the opening session, renewed his fight against Harmon for control of the convention; but he was again worsted in one of the most bitter and exciting contests ever witnessed in an Ohio convention.

Although his victorious opponents, followers of State Executive Chairman Harvey C. Garber of Greenville, held out to him an olive branch in the tender of two places on the state ticket, Johnson declined to enter into any agreement and strove to prevent the placing of the names of any of his followers on the ticket.

INDORSE VREELAND PLAN.

House Republicans, However, Do Not Accept His Currency Bill in Full.

Washington, May 7.—Last night the Republican caucus of the house of representatives committed itself, by a vote of 115 to 21, to the principle of commercial paper as an asset upon which to issue extra circulation in time of emergency. This is in accordance with the Vreeland bill; but by a separate action the resolution was so amended as to eliminate Mr. Vreeland's name from the measure.

By still another vote, the caucus decided to recommend the appointment of a commission to consider the currency question and report a bill at the next session of congress.

Coupled with this provision was another providing for the immediate appointment of a committee of five members to draft a new bill in accordance with the action of the caucus and along the general lines of the second Vreeland bill. In accordance with this action, the chair appointed as such committee Messrs. Vreeland (N. J.), Burton (O.), Weeks (Mass.), McKinney (Ill.) and Knowland (Cal). Under the terms of the resolution, the committee will be expected to report a perfected bill to an adjourned conference to be held next Monday evening.

Cut Throats of Five People.

New York, May 7.—A sixteen-year-old boy, known only as Carmello, and employed in a barber shop in Brooklyn, at night cut the throat of his employer, Antonio Peraso, Mrs. Peraso and three barbers, while they lay asleep in Peraso's apartments, 107 Fulton street. Peraso and his wife are dying, but the barbers probably will recover. The boy escaped. The police believe the boy was an agent of a "Black Hand" gang, which had been demanding money of Peraso under threat of doing him injury, and that the blackmailers placed the boy in the shop to punish Peraso when he refused to pay blackmail. Carmello used a pair of scissors and a razor.

King Manuel Takes Oath.

Lisbon, May 7.—Manuel, the boy king of Portugal, has solemnly taken the oath of allegiance to his people and, with all the traditional courtly observance, proclaimed the ruler of the nation. The day was observed as a holiday, and the city was aglow with brilliant sunshine and a myriad of flags and flowers. Through the streets, which were lined with troops and filled with throngs of people, King Manuel, accompanied by the high dignitaries, drove in the state coach to the parliament house. The ceremonies occurred in the presence of a brilliant assemblage

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., May 2, 1908.

The most prominent Presidential candidate of the Republican party is again on the flashing brine. This time he is on his way to Panama to settle a boundary question between Panama and Columbia the country from which she seceded at the time when the negotiations between the United States and Columbia for the Panama Canal strip were about to fail. The big Secretary of War, big enough the majority of the delegates think to be President of the United States has had one advantage in a greater degree than any President of the United States, the advantage of travel. He has traveled at least twice as much, possibly thrice as much, as any President and he has managed some very important negotiations among them the negotiation with the Vatican when he represented the United States in the purchase of the Church lands in the Phillipines, and when with a strong hand, more recently he averted war in Cuba and established a provisional government backed by a United States army.

He spent much time on deck and was easily accessible to any passenger who wished to talk to him. The general acclaim was that he was the incarnation, and a big incarnation at that, of genial accessible, popular Americanism, full of good humor but without the least buffoonery, and not lacking in dignity. He spent much of his time in his room with his Secretary but he was not too busy to prepare an address epitomizing the events and the negotiations by which the Phillipine Islands became a part of the territory of the United States and in this address he gave a detail statement of his experience in Rome and at the Vatican interpersed with anecdotes concerning his negotiations with the Church, his meeting the Pope etc. There is no doubt that the present President of the United States is the most widely and perhaps deservedly popular of all the Presidents. His greatest predecessor, Lincoln, was President of a divided country, and the stress of war diverted attention from the White House, but I believe that if Mr. Taft shall be elected President of the United States he will give the country an excellent administration and while he may not create the enthusiasm of the present occupant in the White House he will be respected and esteemed and loved more and more as he becomes better known. No one who knows him will believe it possible for him to be a mere reflection of any man, no matter how great and deservedly popular that man may be, for Secretary Taft is sui generis a positive man, great, generous, sincere, conrageous and progressive.

Mrs. Pauline M. LeBaron.

Mrs. Pauline M. LeBaron, widow of the late DeLoss C. LeBaron, died at 12:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning of chronic bronchitis, at her home, 235 Tenth street, Toledo, O. The deceased went to Toledo from Philadelphia as a bride in 1869. Mr. LeBaron preceded her in death a few years ago.

Rev. Geo. R. Wallace conducted the funeral services in Toledo at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, the remains being brought here at 1:30 and services were held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Waring at 3:30, Rev. Dunning officiating. Interment was made at Brookside.

Mrs. LeBaron, since the death of her husband, has spent her summers in Tecumseh, the boyhood home of Mr. LeBaron. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Inez Morley of this place. Those who accompanied the remains here were Mrs. C. H. Norris, Mrs. Seward, Dr. Moore, Tribou LeBaron and A. L. Spitzer of Toledo, and Bert Tribon of Detroit.

PRINTED BY REQUEST.

Recipe is easily prepared at small cost and many swear by it.

Fluid extract dandelion, ½ ounce; compound kargon, 1 ounce; compound syrup sarsaparilla, 3 ounces. A local druggist is the authority that these simple harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from our home druggists.

The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged, inactive kidneys overcoming backache, bladder weakness and all urinary trouble if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial.

The Scranton (Pa.) Times was first to print this remarkable prescription in Oct. of 1906, since when all the leading newspapers of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburg and other cities have made announcements of it to their readers.

Mrs. Eliza A. Montgomery.

Eliza A. Stokum was born in the township of Hector, Tomkins county, N. Y., April 22, 1823. She was united in marriage with Thos. H. Montgomery March 24, 1844. In July of the same year they came to Michigan and settled upon a farm in Raisin township, Lenawee county. In the year 1866 they removed to the farm near Ridgeway which they continued to occupy until removed by death. Mr. Montgomery died April 7, 1899 being 84 years of age. To them were born no children.

Mrs. Montgomery continued to occupy her own home upon the farm doing her own housework until Oct. 26, 1907. She died at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Loree April 28 at 4 a. m., four hours after the close of her 86th birthday. Before coming to Michigan Mrs. Montgomery had membership with the Presbyterian church. In regard to her religious convictions she was not inclined to express them in direct testimony as to the saving power of the precious blood of the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world. Her religious creed seemed to be a daily endeavor to live a life void of offense toward God and man. She died peacefully.

Among those from away to attend the funeral were Jesse Dimmick of Lodi, N. Y., Mrs. Helen Montgomery of Cleveland, Mrs. Pease of Hudson, and Mrs. Hattie Britten of Tecumseh.

CARD OF THANKS.

An expression of thanks for and appreciation of the many acts of kindness on the part of neighbors and friends during the last illness and at the funeral of Mrs. Montgomery and especially to those who ministered to her during the last hours in life of the lone one and to the singers.

SIMPLE WASH CURES ECZEMA.

Great inventors often have been praised for surrendering the secrets of their discoveries. Practically the same thing happened in the medical world in the case of Dr. Decatur D. Dennis, the eminent skin specialist of Chicago.

Dr. Dennis, in his own office practice, discovered that pure vegetable oil of wintergreen, properly mixed with other simple redmedics was practically a sure specific for Eczema, psoriasis, barber's itch salt rheum and other itching skin diseases. But the oil of wintergreen alone was found ineffective. It required other mild ingredients such as glycerine and thymol compounded with the wintergreen to produce the real eczema cure.

This compounded D. D. D Prescription positively takes away the itch at once—the instant it is applied to the skin This vegetable liquid does away with deleterious drugs so long used in an attempt to doctor the blood, whereas modern science has determined that eczema is first and all the time a skin disease.

If you want to know more about the merits of D. D. D Prescription, call at our store. We vouch for this remedy.

The Ladies World for May has a very interesting article by Chas. M. Alexander, the singing evangelist on the power of the Gospel Hymn. The author tells the story of the most popular of the songs sung at the revival meetings and gives incidents where they have touched the hearts of hardened listeners. As Mr. Alexander and the Rev. Wilbur Chapman have just held a very successful meeting in Philadelphia, the article is most timely. The fiction in the number is high class and varied enough to suit all tastes. The fashions for the month will appeal strongly to the ladies for themselves and the children and the dressmaking lesson will be appreciated.

The John Sparks' Shows.

Excellence is the keynote upon which the Sparks fame is founded. Clean, high class in every detail, the sterling character of his exhibition has long impressed the public.

Mr. Spark's energy and genius in securing and presenting all the latest, most startling acts and features regardless of cost, marks him as the most wide and daring amusement manager in the country. He secured the wonderful French Troupe DuRell-Mendoza by out bidding all others who sought his unexcelled troup.

Their are trained lions, tigers, hyenas leopards, bears, monkeys, dogs, etc certainly nothing is lacking that could add to the enjoyment of the patrons of the John H. Sparks Shows.

Two performances will be given Tecumseh Monday May 18.

High School Field Day.

Another encouragement was received by the high school base ball team Wednesday when they defeated Adrian college by a score of 5 to 3. Either team was not by any means up to their standard and the game was slow and loose. The high school athletic association has a problem before them in having the county field meet here this month. All the schools who will take part are very much enthused and there will be a great many more entries than there were last year.

It will be necessary for the association to buy new hurdles, a vaulting pole shot and a number of incidentals which, tend to make the day more up-to-date. Mr. Stewart is field manager and he has charge of the events and procuring officials for the day. Dwight Clarkson is chairman of the executive committee and he has things well under way.

The merchants, who have been asked to help by advertising in the programs have responded very well, indeed, not one of them refusing to advertise. This has encouraged the committee and they hope the other business men will respond as well. The trophies are expected in a few days and will be on display in Hick's jewelry store window. It has been too cold as yet for the track team to do very much work but they are hoping for good weather and when it comes will work hard that they may make a good showing field day.

In all probability the base ball game in the afternoon will be between Hudson and Tecumseh for the county high school championship and Captain Wilson of our team has the material with which he is determined to land the championship cup. The girls basket ball team will also compete for the county championship and they stand an equal chance with the base ball team to win the championship cup.

FOUND TRUE REMEDY

C. A. Wright & Son are Sure Mi-o-na Will Cure All Stomach Troubles.

The inculculable amount of good that Mi-o-na stomach tablets are doing in Tecumseh, in making sick and even despairing people well, should compel the attention of every judicious person who is out of health with stomach troubles.

The undeslying cause of nervous debility, headaches, sleeplessness and melancholy is faulty nutrition, the result of a weakened stomach and inactive bowels.

So long as the stomach is weak the tissues cannot assimilate proper nourishment, no matter how much food is eaten. Mi-o-na increases the strength and activity of the muscular walls of the stomach, regulates the bowels and makes the blood capable of conveying nutriment to all the vital organs.

The use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets makes all the difference between a tired, nervous, sluggish condition, a weakened stomach, and a healthy, energetic bodily condit on.

In no other way can you so quickly, so readily and so positively stimulate the stomach to good health as by using Mi-o-na. The fact that this remedy is sold by C. A. Wright & Son under a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures, shows conclusively its superiority over ordinary, old-fashioned digestives.

A 50 cent box of Mi-o-na lasts a couple of weeks, and will ward off a dozen attacks of indigestion and bring the weakest stomach into a state of strength and good health.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A new back for an old one. How ... can be done in Tecumseh.

The back aches at times with an indescribable feeling, making you restless; piercing pains shoot through the kidneys, and the loins are so lame, to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster you cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one.

C. E. Sharpsteen, of 21 Locust street, Adrian, Mich., says: "In recommending Doan's Kidney Pills I have my opinion based not only upon personal experience but that of friends who have used them with just as satisfactory results as I did. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me 6 years ago of heavy, dull pains in my back, always more severe when I did any work that caused a strain on my back. I was also bothered with inflammation of the kidneys and in passing the secretions there was a smarting sensation. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me entirely of these annoyances."

Plenty more proof like from Tecumseh people. Call at Wright & Son's drug store and ask what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's.—and take no other.

The Martian Sky.

The clearness of the Martian sky comes in to abet the greater transmission of its air. From dawn till dusk day after day in the summer season and largely in winter the sun shines out of a heaven innocent of cloud. No shield of the sort and only a little screen of air tempers its beams to the soil held up to it. Such an exposure far exceeds anything we have on earth, for with us, even in the tropics, clouds gather as soon as the heating grows excessive and cool the air by plumps of rain.—Percival Lowell in Century.

Uncle Zebulon was on a visit to his nephew in the big city, and the two had gone to a restaurant for dinner. They had given their order and were waiting for it to be filled when the younger man, who had been glancing at a paper that lay on the table, said: "By the way, uncle, did you ever have cerebro-spinal meningitis?" "No," replied Uncle Zebulon after a few moments' mental struggle with the question, "and I don't want any. I'd rather have fried liver and bacon any day."

CASHIER'S FUNDS SHORT.

Postoffice Employe at Grand Rapids Overdrawn His Salary.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 7.—Quiet investigations on the part of Postmaster Bishop has revealed the fact that Franklin D. Eddy, cashier in the local postoffice, and one of the best known men in the county, is short in his accounts.

His defalcations will amount to over $1,500, it is believed, but the exact amount will not be known until the investigation, now under way by Inspectors Larmour and Thiel, has been completed. The shortage is due to the fact that Eddy overdrew his salary and, in order to make up the deficits, from time to time substituted slips for them.

Postmaster Bishop has suspended Eddy from further duty.

Eddy is now confined to his home, and it was stated that he was too ill to be seen. The shortages are covered by bonds of $25,000.

Kills Self; Others Collapsed.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., May 7.—Vernon Browne of Elkhart, Ind., who has been in the habit of coming here for several months each year, committed suicide in his room in the Detroit House by turning on the gas. He had been playing cards with some of the guests of the hotel and was apparently in good spirits. About midnight he retired to his room and must have set about his plan for self destruction at once, for a 5 o'clock in the morning the occupant of the adjoining room, M. Aliskey of Racine, Wis., awoke to find his room full of gas. He was just able to give the alarm and throw open the window, when he collapsed. The gas was found to be coming from Browne's room, and when the door was forced he was found lying dead in bed.

While lighting the gas in the window of his dry goods store, Edward Riggs of Plymouth set fire to the window trimmings. In his efforts to extinguish the flames, Riggs was severely burned. The fire department saved the building.

Little Stewart Robinson appropriated a check from his teacher and went to Ann Arbor from Ypsilanti to spend it. He was captured in by the police and his father summoned. On arrival, his father declared he was satisfied with the eight years' sentence the boy had been given in the Industrial school at Lansing.

As a result of his search for a small piece of brass coupling, stolen from the Grand Trunk railroad shops, Police Captain Kerwin of Port Huron unearthed a wagon load of brass and iron finishings, which bear the Grand Trunk stamp, and which has been identified as property stolen during the last six months.

Newspapermen Testify.

Washington, May 7.—The house committee inquiring into the question of wood pulp and print paper, heard the statements of publishers and managers of newspapers Wednesday, as to the increase in the price of print papers. They all told practically the same story—that the price of paper had been raised from year to year—and they practically were unanimous in asking for the passage of the Stevens bill, reducing the duty on wood pulp and print papers.

Many Afghans Slain.

London, May 7.—Three hundred Afghans have been killed and as many more wounded in fighting with General Sir James Willcock's British force at the entrance to Khyber pass, according to an omcial report from Peshawur, India. The native Indian troops in the British service showed the greatest gallantry. The Afghans resisted furiously, but the natives paid no attention to the volleys with which they swept the enemy.

THE DOWAGERS.

Titled Widows Go to the Rear in the Social Procession.

Little sympathy is bestowed on titled widows after the first few days of their bereavement. Of course when an earl dies his widow remains a countess, but with the unwelcome addition "dowager," which often is misleading as far as her age is concerned. Thackeray, although he professed good breeding, looked on dowager duchesses as fair targets for sarcasm. So did Du Maurier, though the only offense of the poor women was that they had lost their husbands. It is a double blow to a woman of title when her husband dies, for if grief leaves her time for reflection she realizes that, no matter how young she may be, she is relegated to the rear in the social procession. The new duchess or marchioness or countess steps into the limelight, and the dowager is lucky to find a place in the last row of the chorus, for the very term implies old womanhood, and in most cases she only wastes time if she combats the impression.

Ordinary widows may have better chances for matrimony than debutantes, though that's doubtful. Dowagers seldom contract new marriages, for few men have courage to lead them to the altar. So in all the affairs of society they make the best of the custom that dictates they shall follow meekly in the wakes of their flattered daughters-in-law.—New York Press.

BURNED FOR CENTURIES.

Curious Stories of the Wonderful Lamps of the Ancients.

When the tomb of Pallas, son of Evander, who is mentioned by Virgil, was discovered about the twelfth century by a countryman digging near Rome, it is said that a lamp was still burning over his head, which must have been lighted more than 2,000 years before.

Baptista Porta in his treatise on natural magic relates that about 1550 a marble sepulcher of the Roman period was discovered in an island near Naples. On opening the room was found a vial containing a burning lamp. The lamp became extinct on breaking the vial and exposing the lamp to the open air. It was supposed that it had been concealed before the Christian era, and those who saw it reported that the lamp emitted a splendid flame.

In 1550 a remarkable lamp was found near Atestes, Padua, by a rustic, who unearthed a terra cotta urn containing another urn in which was a lamp placed between two cylindrical vessels, one of gold and the other of silver. Each was full of a very pure liquid by whose virtue the lamp had been kept shining upward of 1,500 years.

This curious lamp was not meant to scare away evil spirits from a tomb, but was an attempt to perpetuate the profound knowledge of Maximus Olybius, who effected this wonder by his skill in the chemical art.

PRESENT MONUMENT.

Detroit Germans Erect One to German Poet Schiller.

BIG PARADE TAKES PLACE.

Multitudes Attend Unveiling on Belle Isle—Emperor William and Ambassador Von Sternberg Send Congratulations—Monument Flower Decked.

Detroit, Mich., May 11.—Under most auspicious circumstances and in the presence of a crowd numbering thousands, the monument erected by the German citizens of Detroit to the memory of Fredrich Schiller was unveiled on Belle Isle and formally turned over to the city by George Osius, chairman of the monument executive committee, Sunday afternoon.

A parade of the German societies of Detroit preceded the unveiling exercises, which consisted of addresses by Mayor Thompson, Dr. Julius Goebel of Harvard university, Dr. W. Weaver, Chicago, imperial German consul general, George Otis, and songs by the United Singers of Detroit.

Ferry Service Resumed.

Blest with propitious weather, the exercises attracted multitudes to Belle Isle, the ferry service being resumed for the first time this year. A continual stream of pedestrians crossed the bridge and then walked nearly a mile to where the unveiling exercises took place.

The parade of German societies, with William Dilger as marshal and Captain Henry W. Busch as chief of staff, formed at the new casino and proceeded down Central avenue to where a platform was provided for the speakers and members of the singing societies.

The exercises opened with the singing of "This Is the Day of the Lord," by the United Singers. George Osius then made the opening address, in which he spoke of Poet Schiller and his works. Three little girls, Norma Endman, Albertine Osius and Elizabeth Osius, dressed in white, then pulled the string which held the curtain in place, and the statue, with a German and an American flag on either side, was exposed to the view of the cheering throng. The monument was designed by Hermann H. Matz, Cleveland. It was molded in Munich and brought to America on a North German Lloyd steamer, free of charge. It is supported by a huge monolith.

The United Singers sang "The Spring on the Rhine," and then Chairman Osius presented Dr. Julius Goebel of Harvard, who delivered the oration.

Cablegram From Emperor.

Following Dr. Goebel, Chairman Osius, in a brief speech, turned the monument over to the city. He then read the following cablegram from Emperor William, which was received by the audience with much shouting and clapping of hands: "I am greatly pleased that a statue has been erected in Detroit to the king of poets. I send to the executive committee my best congratulations."

A telegram of congratulation was also read from Baron Von Sternberg, the German ambassador at Washington.

Mayor Thompson, in behalf of the city, accepted the monument and thanked the members of the executive committe.

The German societies that had participated in the parade then piled floral wreaths about the monument, until it was completely hidden from view. The exercises were concluded with the singing of "America" by the entire audience.

Charged With Child Murder.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Grover Davenport were arrested here charged with having murdered their infant. They were taken to Hastings. It is alleged that about a month ago Mr. and Mrs. Davenport killed their baby, supposedly by strangulation. The father is believed to have taken the body in a suit case and buried it in a field. Davenport and his wife are each twenty-three years old. Neither has made a confession, and the motive for the crime is unknown.

Veteran Editor Laid to Rest.

Traverse City, Mich., May 11.—With a guard of honor of Masons, his casket surrounded and almost buried by flowers, the funeral service of H. L. Sprague, veteran editor of the Traverse Bay Eagle and the Daily Eagle, was held at Grace Episcopal church, the Rev. C. D. Atwell officiating. The full church burial service was used, and following the committal at the grave the Masonic ceremonies were carried out. Mr. Sprague was a vestry of the church.

OFF FOR WASHINGTON

Governor Angell, Blair and Osborne Go to Conference.

NOTED MEN WILL MEET.

Will Attend Great Gathering Summoned by President to White House to Discuss Conservation of Natural Resources of Nation.

Detroit, Mich., May 11.—Governor Warner, President Angell of the University of Michigan and Charles B. Blair of Gran Rapids, secretary of the Michigan Forestry commission, left here at noon today for Washington to attend the national assemblage of governors and delegates called several months ago by President Roosevelt for the consideration of reforestration plans, to discuss the conservation of the mineral resources of the country and to offer plans for the development of the internal waterways of the nation.

JAMES B. ANGELL.

Charles S. Osborne, the other Michigan delegate, will go to the national capital direct from the upper peninsula.

Governor Warner said that Mr. Osborne will look after the interests of the upper mining country. Mr. Blair will represent the forestry interests, and President Angell is expected to be of great value as a man of wide general knowledge and mature judgment.

Washington, May 11.—This will be an eventful week in Washington. The arrival has already begun of one of the most eminent groups of men that has ever gathered here. Included in the assemblage will be forty-four governors of states and territories, their advisers, to the number of 153, and fifty-nine presidents of the leading national organizations of the United States—a total of 256 men, notable for their positions and ability to grapple with a great public question.

Roosevelt to Preside.

The occasion is the conference on natural resources and over which President Roosevelt will preside. History will be made at this White House conference on natural resources, unless all signs fail. For history making the conditions are remarkably favorable.

Never before has a president of the United States conferred with all the governors of the states. Never before has the White House sheltered a large convention of a great public issue. And never before has the whole broad question of the conservation of this country's natural resources been brought before a great deliberative body as the sole subject of its consideration.

The reception accorded this project indicates that the people of the country expect definite results of a far reaching character. No cut and dried program will be presented for the consideration of the governors and delegates, hence the people have a right to expect results.

General Meyer Eulogized.

Washington, May 11.—Tributes the memory of the late Representative Adolph Meyer of Louisiana were paid in the house of representatives. General Meyer, as he was more familiarly known, served many years in the house, most of the time as a member of the committee on naval affairs. Without exception, the speakers praised his military career and credited him with having been conspicuously identified from the beginning with the building of the new navy. Mrs. Meyer and her daughter, Mrs. Louise L. Swift, whose husband, Captain Franklin Swift of the navy, died last year, came to Washington especially to attend the exercises.

MONUMENT TO PEACE.

Building in Washington Will Typify Desires of Nations.

MEN LAY THE CORNERSTONE.

President Will Officiate—Diplomatic Representatives of World Will Participate in Laying of Foundation of Wonderful Structure.

Washington, May 11.—Twenty-one American republics will unite this afternoon in laying the cornerstone of the building which is to constitute the monument typifying the predominant desire of the western world for peace and commercial prosperity. President Roosevelt will officiate. Besides his address, there will be speeches by Secretary Root, Andrew Carnegie, who has contributed three-quarters of a million dollars toward the building fund, and Ambassador Nabuco of Brazil. Cabled words of sentiment and cheer will be read from the presidents of the Latin American republics.

The exercises will be witnessed by the diplomatic representatives of the world, besides the high officials and legislative representatives of this country. Seats for 3,000 people have been reserved, and each seat has been eagerly sought.

Government Gave Site.

The building for which the foundation is to be laid will be the home of the international bureau of American republics, presided over by John Barrett. The United States congress provided by appropriation for the site, comprising the grounds of the old Van Ness mansion, which carries with it the memories of the first aristocracy of the national capital.

While Mr. Carnegie has provided for the actual cost of building, each of the American republics has considered it a privilege to make appropriation for the finishing of the structure. Each will regard it as a common home and the source of accurate information which will be freely disseminated, to the end that through more intimate knowledge and acquaintance, the western world may come to know the possibilities of commerce and development which awaits it and to appreciate the more friendly instincts of neighborliness and good fellowship which follow free intercourse.

After the speeches, the cornerstone of the building will be laid by President Roosevelt. It will contain, in a copper box, the reports of the three Pan-American conferences which have been held since 1889; a testimonial of the gift of Mr. Carnegie; the cable messages of the presidents of the republics and their photographs and of the governing board and officers, past and present, of the bureau, and representative coins, postage stamps and newspapers of the different republics. The location of the building and its architecture fit the plans for the development of the beauty of the national capitol. It is situated but a short distance from the White House and will form one of a group of historic buildings.

BUILD GREAT SCHOOLS.

Fairbanks Would Rather See Money Go That Way Than In Unduly Expanding Army and Navy.

Chicago, May 11.—Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks was the guest of honor Sunday at the dedication of St. Stanislaus Polish Catholic parochial school, the largest institution of its kind in the United States.

The vice president arrived from Washington in the morning, attended the dedication exercises in the afternoon, and in the evening was the principal speaker at a banquet commemorating the dedication.

The vice president, in his address, said that he would rather see the people spend their money in building great schools and churches than to see them spend it in unduly expanding armies and navies. In referring to socialism, the vice president said that it is a sort of procrustean principle of society and puts a handicap upon genius, ability and thrift.

In the new parochial school 4,500 pupils will receive instruction from a staff of more than 100 teachers.

Would Oust Mayor.

Corunna, Mich., May 11.—In the circuit court this morning Judge Miner is hearing the petition of the "drys" of Perry village for the removal of Village President Byron E. Cummins. They allege he is in sympathy with John Hicks, hotelkeeper, in his unsuccessful effort to secure a license, and they claim illegal voting.

KILLED STEALING RIDE.

Big Rapids Man Meets Death in Freight Wreck Near Cadillac.

Cadillac, Mich., May 11.—Herman Van Gilder, twenty-four years old, whose home is believed to be in Big Rapids, was crushed to death when eight freight cars, in a train of seventeen on the G. R. & I., were derailed one mile north of Leroy.

The wrecked train was traveling at a good rate of speed, when a section of a broken brake fell to the tracks, derailing eight of the middle cars.

Van Gilder and Charles McLaughlin of Grand Rapids were stealing a ride in a car loaded with lumber. The car was in the center of the train and was one of those derailed. When the cars left the track, the impact slewed the lumber to one end, pinning the two men between the lumber and side of the car.

McLaughlin was bruised about the stomach and back, but was not seriously injured. Van Gilder was completely buried in the lumber. Members of the train crew heard the cries for help issuing from the derailed car and forced their way inside. McLaughlin was taken out, but it was some time before Van Gilder could be extricated. He was badly crushed, and death was almost instantaneous.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Former Judge Robert E. Frazer, sixty-eight years old, one of the best known members of the Detroit Bar association, is dead as the result of an operation for mastorditis.

Death has summoned Captain Isaac Colby of Algonac. He was one of the oldest civil war veterans in Michigan. Captain Colby was in his eighty-sixth year. He was a member of the Loyal Legion.

William Taylor, thirty-six years old, of Dearborn, is in a serious condition at Emergency hospital, Detroit, as the result of injuries received near the village. Taylor was riding home on an interurban car and was thrown off at a curve.

As a finale to about two years of controversy in the courts, Lawson E. Becker, receiver, has sold at auction the Fenton (Mich.) plant of the Aetna Portland Cement company. The plant was bid in for $180,000 by John A. Myers, representing majority bondholders to the extent of about three-fourth of a $400,000 issue.

William Herman, an old Owosso offender, was sentenced to sixty-five days in the Detroit house of correction and went shoeless to serve his sentence. Hermans confessed to stealing chickens, three of which he secured at the home of Ira Thompson. When ready to be taken to the workhouse, Thompson excitedly appeared. "You scoundrel," he shouted, "those are my shoes you are wearing. Take 'em off!". To avoid physical punishment, Herman removed them, and Thompson took the shoes away. He admitted that the shoes belonged to Thompson.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

Frederick H. May is dead at his home in Newark, N. J. He won fame during the civil war by keeping the Illinois Central north of Cairo open for troops and supply trains for General Grant.

Marauders, supposedly from Kentucky, ruined the tobacco beds on the farm of Henry Keiser, at Aurora, Ind. They dug a grave, put in an old sword, a box of matches and a note, warning Keiser that if he attempted to raise any more tobacco he would occupy the grave.

Caught by a big wave as they were crossing the bar off Plum island at the mouth of Merrimack river, nine men of Newburyport, Mass., who were on a pleasure cruise in a naphtha launch, were capsized, and five of them were drowned.

While the Chicago and New York express on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was passing Hammond, seven miles east of Fairmont, W. Va., a large rock rolled down from the hillside and crashed through the roof of the smoking car, injuring three passengers.

Norman White, a lad of fifteen years, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., according to the story he subsequently told the police, had seen his mother abused by his father ever since he could remember. He spent his savings for a revolver, and when the elder White returned home and began abusing his wife, Norman shot his father in the lung, fatally wounding him.

Dr. Charles F. Aked, the noted pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church in New York, has declared, in a sermon, that the pulpit was out of touch with the times and that ministers have become a laughing stock. He pointed out that church attendance was decreasing, and that when money was needed to advance the cause of christianity, commercialism stood in the way.

A great many people imagine they have heart trouble when the fact is that the whole trouble lies in the stomach. The pains in the side around the region of the heart are not necessarily heart trouble. We suggest that you start with the stomach and whenever you feel a depression after eating or whenever your food seems to nauseate take Kodol. It will not be very long until all these "heart pains" will disappear. Take Kodol now and until you know you are right again. Tneir isn't any doubt about what it will do and you will find the truth of this statment verified after you have used Kodol for a few weeks. It is sold by all druggists.

Seeds of Jealousy.

By COLIN S. COLLINS.

Copyrighted, 1908, by E. C. Purcells.

Jimmie Blatchford sprang to his feet to greet Marcia as she entered, but the gravity of the girl's face arrested the greeting that hung upon his lips, and instead he gasped

"What's the matter?" he cried when he had found his voice. "Is it anything serious—some of the family ill?"

"There is no illness in the family," said Marcia coldly.

"Then why this funereal countenance?" demanded Blatchford. "Here I am, just back from the west, and you don't even say 'How d'ye do?' Didn't you get my letters every day, or what is the matter?"

"I was induced to visit a motion picture performance yesterday," began Marcia. "I believe that they are called 'nickel theaters.'"

"I've heard the phonographs outside," murmured Jimmie. "If the pictures are as bad as the music your look of woe is explained. How did you come to patronize such a place?"

"It was curiosity," explained Marcia. "I happened to meet Belle Brewster and George Taylor and Henry Towne. Belle is perfectly crazy over the absurd motion pictures, and they were on their way to one of those places. I foolishly let myself be persuaded to go with them. They had a picture of you on the screen."

"That is flattering!" cried Jimmie mockingly. "I find you looking as if the end of the world was near, and you explain that you saw me in the motion pictures, which accounts for your state of depression."

"It was taken at the shore last summer," said Marcia meaningly.

"I admit that I am not a dream of beauty in a bathing suit," said Jimmie, with a smile, "but I did not know that I was almost fatal to the beholder."

"You were entirely dressed," interrupted Marcia. "You had on that gray suit I liked so much and the tie I gave you for Easter, the one you said you never would wear except when you were with me."

"And I never did," said Jimmie promptly. "Only the thought of being with you would tempt me to wear that circus necktie. What else did I have?"

"A girl," said Marcia explosively—"a girl who looked like an actress. You had your arm about her waist, and you were kissing her, and the people walking along the beach stopped and laughed at you, and suddenly you saw them and got up and ran away."

"And here's where I get the engagement ring and my letters back, and you tell me that I have destroyed your faith in the honor of men just because some motion picture actor happens to look like me."

"It was you," insisted Marcia. "There can be no possibility of a mistake."

"I'm from Missouri," declared Jimmie. "Would you mind taking me to the place where I can be confronted with the evidence of my perfidy?"

"Since you will not admit your guilt," said Marcia coldly, "I do not see how you can deny the picture when you must recall the circumstances."

"Please," said Jimmie pleadingly, and Marcia nodded an assent. The Nickelodeon was but a few blocks away, and presently they had paid an admission and had passed into the darkened hall.

For half an hour they sat there watching the flickering pictures thrown against the screen of whitewashed wall; then Marcia turned to Jimmie.

"We must have seen all the pictures," she said, with embarrassment. "This seems to be the place I was in yesterday, but I recognize none of these pictures. I hope you do not think I"—

"I think you are unfamiliar with picture theaters," said Jimmie, with a laugh. "Wait here a moment."

He slipped away in the darkness, and Marcia closed her tired eyes to shut out the tiresome flicker.

She felt more miserable than ever. Jimmie's attitude had somewhat shaken her confidence in the identification, and now she had even failed to prove her case with him. Presently a hand rested on her arm, and she opened her eyes.

"Slip out," said Jimmie. "I have solved the mystery in part. The same people come here every day, so they change the pictures each morning. The proprietor says there's a regular circuit, and he told me where I can find our scandalous film."

He hailed a street car, and a ten minute ride brought them to another place almost exactly like the first. One of the first things to greet their eyes was a huge sign reading, "By the Sad Sea Waves—Very Comic."

"I'm glad some one sees humor in the situation," said Jimmie grimly as he laid a ten cent piece on the cashier's shelf and led Marcia through the door. They had not long to wait, and Jimmie gasped as Marcia convulsively pressed his arm. A girl and a man were sitting on the sand in the shade of a huge umbrella. Oblivious of a gathering crowd, the two billed and cooed until a well directed pebble hit the sunshade and attracted their attention to the audience in the rear.

The man was so exactly like himself that Jimmie stared in fascination. Then he sought the box office, where two men were counting money.

"I want to make some inquiry about that film just shown," said Jimmie as he attracted the attention of one of the men.

"I've nothing to do with the pictures," was the surly response. The other man turned.

"I'm the man who makes them. Want to hire the service?" he asked eagerly. "We get all the big French stuff before any one else. We're the most up to date, and we get the crowd every time."

"I am merely curious about the picture 'By the Sad Sea Waves,'" explained Jimmie. The man grinned.

"Friend of yours?" he asked. "Great sell, wasn't it? It was made to order for a chap. He wanted to spring it at a bachelor dinner to the other fellow. He got us a suit of the chap's clothes, even to shirt and shoes. The picture stood him $200, but he said it was worth it. He let us use it for exhibition too."

"You don't happen to know the man's name, do you?" coaxed Jimmie.

"Sure," was the prompt response. "It was something like a city. It wasn't Villa; no, it was Towne. That's it. He's a broker chap. What? I say, you're the chap they took off! Towne said there wasn't no come-back. It was all a joke."

"It is a joke—on Towne," said Jimmie steadily. "You need apprehend no trouble in the matter. I thank you for your courtesy."

He turned to find Marcia at his elbow.

"Take me out of here, Jimmie," she said softly. "I was an idiot to fall so easily into Henry Towne's trap. He wanted to cut you out. That was his object."

"And he counted upon your freezing into icy silence and offering no explanation," said Jimmie understandingly. "Now, let's get home. I've seen enough pictures for one evening, and I guess you have. Let's walk. It is not very far. I want a chance to cool off."

"What are you going to do about it?" asked the girl curiously as they sought a more quiet thoroughfare.

"Three things," explained Jimmie. "I'm going to fire my man for letting Towne have my clothes; I am going to call on Towne—never mind that—and I'm going to get a license tomorrow and marry you before they can spring any more photographic seeds of jealousy on us."

"I think," said Marcia softly, "that in future the seeds will fall on barren ground, Jimmie, but—you'd better get the license anyway."

Women of Ancient Egypt.

Women always stood on a level with men in ancient Egypt, unlike the custom of other eastern countries. They were allowed to rule as queens as early as the second dynasty. Their palaces were of brick adorned with gorgeously painted walls, rich carpets, rugs of fur, ivory and ebony chairs and couches. Till the end of the eighteenth century there was little change in feminine attire, which consisted of a fine linen garment, extending from shoulder to ankle, supported by straps over the shoulders. Colored robes were not frequently worn. Gay plumage was left to the men. Women contented themselves with blackening their eyebrows, letting their hair down and decking themselves with innumerable rings, chains and bracelets.

Failed to Relieve.

On the mighty deep.

The surface of the sea rose and fell with sickening monotony. The great ocean liner rolled and pitched.

The young bride covered her pallid countenance with her hands.

"Harry," she faltered, "do you still love me?"

"My darling, more than ever!" vowed her compassionate spouse.

An eloquent silence.

The surface of the sea rose and fell with sickening monotony. The great ocean liner rolled and pitched.

"Harry," she gasped, turning aside her pale and ghastly face—"Harry, I thought that would make me feel better, but it doesn't!"—London Answers.

Divers Diseases.

"What," inquired the Sunday school teacher of her youthful pupils—"what are divers diseases?"

Bashful or ignorant, the scholars clung tenaciously to the doctrine that little boys should be seen and not heard.

"Come," pursued the teacher, "can't any of you tell me?"

Then Johnnie's arm shot up.

"Well?" asked the teacher.

"Please, miss," answered Johnnie, "water on the brain."

Barnum's Ready Retort.

Barnum once appeared at Oxford to lecture on "Humbug." The rowdy students would not give him a hearing. At length, in a momentary lull, he shouted, "Then you don't want to hear anything about humbug?"

"We don't!" was the answer in a roar.

"Well," retorted Barnum, "I've got your money, and there's no humbug about that!"

The disturbance came to a sudden finish, and Barnum proceeded in peace.

ANCIENT RING SEALS.

The Sacred Beetle and Busts of Isis or the Pharaohs.

Among the rings found in ancient Egyptian tombs are many which erudite archaeologists ascribe to a period slightly anterior to the deluge.

This, however, is debatable ground—the deceptive morass of conjecture rather than the solid earth of fact. But we feel the latter beneath our feet when viewing the massive gold Egyptian signet rings with revolving cylindrical bezels of indigo colored porcelain or the deep blue porcelain rings bearing a bust of Isis or of one of the pharaohs in full relief. The former represent the primitive seals in use when the Israelites were bondmen and before the pyramids were built. The latter were the common adornments of the prototypes of the modern fellahin when Solomon was in his glory.

In neither case is the workmanship meritorious, the "prentice hand" being plainly visible. Skill in design and execution was acquired later and among the Etruscans attained a degree of excellence never since equaled. Such of their work as remains is a silent yet eloquent testimony to their marvelous skill, but the secret that enabled them to manipulate gold "fine drawn as hair" is one of the lost arts of the ancients.

In the Etruscan as in the Egyptian rings the device of the scarabaeus, or sacred beetle, figures prominently, for to both these remarkable races this curious insect was an object of profound veneration and as sacred and symbolic in their eyes as the cross is to the Christian.—Quiver.

Village Local

A Letter from California.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 4.

Editor Tecumseh HERALD.

DEAR SIR:—Enclosed you will find $1.25 for subscription to your paper for one year which please send to my address as it is impossible to get along without a paper from Michigan and my home town. Your paper is taken by several people in Los Angeles and by your printing my letter to Frank Davidson a few weeks ago we got acquainted with several people here which made us feel as if we lived in Michigan again only the climate which is a great deal different as we are now having our summer.

Now as I have started to write I must tell you something about our fleet celebration which has just past. It was claimed that 150,000 people were at the beach the week they were at San Pedro. They landed there the 16th of April. People went wild with excitement, stores and business places closed for one day and the street cars run one every minute. You can guess how many people they landed at the beach. It will be impossible for me to describe to you very much about our navy save that every one in the United States can feel proud of them.

They looked like living monsters out on the ocean and were anchored about 3 miles from shore. You could take a pleasure boat, go out and see them and go on aboard the ships. As I visited our flag ship Connecticutt I will try and explain how it is managed and manned. They have 1,050 men aboard, have all the latest modern machinery, the engines cost $250,000 and have 29 large guns.

While I was looking at the ship and at the way it was managed I made the the remark that one boat could sink all the Japanese fleet. Looking at the guns standing out from both sides you would say that no boat could stay afloat within 20 miles of them. I tell you if ever we have war with another nation this fleet will surprise the people of the United States. Some of the finest gunners that the world can produce went aboard this ship. I saw them use the wireless telegraphy and take a message from the mayor of Los Angeles 23 miles away. Now this looks like an impossibility but was received just as quickly and correctly as a telephone message.

Now the way Los Angeles celebrated. I must speak about the way the sailors were treated to everything in the city. Free street cars, automobile rides, and parks and theaters. One day they gave the officers an automobile parade all through the parks and city and to the millionare city Pasadena, in fact the sailors just owned the city for one week. The sailors got thier pay while they are landed here which amounts to about $250,000 as they had not been paid since they left the Atlantic cost. I don't think this city has felt the hard times as much as they have in the east this being due to so much eastern money coming this way, fruit shipments being very large. You can see 40 car trains of nothing but oranges this brings some money back in this country.

I think this will be my future home as cold weather and I do not agree. I am placed all O. K. on the Southern Pacific Ry. They are all Oil Burners some different than coal engines and in finest condition and kept clean as a house. Rail roading pays better money than in Michigan, a little different than the D. T. & I. Ry. Now I guess I have written you too long a letter and will just stop right here. If there is anything more you would like to know about this country I will be only to glad to write you again.

Yours respectfully
GEO. GRAVES.

Field Day.

A week from next Saturday will be a big day in Tecumseh. Word comes from Morenci that a crowd will be here from that place and Hudson promise to send a large delegation from there. The different teams are working well and the base ball team is now very sure of the cup. The team held the Tecumseh leaguers down 9 to 1 Saturday and there is now every reason to think that they will be there with the goods field day.

The girl's basket ball team defeated Hillsdale high last Saturday 9 to 2 in a fast game; one more step towards the cup. John Clark is putting the shot nearly 35 feet and he is showing better form at every practice. He is expected to secure that event. Quackenbush is sprinting as well as the cold weather will permit and Tansley, Waring, Wilson and Hoag are jumping in first class shape.

The prizes are here and on display in Hick's window. There are three large silver cups, one for base ball, basket ball, and championship team respectively, two smaller, but equally good in quality, cups for the winning relay and tug-of-war teams. There are 15 medals, one gold medal for the best all around athlete, and 14 stirling silver medals which will be given to the individual winners of single events, and one to the second best all-around athlete.

If it is a possible thing the committee will secure a special train from Adrian in order to accommodate the students coming from the other towns. The high school athletics around Tecumseh have for long been under-rated and the association is now planning to show the people that there are good athletics in high schools. The admission price for the whole day is only $.35 and as that is within the reach of all, a thousand people in and around Tecumseh should turn out on this day of sports.

Go to Cuba, Young Man!

Thirty years ago the advice to young men was to "Go West." Many did, and from a comparatively small investment became not only comfortable but wealthy. This OPPORTUNITY is now CUBA. What the West did in thirty years will be done in Cuba in five years. Cuba has everything in its favor. About as far from New York as is Chicago. WONDERFUL FERTILITY. PERFECT CLIMATE. The best proposition in Cuba is a Citrus Fruit Plantation. Investment absolutely safe. Returns sure and large. We have the land, plant the groves, and sell on easy terms or for cash. A small investment makes a family comfortable for all time. Returns EVERY year. Send name and address on a postal card.

The Passing of the Lamp.

If country people would investigate Acetylene Lighting impartially, this is what they would find out about it. They would find that Acetylene Gaslight is not only the most brilliant, beautiful, coolest, steadiest and cleanest of all home lights, but the safest as well.

They would find that it's rays are precisely the same in color-balance, and chemical effect, as natural Sunlight,—so clear, pure, and healthful that Plants grow by night under Acetylene as they do by day under Sunlight.

They would find that the use of Acetylene Gaslight would cut out all the disagreeable daily cleaning, filling, snuffing, and chimney-wiping of Kerosene Lamps, with the inseparable soot, smell, heat, and air-destroying action, of such lamps.

Moreover, they would find that Acetylene Light, when once installed, costs a third less than Kerosene, for the same amount of light, while needing about thirty minutes per month attendance for 50 lights, as against 30 hours per month for the usual 8 to 10 Kerosene Lamps.

If they would consider that the proper care of even eight Kerosene Lamps spoils half an hour per day of somebody's time, instead of half an hour per month, they would begin to ask earnest questions about Acetylene Lighting from unprejudiced people who know Modern Acetylene through actual experience with it.

Then I could tell them something which would bring more leisure to the weary Housewife more comfort to the whole family, and more prestige to the Country Home generally.

And, I could tell them how little all this additional comfort, leisure, and home-prestige need cost, when they go the right way about installing Acetylene.

I like to hear from people who are "from Missouri" and "who want to be shown."

Just address me this way for the evidence—Acetylene Jones, 4 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

IDLE NOTES

"Thought is parent of the Deed."

The president of our village has certainly been doing his part to make our buildings and sidewalks safe for us and now if he can get every member of the Big Family in the habit of thinking and acting as a unite we can soon have an almost model town. Twenty five hundred people can surmount tremendous obstacles if they only combine forces.

We are soon to have many visitors here and we all know a clean village is most desirable. Let each business man make an effort to have the alley back of his store as clean as he would his own yard. Mr. Brown will gather up twice a week all paper placed in some receptical at rear of store. Thought is valuable in proportion as it is generative. Let this thought sink into each business man's mind.

The Pioneer society have discovered a very interesting relic on the farm of Will Eccles. It is a large boulder which our first settlers found in 1824. They were looking for a mill stone while they had the first grist mill under construction and tried to split off a piece from this boulder for that purpose. They found one more easily handled however and abandoned that one, but the iron wedges and the drill holes are still in this stone, just as they were left by Brown, Evans & Co. eighty-four years ago.

* * *

The Tecumseh Herald says life would be too serene and calm for the council of that village were it not for the kindly suggestions of the feminine population. Here in Adrian the feminine population reduces its suggestions to writing.—Adrian Press.

The Adrian Press man may have the opinion of Tecumseh women that Prof. C. Stanley Hall had when he says: "Women are growing more timid." Evidently the editor knows that Adrian women do not come under that head.

It is this boulder which the society propose to move to our new park and mark and dedicate on the coming 2nd of June, allowing these iron wedges to remain a mementos of the pluck and energy which characterized the settlers of these Oak Openings.

Among the rations on the big American fleet are powdered eggs and dehydrated onions. After that diet we cannot wonder that Rear Admiral Evans had acute indigestion.

CHAS. BIDWELL, Jr. P. M.

The Smart Set for May opens with a brilliant novelette by Elizabeth Robins entitled "The Mills of the Gods." With the art for which she has become famous Miss Robins depicts the character of a noble, fascinating and cruel. How he wins the hand of a beautiful young girl about whose personality there is a veil of mystery and how a woman of his early youth works out an exquisite revenge can only be told by the brilliant author. In short fiction the May number is very strong.

Basket Ball.

The Tecumseh high school basket ball team won the game from the Hillsdale high school team last Saturday by a score of 9 to 2. A high wind hindered greatly in throwing baskets but good work was accomplished by both teams. It was Hillsdale's first experience at playing out of doors and that put them to practically the same disadvantage that our girls were put the Saturday before in playing in the gymnasium at Adrian.

The score shows that Tecumseh has a strong team and one which should be praised and supported. Both Hillsdale and Adrian have gymnasiums and their teams have had practice all winter, while the inclement weather has kept our team from practice most of the time. The regular coach from Hillsdale was unable to come and Miss Goldberg, a senior at Hillsdale college acted as coach and referee. The Tecumseh girls met the visiting team at the train and entertained them after the game until their return on the 9:55. The return game with Hillsdale will be played early next fall.

BASE BALL

The Tecumseh Indians went to Adrian last Sunday, where they crossed bats with the Adrian team, bringing ten scalps back to camp later in the evening. Pitcher Charles Behrendt for the opposing team did not show up as well as expected, and was replaced in the first inning by Yelle. Carrick went in in the eight. Stone and Doty pitched excellent ball for the locals and Fabrique in left field did some excellent work for the Indians.

Score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Adrian	1	1	0	1	2	0	0	0	6	10	5

Two base hits, Lagoe, Carrick, Gruschow; three base hits, Kestler; struck out, by Stone 8, by Doty 4; by Yelle 4, by Carrick1, bases on balls, off Stone 2, off Yelle 3, off Carrick 1; passed balls, Mitchell, Tieman; hit by pitcher, Schippacasse, Stone; double plays, Grueschow to Harris, Stone to Wagner to Lagoe. SOUTH MICHIGAN LEAGUE.

Opens to-day with Tecumseh at Kalamazoo.

The Tecumseh Indians left to-day for Kalamazoo. They were accompanied by a number of fans and the best wishes of the whole village. Lansing is playing at Battle Creek, Bay City at Saginaw, and Flint at Jackson. Tecumseh will have their opening game on Tuesday, May 18, when Battle Creek will be here. Those who accompanied the team to Kalamazoo this morning were Faron Anderson, R. A. Heesen, Arthur Pocklington, and Raynor Brewer.

The Atlantic Monthly is perennially interesting and the May issue is no exception to this rule. The leader is a trikingly clear-sighted article by Thomas Mott Osborne, formerly Mayor of Auburn, New York, now a member of the Public Service Commission, and is entitled "Has the Democratic Party a Future?" Andrew D. White contributes an excellent article entitled "The Statesmanship of Stein," the first of a series of two papers dealing with the famous German minister. "Prohibition in the South" in its most recent phases is discussed by Frank Foxcroft; Max Eastman of Columbia University writes a brilliant essay on "The New Art of Healing," which deals with the wonderful recent cures of nervous diseases by suggestion. The fiction is of the first quality. The final installment of "Rose MacLeod," by Alice Brown, heads the list.

Coursing blood and the call of the outdoor world! Only the very brightest of fiction can now hold the interest—such a story, for instance, as the complete novel in the May Lippincott's, "The Pirate of Alastair." Rupert Sargent Holland, the author, will be pleasantly remembered as the writer of that clever book, "The Count at Harvard." He has invested his new tale with a healthful outdoor atmosphere. Lippincott's always excels in the matter of short stories and this month is no exception to the rule.

In the May number of the Review of Reviews there appears a reproduction of the portrait of President Roosevelt recently painted by the Hungarian artist, Philip Laszlo and esteemed by many who have seen it as the most characteristic of the president's portraits. A brief sketch of the artist's career is printed in connection with the portrait. Apropros of the conference of State Governors called by the president is printed in three articles a summary of America's national assets. Miss Agnes Laut makes an impressive showing of Canada's recent growth and wealth.

Some physicians say "Yes."

Some say "No."

The real question is, "What is meant by eczema?" If you mean those scaly eruptions, those diseases which make their first appearance, not at birth, but years afterward and perhaps not until middle age—then there can no longer be any question that these forms of eczema are curable.

Simple vegetable oil of wintergreen mixed with other vegetable ingredients, will kill the germs that infest the skin. Apply this prescription to the skin and instantly that awful itch is gone. The very moment the liquid is applied, that agonizing, tantalizing itch disappears and continued applications of this external remedy soon cure the disease.

We carry in stock this oil of wintergreen properly compounded into D. D. D. prescription. While we are not sure that it will cure all those cases of skin trouble which are inherited, we positively know that this D. D. D prescription, whenever rightly used, will cure every last case of genuine eczema or other skin trouble, which did not exist at birth.

We know this. Anyway, you, yourself, will know that D. D. D. prescription instantly takes away the itch the moment it is applied to the skin. B. J. Pulver, Tecumseh, Mich. Stop that itch today—Instantly. Just call at our store and try this refreshing and soothing liquid; also ask about D. D. D. soap.

LITERARY NOTES.

Oliver Herford and John Cecil Clay in the May Woman's Home Companion assert that Hearticulture is an exact science, and they give cultural directions for the use of lovers, young and old. Every one can imagine how delightfully Oliver Herford could describe such strange flowers as Aprilfoolia, the Valentine Plant, the Hope Vine, and Gossip Weed. The illustrations of these unique plants are in color.

The May McClure's is a strong fiction number. "In the Dark Hour" is a stirring story of tropical love and adventure, by Perceval Gibbon, author of "The Second-Class Passenger." Lucy Pratt's Ezekiel reappears in a delightful story "In Charge of Trusty." "War on the Tiger" carries the reader through jungles on the trail of the man eating tiger.

Of peculiar personal interest also is, "The Prince of the Power of the air" the article upon which Edmund Clarence Stedman was engaged at the time of his death, printed from a full, but not a final, draft, of which the first paragraph was Mr. Stedman's last written words. The article refers to Mr Stedman's early studies of the subject and his remarkable forecasts, reviews what has been accomplished or undertaken in aeronautics by various governments, and discusses the menace to Britains isolation. Dr. Bell has a letter in the the same number commenting favorable on Mr. Stedman's paper.

Aside from all theories, marrying upon a small salary has but little poetry in it says the Designer for May. The fret and strain of keeping within bounds the needs of the children, the planning to make an inelastic income expand to dimensions it was never intended to reach, are the "daily dyings of self" that brings the lines of premature age upon the fairest face. There is but one thing that can compensate for fading youth which the restricted income is responsible, and that is mutual love—the love of home.

Early this morning Sheriff Holt was informed that Albert Waring a farmer living 1 1-2 miles east of Tecumseh, had discovered in his pasture an old horse and buggy, probably placed there during the night. The mane and tail of the animal had been clipped off by means of a dull knife. The officers have heard of no loss in this line anywhere around the county.—Adrian Times.

Mr. Waring notified the officers here that an old horse had been turned in his pasture but there was no carriage as the Times states.

Saturday afternoon the Y. M. C. A. Juniors defeated the Clinton Tigers on the Tecumseh diamond by a score of 24 to 10. A return game will be played in Clinton in the near future. The Clinton Tigers are a new organization under the management of Howard and Clarence Hause of Clinton and appear in uniform jerseys furnished by O. J. Robison. Earl Brown has charge of the Y. M. C. A. Juniors.

This would be a good season for our justices of the peace to take their summer vacation. There is little else to do. In the rounds of news today a Times man found the door of one of the justices locked, another his desk was locked and two friends were there to help his honor to kill time while the other two law makers were taking life easy. The citizens have become so good that it will be well for the justices to take up some other line of work such as making gardens, cutting lawns, etc. However there is one thing that goes on whether they have anything to do or not and that is the rent.—Adrian Times.

As the Adrian Times man makes the above suggestion for the justices of their city, we might apply it here. Adrian needn't think they have the only good citizens in the universe as our justices here spend a great deal of time fishing.

INCREASE RATE

Commercial Savings Bank, Lenawee County Savings Bank and Clay State Savings Bank of Adrian,

DECIDE TO PAY 3 PER CENT. ON ALL DEPOSITS BEGINNING JUNE 1, 1908.

Have offered 2 Per Cent for Past Decade—Move in Right Direction.

Cashier E N Smith of the Commercial Savings bank of Adrian, stated a few days ago that beginning with June 1, 1908, the Commercial Savings bank, the Lenawee County Savings bank and the Walby & Clay State Savings bank would all begin to pay 3 per cent. interest on all deposits instead of 2 per cent. which has been offered by these banks for the past decade. Cashiers H. V. C. Hart and H. B. Walby of the two last named institutions confirmed the report when seen at their respective offices.

All of these banks formerly paid 3 per cent. interest but on March 1, 1899, owing to the low rates of interest offered upon desirable investments for bank funds it was decided by them that it was wholly justifiable and for the best that the rate be reduced to 2 per cent. Since that time 2 per cent. has been the rate of interest offered.

It was agreed by the banks and the plan had been adopted to raise the rate from 2 per cent. to 3 per cent. on Dec. 1, 1907. The uncertainty of the money market and of financial conditions at that time, however, seemed to indicate that it would be better to wait awhile longer. Now that all of the fluctuations set in motion by the slight flurry are calmed, the banking institutions feel that the old rate of 3 per cent. may be safely resumed.

One of the cashiers stated this morning that the move was not made for the purpose of booming business or reaching out for increased patronage as it was a fact that the aggregate deposits of the three banks total more at present than they did under the 3 per cent. system. The action is simply taken that the people may enjoy the advantage of the changed conditions.

The above announcement will be received with pleasure by those who have deposits in the three banks, and by the public in general. The action on the part of the Adrian bank is a sign that the country has entered upon a longera of renewed prosperity, and the banks should be congratulated upon their move to establish old-time confidence and renewed business activity.

Penny Soical given by the C. E. Girls last Friday Night.

The penny social given by the Christian Endeavor girls of the Presbyterian church last Friday evening was a decided success, and the young ladies cleared about $19. The various booths were prettily trimmed with bunting. Misses Bess Spayde, Anna Cutting and Sarah Platt tended the Dutch booth, selling coffee, sandwiches, baked beans and hot frankfurts. Miss Mabel Mills presided at the candy booth, while Sadie Ladd and Anna Wilson sold frappe.

The members of Mrs John Anderson's class conducted a moving picture show. Up stairs, Vesta Wilson and Florence Aten in Japanese costume sold tea and wafers. Harriet Teachout and Josephine Orr, had the flower booth; Misses Helen Wilson, Beth Widney, and Margaret Waldron, the ice cream booth, while Margaret Mahoney, Leota Aten and Mary Kohler attended at the cocoa booth. Miss Florence Huey told fortunes, which created a great deal of merriment.

GREAT DEMAND

For Hyomei, the Catarrh Cure That C. A. Wright & Son Sell Under Guarantee.

The record for sales of any medicine by C. A. Wright & Son has been broken by the recent demand in Hyomei. This is not alone due to the peculiar weather conditions that have increased catarrhal troubles, but also to the way in which C. A. Wright & Son sell Hyomei.

With every dollar outfit, they give their personal guarantee to refund the money if Hyomei does not give absolute satisfaction and do all that is claimed for it. Some people may say "If only I knew it to be true, I would not hesitate a moment." This is the average individual's thought when reading some striking offer like this. You can, however, easily prove it true by asking C. A. Wright & Son about the guarantee they give.

The reason that they can sell Hyomei in this unusual way is due to its wonderful curative powers. There is no stomach drugging with Hyomei. It is a medicated air treatment that kills all catarrhal germs, prevents their growth, soothes and heals any irritation in the mucous membrane, vitalizes the tissues and makes catarrhal troubles impossible. It has cured many right in this town and you should try it now and get relief and cure from catarrh.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Prevalence of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

DON'T WAIT.

Take advantage of a Tecumseh citizen's advice before it's too late.

Don't wait until the backache becomes chronic;

Till serious kidney troubles develope.

Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest.

Wm. Witherell, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "In 1901 I gave a statement for publication recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and today I still hold the same high opinion of them. When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills I was troubled with severe pains across my back and hips and if I stooped sharp pains would dart through my body. At one time I was laid up in bed several days. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, bought a box and received great benefit from the first such that I continued using them until they effected a cure. I am glad to say that the cure then made has proven permanent. I have recommended the Pills a number of times and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's—and take no other.

The Notary In France.

The notary is a most important person in all small country towns in France. Everybody consults him, from the big landowner when he has discussions with his neighbors over right of way to the peasant who buys a few meters of land as soon as he has any surplus funds. We were constantly having rows with one of our neighbors over a little strip of wood that ran up into ours. Whenever he was angry with us, which happened quite often (we never knew why), he had a deep, ugly ditch made just across the road which we always took when we were riding around the property. The woods were so thick and low, with plenty of thorns, that we could not get along by keeping on one side and were obliged to go back and make quite a long detour. The notary did his best to buy it for us, but the man would never sell—rather enjoyed, I think, having the power to annoy us.—Mme. Waddington in Scribner's.

Dogs and Infection.

Dogs can carry infection along with them, as was clearly proved at Constantinople in 1865 when a single animal, entering the city from an infected district, started a cholera epidemic that killed more than 50,000. The dog, a valuable chow, was taken into his house by a dragoman, and a few hours later he and all his family were stricken down with the complaint, which spread thence to all parts of the city, even the sultan's palace being invaded.

MAY QUIT MAY 25.

Nation's Super Bills Have Practically All Been Legislated on by Congress.

Washington, May 11.—The supply bills of congress, in which appropriations are to be made for the support of the government for the next fiscal year beginning on July 1st, are in such condition in both houses that if no complications arise in connection with other legislation it will be possible to adjourn by the 25th inst.

There are fourteen of these general measures, carrying an aggregate of almost a billion dollars, and of these the house of representatives, in which all of them originate, has passed twelve, except the military academy and the general deficiency bill. Both of these carry comparatively small sums; both are of such character that they seldom arouse opposition, and both could be disposed of in very brief order if necessary. The academy bill will be reported to the house early this week and the deficiency bill not later than Thursday, so that if it were desirable both bills could be passed by that body before adjournment next Saturday night.

The senate is not in such a hurry as it could be, on account of the fact that that body must necessarily take up the bills after they have been considered and passed upon by the house. The senate is, however, unusually close upon the heels of the lower body and, in addition to the deficiency and academy bills, has the sundry civil, the postoffice and the naval civil bills. These, however, are two of the largest of the appropriation bills, carrying as they do between them about one-third of the aggregate appropriation made for the session. Both undoubtedly will arouse much discussion in the senate, and it is probable that the greater part of the time for the next two weeks will be given to their consideration. The postoffice bill will be the next after the agricultural bill to be taken up in the senate, and by the time it is disposed of it is hoped the committee on appropriations will be prepared to present its report on the sundry civil bill.

While a majority of the appropriation bills have been passed by both houses, only two have received the approval of the president and became laws. These are the urgent deficiency bill and the Indian bill.

EVERYBODY FAGGED OUT.

Festivities In San Francisco Exhaust Both Civilians and Sailors.

San Francisco, May 11.—After four days of indulgence in all the varied forms of hospitality provided by San Francisco, which has won well nigh everyone to the point of physical exhaustion, the officers and men of the Pacific and Atlantic fleets spent a Sunday of recuperation and rest.

Admiral Thomas remained at the Fairmount hotel all day Sunday. He contracted a slight cold at a banquet which he attended in uniform which prevented him leaving his apartments. Last night, however, he attended the alumni dinner of the graduates of Annapolis given at the Fairmount hotel. This dinner was attended by about 150 officers from the combined fleets and many civilians who are graduates of the naval academy. There were impromptu addresses by Admiral Thomas and others upon topics pertaining to the navy.

A breakfast was given Sunday at the Fairmount to the representatives of the press with the fleet.

The program this week is filled with a variety of events in the different cities around the bay. The festivities in this city will continue without interruption, the entertainment of the enlisted men with automobile and trolley rides being a feature. An automobile ride for 500 officers of the fleet took place this morning. Many athletic events in which men from the fleet will participate, are also scheduled. There will be excursions for both officers and men to San Jose, Vallejo, Berkeley and other nearby cities. Trips to Mount Tamalpais and the big trees will be made on different days. The official programme of entertainments will not end until next Saturday night. The enlisted men are to be given a special entertainment on Tuesday night. Next the California club, an exclusive women's organization, will tender a reception to be followed by a grand ball in their honor at the auditorium. It is expected that more than 2,000 sailors will attend. They will be provided with dancing partners from among the hundreds of young ladies who have volunteered to assist at the entertainment.

A notable feature in connection with the fleet's presence at San Francisco is the uniformly excellent conduct of the enlisted men ashore.

UNFINISHED BOOKS.

Authors Who Died Leaving Stories Partly Written.

Many writers including the famous Dickens, have died leaving behind them unfinished books. One of the best known is, of course, Dickens' "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," a remarkably clever story, and one showing no signs of diminishing vitality, although he was actually at work upon it up to within a few hours of his death.

Dickens' great rival, Thackeray, again, left behind him not one only but two unfinished stories. One of these, "Denis Duval," promised to rank with his best work, unfortunately, however, he had completed only seven chapters when he was stricken down.

Scott, too, left a tale unended—"The Siege of Malta"—written while he was on his last futile journey in search of health. This story has never been published, although more than two thirds of it was completed at the time of his death.

Then there was "St. Ives," left unfinished by R. L. Stevenson, as was "Zeph" by Helen Jackson, and "Blind Love," by Wilkie Collins. Buckle never completed his "History of Civilization," although he toiled at it for twenty years.

Among famous poems that were never completed mention may be made of Byron's "Don Juan," Keats' "Hyperion," Coleridge's "Christabel" and Gray's "Alcipheron." Spenser's "Faerie Queene," too, is no more than a fragment, although a colossal one.

Lastly, there ought to be included Ben Jonson's beautiful unfinished pastoral, "The Sad Shepherd," found by his literary executors among his papers after his death and published in its incompleteness.—Pearson's Weekly.

KILLS SELF.

Recently Resigned Army Lieutenant Commits Suicide In Washington.

Washington, May 11.—Charles E. Bamford, a graduate of West Point and who resigned from the army as a second lieutenant in September, 1906, shot and killed himself in his room at the Regent hotel in this city. From letters found among his effects, his address is thought to be 369 Hamilton avenue, Trenton, N. J.

Bamford has recently been engaged in civil engineering, but a letter addressed to Adjutant General Ainsworth asking for a reappointment to the army, which was found in his pockets, leads to the belief that his visit to Washington was for the purpose of being restored to the army. He had been at the Regent since Thursday, but had not been at the war department.

California Wants Roosevelt.

San Francisco, May 11.—An unusual situation will present itself when the Republican state convention meets at Sacramento next Thursday. Regardless of the fact that President Roosevelt has repeatedly stated that he will not be a candidate for re-election, Republican voters of California, by unofficial ballot at the primaries last week for the selection of delegates to the state convention, declared their preference for the president over other candidates, and it may be that the Sacremento convention will carry out the wishes of the voters and instruct for Roosevelt.

Cleveland Continues to Improve.

Lakewood, N. J., May 11.—Reports from the Lakewood hotel were that former President Grover Cleveland is continuing to improve. The windows of the Cleveland apartments are full of flowers, which have been sent to the hotel by friends. Mrs. Cleveland left the patient twice Sunday, in the morning to attend services in the Presbyterian church, where in past years she has been a regular attendant, and in the afternoon for an hour's walk about town.

Detroit Firm Burns Out.

Detroit, Mich., May 11.—Fire starting from an unknown cause at night damaged the dry goods store of Goldberg Bros., 225-229 Woodward avenue, to the extent of $150,000. The fire started on the sixth floor of the building and crawled down as fas as the third floor. Only good work by the fire department saved the Jones building, which is directly in the rear.

Deplorable Levity.

"We students can stand a good many things," said the college girl, "but this last missionary was too much for us. He preached on the glories of the missionary calling for women. He told us we ought all of us to go and help the heathen. That was all right.

"But then he worked up to a glowing finish. 'Now, I appeal to you, as college women, how much better than mere learning and mere books it is to go forth into the world and become fishers of men!'

"That was too much. Of course we smiled. In fact, some of us snickered audibly. Then the missionary complained to 'prexy' that he couldn't help noticing a deplorable spirit of levity apparent among the students."—Philadelphia Ledger.

America on Top.

Some years ago, while on a tour through Europe, Sir Henry Roscoe paid a visit to Vesuvius, which was at the time in eruption. He there met an American, who spoke in depreciatory terms of the magnificent spectacle.

"Well," remarked Sir Henry, "when all is said and done, you have nothing like this in America."

"No," replied the other, "but we have a river that would put the whole darned thing out in five minutes."

VALUE OF PUBLICITY.

Steve Brodie, the Bridge Jumper, as a Self Advertiser.

Curiously enough, the man who, in my opinion, had the keenest intuition of the value of publicity and used it to the greatest personal advantage, when we consider his humble beginnings and the limited sphere of his endeavor, never really knew how to read and write. I knew him first as a young street urchin, making his living by selling newspapers, blacking boots, running errands and doing such odd jobs as fell in his way, and it was chiefly through selling newspapers, whose headlines alone he was barely able to decipher, that he gained that knowledge of what Park row calls "news values," which one finds in every trained and efficient city editor.

It was on the strength of this knowledge that this bootblack went one day to a well known wholesale liquor dealer on the east side and proposed that he should establish him in a saloon on lower Bowery. The liquor dealer was aghast at his presumption until he learned his scheme; then he capitulated at once, and within a few days the papers had been signed and twenty-four hours' option secured on rickety and, from nearly every imaginable point of view, undesirable premises near Canal street and directly under the noisiest and dustiest and oiliest part of the elevated railroad. This done, the bootblack made his way to the very center of the Brooklyn bridge, climbed hastily to the top of the parapet and, heedless of the warning shouts of the horrified onlookers and the swift rush of a panting cop, dropped into the seething waters below.

It was an unknown youth with an earning capacity of a few dollars a week who disappeared beneath the surface of the East river, but it was an enterprising young man, an east side celebrity, in fact, all ready for the divine oil of publicity and with an assured income and possible fortune in his grasp, whose nose reappeared very shortly above the muddy surface of the water and who was helped by willing and officious hands into a rowboat, where dry clothing awaited him, together with hearty congratulations on the fact that he alone, of all those who had attempted to jump the bridge, had escaped with his life. The next day the name of Steve Brodie was flashed from one end of the country to the other, and within a very few hours after his discharge from custody—he was arrested on the charge of trying to take his own life—he was standing behind his own bar, serving drinks to the crowds who came to gape at Steve Brodie, the bridge jumper, and to pour their money into his coffers.—James L. Ford in Success Magazine.

Royal Crowns.

Royal crowns have tended to become lighter. Thus, one made in the middle ages weighed over seven pounds, that of George IV. weighed five and one-half pounds, while Queen Victoria's crown, containing the great Tuby which belonged to the Black Prince, weighed three and one-quarter pounds.

A Good Talker.

"They say her conversational powers are immense."

"Is that so?"

"Yes, sir. They tell me that girl once talked clear through 'Parsifal.'"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Californian's Luck.

"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's arnica salve," writes Chas. Budahn of Tracy, Cal. "Two 25c boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles which had annoyed me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store.

Bobby's Reason.

Little Bobby was saying his prayers at his mother's knee, but so rapidly that she asked him why he did not speak more slowly.

"Because, you know," he replied, "it would keep all the other children waiting."—Lippincott's.

Lady (at railway station, to porter)—Now, porter, are you sure I have all my luggage in the train? Porter—Yes, ma'am. Lady—Nothing left behind? Porter—Nothin' ma'am—not even a copper, ma'am!—London Scraps.

Not Unlikely.

Wakeful?

Sleeplessness Is a Sign of Nerve Trouble and Should Be Looked To.

There are three different manifestations of sleeplessness.

First, hardly to sleep a wink all night, second, to lie awake a long time before falling asleep; third, to fall asleep soon, waking up after several hours and then find it hard to sleep again.

They mean that somewhere in the nerve fibres, somewhere in the brain cells, somewhere in the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain, something is radically wrong, and must be righted, or the end may be worse than death.

To right it, take Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Some other symptoms of nerve trouble are: Dizziness, Headache, Backache, Worry, Fretfulness, Irritability, Melancholy, Lack of Ambition.

They indicate diseases which may lead to Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Prostration, Paralysis, Insanity.

Nothing will give such quick and lasting relief as Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"My husband had been sick for weeks, could not sit up to have his bed made. With all the medical help we could get he continued to grow worse. He could neither sleep or eat. Our baby girl was sent away, and all callers barred because he could not stand a bit of talking. A read of a case of nervous prostration cured by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. We began giving it to him, and in a few days he was able to be dressed. From that time he steadily improved. Nervine saved his life.—MRS. A. G. HASKIN, Freeville, N. Y.

HAD BUT LITTLE LEFT.

Wilson's Accounts Should Have Shown For $145,000.

RECEIVER SNOVER ON STAND

Case Against Port Huron Man Is a Strong One—Wilson Turns Over All Property Which He and Wife Possess—Amounts to Nearly $50,000.

Port Huron, Mich., May 14.—At the trial of William L. Wilson Wednesday several witnesses were placed on the stand to prove their payments of money into the hands of the secretary of the Home Protectors' fraternity, and all exhibited receipts for their payments. The prosecution also produced certificates signed by Wilson purporting to show that these same people had been paid back their investments with the interest, while all of them testified that they had never received any payments, whatever, from the defendant.

The certificates were produced by the prosecution and showed that they had been indorsed with a rubber stamp of Wilson's name and deposited by him to his account as secretary, transferring the funds to his personal account.

Receiver Horace G. Snover was the last witness of the afternoon. His testimony was to the effect that a mortgage record for $500 was placed by Wilson as one of the assets of that fraternity, while the mortgage had some time since been paid by the man who obtained the loan and had been discharged from the register of deeds.

The receiver testified that there were a number of cases of this kind which will be brought to light during the trial. It was the practice of Wilson, he said, to receive payments in cancellation of mortgages and still leave the records in the office as though they had never been paid.

Just before the adjournment of court, Mr. Snover testified that in the various accounts of the fraternity, over which Wilson had charge, there was a total of less than $300 in actual cash, while the books called for nearly $145,000. This bears out the statement of Prosecutor Moore, made at the opening of the trial, that Wilson's defalcations would foot up to nearly $150,000.

Wilson has prepared to make good his previously avowed intention of turning over all the property of himself and his wife to Snover. In a letter, giving Mr. Snover a list of the property turned over by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Moore & Brown, Wilson's attorneys, declare that it contains almost all the couple own in the world. The list was published at the time the exposure of Wilson's defalcations was made.

The total value of the property is $46,669. This covers about one-third of the amount of his "indebtedness," as he terms it.

WADE IS SILENT.

Will Not Discuss Charges Against His Office at University.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 14.—James H. Wade, secretary of the University of Michigan, has returned from his visit to Chicago, and he spent last evening conferring with university officials and assistants in his office. He and Hamilton Reeves, superintendent of grounds, whose name has also been mentioned in connection with Attorney General Bird's inquiry, held a conference in the secretary's office that lasted until late.

"I will not discuss the charges that are said to be the basis for an investigation of my office until the proper time comes," said he.

The secretary looked haggard and pale. He was evidently laboring under a nervous strain. His friends say that they fear he is on the verge of collapse. It is rumored that there will be an overhauling of vast amount of university business. Among other things, it is said, some recent contracts for buildings, worth about $500,000, will be investigated.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

Under suspension of the rules, the house of representatives passed an omnibus bridge bill, authorizing the building of twenty-four such structures across navigable streams in various states.

CHANGES IN COMMAND

Officers of Fleets In West Are Switched About.

THOMAS TO HAUL DOWN FLAG

Rear Admiral Sperry Succeeds Him In Command of Atlantic Fleet. Officers Attended "Jinks" of 'Frisco's Bohemian Club.

San Francisco, May 14.—Extensive changes in the formation of the Atlantic fleet at San Francisco take place Friday, when Rear Admiral Thomas hauls down his flag as commander in chief and is succeeded by Rear Admiral Sperry. Several of the ships will be shifted to different divisions, and Captain Richard Wainwright and Captain Seaton Schroeder will assume command of divisions.

Captain Wainwright will be succeeded in command of the Louisiana by Captain Kossuth Niles, and Captain Schroeder will be succeeded on the Virginia by Captain Alexander Sharp. The Minnesota will take the place of the Louisiana in the first division, the latter joining the third. The Wisconsin will be Captain Schroeder's flagship, heading the fourth division. The Connecticut will remain the flagship of the fleet.

The Pacific squadron of armored cruisers, commanded by Rear Admiral Dayton, will get under way Friday and go to sea en route to Santa Barbara. The Atlantic fleet will leave San Francisco for Puget sound at 10 o'clock next Monday morning. The reason for the changes in the formation of the fleet is to obtain homogeneity by divisions.

Practically every off duty officer from the combined fleets attended Wednesday night the annual spring "jinks" of the Bohemian club, which is famed for its clever entertainments. It was one of the few functions that the officers have attended voluntarily, their presence at teas, parties, balls, etc., being the result of official details. The privileges of the club have been extended to all the officers, and it really was as members of the noted organization that they attended the "jinks," that depicted the days of '49. The scenes and incidents of the evening were intended to recall California's golden age of romance.

Wed in the Capitol.

Washington, May 14.—Married in the rotunda of the capitol was the experience in which Earley B. Palmore of Trenholm, Va., and Miss L. M. Palmore of Goochland county, that state, were the principals. The couple, accompanied by Rev. Harry G. Spencer of Washington, proceeded to the capitol building and sent word to Speaker Cannon and Vice President Fairbanks of their desire to obtain the necessary permission to be wedded within the building. The permission was readily granted, and the ceremony was performed. After the words had been pronounced which made the couple man and wife, they rapidly departed.

Aeroplane Makes Two Flights.

Manteo, N. C., May 14.—Over a narrow and forsaken stretch of country that juts out in sand dunes into the Atlantic ocean, the aeroplane, invented by Dayton (O.) aeronauts which has been doing such good work, made two flights with apparently the most successful results. The aeroplane worked perfectly, and the ship sailed gracefully into the air, executed maneuvers at the will of the inventors, and dropped back to earth without a hitch. The inventors, who sailed their own machine, the Wright brothers, seemed greatly pleased at the results accomplished by the experiments.

Range Site Rejected.

Flint, Mich., May 14.—Captain M. Wilson, commanding Co. A, Third infantry, Michigan national guard, has received a communication from the state military department, disapproving the site for a rifle range which was selected by Captain Wilson on a farm four miles north of the city. General Wagner, the inspecting officer, feared that the lay of the ground would result in somebody being injured by a low shot. The price of the land was about $5,000. Captain Wilson has been instructed to secure a new site.

Edwin G. Dayton, Banker, Dead.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE,

President's Conference With Governors Begins.

PRESIDENT OPENS SESSION.

Two Important Ideas Develop—Organization Between States and Nation Necessary—No Limit to Agreements That States May Make.

Washington, May 14.—Two ideas, destined to mark material progress in America's future, resulted from the first three days' conference at the White House Wednesday, at which President Roosevelt, the governors of forty-four states, cabinet officers, supreme court judges, senators, representatives and experts participating in an effort to reach conclusions on the best methods of conserving the national resources of the United States.

The first is that a permanent organization between the states and the nation is necessary and will likely result from the present conference, to accomplish the end sought. The second, suggested by Secretary Root, is that there is no limitation by the constitution to the agreements which may be made between the states, subject to the approval of congress. The two ideas fully developed, it is predicted, would result in the conservation of the energies and resources of the nation through uniform and unconflicting laws, both national and state.

Governors Offer Resolutions.

The idea that the conference should be perpetuated developed in the form of resolutions offered for later consideration by Governor Glenn of North Carolina and Governor Folk of Missouri. There were many others, but a parliamentary move to save time sent them to a committee for consideration.

So crowded was the day with interesting and important developments and so fraught with history making possibilities—material, political and social—that to make but a categorical enumeration of events would seem to give the best conception of the occasion.

Forty-four governors of sovereign states of the Union sat on gilded chairs in the historic east room of the White House and chatted from 10 to 11 o'clock in the morning. Five hundred other persons taxed the capacity of the room. They were cabinet officers, supreme court justices, senators, representatives, experts in all lines of industry. With a flourish of trumpets, the president and vice president entered at 11 o'clock, and the conference, the first of its kind in the history of the nation, began.

President Well Received.

There was no doubting the first climax of the day. It was the reception of the president. He had been at work in the executive offices until the very minute of convening. He entered the east room on the minute of 11 o'clock, as the marine band rendered the presidential honors. The governors arose; they clapped their hands; they shouted. Five hundred others took their cue, and the demonstration became tumultuous. Then followed a hush, and the venerable Dr. Edward Everette Hale, chaplain of the senate, read from the bible and offered prayer.

President Roosevelt then began his explanation of the reason for the conference. His fifty minute speech was many times interrupted by applause, and, when he finally reached his point of praise to the inland waterways commission and declared with characteristic vigor that should congress neglect to perpetuate the commission "I will do it myself," he "captured" the assemblage. The governors stood up and shouted, senators and congressmen added a laugh to their applause, and general assent was given the sentiment.

Real Work Begins.

It was at the afternoon session that the real work of the conference began, and the session, which opened at 2:15 and lasted until 5:05 o'clock, proceeded at a rate that broke all speed regulations.

It developed first that the president finds it impossible to devote his entire time to the conference meetings. He will, as he did, call to order each session and then designate a governor to preside. This honor fell Wednesday on Governor Noel of Mississippi.

Andrew Carnegie spoke first. It was from the utterances of Mr. Carnegie and those who followed him that the gravity of the problems to be considered were given weight. Two hundred years of coal supply and half that of iron was the prediction of the famous iron master. These facts he bore home with detail.

There were ways by which both the coal and iron supply might be conserved, according to Mr. Carnegie—by economies in mining and in use and the development of water transportation, which, he said, required less of both products.

Mr. Carnegie was followed by Dr. I. C. White of West Virginia, Governor Johnson of Minnesota and Dr. C. R. Van Helz of the University of Michigan.

The climax of the session was the speech of Secretary of State Elihu Root. He came last.

TOWN WIPED OUT.

Reported Gilliam, La., Has Been Destroyed by Tornado.

Atlanta, Ga., May 14.—According to information received in this city, a tornado has struck parts of Louisiana, causing loss of life in Gilliam, Oil City and Bollinger.

Telegraphic communication is interrupted, but reports say that the storm started north of Shreveport, swept along to Little Rock, Texarkana and into Texas.

It is reported that Gilliam, La., a town of 200 inhabitants, is wiped out and that a number of lives have been lost. Oil City is also reported destroyed, with loss of life and a number of persons injured.

THOUSANDS DROWNED.

Tidal Bore In China Caused Awful Sacrifice of Life.

Seattle, May 14.—News of one of the greatest disasters that China has ever known, a sudden tidal bore in the Yantgse Kiang, which involved the loss of nearly 10,000 lives at Hankow, is brought by the steamer Titan.

A bore, twenty-six feet in height, came down the river without warning, overturning thousands of junks, sampans and small boats and wrecking large river steamers. About 3,000 Chinese were sleeping in sampans and small craft and mat sheds and huts by the riverside, and they were enveloped by the great wave.

The scenes for many days after the disaster were horrible, the river being strewn with dead and debris of the wrecked craft for many miles.

The tidal bore referred to was reported previously by cable. A dispatch from Shanghai, April 13, said that disastrous floods had occurred at Hankow, on the Yangtse Kiang, in which 2,000 persons lost their lives. Several hundred junks were sunk or wrecked. The waters caught the people unexpectedly in the middle of the night, and all avenues of escape were cut off. The cable advices did not show that the flood was by any means as disastrous as does the report from Seattle.

Colonel Scott Missing.

West Point, N. Y., May 14.—Army officials are at a loss to explain the disappearance of Colonel Hugh L. Scott, superintendent of the United States Military academy. About two months ago, Colonel Scott was selected by President Roosevelt to proceed at once from West Point to the wilds of New Mexico to suppress some Indian troubles. The president regarded the colonel as complete master of all the Indian dialects and the most suitable army officer for the situation. In obedience to orders, Colonel Scott promptly put out for the west. He has not been heard from for weeks, and his command at West Point is becoming very anxious as to his whereabouts.

Evans Hated to Leave "Old Gang."

Chicago, May 14.—"I hate to leave the old gang. It was the hardest blow I ever had. But there are two things I don't worry about—things that I can't help and things that I can." The above was the sentiment expressed by Admiral Evans regarding his retirement from the United States navy in August when interviewed upon his arrival in Chicago on his journey east. When asked concerning his health, the admiral replied that he was feeling "all wool and a yard wide."

Stage Does Not Want Evelyn.

New York, May 14.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is not wanted on the stage—at least by one New York theater. In reply to overtures recently made by a young man, who said he represented her in the quest for a place in "The Gay Musician," a new comedy shortly to take the boards, a letter completely turning her down was sent to Dan O'Reilly, her lawyer.

Fast Auto Struck Man.

Detroit, Mich., May 14.—Henry Cabot, Jr., a Greenfield township farmer, while crossing the street car tracks on Jefferson avenue at the Marshland road, was struck by the skeleton of an automobile, driven by Roy Ingleman, an auto tester, and instantly killed. According to witnesses, the auto was traveling at a sixty-mile clip. Cabot's body shot 105 feet through the air, by actual measurement, and the machine dove into a ditch, 200 feet further on. Ingleman was thrown and badly bruised. Cabot, who was a married man, leaves four children.

Hills and Home

BY LULU JOHNSON.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Homer Sprague.

The porter smiled cheeringly as Miriam emerged from her berth and made her way down the aisle toward the dressing room.

"Good mawnin'," he observed as he sprang to take her bag. "This yer's a shore bad day. Th' dinin' car 'll be on in ha'f an hour."

He surrendered her bag at the door of the dressing room and returned to his work. There were few berths left to make up, and Miriam had been the last to rise.

Another woman and half a dozen men constituted the passenger list on the through car, so when Miriam returned to her berth it was all in order. The car, too, was deserted, as the first call for breakfast had summoned all her fellow passengers to the diner, glad of any break in the monotony of travel.

"I'M SURE OBLIGED TO THAT CHAP MEEKER."

Miriam followed the others, rejoicing in the conductor's assurance that in the evening she would eat her supper on firm land, for at nightfall they were due at Schofield, the little station where Miriam Bradley was to change for the slow stagecoach that would carry her to Muddy Bend and her new field of labor.

She was glad that there remained but ten hours of train travel. It had proved a tiresome trip, though back home she had looked forward with eagerness to the journey.

Once she had run down from her Vermont home to Boston, and there had been short visits to nearby smaller cities, but she had never traveled so far and naturally had anticipated much pleasure in the novelty.

But, after all, she had found the long journey disappointing. The long, bare stretches of prairie were a novelty at first to this girl brought up in the heart of the Green mountains, but they became interminable, and now her eyes hungered for the sight of her native hills.

Under the driving rain the soddea plain looked more dreary than it had the day before. She tried to fix her thoughts on a book, but the letters danced before her eyes, and she caught herself looking through the car window and wondering if there were no hills at all in this dreary expanse.

Back home there must be snow on the ground, and the boys and girls were doubtless enjoying the coasting, while the evenings would call out the big bobs, and her own crowd would take their part in the fun. Vaguely she wondered if these children of the plains ever knew the delights of the long, swift journey down the glittering white incline, and she sighed for the little valley she had always known as home.

Yet she thought sternly that she had done the one possible thing. The field in the east was already overcrowded with teachers, and she had heard that only in the great and growing west did a newcomer have a chance for advancement. And teaching it must be or marriage with Jimmy Meeker. Even now, with hundreds of miles between them, she could feel her face flush as she recalled how he had asked her to marry him that she might have a home and his protection.

He had meant well, no doubt, and ever since they had gone to school together he had shown his manly preference for her, but he had put it rawly that evening, to say the least. With her nerves still stinging from the shock of discovering that her entire heritage had gone down with the local bank, his proposal, so awkwardly worded, had been the final straw. Indignantly she reminded him that he had not spoken until her need of support made his offer ring with pity, and she wanted not pity, but love, from the man she married.

It had all seemed very dignified, almost heroic at the time, but now, with the vastness of the unbroken prairies settling down upon her like a black shadow, her heart somehow had room only for his answering plea that he could not ask her to be his wife while he was a struggling lawyer and she the only heiress of the comfortable Bradley estate.

As the day passed and she was hurried through the flat, dismal country both her reason and her heart rose in rebellion, and when the call for luncheon was sounded nervousness had done its work. She wanted nothing to eat.

The porter had seen just this brand of homesickness before, and he asked permission to bring some tea and toast, at least, to her section. Abashed by the tears that came to her eyes at his friendly suggestion, he sought another car and the conductor. Then this kindly official sat down beside his tired young passenger and tried to make conversation. They were just passing a section house with its few surrounding buildings and tiny schoolhouse. Near the latter was an improvised "slide."

"That's the way the prairie children make hills," he said, little dreaming that he was touching a very raw spot in his companion's heart. "They pile up the snow industriously, pour water on it just before sundown, and in the morning it is a jolly fine slide."

After that Miriam watched for the manufactured hills. The pitiful substitute for the sport of her girlhood somehow made her feel more desperately than ever the mighty chasm she was cutting between her old life and her new.

And when she was not watching for "hills" she was trying to drown the recollection of a certain tender, pleading voice in the incessant, insistent song of the revolving wheels beneath her.

It was an actual relief when Schofield was reached and she stood on the narrow strip of platform in front of the station. She peered through the dusk in a vain search for some break in the level stretch of plain. A man in rough, heavy clothing came forward bashfully.

"You Miss Bradley, for over to Muddy Bend?" he asked, with hat awkwardly uplifted. Miriam merely nodded.

"Well, I'm on the school board," he said in some embarrassment. "I come over a-purpose to see you and mebbe save you the long stage ride."

"That was very kind of you," said Miriam, trying to be cordial. "But I was fully resigned to the stage."

"Oh, I don't mean that," said the man, with growing nervousness. "But, you see, there's been some mistake—I don't know as you'd call it that either—but something happened unexpected since we wrote you. Kate Higgins, our old teacher, was all right. We liked her well enough, but our doc said she'd have to go south for her throat. When she got as far as St. Louis a doctor there said it wasn't her throat at all, and he fixed her up. And, being as Kate was all satisfactory and she wants to stay—well, we were wondering if we couldn't make some arrangement with you to get another school round here somewheres, or we'd pay your fare back and give you whatever you thought was right. You see, we don't feel like going back on Kate"—

"Certainly not," replied Miriam, with such warmth that the brawny westerner, as he said afterward, was "plum locoed" for a few seconds. "I think you should pay my fare both ways, and then we will call it square. I could not have stayed very long anyhow. You see, I am to be married soon. May I send a telegram before I go to the hotel?"

Her interested host followed her into the station, protesting that the school board must put her up at the hotel until the Overland passed through in the early morning, eastbound. And so he heard the telegram which the operator read aloud for verification:

James Meeker, Wellington, Vt.:
Am returning at once to where there are hills—and homes.
MIRIAM.

"I'm sure obliged to that chap Meeker, whoever he may be," the westerner mused as he led the way across the rain soaked road to the hotel. "I wonder what she meant about the hills?"

But, being courteous, he did not ask, and Miriam did not offer an explanation. She was content to think that within twelve hours the Overland Limited would be scurrying her across the detested plains toward the happiness which she had so foolishly fled.

Shakespeare's Wild Animals.

Shakespeare makes use of no fewer than twenty species of British wild animals. Of these the badger, the otter and the water rat are once each employed by name merely as terms of abuse. The polecat and hedgehog are also terms of abuse, but are so far "described" as to be called respectively "stinking" and "thorny." The dormouse and ferret are each used once as adjectives for "sleepy" and "fierce." The shrew gives its name to a play, but is never mentioned as an animal. The mole is mentioned twice as being "blind," the wildcat once as "sleeping by day," the cony as "struggling in the net" and "dwelling where she is kindled" and the squirrel as "the fairies' coachmaker" and as having already hoarded that year's nuts on May day.

The rat and the mouse, being only the M. domesticus, required no "observation" by the poet, so that the above represents the total of Shakespeare's natural history with regard to all but six of his British quadrupeds. The poet's only "original" references to the weasel are blunders. The bat is mentioned three times as an actual animal—once wrongly, as a migrant, like the swallow, pursuing summer; once fancifully, as the "reremouse," out of whose "leathern" wings Titania's elves made their coats, and once, finely, "ere the bat hath flown his cloistered flight," as fixing the hour of Duncan's murder.

The fox of course affords endless opportunities for metaphor and simile, and Shakespeare's description of it as the fox of fable and tradition could not be surpassed.—London Saturday Review.

No Need of Them Some Day.

At a monthly examination a boy of fourteen failed to spell 15 per cent of his words correctly. The tutor told him this was surprising and must not happen again. The boy replied that he thought he had done pretty well on the whole.

"You must study those words over and over again," replied the tutor. "This must not occur at any future time. Study them so that you can remember them forever."

The boy stood still in silent contemplation for a few moments and then remarked:

"I was just thinking that I wouldn't live that long."—Harper's Weekly.

Private Theatricals.

In some private theatricals a fugitive from justice was supposed to escape from his pursuers by concealing himself under a table. The table was small, and the terrified fugitive was somewhat lengthy.

The commander of the pursuing party rushed on the stage and fell over the legs of the man he was searching for. Picking himself up and ludicrously rubbing his shins, he convulsed the audience by exclaiming in true dramatic style:

"Ha, ha! The dastardly villain has eluded us again!" — Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Permanent Place.

There was not even standing room in the 6 o'clock crowded car, but one more passenger, a young woman, wedged her way along just inside the doorway. Each time the car took a sudden lurch forward she fell helplessly back, and three times she landed in the arms of a large, comfortable man on the back platform. The third time it happened he said quietly, "Hadn't you better stay here?"—New York World.

Their Standard.

"Say," asked the first messenger boy, "got any novels ter swop?"

"I got 'Big Foot Bill's Revenge,'" replied the other.

"Is it a long story?"

"Naw! Ye kin finish it easy in two messages."—Philadelphia Press.

HAD CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.

Congressman Meekison Gives Praise To Pe-ru-na For His Relief From Catarrh.

CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON COMMENDS PE-RU-NA.

"I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison.

OTHER REMARKABLE CURES.

Mr. Jacob L. Davis, Galena, Stone county, Mo., writes: "I have been in bad health for thirty-seven years, and after taking twelve bottles of your Peruna I am cured." Mr. C. N. Peterson, 132 South Main St., Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I cannot tell you how much good Peruna has done me. Constant confinement in my store began to tell on my health, and I felt that I was gradually breaking down. I tried several remedies, but obtained no permanent relief until I took Peruna. I felt better immediately, and five bottles restored me to complete health."

A SINCERE RECOMMENDATION.

Mr. D. C. Prosser, Bravo, Allegan Co., Mich., writes: "Two years ago I was badly afflicted with catarrh of the stomach. I had had a run of typhoid fever, was very depleted. I could find nothing I could eat without causing distress and sour stomach. Finally I came to the conclusion that I had catarrh of the stomach and seeing Peruna advertised, began to take it. It helped me soon, and after taking three or four bottles I was entirely cured of stomach trouble, and can now eat anything."

Mrs. Fanny Bryan received a copy of an Escanaba paper yesterday containing an account of the 40th anniversary of her uncle J C. Rooney, who has been a Baptist minister for that number of years. There was a remarkable luncheon given at the White House this week. All those present except the President, Mrs. Roosevelt and Secretary Root were Catholics. The President and Secretary Taft stand very well with the Catholic church, Taft especially with the Catholic church in the Phillipines, Cuba, Panama and in Rome where he managed for the U. S. a transaction which was very satisfactory to the Vatican inasmuch as this country paid a large sum of money for the church holidays in the Phillipines. In appointments to office members of the Catholic church have been treated very fairly by the President and Cardinals Gibbons and Logue with other church dignitaries have not been slow to let the laity know.

John Kelley.

The funeral of John Kelley was held from the home yesterday morning Rev. Arthur Cauburn of Ridgeway, officiating. The Adrian Masons had charge of the services at the grave. In the death of Mr. Kelley the lodge loses a worthy member, a just Mason and a good citizen.

He departed this life full of years ripened with age and experience; he was worthy, well qualified and duly prepared for admission into the Celestial lodge above where the Supreme Grand Master presides and where he will be properly vouched for by his Lord and Master, whom he loved and served on earth.

It reached the spot.

Humphrey, who owns a large general store at Omega, O., president of the Adams county Telephone Co., as well as of the Home Telephone Co., of Pike county, O., says of Dr. King's New Discovery: "It saved my life once. At least I think it did. It seemed to reach the spot—the very seat of my cough—when everything else failed," Dr. King's New Discovery not only reaches the cough spot; it heals the sore and weak spots in throat lungs and chest. The Snake and the Umbrella.

"I spent a pleasant hour with a traveler," said the truthful man, "who told a lot of snake stories. I remember the last of them. It was about a man who took a nap in the woods, laying his umbrella on a rock beside him.

"After awhile it began to rain, and the man awoke. He was all wet. He took hold of his umbrella and opened it hurriedly. It seemed rather stiff in going up, and there was a ripping, tearing sound. Then a live blacksnake fell to the ground, split in two from its head to its tail.

"You see, it had swallowed the umbrella all but the handle, and the man did not notice what had happened till, putting the umbrella up, he halved the snake from stem to stern."

ECZEMA NOW CURABLE.

All itching skin diseases which are not hereditary instantly relieved by Oil of Wintergreen.

Can eczema be cured?

Some physicians say "Yes."

Some say "No."

The real question is, "What is meant by eczema?" If you mean those scaly eruptions, those diseases which make their first appearance, not at birth, but years afterward and perhaps not until middle age—then there can no longer be any question that these forms of eczema are curable.

Simple vegetable oil of wintergreen, mixed with other vegetable ingredients, will kill the germs that infest the skin. Apply this prescription to the skin and instantly that awful itch is gone. The very moment the liquid is applied, that agonizing, tantalizing itch disappears and continued applications of this external remedy soon cure the disease.

We carry in stock this oil of wintergreen properly compounded into D. D. D. prescription. While we are not sure that it will cure all those cases of skin trouble which are inherited, we positively know that this D. D. D prescription, whenever rightly used, will cure every last case of genuine eczema or other skin trouble, which did not exist at birth.

We know this. Anyway, you, yourself, will know that D. D. D. prescription instantly takes away the itch the moment it is applied to the skin. B. J. Pulver, Tecumseh, Mich. Stop that itch today—instantly. Just call at our store and try this refreshing and soothing liquid; also ask about D. D. D. soap.

Her 'Art Was Right.

Mrs. H. had a warm hearted and industrious but careless servant, who broke so many dishes that her mistress one day said to her: "Really, Ellen, I think I must take the price of the dishes you are breaking out of your wages. Don't you think you would be more careful if I did?"

"Hi might, ma'am," replied Ellen contritely, "but Hi think, ma'am, it'd be better to take it out of my 'ide."

"Out of your hide? Why, what do you mean?"

"Hi, mean, ma'am, that if you broke my 'ead hevery time Hi broke a cup or a saucer Hi'd mind myself better."

One day poor Ellen fell her full length on the kitchen floor with a gallon pan of milk in her hands. Her shrieks of dismay brought Mrs. H. in great haste to the kitchen. There lay Ellen in the pool of milk, making no effort to rise.

"Knock me in the 'ead, ma'am! Knock me in the 'ead!" she wailed.

"Oh, get up, Ellen! Get up and mop up this milk. This accident is more a fault of your heels than your head."

"You speak the truth, ma'am," replied the weeping Ellen. "If my 'eels 'ad been where my 'art is this never would 'ave 'appened, for Hi mean right in my 'art, ma'am, no matter what Hi does with my 'ead and my 'eels."—London Scrap.

SENSIBLE HOBBY.

Well known people devote spare time to upbuilding health.

Physical culture is getting to be more and more of a hobby with many people who devote their spare time not only to upbuilding their own physical health but in preaching doctrine of good health to others.

There is no excuse today for any person unless tainted with an incurable disease, remaining sickly with the great advance in medical discoveries and the growing popularity of physical culture.

In the diseases of digestion and nutrition for example, an acknowledged specific treatment has been found in Mi-o-na. It is relied upon as a certainty in relieving the worst troubles of digestion and assimilation and making a complete cure.

People suffering with headaches, palpitation, sleeplessness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, nervousness, general debility and any other of the many distressing results of a weakened stomach should profit by the discovery of Mi-o-na stomach tablets.

C. A. Wright & Son have seen so many cures by Mi-o-na of stomach and general run-down state of health that they are firm believers in the power of this remedy to cure practically every case, and they show this faith by giving a guarantee with every 50-cent box of Mi-o-na to refund the money unless it does all that is claimed for it. They take the whole risk, and Mi-o-na will not cost you a penny unless it cures.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

DON'T WAIT.

Take advantage of a Tecumseh citizen's advice before it's too late.

When the back begins to ache,
Don't wait until the backache becomes chronic;
Till serious kidney troubles develope.
Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest.

Profit by a Tecumseh citizen's experience.

Wm. Witherell, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "In 1901 I gave a statement for publication recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and today I still hold the same high opinion of them. When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills I was troubled with severe pains across my back and hips and if I stooped sharp pains would dart through my body. At one time I was laid up in bed several days. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, bought a box and received great benefit from the first such that I continued using them until they effected a cure. I am glad to say that the cure then made has proven permanent. I have recommended the Pills a number of times and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Michigan Pioneer Dies.

Flint, Mich., May 14.—Morris Anderson, a prominent citizen of Flint township, is dead at his residence, after a severe paralytic stroke one week ago, from which he never regained consciousness. Mr. Anderson was born near Batavia, Genesee county, New York, in 1820, and married Mary Ann Jewell in 1847, coming immediately to Michigan and settled near this city, where he has since resided. Besides his widow, he is survived by three sons.

Sociology and Speculation.

A sociologist of genius who happened to care about money could probably make a fortune on the Stock Exchange, where knowledge of humanity is the essential thing. Henrik Ibsen was one of the most successful speculators in Europe.—London Outlook.

Joy.

Joy in life is like the oil in the lamp—when the oil commences to fail, the wick burns with a glimmering red flame, filling the air about it with a black smoke. Life also without a little joy burns unprofitably, filling the air with depression and sadness.

MEETS HORRIBLE DEATH.

Man's Clothing Becomes Entangled in a Pulley Belt.

Port Huron, Mich., May 14.—Frank Aichorn, Jr., twenty-eight years old, was instantly killed in the machinery room of the Horne Manufacturing company. He was caught in a pulley belt which runs from the floor to the ceiling and horribly mangled.

The accident occurred a few minutes before quitting time, and there was no witnesses. It was noticed that the machinery was stopped, and, in searching for the cause, the body of Aichorn was found lying on the floor, almost nude, while fastened to the pulley, on the ceiling, was his right leg, which had been torn from the trunk, together with nearly all of his clothing. Aichorn had worked in the room for eleven years, and it is a mystery how he became entangled with the pulley.

GORED TO DEATH.

Cow Attacked Farmer Living Near Three Rivers.

Three Rivers, Mich., May 14.—James Lawrence, a farmer living in Burr Oak township, about eighteen miles from this city, was gored to death by a cow.

Lawrence had gone to the barn to do the milking, and a calf belonging to the cow got in the way. He pushed the calf aside, and the action infuriated the mother. She raised her head, and, before Lawrence could get out of the way, he was butted to the ground. The helpless man was terribly gored, and his head was crushed by the animal's hoofs. When Lawrence did not appear for supper, his wife started a search for him and found him in the barn, dead. He was about forty-six years old and leaves a widow and two daughters.

Ferris Is Against Campau.

Detroit, Mich., May 14.—Woodbridge N. Ferris, nominee for governor of Michigan on the Democratic ticket four years ago, has given out his views on the Democratic situation in the presidential contest in Michigan. The statement is interesting as showing that Ferris is not in sympathy with D. J. Campau in his efforts as a leader. The statement of Mr. Ferris is in part as follows: "What the Democrats of Michigan need today is independence. They do not need dictation from Campau or from any other political boss. The Democrats of Michigan are anxious to be Democrats. They are anxious to advance fundamentals and to have every man count one, not one man count many. They are willing to be held responsible for their convictions. They need no special direction."

Mystery Is Solved.

Benton Harbor, Mich., May 14.—The mysterious disappearance of a Benton Harbor man was cleared up by the finding of the body of Fred Timmerick in the harbor at Michigan City. He left here several weeks ago for an Indiana town, after going to Laporte on a matter of business, and was never seen afterwards.

HER TWO PRAYERS.

Both Were Answered, but the Results Were Discouraging.

During and for many years after the civil war there lived in Franklin county, Mo., where the old state road, built before the days of railroads, crossed Boeuf river, a Mrs. Samuel Hutton, who met with the misfortune of having two of her prayers answered, and thereafter, her neighbors used to say she never prayed again. And this happened during the civil war.

"Sam being away in the Confederate army," was the way she used to tell it, "I got lonesome among so many bragging stay at home northerners that one day I got down on my knees and prayed for the southern boys to come and clean out the neighborhood, and it wasn't a week before along came General Pap Price's army, and, it being near dark, the whole outfit camped along the river, confiscated all my stock feed, robbed my chicken roost and burned half the fence rails on the place without asking my permission. As I didn't know where Sam was to tell him what the scamps had done, I prayed again, asking the Lord to send the Federals to chase Pap Price to the jumping off place. It was about sundown that day when I looked up the road and saw my answer coming, and the northern boys stopped at the river for the night, ate what food the Confederates had left me and destroyed the balance of the fence rails."—Buffalo Times.

TAFT IS HOME AGAIN

Returns From Brief Visit to Panama.

ENJOYED EVERY MOMENT.

Secretary of War Is Enthusiastic Over Progress Made On Canal—Health Conditions Excellent and Work on Gatun Dam Has Begun.

Charleston, S. C., May 18.—Secretary of War, William H. Taft, arrived here from Panama at noon Sunday on board the cruiser Prairie, and after spending a few hours in the city, during which time he was met and greeted by a number of officials and friends, left for Washington at 5:55 p. m., via the Atlantic coast line. Secretary Taft sailed from this port for Panama on May 1, and completed his work and returned two days ahead of his schedule. He was in fine health and spirits. He said that his trip had been delightful and while he was kept very busy, he had enjoyed every moment of the time. ....

Mr. Taft grew enthusiastic when telling of the excellent progress being made on the Panama canal and comparing the situation to that which greeted him on the occasion of his first visit to Panama in 1904.

"The isthmus, now presents," he said, "an appearance not unlike a factory or mill village, or succession of villages, clear across, and the lights at night and the noises, too, might keep one awake if not tired enough to sleep well."

The health of the canal zone is now excellent, he said, the houses generally are protected with screens and the people seem comfortable and happy. Labor conditions hav greatly improved, in all departments and the use of Spaniards as laborers seems to have started a rivalry with those at work previously that will be good for the advancement of work.

Regarding certain details of the work Mr. Taft said that foundations for the great Gatun dam had begun and were progressing. When asked as to the possibilities of concluding the work, Mr. Taft said: "If it was only the matter of digging the ditch, I should suppose three years were enough time at the present excellent rate of progress. The way in which the steam shovels are cutting into the land is almost wonderful, but there are other things that we cannot estimate at this time. The work on the locks has not begun except of course in the beginning of the Gatun dam. But everything seems encouraging and it is such a great undertaking that w will not be thinking of hurry or worry. It is going ahead satisfactorily and that is gratifying."

When the presidential campaign was mentioned Mr. Taft laughed heartily and said that he felt as though he had been out of touch with the situation and perhaps further from the nation. He admitted, however, that he is still in line for that great honor, provided his party saw fit to bring forward his name.

THEY MAY ARBITRATE

Proposition Broached In Cleveland Railway Strike.

EXCITEMENT HAS SUBSIDED.

Only Few Minor Disturbances Sunday—People Are Dissatisfied With Manner In Which Transfers Are Given—Indignation Meetings Held.

Cleveland, O., May 18.—Aside from a few minor disturbances the street car strike situation Sunday bore no evidence of violence, while the service given by the Municipal Traction company was greatly improved. A police officer rode on each car and screens of heavy wire were provided around the motorman's vestibule. Only one instance of a serious attempt to attach the crew of a car was reported when a crowd of boys and men sent a volley of stones and sticks at a Miles avenue car. Some of the missles found their mark and the conductor drew a pistol, the police say, firing one shot. No one was hurt.

International President W. D. Mahon, of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, has arrived from Chicago. He has been in conference with Vice-President Behner and members of the local executive committee. He had detailed reports of the strike and what progress was being made toward a settlement.

The state arbitrators admit that they had seen President Du Pont and that a proposition to arbitrate had been broached. What Mr. Du Pont's attitude was they would not state. Another conference will be held with Du Pont.

Since the inauguration of three cent fares there has been an apparent wide-spread and growing dissatisfaction among the people relative to the restricted issuance of transfers by the Municipal Traction company. Under the policy of the Cleveland Electric Railway company, which was recently taken over by the Municipal Traction company, transfers were issued practically on a universal basis between all lines, with double transfers on cross town lines. Under the limited transfer system adopted by the new holding company, the transfer privilege has been greatly reduced and none issued between many of the lines. In addition to this there has been a marked reduction in the service, two lines having been entirely abandoned. This has resulted in many passengers being compelled to pay double and even triple fares in order to reach their destination. Largely attended public meetings have been held to protest against these conditions.

YOUNG KING IN LOVE.

Manuel Insists On Marrying Daughter to Lady-In-Waiting.

Lisbon, May 18.—The Mundo prints a romantic story about King Manue's attachment for the young daughter of a lady-in-waiting to Queen Amelie, which threatens to disrupt the matrimonial plans which are being laid for him. King Carlos and Queen Amelie were fully aware of the fondness of Manuel, when a prince, for the girl, who is connected with the highest Portuguese nobility, but they considered it simply a childish fancy.

Since Prince Manuel's unexpected accession to the throne, a suitable alliance with a European royal house is regarded as a necessity of state. Queen Amelie and the duke of Oporto have been casting about to find an available princess, both favoring one of British extraction because of the close relations between the countries. A few days ago they were openly canvassing the matter in the king's presence when, to their great surprise, he suddenly announced as his unalterable choice his early love, and proclaimed his determination either to marry her or nobody. Remonstrance on the grounds of reasons of state were without effect and as a consequence, the lady-in-waiting and her daughter will be asked to go abroad, in hope that a long separation will cure the king of his boyhood love.

Kansas City, Mo., May 18.—The one hundred and twentieth general assembly of the Presbyterian church convenes in Convention hall in this city, next Thursday, and remain in session until May 30. Rev. William Henry Roberts, D. D., L. L. D., of Philadelphia, the present moderator of the church assembly, will arrive here Tuesday. At the first session which will be opened by Dr. Roberts and at which he will deliver his farewell sermon as moderator, a new moderator will be elected. Several noted leaders of the church have been mentioned for this honor, conspicuous among them being Rev. B. F. Fullerton, D. D., of St. Louis, and Rev. Mark

THREE LIVES ARE LOST

Season of Boating Begins to Claim Its Victims.

CRAFTS ARE CAPSIZED.

Ann Arbor Young Man Loses His Life—Robert Donaldson of Flint Also Drowns—Woman of Arden Believed to Have Drowned Herself.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 18.—Hamilton Wagar, 21 years old, was drowned while canoeing on the Huron river. In company with Howard Stokes, he was paddling in the vicinity of the rendering works, when a paddle was lost overboard.

On of the young men made a quick move to regain the paddle, and in doing so overturned the canoe. Stokes managed to cling to to floating craft till help arrived, but Wagar started to swim for the shore. He had gone but a short distance when he suddenly threw up his arms and called for help.

Walter A. Bonynge, freshman of the university, of Los Angeles, Cal., who was in a canoe with Frank B. Mitchell and a couple of young women, jumped into the river and went to the assistance of Wagar. The drowning man grappled with his rescuer and both went down. Mitchell then went to the aid of the two men, and started for the shore. When half way there Wagar became freed in some way and sank. Both Bonynge and Mitchell were so exhausted that they were unable to go back after Wagar, and the unfortunate man drowned.

Wagar lived at No. 217 Glenn avenue and was a bill poster. He is survird by a mother and one sister. The body was recovered.

Flint, Mich., May 18.—Robert Donaldson, 35 years old, employed in the carpenter department of the Buick motor works, was drowned in the Flint river, near the Hamilton dam, while boating with two companions. Donaldson, in company with Hugh McLean and Charles Tasco, were rowing on the river when the boat in some manner was capsized, and the three men were thrown into the river. McLean and Tasco managed to cling to the overturned boat until rescued, but Donaldson sank before help could reach him.

The unfortunate man came here about six months ago from Detroit.

Benton Harbor, Mich., May 18.—While laboring under an attack of dementia, Mrs. August Bodtke, of Arden village, south of here, is believed to have drowned herself. Her body was discovered in a small pond of water near her home by friends who, becoming alarmed at her disappearance, instituted a search for her.

Mrs. Bodtke disappeared from her home in the middle of the night. Her absence was not discovered until morning, and searchers immediately started out. Accidental drowning is scoffed, as the water in which the woman was found is very shallow, and barely covered her body. Mrs. Bodtke was 59 years old and mother of several children.

Want Camp Date Changed.

Lansing, Mich., May 18.—The war department has named September 21 to 30 as the dates for the Michigan national guards' encampment with the regulars at Indianapolis, but an endeavor will probably be made to change the date from September 21 to October 1, owing to the fact that the Michingan primaries come on September 21.

If the original dates are adhered to 2,000 citizen soldiers will lose their votes at the primaries. Last year it was discovered after the date of camp had been fixed that the primary date would conflict, and the military board changed it. That was merely a state encampment at Ludington, however, and it may be more difficult to persuade the war department to make a change, as the entire Taft schedule of the national guards of the ceneral states would have to be altered, inasmuch as other troops succeed Michigan at the encampment within a few hours.

Gunboat Wolverine Will Cruise Lakes.

Washington, May 18.—The United States gunboat Wolverine has been restored to recruiting duty and will make a cruise beginning at Sandusky, O., and include such places as Toledo, Detroit, Port Huron, Mackinac, Muskegon, Chicago, Milwaukee and Sheboygan. The Wolverine will be at Erie, Pa., from May 24 to June 4, to take part in the Memorial day celebration on May 30, and at South Manetou Island from August 9 to 16, at the time of the annual drill of the combined naval militia of the lake states.

DEMOCRATS SPLIT.

Campau Supporters In Wayne Held Rump Convention.

Detroit, Mich., May 18.—The adherents of the Campau faction broke away from the Wayne county Democratic convention held in the Wayne pavilion here and held a rump convention of their own.

The regular convention indorsed W. J. Bryan, but did not instruct for him. It also read D. J. Campau out of the party.

Rather it should be said that the Campaulites broke into the convention, as their very brief proceedings were held in the rear of the pavilion while the regular convention was in session. It was evident that the Campaulites only wanted to do enough to give them a basis for making a fight before the state convention. The rump convention, of which Police Justice Jeffries declared himself elected chairman, was in session only ten minutes; Jeffries himself was not sworn in, and no actual work was done beyond the naming of the committees.

Charles Hampton, who was named as chairman of the committee on credentials, could not find the other members of the committee, and, after a recess of less than five minutes, the rumpers carried a motion to adopt all committee reports without reading.

These reports were gotten up afterwards, including a set of resolutions eulogizing Bryan.

Letter Tells of Husband's eath.

Bellaire, Mich., May 18—Mrs. Daniel Walker, of this city, has received a mysterious letter from Manistique, informing her of her husband's death by an accident. The letter was signed Charles Freeman, and the writer claims to have worked with Walker. Mrs. Walker is inclined to doubt the accident theory, as she says her husband had over $100 with him when he left Bellaire. Walker left here April 20 for the upper peninsula in sarch of work. His relatives did not hear from him, but their suspicions were not aroused. The writer of the letter is unknown to Walker's family.

State Convention, F. O. E.

Saginaw, Mich., May 18.—Saginaw Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, are preparing to entertain 5,000 visitors at the coming state convention of the organization, to be held June 16-17. Fifty-seven cities in the state are expected to send representatives, and prizes have been offered for the largest attendance, etc. The city will be given over to the visitors, and no pains are being spared by the Saginaw Eagles to arrange a banner celebration.

Found Body of Missing Man.

Westphalia, Mich., May 18.—The body of William Smith, 26 years old, who disappeared last Friday night, has been found. It was lying face downward in a ditch by the side of the road. Smith was a carpenter and was on his way home from work when he mysteriously disappeared.

Engineer Instantly Killed.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 18.—Falling 180 feet down the shaft of the Gibson mine at Amasa, Menominee Iron range, Gust Managensen, a mechanical engineer, was instantly killed.

FLEET SAILS AWAY.

Atlantic Squadron Starts From San Francisco for Puget Sound.

San Francisco, Cal., May 18.—The Atlantic fleet of battleships after twelve days of naval pageantry and merry-making in San Francisco harbor, sailed this morning at 10 o'clock for Puget Sound, arriving off Seattle on May 22. One-half of the ships will dock at Bremerton navy yard while north, and the others will return here for repairs and painting beneath the water line.

Play days in Puget Sound will be over before the end of the month and then the officers and men will resume the usual routine of man-of-war life. Orders call for the reassembling of the fleet in San Francisco harbor not later than July 3. On July 7 the fleet sails for Honolulu and after a week's stay there goes direct to Auckland.

The fleet of armored cruisers under command of Rear Admiral Dayton sailed south Sunday at 8 o'clock, and Rear Admiral Sperry, in command of the Atlantic fleet, hoisted for the first time his commanding flag of blue.

Beany Hendrix Of the Big Y.

By CLARISSA MACKIE.

Copyrighted, 1908, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

It was while he was riding down Little Bear trail that Beany Hendrix saw her. She was riding up the trail, and they met at the narrowest point, where the steep walls of the canyon shut out the sunlight, leaving a gloomy tunnel through which there was barely room for two riders to pass. Hendrix backed his cayuse against the rocky wall and tried to shrink his huge form into smaller compass.

She, Edith Van Tine, looked at him from the level of grave, gray eyes questioningly. She bowed politely and then smiled. All women smiled when they met Hendrix's genial gaze. They smiled in approval of the warm kindliness of his good looking face, at the strength of his great body and at the good heart shining through his honest brown eyes.

Miss Van Tine's smile faded, however, as she saw the narrow trail that became almost a footpath as it wound up the canyon, and her cheek paled. In spite of this formidable outlook she urged her horse forward, bravely determined not to reveal her cowardice to this big cow puncher, who sat, hat in hand, waiting for her to pass.

"You're not afraid, are you, ma'am?" he drawled as she hesitated.

"Not in the least, thank you," she replied crisply.

"I was about to say," he continued soberly, "that if you're a stranger in these parts this is a nasty bit of country for a lady to get about in alone."

"Thank you," she repeated, still more coldly, "but I—was only resting my horse."

Hendrix looked curiously solemn; indeed, his features assumed a rigid expression. One who knew might have said that Hendrix was suppressing a smile. He threw one leg over the pommel of his saddle, thus permitting his cayuse to hug the wall more closely, and looked amiably upon the pretty stranger. Pretty girls were rare in the Bear creek district.

She flushed under his frank, admiring gaze and dug her spurred heel into her horse's flank with angry impatience. The animal bounded forward, striking fire with his scattered hoofs. There was a faint cry from the girl as she dashed away, and instantly Hendrix turned his mount and followed her.

It was impossible for him to pass her on the narrow trail without inflicting serious injury to either one of them, but somehow he managed to extend his length along his horse and grasp the bridle rein of her terrified animal.

"Now," he said kindly, "just you let me follow you up till you get out of this hole. As I said before, this is a nasty bit of country for a lady to get about in."

"And as I said before," she began tartly, with eyes fixed toward the mouth of the canyon, "I'm not afraid."

"We won't quarrel about that, ma'am," returned Hendrix calmly. "There isn't room for two to quarrel here."

Edith smiled faintly. Beany Hendrix, riding at her horse's flank, could see the dimple in her cheek and the curl of her lip, and a troubled look came into his eyes, and a deep wrinkle found place between his brows.

As they passed out of the canyon and into the open she turned toward him. The smile had fled from her face, and there was a cold, hard look in the gray eyes.

"Thank you, sir, for your kindness. I believe I shall get along famously now."

Hendrix removed his hat and passed a bronzed hand through his shock of sunburnt hair. "If you will excuse me, ma'am," he said, with his slow drawl, "I'd like to say that you better ride home by the long trail; it's easy riding, and it's safer than the canyon."

"But I don't know the long trail. I have never been about here before," she returned blankly.

"I should be pleased if you will let me take you to the other trail. Oh, I'm all right," he added hastily as she turned a doubtful glance in his direction. "I'm Beany Hendrix, from the Big Y outfit."

"Beany Hendrix!" she repeated, suppressing a smile.

"You never heard of me before, I dare say, ma'am. I'm only a cow puncher," said Hendrix, with a dogged look about his pleasant mouth.

"Your name sounds familiar," she said, with a return to her stiff manner. "I will be very grateful if you will show me the other way around."

"Certainly." He fell into line at her side, and they rode in silence for several miles. Presently Edith became conscious that the cow puncher was observing her furtively, and her cheeks flushed. She turned indignantly toward him, but he was gazing fixedly away across the plain, although there was that tense line about his jaw which indicated some repressed feeling.

"I believe he is laughing at me," she thought angrily, and then, mindful of his gentle courtesy and of the fact that he was going out of his way to make her journey safe and pleasant, she turned a softened face toward him. "I am afraid I am making you a great deal of trouble," she said.

"Not at all," he returned. "I was out looking for some stray critters. If I don't round 'em up today I will tomorrow."

"That is what I like about this western country," she said wistfully. "There isn't the hurry and bustle of the east and the undying conviction that what isn't done today will never be done at all. Every day is so crowded with events that there is no time to really live!" She spoke bitterly now, and her eyes were turned away toward the low line of serrated hills before them.

"I thought you were from the east," he said quietly. "Where are you staying?"

"At Anderson's. You like the west better than the east?" she asked timidly.

He removed his hat and looked about the level expanse of country that was visible from the slight rise they had gained, at the bending blue sky, the gray green of the sagebrush and the greener slopes of feeding grounds dotted with cattle.

"Who wouldn't?" he replied briefly.

She sighed softly. "I didn't know it was so beautiful—out here," she said, rather sadly, he thought. "They said I must come for my health, and here I am."

"I came—because—somebody in the east was tired of me—said she never wanted to see me again," drawled Hendrix, turning his eyes away from her downcast face.

"Oh, no!" she exclaimed warmly. "Not that"— She blushed vividly.

"Something like that," he returned calmly.

There was silence for a time, she riding with drooping head and sad mouth and he watching her with tender pity in his eyes.

"Here is your trail, ma'am," he said at last, drawing in his horse with sudden energy.

There was a startled look in her face as she raised her eyes to his and then glanced at the well defined trail that led to Anderson's.

"It's easy to follow and will take you straight as a die to Anderson's." He pulled his horse to one side and removed his hat.

"It—it is safe for me to go—alone?" she faltered as she turned her horse into the trail and glanced appealingly at him.

Hendrix hesitated. She saw the red creep into the bronze of his cheek and a strange light invade his eyes. "Safe as time, ma'am," he said stubbornly, facing his horse about and preparing to leave her.

She rode a few paces away from him and then stopped. "Benforth," she said tremulously over her shoulder, "I don't want to go alone—any longer. I want you to come with me!"

He was at her side instantly.

"Do you mean it, Edith?" he questioned eagerly. "Do you mean it?"

"Yes," she whispered softly. "I came after you, Benforth. I wanted you! Will you come with me—now?"

"Let us go together—always," he said contentedly.

Gave Her Carte Blanche to Eat.

A woman who has been a victim of indigestion and is kept to a dyspeptic's diet most of the time was invited to a dinner which she was anxious to attend.

She went to her telephone, and, trusting to a somewhat unreliable memory, she asked to be connected by the ever obliging "central" with telephone 2394. When the connection had been made she began her plaintive query without any prefatory, "Is that you, doctor?"

"I want very much to go to a little dinner tomorrow night," she began rapidly, "and do you think it would hurt me if I ate just a taste of soup and perhaps a little fish or the least trifle of game and a bit of salad or ice? I really think my stomach"—

Here she was interrupted by a voice from the other end of the wire.

"Madam," it said softly, "eat whatever you choose and as much as you choose. The more you eat the better it will please me. I am not your doctor, but I'm Burriam, the undertaker." —Exchange.

Harrow Etiquette.

Harrow is not strong in customs, but even the school on the hill has a few peculiar to itself.

One of the most singular is that which strikes every visitor—the hugging of the wall in the street by small boys, whether they are in flannels or out of them, whether they are covered with mud or immaculately clean and smart, whether other and older pedestrians are elbowed into the gutter or not.

Never do you see the younger Harrovians walking in the road. Why? Because that is "swagger," a crime of the first magnitude.

No; custom prescribes that the place for any boy who is not a "three-yearer" is as close to the wall as he can possibly get.—London Chronicle.

"You look glum," said the husband of one clever woman to the man who had married her companion.

Filtered Gaslight for Rural Homes.

ACETYLENE Gaslight is a natural Light.

It is plain, every-day, world-old, Sunlight in fact. But it is Sunlight muzzled so that you can use it as 'soft' or as brilliant as you choose, by the mere turning of a tap on the chandeliers, or by the use of plain white-glass globes.

Moreover Acetylene is practically filtered Light from which all useless or injurious color, soot, or excessive heat factors are eliminated.

On this account an Acetylene flame one-tenth the size of that from Kerosene, Gasolene, or City Gas, gives as much reading Light as ten-tenths of these other illuminants.

Which means, that Acetylene produces only a fraction of the heat, air-consumption, and Carbonic Acid Gas poisoning which other Lights produce.

It also explains why Acetylene Gaslight costs a full third less than Kerosene Light for the same identical candle-power, when once installed in a Country Home, Hotel, or Store.

About two days labor will so install it, and forever dispense with the disagreeable, lamp-cleaning, filling, wick-snuffing and chimney-wiping needed 365 days per year with Kerosene Lamps.

Write me to-day how many rooms you've got, or how large your store.

Then I will tell you how little it need cost you to install a suitable Acetylene Lighting Plant which will be good for 40 years' steady use afterwards, and pay for itself in the labor it saves.

Address me thus—Acetylene Jones —6 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

CHAS. D. HURREY

Gives an Interesting Account of his Travels in the

OLD WORLD

Including England, Spain and Italy.

Madrid, April 11, 1908.

Miss Harriett Hurry, Tecumseh, Mich.

MY DEAR SISTER:—We began the new year by a swift run from Plymouth to the world's metropolis, crossing the Thames at 3:00 a. m., Jan. 1. After a week in Liverpool, attending the British Volunteer Union convention, a genial American friend acted as guide-interpreter in Glasgow and Edinburg, giving us a glimpse of the great universities as well as the haunts of Mary, Queen of Scotts, John Knox and Henry Drummond. Being by this time accustomed to the intricacies of travel in Great Britain, we left Tommy Graham to pursue his studies at United Free Church college and continued our pilgrimage along the east coast of England to London, visiting enroute the famous cathedrals at Durham, York and Lincoln.

The following days that remained for us in London, after bidding goodbye to Mr. Mott and Jenkins, which brings rainbows to the eyes, were occupied with visits to Westminister Abbey, Windsor Castle, London Tower, British Museum, Parliment buildings, the late home of Sir George Williams, the store with its memorable upper room and the grave near Nelson's in St. Paul's. Most interesting side trips were made through the fog to those historical institutions to which the whole world may point with pride—Oxford and Cambridge universities. It was a pleasure to find among the Rhodes' scholars, many who had been association officers at home.

Nothwithstanding the disagreeable mist and cold of London we were loath to leave her sturdy people and institutions for the land of "fluffy ruffles" but a calm voyage across the channel and four hours on the train brought us to gay Paris. In the midst of wine, women and feathers we spent a delightful week; aside from interesting investigations of university life and the needs of young men, we saw of course Napoleon's tomb, the L'Ouvre, Notre Dame, Luxembroug, Arch de Triomphe, etc.

Fatigued, but wiser, we waved an "au revoir" to the center of fashion and in a day were enjoying the magnificent hospitality of the officers of the World's Committee in Geneva. There in the Alpine city famous for bells and watches we sipped our Nestle's and Peters and Suchard and while munching 20 other Swiss varities, wandered in the paths of Calvin, his church and university.

Two days were insufficient in such an invigorating atmosphere and among such hospitable people but the Alps were still to be surmounted, so we hastened on, by the Crystal lake, among snow capped peaks like lightning through the famous Simpleton tunnel, until at a sunny little station, hearing the doggerel and seeing the gay uniforms of custom officers, we were conscious of having reached the dago's domain. At Milan the elaborately decorated marble cathedral was our chief attraction and at Turin, the university and hard by at Torre Pellice, the historic college and churches of the heroic Waldensians.

Beautiful Florence next claimed our attention and merits, more than two days to appreciate its art and absorb inspiration for conquest, both moral and sentimental, from the monastery and stake of Savanarola and the lovers' lane frequented by Dante and Beatrice. In this city, too, rest the ashes of Michael Angelo, surrounded by the galleries which contain many of his and other Italian masterpieces.

With comfort and good speed we journeyed on through charming villas, great farms of olive, almond and mulberry trees to the Eternal City. To this mecca of the Catholic world, we gave about a fortnight but the Coliseum and Forum, St Peters and the Pantheon, the work of centuries, cannot be appreciated in a day. The automobile and street car rushing between columns of crumbling marble on one hand and luxurious modern hotels on the other suggest the strange blending of old and new in this fascinating city. We were unable to accept the pope's invitation for a hunting expedition but our religious scruples did not prevent us from inspecting his unique collection of paintings and sculpture in the vatican nor from seeing the interior of the king's palace and stables.

Following in the footsteps of Paul, we strolled out the Appian way, and thro' the dark catacombs and later into the dungeon where Paul and Silas had their interesting experience with the jailor. The pleasure of our visit in Rome was greatly enhanced by the meeting of Rideout, new local General Secretary, and other American people. Whenlonce in Naples, it is a short run out to old Pompeii, and we wandered with strange delight thro' her ruined streets, ever and anon looking up to see the constant volume of smoke issuing from the treacherous crater of Vesuvius.

Naples is the seat of Italy's largest university, and the students whom I met banded together in a Christian Club, under the leadership of Miss Leavitt, were most attactive. Returning along the west coast of Italy, we tarried long enough at Pisa to ascend the tower and see the church, and stopped next at Genoa. This native city of our friend Christopher, is a noisy commercial place, so after wandering thro' the world-famed cemetery (Campo Santo), we followed the Riviera to Monte Carlo.

It was with great difficulty that I silenced the murmerings of my wife's conscience sufficiently, so that with a degree of comfort she could stop off with me, but we were well repaid, for the gardens of this notorious playground are not to be seen elsewhere; nor are there any duplicates for the hotels and Casino, where amid the rustling of silks and satins, and the flashing of priceless gems, they juggle with gold as our street waifs handle marbles. All the glories of Hong Kong or the Inland sea, cannot compare with the scenery long the Riviera from Monte Carlo to Marseilles. The bright rays from an Italian sky beam down upon the violet and hyacinth beds of the valleys which, alternating with the red Mediterranean blue, form a picture that no artist can paint.

One day in Marseilles was sufficient to satisfy our curiosity and prepared us to welcome the train that conveyed us across the Spanish frontier to the Paris of the peninsula, Barcelona. We have now been in Madrid six weeks and continue to know less every day, but the pure Castilian is gradually impinging on our convolutions and "en algunas dias lo hablaran perfectamente." Please do not infer that the tour has been one constant quest of pleasure; of our toil and study I shall write you in another volume.

Y. M. C. A. Camp—1908.

The fifth annual summer camp for boys of Lenawee county, conducted by the Young Men's Christian Association, will be held this year at Sand Lake from June 22 to July 1. The summer camp is one of the strongest features of the summer work of the Y. M. C. A. and provides for the boy an outing with delightful surroundings and genial and wholesome companion ship. The Camp will be open to boys of Lenawee county between the ages of 12 and 16 years. The cost to each individual will be $5 00 for the ten days and this covers all camp expenses including boat rent. This, however, does not include transportation to and from the camp.

G. D. Young, Physical director of the Adrian Y. M. C. A. will have charge of the athletics of the camp, which will consist of boating, swimming, base ball, track and field events and other forms of exercise. The Bible study and religious work of the ten days will be conducted by F. W. Boswell, General Secretary of the Adrian Y. M. C. A. Evening bon-fires and entertainments will receive special attention this year, and this part of the program will be under the leadership of Rev. J. W. Dunning of Tecumseh. F. R. Hurst, County Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. will act as camp leader, giving especial attention to the educational work of the camp. The 1908 Camp will eclipse the camps of former years in many respects.

BASE BALL

The Tecumseh Indians returned from their first trip Monday morning, having won one out of four games played during that time. Last Tuesday the team left Tecumseh for Kalamazoo where in the afternoon they were shut out by a score of 13 to 0. Rain interfered with the games on Wednesday and Thursday. Friday at Battle Creek, Tecumseh was beaten in a ten inning game by a score of 3 and 2. Saturday's game with Battle Creek was an easy one for the Indians their score standing 11 to 4.

On Sunday Tecumseh was again at Battle Creek and lost the game by the score 8 and 1. Tecumseh's chances were spoiled at critical times by errors. Wagner has not been able to play for several days on account of an injury received last week. Yesterday, Tecumseh's opening day, was spoiled with rain. Factories, shops and many of the stores were closed for the afternoon, the parade formed and marched to the ball grounds but a rain soon set in and the game was postponed until today.

PUSS TO THE RESCUE.

Brought a Rabbit to Hungry Philadelphia Cave Dwellers.

When the first settlers came to Philadelphia, of course there were no houses ready for them, says Sel in the Cat Journal, so a good many of the men dug small caves in the bank of the river. They would dig several feet into the bank, then build walls of sod in front of the little caves. They made the roof by laying branches of trees on top, covering these with rushes from the river and putting pieces of sod on the rushes. The chimney was made of stones plastered with clay.

These caves were used only until the men had time to cut timber and build the houses they wished.

One of the old families of Philadelphia owns a quaint silver tureen or, which is engraved a cat seizing a rabbit. In the early days at Philadelphia Elizabeth Hard was lying with her husband in one of these dug-out caves while he was building their house. The work went very slowly, and Elizabeth often helped her husband. She brought the water to make the mortar for the chimney and even helped at one end of the saw.

One day she was very tired, for she had helped all the morning. Her husband told her to rest awhile and then think about dinner. Mrs. Hard walked sadly away. Their food was nearly gone. Only a few biscuits and a little cheese were left. Just then she saw her cat coming toward her with a large rabbit in its mouth. Mrs. Hard cooked the rabbit and had a nice dinner ready for Mr. Hard when he came for his noon rest. So kitty helped, although she did not know it.

Practice Makes Perfect.

At the appointed time Edwin Jones had called at his best girl's home, but somehow Miss Wrinkle was not there to greet him.

He seated himself in the drawing room and anxiously awaited her arrival.

"Hello!" exclaimed Edwin. "Is your sister busy?"

"She seems so," replied the youngster, "but I don't know just what she thinks she's doing. She's standing in front of the mirror, blushing just awful and whispering to it, 'Oh, Mr. Jones, this is so sudden!'"

TAKE UP GUNNESS CASE.

Grand Jury Sets to Work at Laporte, Indiana.

Laporte, Ind., May 18.—Scenes of a week ago were repeated Sunday at the farm of Mrs. Belle Gunness, who is said to have murdered a dozen persons and who is now supposed to have been burned to death with her three children in a fire that destroyed her home on April 28. Thousands of persons visited the farm and saw all that there was to be seen, even to viewing the skeletons of the seven unidentified, for the temporary morgue was open part of the day and persons were permitted to gaze at the bones of alleged victims of Mrs. Gunness. One look was enough for most of the visitors. They were content to go away and say they had seen the skeletons, even though they might not be able to give any details of that particular part of their visit.

J. O. Ramden, of Manfred, N. D., whose half-brother, John Moe, of Elbow Lake, Minn., came to Laporte in December, 1906, to visit Mrs. Gunness and who since then has never been heard of by relatives, is in Laporte to identify, if possible, one of the skeletons as that of his brother. Mr. Hamden said Moe drew $1,100 through the First National bank of Laporte, from the bank of Elbow Lake. When he went to the Laporte bank he was accompanied by Mrs. Gunness.

A county grand jury convenes today to take up the Gunness case. It is expected that from four to six days will be required for the grand jury to hear evidence, and no report is looked for until the end of the work.

BANK CLOSES.

Embezzlements of Cashier From Pittsburg Institution Brings Disaster.

Pittsburg, May 18.—The Allegheny National bank, whose former cashier, William Montgomery, is in jail, specifically charged with misappropriation of $594,000, while officers of the bank and of the treasury department are trying to fathom still larger apparent discrepancies in the bank's funds, will not re-open for business today.

Instead, a notice on the door announces that the comptroller of the currency has taken charge and will close up the affairs of the bank.

It had been expected by Examiner William L. Folds, who discovered the alleged peculations and made the charges against Montgomery, and by the officers and directors of the bank, that the institution would weather the storm and be able to continue business. To this end a number of strong financial institutions and prominent capitalists of the city offered assistance and provide $250,000 cash while the directors provided a like amount to meet the immediate needs, or provide for possible emergncies. At the same time a complete reorganization was decided upon and a new cashier and other officers were practically agreed upon.

A hitch occurred in these plans and much time was spent in conferences attended by Examiner Folds, representing the treasury department, the bank's directors and financiers who had proffered aid. After a careful review of the situation, suspension was decided upon as the only logical course.

Need of Covers While Asleep.

"The reason it is necessary to be well covered while sleeping," said a physician in giving some advice to a patient, "is that when the body lies down it is the intention of nature that it should rest, and the heart especially should be relieved of its regular work temporarily. That organ makes ten strokes a minute less than when the body is in an upright posture. This means 600 strokes in sixty minutes. Therefore in the eight hours that a man usually spends in taking his night's rest the heart is saved nearly 5,000 strokes. As it pumps six ounces of blood with each stroke, it lifts 30,000 ounces less of blood in the night's session than it would during the day when a man is usually in an upright position. Now, the body is dependent for its warmth on the vigor of the circulation, and as the blood flows so much more slowly through the veins when one is lying down the warmth lost in the reduced circulation must be supplied by extra covering."

Cigar Cutters and Disease.

"No," said the Sixth avenue tobacconist, "I have no cigar cutters in my store. They're too much a menace to the public health. How? Why, every man who buys a cigar cuts the end of it off in a cutter if he sees one on the counter, but that isn't all. He has a habit of putting the end of the cigar in his mouth first, thus wetting it and preventing the dry tobacco leaf from splitting too much. If the man is afflicted with tuberculosis or any other disease, he may transfer germs to the cutter, and the next man who

Mrs. E. Hegg, 1550 West Madison St. under date of Dec. 9, 1907, writes as follows:

"I suffered three years with weeping Eczema. It started with a little spot on my knees and spread fast over my whole body. I spent hundreds of dollars and went to every good doctor I heard of but kept getting worse. nothing would stop the awful itch and burning.

"I had to stay indoors from the middle of May to the middle of July. Then I tried D. D. D Prescription. This is the 9th of December and I am entirely free from the terrible disease. D. D. D. saved my life.

"When I began this treatment, people were afraid of me I looked so terrible. My husband was the only one who would take care of me. D. D. D. stopped the itching at once so I could sleep, which I had not done before. Then I began to get better fast and now my skin is clear and white, not a spot anywhere.

Just a few drops of D. D. D Prescription applied to the skin brings relief nothing to swallow or drink. We vouch for D. D. D. Prescription, also the cleansing D. D. D. Soap (name and address of druggist) Get a bottle today if you have any skin disease. Begin your cure at once."

Electric Light.

Electric light may be burned in sleeping room or sick chamber without injurious result, the air remaining pure and sweet. Not so with other forms of illuminating. One open-flame light consumes as much oxygen as four grown persons, vitiates the air and makes perfect health under such conditions impossible. Use Electric Light that's pure, clean convenient and safe.

ART EXHIBIT

The Pupils of the Tecumseh schools gave an Art Exhibit in the CLUB ROOM

At the Library. Invitations were extended to the public to attend.

Parents and friends of the pupils of the public schools last week received cards prettily decorated in water colors inviting them to attend their drawing exhibit in the club rooms of the Library from 8.30 a m to 8.30 p. m. on Friday, May 15th.

The large number who attended were certainly well repaid for their trouble. The walls of the room were completely covered with pictures while window-sills and other available places were filled with apple blossoms which added to the beauty of the exhibit. Every part of the work was splendidly done, showing great patience and hard work of both teachers and pupils. It was difficult to choose the best among so much good work but a few were worthy of a special mention. The fine exhibit of the Brownville school included designs for prints and ginghams in black and white and also in colors and were very pretty and well done.

The west branch school showed sprigs of pussy willows done in pencil which were especially good. Progress in the use of watercolors was particularly noticeable in the brilliantly colored butterflies done by the 3rd grade pupils, although the same work by the little tots was exceptionally good

One praiseworthy feature of the work of the east branch little people was the free hand cut work pictures cut from white papers and pasted on black card board. There were also free-hand pencil sketches showing some of the children in natural poses.

The work of the 3rd and 4th grades of the east branch included plaids in water colors copied by the children from their own gingham dresses The outline work in black paint was also good.

The work of the 5th 6th and 7th grades showed great progress and in some instances indicated talent. The pencil drawings were very good while the water color work was splendid and included baskets of forget me nots, sprays of posies and sweet-peas, also Marine views and landscapes worthy of frames.

A table covered with baskets made of rafia and weeds showed another line of work which is both pleasant and profitable for the little ones.

The whole exhibit was beautifully done and well arranged and represented the good results of great effort on the teachers to direct the developement of the minds of the children along artistic lines.

Everything comes to those who wait—with the exception of a husband to the waiting spinster.

IDLE NOTES

Of Interest to the One Big Family

The members of our Big Family do not forget us when they remove to other places as the letters we receive from former residents, who wish to contribute to the Boulder fund testify. Such contributions with such encouraging messages of approval are a great help to the Pioneer society and if there are any others who feel kindly disposed toward this object no doubt the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Will Waldron, or the treasurer, Jas. McKinney, will be glad to hear from them.

A new invention by a German chemist named Blau would seem to be one of the best inventions for rich and poor, cities and villages of the century. It is called Blau gas or "bottled gas" also it comes in cones or cartridges for lamps, can be used for heating or cooking. It is said fifty candle power light, eight hours a day for six weeks would cost only fifty cents, certainly a wonderful invention.

* * *

The old sign "Keep off the grass," in our school yards is being abolished. There is a movement all over the U. S. to make them public play grounds, with swings, awnings, benches and sand piles, adding an athletic field for older scholars. Boston has decided to spend $53,000 on play grounds the coming year.

* * *

The men in Atlantic City seem to be a little difficult to persuade to attend church. They are now served with coffee and allowed to smoke and it is said the attendance is increasing rapidly, but of course the poor things have not the incentive of a spring hat to wear as an inducement to attend.

* * *

It is stated there is to be an "Insane Base Ball League the coming season in Ohio." Why speak as if Ohio was the only state with a league coming under that head. Michigan we think would be a close second with every state in the Union added.

An exchange remarks that it is time to start the lawn mower, but the phonographs should not be started much before the middle of July or August.

I feel quite interested in this movement and will be pleased to increase my donation $10 and will remit upon call. I hope the good people of Tecumseh will give your society the encouragement and financial assistance it deserves. Yours truly, W. R BRESIE

SOOTHES AND HEALS.

Do not let the disease extend along the delicate mucous membrane, gradually going from the nose to the throat, thence into the bronchial tubes, and then downward until the lungs are reached and you are in danger of consumption.

Hyomei will cure all curable forms and stages of catarrh. It is so uniformly successful in curing this common yet dangerous disease that C. A. Wright & Son take all the risk of a trial treatment and agree absolutely to refund the money if anyone uses Hyomei and does not get relief.

There is no other treatment for catarrh that is like Hyomei or just as good. None can take its place, none give such quick and sure relief and at so little cost. Its medication is breathed through a pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, thus reaching the most remote cells of the air passages, killing the catarrhal germs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane. Begin the use of Hyomei to-day and you will soon find that the offensive breath, the droppings into the throat, the discharge from the nose and all other symptoms of catarrh are overcome and cured. The complete outfit costs but $1 00 and C. A. Wright & Son stand ready to refund the money if it does not cure catarrh.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle

DON'T WAIT.

Don't wait until the backache becomes chronic;

Till serious kidney troubles develope.

Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest.

Wm. Witherell, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "In 1901 I gave a statement for publication recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and today I still hold the same high opinion of them. When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills I was troubled with severe pains across my back and hips and if I stooped sharp pains would dart through my body. At one time I was laid up in bed several days. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, bought a box and received great benefit from the first such that I continued using them until they effected a cure. I am glad to say that the cure then made has proven permanent. I have recommended the Pills a number of times and will continue to do so."

Soft Hearted Bill!

"Ah, dearie me!" sighed the woman when Mrs. Pipkins, the sympathetic parishioner, called upon her. "Yes, there was worse men than my poor Bill, but there, 'e's took now—gone. 'E 'ad his good points, 'ad Bill."

"I am indeed glad to hear it," said Mrs. Pipkins.

"Poor Bill," went on the bereaved woman, "'e—well, 'e weren't exactly, 'andsome, but 'e were soft 'earted enough to smoke like a chimbly whenever 'e left the 'ouse."

"Indeed!" broke in the visitor. "But I fail to see the connection between smoking and"—

Corporal Punishment.

Corporal punishment formerly had a wider significance than mere whipping. Henry de Bracton, chief justiciary of England in the reign of Henry III., divided corporal punishment into two kinds—those inflicted with and without torture. The stocks and the pillory would rank as corporal punishment; also mutilations and other grim tortures when imposed not to extort confessions, but as penalties, and the branding in the hand for felony, which was not abolished until George III.'s time.

While kicking at a rat in an alley, A. Worley, an engineer employed by the Detroit United Railway, in Detroit, fell and broke his right leg near the hip.

Daring the chilly water in order to have an early swim, Martin Visco, 11 years old, of Detroit, was drowned in the canal at Water Works park while swimming with his companions, Edward and Joseph Oss, of 384 East Alexandrine avenue. Coroner Parker and the police were notified soon after the drowning and the body was recovered.

The First Presbyterian church of Howell will celebrate its seventieth anniversary with a home-coming June 16. The church was founded on that date in 1838, and but one of the original members, Mrs. H. Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Gutterson, well-known musical people, who came to Charlotte immediately after the San Francisco earthquake, where they lived for several years previous to the catastrophe, are planning to return to California next month and will open a studio in Los Angeles. Rolland E. Baker, a well-known Lansing musician, will accompany the Guttersons.

Many residents of Howell are exercised over the possibility of an epidemic of sickness resulting from unsanitary surface sewers. One especially dangerous surface drain is said to be located a short distance from the water works. A party which advocated a sanitary sewer system at the last election was defeated because of the expense that such a system would cost, and the present city government is trying to devise some means by which the alleged violation of the health laws may be stopped without too much inconvenience.

The Art of Saint Gaudens.

His angels and caryatids are not classical goddesses, but modern women, lovely, but with a personal and particular loveliness, not insisted upon, but delicately suggested. And it is not the personality of the model who chanced to pose for them, but an invented personality, the expression of the nobility, the sweetness and the pure mindedness of their creator. And in such a figure as that of the Adams memorial in Rock Creek cemetery in Washington his imaginative power reaches to a degree of impressiveness almost unequaled in modern art. One knows of nothing since the tombs of the Medici that fills one with the same hushed awe as this shrouded, hooded, deeply brooding figure, rigid with contemplation, still with an eternal stillness, her soul rapt from her body on some distant quest. Is she Nirvana? Is she the peace of God? She has been given many names. Her maker would give her none. Her meaning is mystery. She is the everlasting enigma.—Kenyon Cox in Atlantic.

Inappropriate Songs.

"Our Sunday school superintendent once gave a lecture on inappropriate songs," says a musical director of an uptown church, "in which he told of visiting the primary room to find the infants lustily singing:

"My latest sun is sinking fast,
My race is nearly run.

"And our presiding elder used to tell, with great glee, of a bishop who at a general conference retired with his committee to the anteroom to finish an important report, a song service to fill the gap. As the returning clergymen filed down the main aisle, headed by the bishop, the chorus came out on:

"See the mighty hosts advancing,
Satan leading on.

"But the most amusing incident that really came under my own observation was while assisting in a revival service in a small western town. The evangelist seemed to find in a very successful doctor of that place a subject for special and unusual effort. One evening, while he was earnestly exhorting with the medical gentleman to come to the altar, an enthusiastic sister began singing:

"The great physician now is near,

"A smile ran through the audience, the doctor's eyes twinkled, and the divine himself with difficulty maintained a straight face. It is needless to

INSTRUCT FOR BRYAN

Michigan Democrats In Convention Endorse Nebraskan.

WARM SESSIONS WERE HELD.

Campau Delegates Barred After Vigorous Contest—Kent's Two Delegations Get Seats, Each Being Allowed One-Half a Vote.

Lansing, Mich., May 21.—William J. Bryan was endorsed Wednesday afternoon by the state Democratic convention, and the Michigan delegation to the national convention was instructed to vote for him under the unit rule until he is nominated for the presidency.

The instruction was by unanimous vote of the convention, and at no time during the sessions did the slightest opposition to Mr. Bryan develop.

Contests over seating delegations from Wayne and Kent counties precipitated one of the bitterest fights ever seen in a state convention in Michigan. From Wayne county, supporters of National Committeeman D. J. Campau brought a delegation to contest the right of the regular delegation, avowedly anti Campau, to a place in the convention. Rival delegations presented themselves from Kent county, led by George P. Hummer and William F. McKnight. The committee on credentials seated the anti Campau delegation from Wayne, and, after a bitter fight in the convention for over an hour, on the adoption of their report, D. J. Campau withdrew the claims of his supporters in the interest, he stated, of party harmony.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

Then followed a fight almost equally as bitter over adopting the committee's report seating both of the contesting delegations, with a half vote each. The committee's action was finally upheld by the convention.

For delegates at large to the national convention, the following were chosen by unanimous vote:

John T. Winship, Saginaw; Woodbridge N. Ferris, Big Rapids; Charles H. Kimmerle, Cassopolis; Edward Ryan, Hancock.

Alternates at large were chosen as follows:

After these nominations had been made, the Fifth district delegates to the national convention, having been held up pending settlement of the Kent county fight, were announced as follows: James Scully, Ionia; Frank E. Pulte, Grand Rapids.

The other district delegates are as follows:

First district—Edwin Henderson, James Burns, Detroit; alternates, Henry Blackwell, F. T. Ingham, Detroit.

Second district—Elmer Kirkby, Jackson; J. D. Ryan, Ann Arbor; alternates, Orrin R. Pierce, Jacob Martin.

Third district—J. B. Shipman, C. J. Cornell; alternates, L. C. Feighner, Leroy Lockwood.

Sixth district—E. G. Wood, Flint; A. M. Cummins, Lansing; alternates, F. O. Eaman, A. A. Tripp.

Seventh district—James G. Tucker, Mt. Clemens; C. C. Clancy, Port Huron; alternates, H. C. Cudner, John Blower.

Eighth district—Wellington R. Burt, Saginaw; D. J. Gerow, Owosso; alternates, W. B. Baum, O. A. Whitlock.

Ninth district—Herman O'Connor, Muskegon; F. O. Gaffney, Cadillac; alternates, A. O. White, Fred Weinberger.

Tenth district—L. C. Cummings, Dr. H. H. McKnight; alternates, John Yousell, H. A. Chamberlain.

Eleventh district—Arthur J. Lobdell, John T. Mathews, Ithaca; alternates, D. L. Ensign, William Lewis.

Twelfth district—F. T. McDonald, M. J. Doyle; alternates, Cornelius Leary, John Stiles.

Listen to Arguments.

The address of Temporary Chairman A. M. Cummins of Lansing and the appointment of committees occupied the opening session of the convention. The credentials committee immediately went into session to hear the contests from Wayne and Kent, in which interest among the delegates was centered, both the anti Campau forces from Wayne county and the supporters of the national committeeman who were heading the contesting delegation from Wayne went before the committee with great packages of affidavits and written testimony to present in support of respective claims. After four hours' session, the committee voted to seat the regular or anti Campau Wayne delegation, by a vote of 11 to 1, and to give both delegations from Kent seats, with half a vote each.

The presentation of their report precipitated an uproar in the convention. Members of the Campau delegation, who were denied seats in the temporary organization by the state central committee, crowded into the gallery and the rear of the opera house, cheering their leader and hooting the anti Campau delegation, which responded in kind. A dozen times during the hour of heated debate, wrangle and motions and amendments which followed the presentation of the committee's report, it seemed more than possible that blows might be struck.

Graham With Campaulses.

John C. Graham of Port Huron presented a minority report from the credentials committee recommending the seating of both Wayne county delegations with a half vote, claiming he could see no difference between the Wayne and Kent contests. This report was vehemently opposed by the anti Campau leaders in the regular delegation from Wayne, and the debate on the question ranged from forceful discussion of the law in the matter to heated arguments about "irregular, boiling, welching delegations." Finally, when the uproar was at its height, D. J. Campau made his way to the platform and asked to be heard.

There were both cheers and hoots for him from the contending forces, but the convention granted him two minutes. Mr. Campau declared that he seriously doubted the true legality of either convention in Wayne county. Continuing, he said: "I have no doubt, from what I have seen here, that the committee report will be adopted. I have been battling for only one thing, the instruction of Michigan's delegation for Mr. Bryan. This is now assured. Therefore, I now call upon the contesting delegation from Wayne county to withdraw from this contest."

This was followed by cheers, with some derisive cries from the anti Campau forces.

Then followed a fight for another hour over the report on the Kent contest, which was finally adopted.

The resolutions instructing for Mr. William J. Bryan were greeted with tremendous cheers and unanimously adopted.

Delegates Named.

Nominations of John T. Winship and Woodbridge N. Ferris for delegates at large were made unanimous without opposition. For the third place, the names of both Thomas W. Barkworth of Jackson and Charles H. Kimmerle of Cassopolis were presented, but Mr. Barkworth withdrew his name from consideration of the convention before the vote was concluded. Five candidates were named for the fourth place, but all of them withdrew in favor of Edward Ryan before the ballot was finished. The other candidates named were: T. E. Tarsney of Detroit, George P. Hummer and W. F. McKnight of Grand Rapids, John F. Bible of Ionia and John A. McLaughlin of Muskegon. It was after 7 o'clock when the convention adjourned.

The Resolutions.

The resolutions read as follows:

"The Democracy of Michigan, in convention assembled, felicitates the people upon the many evidences of a rising sentiment which promises speedy reform in vital affairs. Both in state and nation, the public conscience is demanding the restoration to the people of rights and privileges selfishly and often corruptly appropriated by ambitious individuals and corporations. The cohesive powers of public plunder must give way to the public spirit which seeks the good will of the whole people.

"In our own state, the disgraceful spectacle of a looted state treasury demands that the good name and prestige of the state be restored by assurance of honesty, economy and efficiency. Quick punishment of delinquents and the substitution of preventive methods on administration are imperatively demanded in national affairs. The movement of public sentiment has been for many years constant in the direction of Democratic ideals.

Party Principles Stolen.

"The opposition reluctantly, and for most part insincerely, yields a seeming assent to the democratic doctrines by voicing the popular sentiment of our party. Republican principles which have formed the issue of our recent party utterances remain to some extent unappropriated by the Republican leaders. We demand that sincerity be attained in these efforts by entrusting them to those who believe in the underlying principles which must be recognized before effective legislation can be secured. Our repeated appeals to the common sense of the people will no longer fail on preoccupied ears, and we confidently predict a vast accession to our numbers from the numbers of all parties who recognize the needs existing and the perfect adaptation of cherished Democratic doctrine to the solution of the problems presented.

"The leader, who more than any other, has wrought in his life and utterances the spirit of the new movement, who has borne reproach with patience and grown with the changing demands of the times, still maintains his course with an ever increasing popular support, and to no other of the numerous eminent Democrats available could we expect such an important accession of independent admirers as will flock to his standard.

Must Be Redeemed.

"The tariff still remains unrevised; trusts have not been in any important way interfered with; the money interests are still pampered, and made the recipients of the public bounty; public service corporations are still arrogant and assuming, confident of their control of every branch of the government; taxation is unequal and excessive, and the government of the people for the people and in the interest of the people is not yet secured. [illegible] advanced by our leader are being met by an ever increasing measure of popular approval. Under these circumstances, we instruct our delegates to the national convention to vote as a unit and work for the nomination of William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska until he shall be declared the nominee of the party.

"The constitutional convention has completed and presented to the people a revised instrument. We consider it as a whole a decided improvement over the present one, and we believe it should be adopted."

BOTH ARE SAVED.

Woman Leaps into Flint River With Her Child.

Flint, Mich., May 21.—Mrs. Hershel Counterman, aged thirty-three, and her little daughter, Helen, were rescued from drowning in the Flint river in the sight of hundreds of people who saw the woman leap with her child from the South Saginaw street bridge.

Crowds gathered along the river, were watching the search for the body of Robert Donaldson, who was drowned last Sunday. The woman floated 100 feet down stream before being rescued, and the baby floated 500 feet to the South Saginaw street bridge, where Fred Hart jumped into the river and brought the infant to shore.

The woman's husband has been in Greenville for a year, and last April she brought a new support charge against him. She had been brooding over her domestic troubles and leaving the house, left a letter to her fourteen-year-old son criticising him for laughing in affection, and saying that her body and that of the baby would be found in the river.

Mother and Son to Be Tried.

Atlanta, Mich., May 21.—A tragedy of the north woods, a mother's attempt to save her son from conviction on the charge of murdering his father, will be relegated to the circuit court here next week. Charles E. Chadwick, Jr., will be tried on the murder charge and his mother as the accomplice. Chadwick, senior, was shot from ambush in a lonely road near his house, five miles from Atlanta. Circumstantial evidence threw suspicion upon the young man, who resented the action of his mother by the drunken father. Footprints which fitted his shoes were found near the house, and quickly the young man was arrested.

Violated Obligations as Member of House, Acted in Bad Faith With Committee and in Contempt of House—Lilley Is Home, Ill.

Washington, May 21.—The conclusions of the special committee which has been investigating the charges of Representative Lilley (Conn.) that members of the house had been improperly influenced in connection with submarine torpedo boat legislation that Mr. Lilley had violated his obligations as a member and had acted in bad faith with the committee and in contempt of the house were sustained Wednesday by the house by a vote of 267 to 32.

Five hours of the session were devoted to the case, four of which were consumed in reading the report. The Connecticut members joined in voting against the resolution by which the house adopted the conclusions of the committee as its own. Mr. Williams (Miss.) denounced Mr. Lilley as being guilty of treason, for which, he said, he should be expelled. He presumed that the reason the committee did not carry its report to a recommendation to that end was because Mr. Lilley was at his home ill and unable to defend himself in such a proceeding. It was a noticeable fact that the five members of the special committee, Messrs. Boutell, Olmsted, Stevens, Broussard and Howard, sat together throughout the proceedings and that none of them submitted any remarks in connection with the report.

Waterbury, Conn., May 21.—Representative George L. Lilley, when informed of the substance of the report of the Boutell committee, refused to comment upon it, saying that he had not yet received an official copy of the document. "I understand the report is a very voluminous document," he said, "and I shall want to read it carefully and consult with my attorneys before saying anything further. The most serious, the most painful, aspect of the report to me is the reflection upon my personal honor. Among those who know me, I do not think that requires any comment. Nothing in my private or public record will justify these personal reflections."

President Restores Coin Motto.

Washington, May 21.—Announcement has been made at the White House that President Roosevelt had signed the bill directing the restoration to gold and silver coins of the motto "In God We Trust," ordered by him stricken from the gold coins some months ago on the ground that the law did not authorize its use. The law becomes effective thirty days from May 15, but the dies with the additional words already have been prepared. In the meantime, the coinage of twenty and ten dollar gold pieces minus the motto will continue, according to Director of the Mint Leach. There will be no material change in the St. Gaudens's design, approved some months ago by the president, except the addition of the motto. On the twenty dollar gold piece the motto will be placed below the flying eagle, while on the ten dollar gold piece it will be to the left and in front of the eagle. The motto never was removed from silver coins.

Gas Explosion Wrecked Store.

Chicago, May 21.—The retail furniture store of Hon. A. Colby & Sons was badly wrecked, one woman was fatally injured and several others slightly hurt by an explosion of gas. Workmen, who were making repairs in the cellar, left a lighted candle close to the gas meter, and an explosion followed. Mrs. Fannie Geller of 1011 Milwaukee avenue, who was passing the store, was blown into the street, striking against a temporary car track, which is raised about one foot above the usual level. She sustained fractures of the skull and one leg and was taken to the hospital in a dying condition.

Wilson Gets Copy of Proceedings.

Port Huron, Mich., May 21.—Judge Newberry granted to William L. Wilson, former secretary of the Home Protective Fraternity, who was convicted of embezzling upwards of $125,000 of the funds of that institution, a copy of proceedings to last until July 1, if his attorneys choose to take that much time. The attorneys want to prepare an appeal to the supreme court. They will attack the constitutionality of the special act creating the fraternity as a means of possible freedom for their client.

REUNION

OF THE 31 ST. Michigan Infantry Held at TECUMSEH MAY 19th

Quite auspiciously opened the ninth annual Reunion of the 31 st Michigan Volunteer Infantry S. W. V. in this village last Tuesday morning. As early as 7 o. clock the soldiers and their friends began to gather, and by noon over 300 veterans of the Spanish American War were in the village. Every business place, and nearly every residence in town were gayly decorated with flags and bunting, showing that the true spirit of patriotism still existed in the hearts of every one in Tecumseh.

Boos celebrated band of Jackson, arrived on the 7:03 train, and were met at the depot by the several committees, members of the company, and the Tecumseh band and marched to Witherell hall, which was made the head quarters of the Infantry during the day. The forenoon was spent in greeting new comers making new friends, and renewing the old friend-ships made during the Spanish American War.

At 11:30, a business meeting was held in Witherall hall, and it was decided to go to Jackson next year. The following officers were elected;

Pres. —A. O. Reese, Jackson.
Vice Pres.—Lieut. Isamnd, Jackson.
Sec.—Sergt. Blainey, Jackson.
Treas.—Mr. Burns, Jackson.

After dinner at 1:30 the parade was formed at the Monument Square, and marched west to Union street and down Chicago street. There were in line Grand Marshall of the day, Pres. Bert E. Gray, Tecumseh band, Marshall of the day, Col. Schuebel of Lansing and his aides, Village President John Combs and common council, Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, Lodges and Secret societies, Business men, Pupils of the public schools, Boos band of Jackson, Mounted officers and 31st infantry.

Four hundred and fifty pupils of the public schools responded to the invitation to march in the parade. Each one was given a flag, 8 gross of flags having been given out in all. After the parade two bands played for the ball games which was called at 3:15, many of the veterans attending. At 6 o' clock, a banquet was served to the visiting soldiers, 346 being in attendance. A program was given at the close with Bert Gray as master of ceremonies, and Capt. T. R. Kyle as toastmaster. Music was furnished by the Tecumseh orchestra, followed by the Invocation by Comrade F. W. Kamm, Co. G. 33rd Hon John D Shull of Tecumseh, responed to the toast—Say's '61 to '98.

Court Martial Fruits, by Gen. Fred Green of Lansing. Both Mr. Shull and Mr. Green gave witty and interesting speeches. Songs by the Glee Club added greatly to the program. Hon. Grant Fellows of Hudson, spoke upon American patriotism. Hon. Fellows, as usual delighted his hearers. Camp sports by Major Henry L. Hunt of Jackson, Camp rumors by Gen. C. W. Harrah, Detroit, and Camp griefs by Col. John P. Kirk of Ypsilanti were all delightful and brought back many fond and happy memories of the camp. Music was furnished by the Tecumseh Orchestra, and a song by the Glee club was followed by the Benediction by Chaplain White. Thus a happy day was drought to a close.

The night trains, leaving Tecumseh were crowed with people who had enjoyed the day here, and visitors all felt that the citizens of Tecumseh, spared no pains in making their visit here pleasant, and they will always have found recollections of the day spent in the Biggest little town on earth. The two bands who furnished music here during the day are worthy of great praise. To Tecumseh people Boos band of Jackson needs no introduction, and their music was greatly enjoyed. It seems as if the Tecumseh band never played better than they did on Tuesday, and certainly Tecumseh can feel proud of them. Besides those already mentioned other visitors from out of town were; Leon Gray of Angola, Ind., Capt. James Holloway of Chicago, A. H. Peavey, Ernest Davis, J. E Drake, and Herbert J. Dickinson of Adrian, Jas. H. Lindsey, John Radcliffe, C. M. Webster, William Longworth of Detroit, and W. E Chamberlain of Adrian.

Tecumseh people are proud to entertain a crowd so well behaved as the crowd here last Tuesday. The day passed along smoothly, with nothing to interfere or mar the pleasure of the day.

Sixty couples were in attendance at the dance Tuesday evening at Witherell hall. The Tecumseh orchestra furnished the music. A supper was served.

Bert M. Gray, president, in behalf of the associaton, desires to thank the teachers and pupils of the Tecumseh public schools and the citizens of Tecumseh all of whom helped to make the day a success.

It is said that over 800 visitors were entertained in Tecumseh Tuesday.

WASHINGTON LETTER:

(From our regular correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., May 16, 1908.

This has been a memorable week in Washington with the Congress at the capitol and the convention of governors have made speeches and listened to speeches and printed speeches. It has been decided to make the Governor's convention permanent with places of meeting in different cities. Washington, however, will probably be selected as the place for an annual rendezvous for it presents many advantages not to mention the supreme one of meeting face to face the Congress and influencing it to wise action in conservation of resources.

The abandonment by senators opposed to Roosevelt of their support of Fairbanks, Knox, Cannon or Hughes.

The Brownsville case being out of the way the republican senators have now no longer a bitter apple of discord but can come together and have money renewed in the senate will doubtless be reflected in every state, district and county.

It is rumored that there has been a deal between the Foraker and Taft belligerants by which Senator Foraker has secured the promise of return to the Senate in consideration of his dropping the Brownville matter. That Taft has not been directly a party to a deal will be granted when it is remembered that he has been in Panama. His alabi is known by everybody. Senator Foraker says he thinks he will gain more for the colored soldiers by postponement or by waiting until another president is in the White House than by pushing the matter now. The fact is that Taft's nomination on the first ballot is almost as certain as was President Roosevelt's nomination four years ago.

Two weeks ago the departure of Secretary of war Taft for Panama was regarded as a curious if not suspicious manouver in the political field. Why should he leave the country or abandon his campaign at a crisis and a time like this? It is probable that Secretary Taft's manager and friends knew then what pretty nearly everybody knows now that his nomination is certain and his election a pretty sure thing. among the things of very recent occurence favoring these things are:

The postponement by the Senate of the Brownsville case until next Dec.

TWO ACCIDENTS

Misses Susie Fisher and Phyllis Bowen accompanied by Vern Linaberry of Clinton, were driving home from Tecumseh late Tuesday night, when the horse stumbled and fell throwing Mr. Linaberry out. This frightened the girls and they jumped out. In some way Miss Bowen caught her right foot in the wheel breaking both bones near the ankle. Dr. Randall was called and took the patient back to his office and with the assistance of Dr. Conklin reduced said fracture. Dr. Raudall took Miss Bowen to her home on the 8.57 train Wednesday morning. The accident will undoubtedly confine her to the house the remainder of the summer.

E. D. Russell, a travelling hardware salesman, fell from the porch at the Coller house Tuesday and broke his ankle. Mr. Russel had been sitting on the porch and got up to go into the house when he stumbled against a chair and rolled off the porch with the above result. Recently he suffered a stroke of paralysis and his left side was rendered helpless. This fact prevented him from saving himself. Wednesday he left for his home in Kalamazoo accompanied by Mr. Satterthwaite.

BASE BALL

Tecumseh Opened in League Base Ball With Battle Creek, Tuesday, May 19.

Postponed Game Played in Morning.

Last Monday was opening day for Tecumseh, in league base ball, but owing to the rain, the game was postponed until Tuesday morning. Battle Creek was the opposing team. But few witnessed the morning game, although the weather was fine, the grounds in excellent shape, and the game a fast and close one. Doty pitched in fine style until the seventh, when he weakened, allowing three hits for three runs, a lead which Battle Creek held and which the Indians could not overcome. Score as follows:

In the afternoon a large crowd witnessed Battle Creek's defeat in probably one of the fastest and most interesting games ever seen on the local diamond. Deneau for the visitors, allowed three hits but gave seven passes. He was, however, steady in the pinches, twice pitching out of a hole. Bishop for the locals, had good control, gave no passes, and received fine support. The work of Vorpagel at third was good. He featured with two left hand pickups of hot grounders. The Indians scored in the fifth when Somerlott was passed to first, advanced by Streeter who singled, and scored by Kestler's two bagger. Streeter was then allowed to score on Bradley's hit to second. Fabrique of Clinton, as shortstop for the Indians, is fast coming to the front. Although still a little weak at the bat, he is working out in fine shape in his position. Following is the score:

The third game in the series was played with Battle Creek here Wednesday, and again the Indians were victorious. The game was exciting from start to finish, characterized by heavy hitting on both sides, and but one error. The vociferous crowd in attendance aided in keeping up the interest, and helped the Indians push on to victory. Holmquist and Mitchell were the officiating boxmen, but the visitors drove Holmquist to the woods in the fourth, Stone relieving him of his troubles, allowing but 2 hits during the remainder of the game, the visitors being unable to score. In the first inning two passes and a two bagger gave Tecumseh their one score in the first. In the third they secured two runs on two bases on balls, a double and two singles, Battle Creek getting a lead of two runs over them in the fourth inning. Not until the seventh did Tecumseh even up, then tying the score on a pass, two hits and a passed ball, and finally won out in the eighth when two hits placed Fabrique and Shippy on bases, and were scored by Somerlott, who tripled. Score by innings:

Had Showed Him the Right Way.

The colored boy was up in the children's court for the fifth time on charges of chicken stealing. This time the magistrate decided to appeal to the boy's father.

"Now, see here, Abe," said he to the old darky, "this boy of yours has been up in court so many times for stealing chickens that I'm sick of seeing him here."

"Ah don' blame you, sah," returned the father. "Ah's sick ob seein' 'im hyah too."

"Then why don't you teach him how to act? Show him the right way, and he won't be coming here."

"Ah has showed 'im de right way, sah," declared the old man earnestly. "Ah has suttenly showed 'im de right way, but he somehow keep gittin' caught comin' 'way wid dose chickens."—Woman's Home Companion.

IT SAVED MY LIFE—
WRITES ECZEMA PATIENT.

Bed-ridden sufferer completely cured by use of D. D. D. external wash.

"I suffered three years with weeping Eczema. It started with a little spot on my knees and spread fast over my whole body. I spent hundreds of dollars and went to every good doctor; I heard of but kept getting worse, nothing would stop the awful itch and burning.

"I had to stay indoors from the middle of May to the middle of July. Then I tried D. D. D. Prescription. This is the 9th of December and I am entirely free from the terrible disease. D. D. D. saved my life.

"When I began this treatment, people were afraid of me I looked so terrible. My husband was the only one who would take care of me. D. D. D. stopped the itching at once so I could sleep, which I had not done before. Then I began to get better fast and now my skin is clear and white, not a spot anywhere.

Just a few drops of D. D. D. Prescription applied to the skin brings relief nothing to swallow or drink. We vouch for D. D. D. Prescription, also the cleans. D. D. D. Soap (name and address of druggist) Get a bottle today if you have any skin disease. Begin your cure at once.

WHAT CAUSES INDIGESTION

To be Cured, Weakness of Stomach Muscles must be overcome.

The chief cause of indigestion is the weakness of the stomach muscles and the lack of gastric juice.

To make a complete cure of stomach trouble, most people think they have to give up business and devote their time to dieting, exercise, and perhaps, a vacation.

But by taking Mi-o-na stomach tablets the stomach muscles will be stimulated and strengthened and the flow of gastric juice will be increased. Mi-o-na does not do the stomach's work; it makes the stomach strong enough to do it. In this way the trouble is completely cured and there is no further need of medicine.

No matter how severe a case of stomach trouble you have, Mi-o-na will cure it by strengthening the whole digestive system, and you will soon find that both stomach and bowels do their work as they should. C. A Wright & Son sell Mi-o-na in 50 cent boxes, and guarantee to refund the money if the remedy does not give complete satisfaction. They take all the risk, and the remedy costs you nothing unless it cures.

If you suffer with sick headache, heart-burn, bad taste in the month, coated tongue, specks before the eyes, sleeplessness, nervous troubles, or any of the other symptoms of indigestion, here is the chance to get a remedy on the fairest plan ever known—costs nothing unless it cures.

After a young man begins to concentrate his attention on one girl, the other girl stops laughing at his jokes.

It's easier to make a sacrifice for friends than to bear the after effects.

Most married women who profess to pity old maids secretly envy them.

Some men not only save their money but a lot of other people's as well.

PIONEER DAY

Tecumseh's Birthday Anniversary to be Celebrated TUESDAY, JUNE 2

Pioneer Society Intend to make an Attractive Park from Land Given by Smith Estate.

June 2 is Tecumseh's birthday and it is the intention of the Pioneer society to each year remember the event by some appropriate celebration. This year is the 84th anniversary of that day when toward evening a little band of pioneers pitched their camp on the Raisin and made themselves comfortable for the night and made possible for us the beautiful homes that we now enjoy.

Details and accurate knowledge of the events which followed in our village history are yearly becoming more difficult to obtain. And while we still have among us a few whose memory reaches back to that time it is the purpose of the Pioneer society to collect and preserve any scrape of history or bits of personal recollection which may be given us by our pioneer residents so that those who come after us may be able to trace the history of this village and county from its foundation.

This year we are trying to mark with a boulder, inscribed with the names of those first settlers, the spot where they built the first home. About seventy-five dollars has been contributed to that end. A conservative estimate of the amount needed for this purpose makes it seem necessary to double that sum, and after that we wish to clear up and beautify for an attractive park the plot of ground given us by the Smith estate for the cause.

There will be a picnic and program on Monument Square opposite the Union School, the program to begin after the dinner hour about 2 o'clock. Our friends from the country who are interested in Pioneer History and in pursuing Historic landmarks are especially requested to be present and add what they can to the interest of the occasion and to the program by impromptu remarks and tales of the early time. We hope to have good music and old fashioned singing and an interesting program the details of which will be published next week.

To augment the fund already on hand the ladies of the Federated clubs having pledged their assistance to the Pioneer society, will serve a chicken pie dinner in the Mills block at noon of this day. The patronage of all those who do not care for a park picnic is solicited. Let us remember that this is Tecumseh's birthday. Invitations are not necessary. Any one native born or having a twenty years residence here is eligible to membership. Let us encourage by our presence on each second of June the worthy effort to honor those brave souls who endured hardships that we would hesitate to encounter.

Not forgetting that
"We may build more splendid habitations
Fill our rooms with paintings and with sculptures
But we can not buy with gold the old associations."

A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not on the comb!

DON'T WAIT.

Take advantage of a Tecumseh citizen's advice before it's too late.

When the back begins to ache,
Don't wait until the backache becomes chronic;
Till serious kidney troubles develope
Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest.

Profit by a Tecumseh citizen's experience

Wm. Witherell, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "In 1901 I gave a statement for publication recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and today I still hold the same high opinion of them. When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills I was troubled with severe pains across my back and hips and if I stooped sharp pains would dart through my body. At one time I was laid up in bed several days. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, bought a box and received great benefit from the first such that I continued using them until they effected a cure. I am glad to say that the cure then made has proven permanent. I have recommended the Pills a number of times and will continue to do so."

Sightseer Meets Death.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 21.—Thomas O'Brien, aged forty-five, a traveling salesman for B. F. Stinlocks, viewing the sights, slipped and fell. He struck on his head at the bottom of the steps leading to the locks and was instantly killed. The remains will be shipped to Buffalo.

Putting It Gently.

Mr. Henpeck—I hear that young Jones and his wife are not getting along very well. Mrs. Henpeck (authoritatively)—Jones should never have married when he did. He was too young to realize the step he was taking. Mr. Henpeck—Yes, I know, but I like the boy. We have many things in common.—Puck.

"What is your name?"

"My name is John Henry Miggles. I live at 65 Bilcken street, Violet Park. My house phone is Violet Park, eight-seven-seven or eight-double-seven, as you choose. I am married, have no children. We keep a dog and a cat and a perpetual palm and a Boston fern, and"—

FAITHFUL HOUSEWIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

Send Grateful Tributes to Dr. Hartman For Benefits Received From Pe-ru-na.

MRS. D. C. NOLAN.

No More Throat Trouble.

Mrs. D. C. Nolan, Gem, Kas., writes: "I have no more throat trouble, thanks to Peruna. It is the only medicine I care to have. I always feel safe when I have it in the house.

"I have used Peruna for nine years and I ought to know about it. Peruna has helped me a great many times, and I shall praise it to every one of my friends."

Ever since Peruna was introduced to the public thirty years ago, the housewife has been an ever faithful friend to Peruna. She it is that has seen the practical benefits of the use of Peruna in the family.

When the baby has snuffles or cold she gives a few doses of Peruna, instead of filling the system with the doctor's drugs.

When the school children have coughs or colds she again resorts to Peruna.

When any member of the family is afflicted with catarrh, either in its acute form or chronic, Peruna is resorted to. In a large number of minor ailments she finds Peruna a never-failing remedy.

All this has won the confidence of the housewife in Peruna, which cannot be easily shaken by the statements of people who know nothing of Peruna, having never had any personal experience in its use.

MRS. AUGUSTA PAULINE OCHS.

Systemic Catarrh.

Mrs. Augusta Pauline Ochs, R. F. D. 2, North English, Iowa writes: "I took Peruna over three years. I suffered from systemic catarrh and had pains in my right side so I could hardly do my housework.

"I am 66 years old, and am now doing all my housework. I am in the best of health, and cannot thank Dr. Hartman enough for his advice and medicine."

MRS. J. M. STABLER.

Pe-ru-na Tablets.

Some people prefer to take tablets, rather than to take medicine in a fluid form. Such people can obtain Peruna tablets, which represent the medicinal ingredients of Peruna. Each tablet is equivalent to one average dose of Peruna.

Mrs. T. J. Ballard, Pryor Creek, Indian Territory, writes: "I keep free from my old stomach trouble, feel no catarrhal symptoms at all. I am able to do my work, eat and drink what I want, and am rejoiced to know that I found a sure cure in your valuable medicines."

Dyspepsia and Constipation.

Mrs. John M. Stabler, Millersburg, Ind., writes: "I have been cured of a very bad case of catarrh of the stomach and constipation, and a complication of ailments that I have had for several years.

"I doctored with three doctors who did me not much good, so I quit doctoring. I bought a bottle of Peruna and commenced taking it. I found I was getting some better, but thought I was not doing as well as I might. So I wrote to Dr. Hartman to see what he thought about me. He gave me special directions and medical advice.

"To our astonishment I improved and am today a well woman and weigh as much as I ever did in my life.

"My old friends in Ohio, where we moved from about fifteen months ago, say when they see me, 'How well you look. I did not expect to see you ever look so well again.' I tell them I would not look so well if it had not been for Peruna.

"Peruna saved my life. I recommend Peruna wherever I am, and when any of our folks are sick I give them Peruna with success.

"I thank Dr. Hartman, and may he live many years more to go on with the good work. Tongue cannot express the gratitude that my husband, children and I owe to Dr. Hartman for the kindness he has shown toward me during my sickness.

"I want the public to know what Peruna and Dr. Hartman have done for me."

An astonishing number of families use Peruna continuously for the various petty ailments to which the family is liable.

Elkins of West Virginia regarding the marriage of the senator's daughter, Katherine Elkins, to the duke. Negotiations are still progressing, however, to decide whether the marriage is to occur here or in the United States.

Columbus, O., May 21.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has decided hereafter to admit to membership motormen in interurban electric lines who operate more than twenty miles outside an incorporated city. The convention took the broad ground that the motive power of the future will be electricity, and that if the Brotherhood wishes to retain its standing it is absolutely necessary for it to broaden.

Grim Comedy.

A certain young actress was constantly irritated by the pompous behavior of the actor-manager in whose company she was playing.

"Now, Miss Blank," said the great one, "you'll have an opportunity to show your talents in another direction. I've cast you for a dandy part, small, but 'fat.' And you'll have a chance to study me in a new role. You've never seen me do farce comedy, have you?"

"Yes, I have," contradicted Miss

PLATT ON STAND.

Denies He Was Ever Married to Mae C. Wood.

New York, May 21.—Physically so feeble that practically he had to be carried in and out of the courtroom, United States Senator Thomas C. Platt was at times a spirited witness Wednesday, when he appeared to testify in his own behalf in Mae C. Wood's suit for absolute divorce from him. His denial of all the charges brought by Miss Wood in her suit was emphatic, and, when prodded too hard by the plaintiff's counsel, the aged senator proved himself capable of vigorous response.

While the defendant in the action was in the courtroom much of the day, Miss Wood, the plaintiff, did not attend the trial. The presentation of the case for the defense, aside from Senator Platt's own testimony, was marked by a sharp attack upon the authenticity of the marriage certificate which Miss Wood offered in evidence to support her contention of a matrimonial contract with the senator. This was followed by an effort to show that a letter, in which Senator Platt is alleged to have admitted his marriage to Miss Wood, was written over his signature on a blank sheet of paper, to which he previously affixed his autograph on request of two women applicants for it while he was stopping at the Hotel Arlington in this city in 1906.

Senator Platt himself, in his testimony, categorically denied that he ever married or promised to marry the plaintiff, repudiated the signature purporting to be his on the marriage certificate and the genuineness of several letters which Miss Wood testified came to her from him.

Michigan Gets $27,500.

London's First Pawnbroker.

No one would guess that "uncle" had so illustrious an ancestor as a right reverend prelate, yet this seems to be so, for pawnbroking was first introduced into England by Michael de Northburg, bishop of London, in Edward III.'s reign. He set up an establishment for lending money to the poorer Londoners on portable property, and, according to Dugdale, if any sum so borrowed was not paid at the expiration of a year the preacher at St. Paul's cross was to announce that the pledge would be sold in fourteen days unless it was previously redeemed.—Pearson's Weekly.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

FIND BODY BY TRACKS

Mystery Surrounds Death of Edwin White Near Orion.

PISTOL FOUND IN A CREEK.

Train Had Mangled Corpse—Sheriff Found Knotted Pieces of Rope, Indicating Man Had Been Tied—Relatives Tell of Letters Sent by Enemy.

Orion, Mich., May 25.—Considerable mystery surrounds the finding of the body of Edwin White, a farmer, who lived in Goodison, horribly mangled, lying beside the railroad tracks at Snyder's crossing, one mile south of Goodison. From all appearances the man had been struck by a passing train and tossed to one side of the track. A trail of blood led from the spot where the body was found to a bridge spanning a creek, about ten rods distant, where the accident evidently occurred.

But for the finding of a revolver in the water beneath the bridge, with two exploded shells and three loaded ones, the latter having in some manner fallen from the chamber, a verdict of accidental death would immediately been given. This mysterious fact led to an investigation.

An inquest will be held in Rochester by Justice Wood.

The question uppermost in the minds of the authorities is whether White committed suicide by shooting himself while standing on the bridge, the gun falling into the water and extricating the shells, or whether he was a victim of foul play.

That the man was shot is evident, as a discharged ball from one of the shells was found lying on the ground beside the body when it was found. It must have been knocked from the body when the train passed over it; but it was impossible to determine just what section of his body it passed through, as the corpse was literally cut to pieces.

White was fifty-three years old and unmarried. He lived on a farm with his father, but left there last Monday. His relatives had heard nothing from him, but it had been learned that he was doing a wrestling stunt at a small theater in Rochester.

Rochester, Mich., May 25.—Sheriff Greer and Prosecuting Attorney Covert, together with a score of deputy sheriffs and police officers from here, who have been at work in an endeavor to clear up the mystery surrounding the finding of the mutilated body of Edwin White, are firmly convinced that the man was murdered and his body tied to the railroad track to cover up the crime.

Sheriff Greer, while examining the spot where the body was found, discovered two pieces of rope firmly knotted in such a manner as to indicate that White's hands and feet had been tied together when he was run over by the train. The rope was almost intact, and the knots were plainly visible. Both pieces appeared to have been torn from the man's limbs when the train struck the body and were found a few feet away.

The suspicions of Sheriff Greer are strongly reinforced by a telephone message received by Justice Wood from the dead man's relatives at Goodison. The message stated that letters had been found in some of White's clothing left at home which plainly indicated that the man had an enemy or enemies and that he had been foully dealt with.

A newspaper correspondent called at the home of White in Goodison, but members of the family were reluctant to talk about the matter, except to say that they were firmly convinced that White was murdered.

It was known that the dead man was in the habit of carrying large sums of money with him and that he had in the neighborhood of $35 and a watch on his person when he left Rochester on his way to Goodison. When found, his clothing contained no cash, and his watch was missing.

Woman Fatally Burned.

Detroit, Mich., May 25.—Reaching to turn out the fire under a gas plate in the Strope apartments, 17 Burdeno street, Mrs. Oscar J. Strope accidentally brought her hair, which she had just washed in a solution of gasoline, in contact with the flames. Her clothing was ignited, and she was so seriously burned that her death ensued in the Solvay hospital a short time later.

Accidentally Shot Self.

Detroit, Mich., May 25.—Clyde Lewis, aged twenty-eight years, was cleaning a hammerless 32 caliber revolver, when he accidentally shot himself through the left lung. He is now at St. Mary's hospital in a precarious condition.

VISITS KING EDWARD.

President of France Royally Received in England.

STAY TO LAST FOUR DAYS.

London, May 25.—President Fallieres arrived in London today to return the visits which King Edward VII. and other members of the British royal family have paid to the head of the French republic in Paris. The honors to be paid the president cannot equal those bestowed upon the German emperor during his visit last year, as the president's stay will be but a short one; but what is lacking in great entertainments will be made up for in the enthusiasm of the public welcome.

M. Fallieres crossed the channel in the French cruiser Leon Gambetta, accompanied by a fleet of destroyers, and landed at Dover. There was a great naval display in his honor, a fleet of fifty-three warships, under the command of Lord Charles Beresford, having been at the channel port for the occasion.

This fleet consisted of the battle squadron of the channel fleet, the first cruiser squadron and the western destroyer division. The ships were moored in two long lines, from Shakespeare cliff to Dover pier, and, as the Leon Gambetta, with its distinguished visitor on board, steamed through the lines, the guns on all the ships and those in the forts boomed a salute. The destroyers, accompanied the French cruiser to Dover dock, where the president, on landing, was welcomed to England by Prince Arthur of Connaught and other notables on behalf of the king.

The trip to London was made in a royal car. At Victoria station King Edward, Prince of Wales and representatives of the government were on hand to greet M. Fallieres, and from that moment a four days' round of entertainment commenced. A state banquet at Buckingham palace will bring together the public men of England and the members of the diplomatic corps.

Tuesday the president and king will visit the Franco-British exhibition; Wednesday, the busiest day of the visit, will commence with a reception to the diplomatic corps at St. James palace, followed by a visit to the city and luncheon at the Guild hall. In the evening, "By command of His Majesty, the King," a gala performance will be given at Covent garden, at which the king and queen, President Fallieres and a large number of specially invited guests will be present. In order to do honor to the president, selections from French operas have been chosen for presentation, namely, the first act of Bizet's "I Pescatori di Perle" and the second act from Gounod's "Faust."

President Fallieres is staying at York House during his four days in London, and there and at the French embassy receptions will be held.

Stabs Priest in Church.

Salisbury, Mo., May 25.—Father J. F. Lubeley, aged thirty-three years, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, was stabbed twice with a pocket knife and perhaps fatally injured, in church Sunday, by Joseph Schutte, a farmer, who is believed to have become suddenly demented. Father Lubeley is in a critical condition.

Three Drown.

Walkerton, Ont., May 25.—Three persons have drowned here by the upsetting of a canoe which shot over a dam in the Saugeen river. They were: Frederick Clark, twenty-one years old; Gertrude O'Brecht, nineteen years old, and her sister, Bertha, twenty-two years old.

TROLLEY ACCIDENT.

Three Killed and Many Hurt in Philadelphia Suburb.

CAR JUMPED THE TRACK.

Cars Following Jammed Into It—Forty Injured Ones Rushed to Hospitals. Many Taken to Private Homes. Absolute Details Lacking.

Philadelphia, May 25.—Three persons were instantly killed, and at least five others were so badly injured that there is no hope for their recovery, and forty-five were seriously hurt in a collision between trolley cars on Germantown avenue, near Chestnut Hill, a suburb, in the northern section of the city.

Forty-five persons were taken to the Chestnut Hill and Germantown hospitals, and many were taken away in automobiles by the wealthy residents of the exclusive Chestnut Hill district. They were treated by private physicians, and in consequence absolute detail as to the injured cannot be obtained.

The accident was caused by a car running north jumping a track while going down a steep grade not far from Chestnut Hill. The car swung across the southbound track and was struck by a car on that track. Both cars were filled with passengers.

That so many were hurt is due to the fact that several cars running close behind those which collided, jammed into the wreck, throwing passengers from their seats and causing a panic. In the mad rush to get out of the cars, many were bruised and cut by flying glass.

ADJOURN THURSDAY.

That Is What Congress Is Figuring on Doing.

Washington, May 25.—Both the senate and the house will devote their best efforts to so shaping their affairs as to bring about an adjournment at the earliest time possible during the present week, and as a consequence whatever is done will be in the nature of completing work already begun.

Most of the time, if not all of it, will be given to the consideration of the reports of conference committees, dealing with points of difference between the two houses in measures which have been passed by both. Even these will be confined largely to appropriation bills. All the supply measures have received attention from both houses, but there are still points of difference in connection with some of them, and special efforts will be made to compromise them. As soon as they are adjusted, the session will come to an end. The general deficiency bill will be held back until the last moment, in order to use it as a vehicle for the appropriation of money to carry into effect the provisions of the omnibus public buildings bill.

Final adjournment will probably take place Thursday.

Huge Airship Collapsed.

Oakland, Cal., May 25.—The great Morrell airship, the largest ever constructed, collapsed on its trial trip here about 300 feet above the ground and dashed the sixteen occupants of the car to the earth. None was killed, but all were seriously injured, suffering broken legs and arms and probably internal injuries. It is believed several will die. Thousands of people had gathered to witness the trial. The giant ship, 450 feet long and 38 feet in diameter, a combination of the aeroplane and dirigible air craft, driven by six gasoline engines generating 300 horsepower, rose successfully from the ground and to a height of probably 300 feet. The car was occupied by sixteen men who had become interested in the invention and who agreed to make the trial trip before taking stock in it. They were all residents of Berkeley and Oakland. Suddenly the large gas bag burst, and the whole machine, thousands of pounds in weight, dashed to the ground with terrific force.

Weather Bureau For M. A. C.

East Lansing, Mich., May 25.—A telegram received by President Snyder from Washington states that the weather bureau station for the college had been approved by the conference committee. This assures another building for the campus. A building to cost $15,000 will be erected, and $5,000 will be expended in providing furniture and equipment. In this building a regular weather bureau station will be established and from here weather maps presented and distributed.

ARRAIGN BRIMMINGSTALL.

Dowagiac Man Will Be Charged With Murder of Hurt.

Dowagiac, Mich., May 25.—Jim Brimmingstall, the man of many alleged crimes, against whom his wife made the startling accusation of the murder of old man Hurt in the attic of their home, will be arraigned on the charge of murder. The warrant specifying the charge has been made out.

Benton Harbor, Mich., May 25.—Was Daniel Heaston, the Eau Claire hermit who met a mysterious death a year ago in his shack at Mud Lake, a former companion of Jim Brimmingstall, the self confessed Dowagiac murderer?

Did Brimmingstall murder the recluse because he possessed knowledge of David Hurt's death, which, if made public, would send Brimmingstall to prison?

These are questions which the officers of this country are asking themselves, and this is the theory on which Sheriff Tennant is working to establish a connection between Brimmingstall and Heastons' death.

Like the Dowagiac officers, Sheriff Tennant does not believe Brimmingstall is the murderer he professes to be; but, after a two-days investigation, the local authorities are working on the supposition that Heaston knew Brimmingstall made away with old man Hurt.

Knowing Heaston knew this, Sheriff Tennant thinks it possible Brimmingstall murdered the hermit because he believed it his only way to effectively silence the old man.

Boys Had Narrow Escape.

Marshall, Mich., May 25.—In attempting to rescue Roy Laberteaux, aged twelve, from the Kalamazoo river, Noah West, aged eighteen, all but lost his own life, both boys being pulled from the river unconscious. Laberteaux, with West and several other companions, attempted to cross on the arch of the iron bridge over the Kalamazoo river and fell into the water, twenty-five feet below. West promptly jumped in after him. The river, swollen by recent rains, is unusually high and swift, and both boys were carried over a fifteen-foot dam. Their cries attracted the attention of men working in a factory, who hurried to the rescue. By throwing ropes over the heads of the two boys, they pulled them to the shore. It required two hours of hard work to resuscitate them.

Killed In Alighting From Car.

Detroit, Mich., May 25.—In attempting to alight from a Jefferson avenue car, at Myrtle and Williams avenue, Josephine Wielinski, aged eighteen, 246 Williams avenue, was hurled violently to the pavement. She was picked up unconscious and hurried in the East End ambulance to St. Mary's hospital, where she died a few minutes later. Her skull was fractured.

Peter Dailey Is Dead.

Chicago, May 25.—Peter F. Dailey, one of the best known comedians in the United States, is dead at the Auditorium hotel. He had been sick for about a week with a combination of grippe, lumbago and pneumonia.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

The next annual convention of the American Bankers' association will be held in Denver during the week beginning Sept. 27.

The Japanese consul at Honolulu has been advised by his government that emigration from Japan to Hawaii is now limited to Japanese who were formerly residents in the islands and the wives and children of those who now live in Hawaii.

Two crowded trolley cars collided at Daviadero and Sacramento streets in San Francisco at the foot of a steep hill, killing Henry Baer, a traveling salesman, and injuring twenty other passengers, one probably fatally and several seriously.

W. L. Howard, a wealthy commission merchant, was killed by lightning during a rainstorm which swept over St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Howard, who was a member of the Glen Echo Golf club, left off play and sought the shelter of a tree when it began to rain. The lightning ran down the tree, killing him instantly.

Orson C. Bartholomew of Denver, sixty-eight years old, was killed in Chicago in a collision between an electric car and an automobile at Twenty-fourth street and Indiana avenue. L. Batholomew, a brother, of Chicago, and Miss Margaret Hawkins of Chicago were seriously injured. The killed and injured were occupants of the automobile, which was driven by L. Bartholomew.

Anxious to make up for an error previously committed, John R. Pardy, an amateur baseball player, in St. Louis, put forth such great effort in a long throw from deep left field to the home plate during a game between two local baseball teams that he burst a blood vessel and fell dead as the ball reached the catcher and put out the player who was trying to steal home.

A Leap Year Round Robin.

(Original.)

In large cities marriages among the so called higher classes are decreasing. A young man even of means has many things to deter him from matrimony and many things to induce him to remain single. Housekeeping in style is expensive, while there are magnificent clubhouses in which a bachelor may spend his leisure.

At a social gathering of young ladies the indisposition of eligible men to marry was under discussion. Miss Markham declared that it was the fault of the girls that they did not use the sex's privilege to snare the bachelors. "Now, there's Guy Harrison," she said. "He's entirely eligible in every respect. He's president, vice president and director of no end of companies, and everything he touches turns to money. He's thirty-five, well educated, refined and intellectual. Why hasn't some girl appropriated him? Men don't think of marrying, or if they do they consider it in the remote future till they are snared."

"Very well," said Miss Boyd, a spinster of thirty, "consider yourself appointed to snare Mr. Harrison."

"Thank you for the honor conferred upon me, but I am not inclined to do all the work myself. I will, however, join in a round robin with the others present with a view to accomplishing the purpose. Let us each write a leap year letter to Mr. Harrison proposing marriage. This will arrest his attention and force him either to choose one of us or appear ungallant."

"Bravo!" shouted every girl present. "How delightful! Come; let us begin."

Letters were written by five young ladies, each one of whom signed an assumed name to her epistle. Miss Boyd refrained on the ground that at her age it would be highly improper to offer herself. To this the others assented. She was surely passe, though a very attractive woman. She wrote Mr. Harrison that she would be pleased to have him send his reply to her and call upon her for information concerning the writers. Then all the letters were put into the postoffice at one time, that they might be received together. Miss Boyd promised as soon as a reply was received to call the candidates to her house to hear it read.

A week passed, and, not hearing from their medium, the young ladies became impatient. Then after consultation they resolved to go to her house and ask if a reply had not been received. Miss Boyd received them, somewhat embarrassed and with a faint color in her cheeks. She admitted that she had received a reply and handed it to Miss Markham to read:

Dear Miss Boyd—I heartily approve of the leap year plan adopted by certain young ladies, but disapprove of any lady who was present shirking her part in it. I shall withhold my selection until satisfied that every woman present at the time the round robin was decided on has sent in her proposal.

The girls all looked at each other. Miss Boyd proved equal to the occasion. "It is evidently a ruse," she said, "to gain time. To accommodate you I will take measures to bring him to a decision by writing a proposal. It will be a mere form. My identity will be the only one he will know. He will then plan for further delay by asking for the names of the others. But do not despair; some of you will bring him down yet." This view of the case satisfied the candidates, and the young ladies went away. All admitted that a middle aged man would be sure to choose, if at all, from among the youngest candidates.

Another week passed without word from Miss Boyd. The young ladies, growing impatient, went again in a body to her house. Again she received them with embarrassment and this time refused to show a reply she had received. Attacked front, flanks and rear, she at last yielded. The reply was this:

Dear Miss Boyd—I return certain anonymous letters received by me recently, none of which interests me. Your proposition will be considered and a reply sent you later.

There was a blank stare on the faces of the candidates. Then Miss Boyd, recovering her equanimity, said:

"Our plan has failed. It has been evident from the first that Mr. Harrison is sufficiently adroit to get out of the trap without appearing ungallant."

"Ungallant!" cried one of the girls. "Is it gallant to say to a woman who proposes that her reply will be sent later, with a view not to sending it at all?"

This remark gave the impression held by the girls, and all took their departure feeling that the plan had miscarried. Indeed, each girl, though her identity was unknown to the snubber, felt that she had been snubbed.

A month passed, and the episode was nearly forgotten. Occasionally Miss Boyd would be asked if anything more had come of the matter, to which she invariably replied:

"You silly girl! Wasn't it plain to you that Mr. Harrison was too smart for you all?"
